The FIRST ingredient in DR. WILSON'S PULMONARY CHERRY BALSAM is an extract of wild cherry bark, which soothes the irritated surfaces in the lungs and air passages, acts as a tonic to the stomach, giving a healthy appetite, has a soothing, sedative influence on the heart and blood vessels, preventing palpitation.

TWO.

The SECOND loosens and displaces the tough, stringy phlegm which causes so much pain and distress, and which is the cause of the the convulsive coughing.

THREE.

The THIRD ingredient heals. It is the vital property of the peculiarly soothing and healing gums of the white pine and fir of southern climes, at the same time grateful and beneficial to the stomach.

FOUR.

The FOURTH ingredient is a pleasing and soothing lubricant that supplies the place of the mucous secretion which, while the organs are healthy, coats the mucous membrane, keeping it soft and natural. It at first supplies the place of the decreased secretions and assists in restoring them so as to perform their proper and most important duties.

All these working together, beneficially, make DR. WILSON'S PULMONAY CHERRY BALSAM the best cure known for throat and lung diseases.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 18, 1883.

West Riding.

A mass meeting of the friends and supporters of the Mowat Administration in the West Riding will be held in Hill's Old Music Hall, on Wednesday, Jan. 24th, 1883, at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest this riding in the interests of good government and Provincial rights. It is unnecessary to intimate to every true friend of the Province in the riding, which, of course, includes every Liberal elector, that it is desirable that there should be a full attendance. Let there be a big representation at Hill's Music Hall next Wednesday, to give the candidate who may be selected a hearty augury of the success of his candidature, and to give him additional heart to enter hopefully into the struggle to secure the representation of the riding in the interests of economy, good government and Provincial rights.

The greatest danger to the success of a Reform candidate is that of over confidence. The spirit of the trite saying, "better be sure than sorry," should animate every member of the party and stimulate to the most thorough and effective organization. A majority of one would be barely sufficient, but a majority of 500 for the Reform candidate would do no harm. Nothing but thorough organization and hard and unceasing work should be thought of, and nothing else will secure the sweeping victory that ought to be scored by the West Riding in the election of 1883.

The Issues.

The local Opposition are trying to introduce false issues into the coming contest. The Toronto organ of the party in an effusion of illogical and strained bombast, entitled "Springing to Work" asserts that "The Grit party have declared war, not only on the National Policy, but upon Confederation," and declares that the return of Mr. Mowat will lessen the confidence of capitalists in Canada, and that the confidence of politicians in the future of Canada will thereby be destroyed. The latter portion of the remarks alone is true. The endorsation of Mr. Mowat by the people will "destroy the confidence" of politicians of the Mail's stripe in Ontario at least, and they will henceforth not reckon upon the sturdy electorate of the province as a tool to be used in furthering their political schemes and will learn that Ontario is too fond of her rights and territory to submit to being robbed of either to serve the interested ends of any mere political party or clique.

It is nonsense to say, too, that the result of the Ontario elections can affect the National Policy. That is a Dominion question, entirely aside from a merely local matter like the provincial elections and one which the Tory organs the latter part of last June were fond of saying was settled for another five years, and, as it is not an issue in the coming elections, and the people will not be called to pronounce upon it, their verdict one way or another can have no effect upon it whatever. There is no use of the Opposition trying to shirk the questions now virtually before the electors of Ontario. The Mowat Administration are on their trial, and their record of administration and the policy they have laid down are the only legitimate points at issue. Their administrative record has been twice endorsed, and will, ere long, receive a more emphatic endorsation, and their policy is plainly laid down in regard to their unyielding determination to secure for the province the sixty-two million acres of revenue producing territory, which by a binding award rightfully belongs to Ontario, and to maintain her constitutional rights to conduct her own affairs, independent of outside interference or dictation. The members of the great Reform party are a unit on these two questions, and the mass of thinking Conservatives who place upon the venomous vapourings of the Tory journals their true value, have no fancy to be snubbed and dictated to by Quebec politicians, and to have our local interests prejudiced and nullified by outside interference, and will not, when the time arrives, prove recreant to the best interests of Ontario, which are also their interests.

The Toronto Convention.

Great as was the success of the recent Reform Convention held in Toronto, the results, weighty and important as they were, do not need many words of description. In the first place, a rather superfluous proof of the confidence the Reform party was given superfluous, because the confidence of the party in the Government has never once wavered, and the province at large has twice unmistakably endorsed their course and acts, each time with increased vehemence, and the temper of the immense multitude at the convention gives grounds for forecasting at the coming election a third and even more signal verdict. The principles upon which the Reform party will appeal to the country were well laid down. The two main features which involve most of the others, are the determination of the Government, supported by the Liberal party to make a bold, decided and unyielding stand for the Territorial Rights of the Province. "Ontario's soil for Ontario's sons" if not in words, is, in essence, the watchword of the coming elections, and "Home Rule for Ontario," defines the position of the Government and party in reference to the unwarrantable, unconstitutional and won't-be-borne interference by Stadacona Hall partizanship, with our internal affairs. In regard to the latter the British North America Act pronounces plainly as to our rights and the correctness of the position assumed in reference to the Rivers and Streams Bill, and the License Act. Section 92 of the British North America Act of 1867 - the Confederation Act - under the heading of "Exclusive powers of Provincial Legislatures," recites:

"In each province the Legislatures may exclusively make laws in relation to matters coming within the classes of subjects next hereinafter enumerated, that is to say:

* * * * * * *

Sub-sec. 9. "Shop, saloon, tavern, auctioneer, and other licenses in order to the raising of a revenue for provincial, local, or municipal purposes."

* * * * *

Sub-sec. 13. "Property and Civil Rights."

* * * * *

Sub-sec. 16. "Generally all matters of a merely local or private nature in the province."

Any one, not affected with party blindness and loyalty to the Federal in preference to the local Government, must see that the Province has the right to legislate on the matter of Liquor Licenses, in spite of the vainglorious boast of Sir John at Yorkville last summer, when in a spasm of political exhilaration, he declared that he would take the issue of licenses out of the hands of the Local Government. The constitution gives this province all the rights claimed by its Legislature in reference to Rivers and Streams, and the disallowance of the act is an infringement of the constitution that gives Home Rule to Ontario.

East Riding Candidature.

We have been requested to publish the following:

To the Editor of the Peterborough EXAMINER:

SIR, In your issue of the 11th instant you have an editorial in reference to the nomination of a Conservative candidate in East Peterborough, and in which my name is mentioned. You state that I had virtually been promised the nomination and had been pushed aside by successful wire-pulling. Now, sir, when you wrote these words you must have known they were not in accordance with the facts, as I was nominated at the convention at Norwood, and could have been the candidate if I had not then and there declined.

JOHN MOLONEY.

Peterborough, January 12th, 1883.

We cheerfully give insertion to Mr. Moloney's letter and thus give him the full benfit of his contradiction of the rumour to which we made reference. At the same time, we object to the insinuation that we were aware of his having declined the nomination, a fact we did not learn till after our last issue was printed. It will, however, be observed that Mr. M. does not deny that he was promised the nomination, the rumour which, relates to it, we therefore assume to be correct. The result shows, to our thinking, one of three things: that his friends have short memories; that since the promise was made Mr. M. has received evidence that the promises were not to be depended on as guarantees of active support in an election campaign; or that (which is most probable in the case of a gentleman of Mr. Moloney's strong common sense and acuteness of perception) he declined to do violence to his convictions by opposing, as a candidate, the return to power of the economical Liberal and patriotic Mowat Administration.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Smith, Ennismore, Lakefield and North Monaghan Agricultural Society, held their annual meeting in the council chamber on the 11th instant.

The Sec.-Treasurer's report was read and received. Mr. John Garbutt was elected President and Mr. J. C. Sherin, Vice-President. The following were elected directors for the ensuing year: Messrs. T. E. Bell, S. McKibbin, Geo. W. Fitzgerald, Alex. Fitzgerald, E. A. Strickland, C. Quinn, Dr. Caldwell, Geo. Elliott and John Preston. Mr. M. S. Dean was re-elected Sec.-Treas. by the new board of directors.

Mr Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan, addressed the meeting with reference to his being cut off illegally from the society, he considered it most unjust, had he been present it could not have been done. He (Mr. Collins) was an active member of the riding society and in this way he contributed towards the township society. The only complaint had been that he and his son had carried off a large number of prizes while they only paid in two dollars to the funds. That was not their fault and he saw no reason why he should not monopolize the show with his cattle just as much as his friend T. E. Bell with his "cocks and hens," (applause) Mr. Bell had taken an active part in cutting them off. Mr. Collins concluded by asking the society to consider the matter.

Mr. Bell asserted that North Monaghan had been quite legally cut off; there was proof of that inasmuch as Mr. Collins had never taken legal steps to regain his rights, he was opposed to his being admitted.

Dr. Caldwell enquired if the township had been originally incorporated in the society.

Mr. Collins replied in the affirmative.

That being the case Dr. C. was of the opinion they could not be cut off by a simple vote at an annual meeting.

Mr. J. C. Sherin inclined to Mr. Bell's view of the matter, we only received two dollars from the township and paid out as much as twenty-eight dollars.

Geo. W. Fitzgerald drew attention to the fact that that did not lessen the funds, as on the whole the society paid out no more in prizes.

Mr. Ishister thought the object of the society was the improvement of our stock, &c., not to make money, he had known Mr. Collins a great many years and during that time he had done much to improve our stock without receiving much encouragement; he should be admitted.

Mr. Isaac Garbutt thought Mr. Collins should be received, he (Mr. Collins) had gone into raising a superior stock, the country had received the benefit of the enterprise; while he was farming he did not because he thought it would not pay, so with others.

The meeting was almost unanimous in favor of North Monaghan which in the future will form a part of the society.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The first meeting of the school board took place in the council chamber on Thursday the 11th. Present, Messrs. Galvin, Wilson, Sanders, Caldwell, Gordon and Dr. Armour.

Mr. W. H. Casement, secretary of the board and returning officer, took the chair. He declared that Mr. T. Gordon and Dr. Armour had been duly elected, and that the business was the election of a chairman and secretary.

Mr. W. C. Sanders spoke of the long services rendered by Mr. Galvin and moved that he be chairman, Dr. Armour seconded the motion.—Carried.

Dr. Armour moved that Mr. W. H. Casement be secretary, seconded by Mr. Sanders. —Carried.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid;

W. H. Casement	$ 8 00.
C. Payton, repairs	10 75.

A communication from Mr. Shearer, Head Master, was received tendering his resignation on account of his health; he needed rest from teaching.

It was moved by Dr. Caldwell, seconded by Mr. Wilson, that Mr. Shearer's resignation be accepted and that the chairman and secretary of the board present him with a testimonial expressing the high esteem in which he has been held as a citizen and teacher, not only by the board but the public generally. Carried unanimously, the members, however, expressing their regret at the unexpected resignation.

The tenders for school supplies from T. J. Bird and S. Henderson were considered and awarded to the latter.

Mr. Gordon and Dr. Armour were appointed Managing committee for three months.

Dr. Caldwell said he had not been present when the new members took their seats, and as there had been considerable discussion about the election he would like to ask in what way they had been declared elected.

Mr. Casement, returning officer explained that they were elected by acclamation.

Dr. Caldwell had been present at the nomination, heard the meeting adjourned for a poll, could, therefore, not understand how there was an election by acclamation; he did not wish to provoke a discussion but in the interests of the public considered it his duty to ask the question.

Mr. Sanders said there was no doubt but that they were duly and legally elected; it had been reported that he had nominated Dr. Armour in opposition to Mr. Gordon; he had not done so; Mr. Cochrane had no seconder while he was in the room, his (Sander's) motion was, therefore, first.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane denied this, his motion had been seconded by Dr. Caldwell before Mr. Sanders made his motion, had this not been so he would have nominated one candidate instead of two.

Dr. Caldwell as seconder of Mr. Gordon's nomination was positive that if Mr. Cochrane had no seconder while Mr. Sanders was in the room there was none after, therefore, he (Mr. Sanders) must be wrong in some way for Mr. Gordon was not properly nominated at all according to his statement.

The fact was that Mr. Cochrane's motion was seconded before Mr. Sander's rose to his feet and in proof of this the returning officer had read the nominations in this order before adjourning.

The board adjourned till next regular meeting.

"This day time winds the exhausted chain,
To run the Twelvemonth's length again."

We are round once more to our month for "Taking Stock." Unfolding, measuring, counting and rolling up again, is the allotted work for January with us.

To lighten our labors as much as possible, we will give Bargains during this month. Every yard of the Goods sold is so much less for us to take stock of.

We have but few Dress Goods left; but what we have will be sold Cheap—Remember that.

Our Hosiery and Woolen Goods we will sell at Cost. Also Mitts, Scarfs, Jerseys and all Winter Goods yet in stock.

Those who want a Bargain in Mantles or in Millinery, should see what we can do for them. Mantles from $1.00 up.

We have sold quantities of White and Grey Cotton and Checked Shirting lately. The price makes them go.

We have a BARGAIN in SEALETTE for some one. Two Qualities in Stock—There is a splendid chance here to buy a First Class Mantle, as we do not intend to carry them over.

A full Range of Shades of Colored Silks in Stock, in two qualities. Our sales of Silks for last year were double those of any other year.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting—The Annual Report—The Financial Statement—The Officers and New Directorate.

The members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society held their annual meeting on Thursday evening, Jan 11th, in the office of the Bank of Toronto, George street.

There was a fair attendance of the members. Mr. Roper, president, occupying the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

The secretary, Mr. J. Irvine Davidson, read the ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society.

GENTLEMEN.—The Directors beg to submit the following report:

The past year was one more favourable as regards horticulture than the previous year, 1881, and as a consequence we had a much better exhibit at our annual exhibition, which was held on Thursday, the 7th day of September last.

The weather proving favourable we had a very much larger attendance of members and the general public. The exhibition was in every respect a decided success.

The number of entries was 328, being an increase of 85 over the previous year, and in point of merit and variety superior to that of 1881. Especially was this the case in class I., plants and flowers. The Directors congratulate the members on the fact, the cultivation of plants and flowers, forming the leading feature in our society.

The amount of $154 was paid in prizes by the Treasurer, on orders granted by the President and Secretary.

The Society's position as regards the number of member of members on the roll (62,) and the balance of cash in the Treasurer's hands, as shown by his report, the Directors are glad to report satisfactory.

It has been suggested that it would be well in framing future prize lists, to cut off some of the classes which obtain a place in our present list, and confine ourselves more to what isthe legitimate aim and purpose of the Society, viz: the cultivation and fostering of a taste for Horticulture.

This is a matter which will, no doubt, be taken into consideration and dealt with by the gentlemen comprising the new Board of Directors.

In conclusion the Directors venture to hope that the members and general public will continue to take an increased interest in the Society's welfare.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. IRVINE DAVIDSON, Secretary. J. H. ROPER, President.

GRANT VS. BEAUDRY.

THE QUESTION OF "LEGALITY" STILL UNSETTLED.

In the Supreme Court at Ottawa on Thursday last judgment was given in the case of Grant vs. Beaudry arising out of the attempted Orange Demonstrations, in Montreal on July 12th, 1877.

GRANT VS. BEAUDRY.

Judgment on the question of sufficiency of notice was delivered in this case by the Chief Justice dismissing the appeal with costs. He quoted a number of English and Canadian authorities to show that the residence of plaintiff or his attorney should be indicated in all notices of action against public officials. Sufficient notice not having been given the appeal would be dismissed with costs. The Court had been asked to express an opinion as to the legality or illegality of the Orange Association in Quebec Province, but as no action could be sustained in this cause because of insufficiency of notice, any opinion the Court might express would be extra judicial and unwarranted. Justices Strong, Fournier, Henry and Taschereau concurred. Mr. Justice Gwynne, while agreeing with the decision of his colleagues, censured the judges of the Court of Queen's Bench for exceeding their functions in giving opinions upon the general question. They should have confined their judgments to points immediately at issue in the appeal.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The Ontario Government's Proposal to Establish Model Creameries Endorsed.

A meeting of the Directors of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association was held at the Dafoe House, Belleville, on Thursday afternoon last.

Those present were:—K. Graham, of Sidney, President; D. Derbyshire, Brockville; D. Vandewaters; James Bissell, of Algonquin; Thomas Walker of Rawdon; Platt Hinman, of Colborne; Harford Ashley, Secretary; P. R. Daly, Treasurer; and Henry Wade, Secretary of the Agricultural and Arts Association.

Ira Morgan, of Osgoode, and D. M. Macpherson of Lancaster, arrived in the evening.

The object of the meeting was to decide where the annual convention was to be held, and the Board appointed a committee to secure the attendance of a staff of speakers for that event.

The committee appointed to consider the matter of memoralizing the Government in reference to creameries, reported a resolution to the effect that a grant for the purposes named would be productive of good in the making of butter, and that the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association could materially assist in the location of creameries.

The resolution was adopted.

"Where shall the next convention be held?"

Mr. Derbyshire favored Brockville. The room would be packed, and the meeting would be productive of much good.

Mr. Hinman represented a section which had many factories and room for more. He strongly advocated the claims of Peterborough.

Mr. Walker endorsed Mr. Hinman's suggestion. Though the meeting should go east this year, Peterborough should have it next year.

The vote was then taken and resulted thus:

Three voted for Peterborough; two for Morrisburg; four voted for Brockville.

Another call was made add six votes responded for Brockville.

Mr. Derbyshire.—We want you all to come to Brockville, and we'll use you well.

It was decided that the meeting be held on the 31st of January and 1st of February.

Mr. Macpherson said one question that should be discussed was that of milk production. Feeding at the proper time; the raising of stock and such like, should be considered as by such questions being discussed, benefits to dairymen generally, would result. He also favored home talent, for the dissemination of their views as to manufacture, &c.

The President named Messrs. Macpherson, Ashley and Derbyshire as a Committee to appoint the speakers.

Mr. Wade said that the Agriculture and Arts Association would give two prizes for the best two essays on butter at the meeting next fall. The prizes would be $100 for first, and $50 for second.

Mr. Macpherson considered that cheese men should encourage the manufacture of butter, as a mutual benefit would result. Some sections were adapted for butter making; some for cheese; but they would eventually run in a groove. He approved of giving a bonus for the better manufacture of butter.

The President said that the Government intended to expend $10,000 in the establishment of three creameries. The Association thought that knowledge could be better disseminated among the people by the Association than otherwise.

Mr. Macpherson expressed himself in favor of giving a bonus to butter making factories and favored an experimental factory, so that from the results formulas could be shown and results given that would redound to the credit of all. We now have no formulas to know the results of certain manipulations and until we did, we would practically be experimenting. A concentration of experience would be better disseminated through the Province than otherwise.

The President spoke of the progress made in cheese making and considered that the butter now made was a reproach to the country. We must commence at the butter business by degrees, but the idea of the Government was too far in advance of the people. If farmers were educated up to the proper standard in making butter, there would be less work for them and better pecuniary results.

Mr. Macpherson again favoured one model factory. We want an experimental factory—not one beyond the reach of practice. —Belleville Intelligencer.

WARSAW.

PRESENTATION.

Previous to the departure of Mr. A. H. Edmison from Warsaw where he had been engaged as teacher for two years, he was pleasantly surprised by representatives of his scholars, who presented him with a beautiful Persian lambskin cap and the following address:

DEAR TEACHER.—On this the eve of your departure from among us, permit us to present you with this Persian Lamb cap as a slight token of the esteem we entertain towards you as teacher. Your many sound and amiable qualities have indelibly stamped their impress on our minds, which will call up pleasing recollections of you when you are far separated from us. We trust you will wear it as a badge of honor not so much for its intrinsic value, as for the pleasure and satisfaction it affords the donors in presenting it to you in recognition of your forbearance and affection towards us as pupils. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year we very reluctantly say "good bye," and trust that the Great Ruler of all events may be your constant pilot through life's uneven pathway: and if we should never again meet in this world of sin, sorrow and disappointment, may it be our inexpressible happiness to meet in that home where there is joy and pleasure for evermore.

Mr. Edmison made a suitable reply, thanking both parents and scholars for the many acts of kindness they had shown him during his stay.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—As the public acts of our representatives are open to criticism, we may be permitted to offer a few remarks with regard to the Lakefield correspondence of the EXAMINER of last week. At the last meeting of our village council considerable discussion took place about certain items in an account of $43.52 for extra services, presented by Mr. Sanders, village clerk. One item of $2.00, claimed by the clerk for acting as his own deputy at the election, there being only one polling place, was opposed, and we think rightly by Councillor Hull, who showed the injustice of an officer, whose duty it was to conduct the election, claiming pay for the services of a deputy when there was none appointed. Now our object is to draw attention to the correspondence referred to in which is given a report of the doings of the last council. The writer, with the view apparently of making one of the members of the council the champion of the rights of the ratepayers, omitted to state that the motion for the payment of the above account, including the objectionable items, was moved by Councillor Hull.

It is to be hoped that our local reporters will give a fair and impartial statement of the public acts of our officers, as the press is the principle means by which the people are informed of the doings of their representatives.

Yours, &c.,
RATEPAYER.

Model Creameries.

Canadian butter is without the least doubt the product of our farms which does us the least credit. There is no earthly reason why it should be so; in fact, there are a multitude of reasons why Canadian butter ought to be as perfect an article as a Canadian shorthorn or a Canadian cheese. We have fertile soil, pure water, pure air, cheap ice, cheap building materials, first-class cattle, and many of our farmer's wives are first-class dairy women. Yet nine-tenths of the Canadian butter that is brought to market is not fit to eat, and it bears a price corresponding to its badness. It should be added that the fault is not so much in the making as in the subsequent handling. Butter made on a small scale and sold in small lots to the country storekeeper, is by him dumped into a common receptacle with the inevitable result, not that the good butter has any effect on the quality of the bad, but that the whole package becomes as bad as the worst sample that is in it.

There is produced in this province at least 50,000,000 pounds of butter a year. Owing to the inferior quality of the most of it, the average price realized one year with another by the farmer is not more than fourteen cents a pound. This, when really good butter would be joyfully bought at thirty cents by many thousands of middle-class consumers in Canada; and when there is a perfectly insatiable market in England for good butter at a price considerably higher than this!

What is wanted is uniformity no less than excellence of quality. For that reason the butter factory system possesses certain advantages over the very best private dairy. Given a factory which can put on the market in every month of the year butter of one particular color, flavour and texture, and the fortune of the factory is made. The owners of it would have no difficulty whatever in securing ten cents per pound over the market price of ordinary butter all the year round. Picking up a New York paper we find butter quoted all the way from 15 cents for "poor to fair" up to 39 cents for Western Creamery. Think of the enormous difference it would make to the receipts of our farmers if even one half of their butter could be increased by ten cents per pound. At least two and a half million of dollars would be put into their pockets annually.

It is in view of these circumstances the Local Government, through the Hon. Mr. Wood has asked the Agricultural Association to pass an opinion upon the idea of building at the public expense model creameries for the instruction of those desirous of learning how to make factory butter. As we understand it, the proposition is that three of these model creameries shall be built each at some point to which it would be convenient for neighboring farmers to resort. For cheapness of location, the creameries would, no doubt, be established near some village or small town rather than near a city; and of course must be in some place where the milk of two or three hundred cows can be obtained within some three or four miles. The necessary appliances can be purchased and neat and suitable buildings can be erected for not more than $3,500 each, and the cost of providing a manager and assistant need not exceed $1,500 per annum. The expenses of management would probably be met by the receipts of the factory; but as the leading idea is not to make profit, but to teach how make butter, the model creameries could not of course be expected to make as good a financial showing as those run on purely commercial principles.

When the creameries were established they would be open free of cost as schools of instruction for any person who chose to go there and learn a new and profitable business. By this means not only would some hundreds of farmers' sons and others be provided with a livelihood, but the great obstacle which now stands in the way of the starting of creameries an entire absence of the persons competent to run them would be done away with.

It might be well here to mention a reason disconnected with the goodness or badness of butter, why it is desirable that butter factories should not only be established in greater numbers than at present, but why they should to some extent supercede the cheese factories, of which we have many hundreds. It is popularly supposed that dairy-farming preserves or even restores the fertility of the land. While it is quite true that dairying can easily be carried on in such a manner as continually to bring up the condition of the land, it is also true that dairy farming as it is generally practised in Ontario exhausts the land. This is especially true of the cheese factory system, where the milk and the calves are taken away from the farm, and nothing is brought back. A celebrated agricultural chemist says that in the milk of each cow there is removed from the earth annually a quantity of mineral salts which could not be replaced at less cost than $2. Under the cheese factory system where the milk is carried away, all this is lost, and it can only be restored by purchasing bone dust or others artificial manures or by consuming purchased grain on the farm. Now there is a way of conducting butter factories in which almost the whole of this loss can be avoided. In what is known as the Fairlamb plan the cream only is collected. Proper vessels for setting the milk are furnished to the farmers; also directions about temperature, time of setting, etc. The agent of the collects the cream and the farmer retains the skimmed milk. In the skimmed milk factory is obtained nearly 9-10 of the phosphates and other mineral matters that are taken away in the whole milk. Having the use of skim milk the farmer can feed pigs and calves, and retain nearly the whole fertility of his farm, in fact can improve it, for nature will render available enough of new mineral food to supply what is taken away in the cream. In butter factories there lies, then, not only the hope of good butter and increased profit, but the means of arresting that woful impoverishment of good land which is the reproach of Canadian farming.

Reasons could be multiplied why Hon. Mr. Wood's proposition should meet with careful consideration. by undertaking the supervision of the model creameries, the Agricultural and Arts Association would be making a very great addition to the practical work it now has. And as we have before pointed out, it is in this direction that the Association has a great field of usefulness before it.

PLAIN CAKE.—Three-quarters pound of flour, the same of moist sugar, quarter pound of butter, one egg, two tablespoonsful of milk. Mix all together and bake it.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD.—Half a pound of flour, half a pound of sugar, half a pound of butter; the butter and sugar to be melted together, and then the flour dredged in.

CALEDONIAN CREAM.—Two ounces of raspberry jam, two ounces of red currant jam, two ounces of sifted loaf sugar, the whites of two eggs. Put all in a bowl, and beat with a spoon for three-quarters of an hour.

QUINCE MARMALADE.—Take the quinces, that you have boiled for jelly and mash them with a spoon; to a pound of quinces take a pound of sugar; boil them together until they are well softened; then strain through a coarse sieve and put up in small jars.

PUDDINGS that are Quickly Made Without Much Expense. Beat up four spoonsful of flour with a pint of milk and four eggs to a good batter, nutmegs and sugar to your taste; butter teacups, fill them three parts full and send them to the oven. A quarter of an hour will bake them.

BOILED LEEKS.—Wash, trim and cut the leeks in equal lengths; split each in two, then tie in bunches; put them into plenty of boiling water with a little salt; boil 20 minutes, or till tender, removing any scum which may arise; drain and serve them on toast with melted butter.

RICE CAKES.—Eight eggs; half the whites; whip them swiftly for 10 seconds; half a pound of ground rice; six ounces powdered sugar; the peel of one lemon grated. Whip all together half an hour with a whisk; butter the tin and bake 20 minutes. If a few caraway seeds are added, this cake is strongly recommended for weak stomachs.

DERBY OR SHORT CAKES.—Rub with the hand two pounds of butter into four pounds of sifted flour, two pounds of currants, two pounds of moist sugar, two eggs, mix all together with a pint of milk; roll it out thin, and cut it into round or square cakes with a cutter; lay them on a clean baking sheet, and bake them about five minutes in a middling heated oven.

BONED CHICKEN.—Boil a chicken in a little soup stock until the bones can be easily separated from the meat; remove all the skin, slice and mix the light and the dark meat; season with salt and pepper boil down the juice, pour it upon the meat and shape it like a loaf of bread; wrap lightly in a cloth and press it with a heavy weight for a few hours. When served cut in slices.

Farm Management.

No fixed rules can be laid down for the management of farms. The soil of one township may be best fitted for growing some kind of grain, while the adjoining ones can be most profitably devoted to live stock. No two farms situated side by side are exactly alike. The distance from market, the demand for special products, and not the least, the individual taste of the farmer, have all much weight in determing the system of farm management that it is best to adopt. Those who have given the most thought to this subject are the slowest to advise any general system to be applied to every farm. It is like a garment that is intended to fit all persons and suits none. Every year of progress made in agricultural knowledge teaches more forcibly than previous ones the truth that the farmer must rely largely upon his own intelligence and judgment in working out the best system for his own farm. Even in so seemingly a trifling matter as the pruning of a grapevine, the wisest vineyardist can only give general rules, and each grape grower must adapt them to the peculiarities of each vine.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 45-13t-eow

THE HAPPIEST DAY OF MY LIFE.

MR. EDITOR.—Please insert the following, as it might be an inducement to others to feel as happy as I do. On Saturday last as I was coming from the post-office, I bethought myself of father's indebtedness to the EXAMINER. Well, you know, sir, father is an honest man and pays his debts; but he is never in a hurry, you know, about paying small trifles, provided they don't reach up to hundreds, which he pays in a splutter. Hurrah! said I and in I go, and asks for father's account, which I paid, with many thanks from the Editor, and many a happy New Year. Well, as it was my first time in a newspaper office (as I am only a boy of sixteen summers) I felt myself growing by inches in my boots; I felt so happy; I felt myself every inch a man, and told the Editor to make me out a receipt in father's name for 1883, in advance, you know, which he did, with a smile which makes me laugh outright when I think of it, I thought he looked so good natured, you know. I was once more greeted with "thank you, thank you, a very happy New Year to you," etc., from every member of the staff or corps, even to the little fellow they call the printer's d——l, that I scarcely knew whether I was really Dick or the son of an earl. On leaving your office, Mr. Editor, and going down George street, I chanced to put my hand into my pocket, and discovered I had enough money left to pay all father's small accounts. I crossed the street to Mr. S——'s well known boot and shoe establishment and asked for father's account, which was small, being only for the price of the boots on my feet, which father bought for me, and which were to be paid for in wood, as father don't like paying for small transactions in cash, being rather fond of money. Mr. S—— was more than thankful, and kindly inquired for the health of every member of our family. Wasn't I glad when he styled me Mr. Dick——! I next thought of my stylish overcoat, which I then wore, and not paid for. I counted my money and found I had enough left and to spare, so I went in to see Mr. P. S——, the celebrated cutter and fitter, and paid for my overcoat like a man, although it also was to be paid for in wood. Mr. D—— and Mr. S—— thanked me more than once, and Mr. S—— slapped me on the back, and called me the wheat in the heart of the stack, etc., etc., and told me to call again, and made me a present of a nice silk pocket kerchief, and told me to wear it in my breast pocket with a corner of it to be seen, and which will look so nice at weddings and socials. Well, Mr. Editor, when I got home that night I could not keep from laughing at all, at all. Mother and father and brothers and sisters were surprised and I thought father would scold me, when I told all. Mother kissed her boy, and father shook me by the hand, and said I was like my grandfather, every inch a man. And now Mr. Editor, we will not be ashamed to send the old EXAMINER to our friends in the States and Ireland, as they can see by the label that we not only take a paper, but that we also pay for it in advance. Thanking you, Mr. editor, for inserting this long correspondence,

I remain,
Yours, etc.,
DICK.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City

He Did.

Job went pretty heavily into the boil business, and the venture was a complete success. This reminds us that PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR is another success, and that it gives more comfort to the world than Job's boils did. Remember the name, then, for the little playful corn cometh, and the remedy therefor will gladden the heart. Positively sold by all druggists. N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, proprietors.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, a something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed off on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

Wednesday.

The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

The following bills, amongst others, were introduced:

By Mr. Deroche (Addington)—Act to amend the synod and rectory sales act affecting the diocese of Toronto.

By Mr. Ferris (E Northumberland)—Act to incorporate the Brighton and Norwood railway.

By Mr. Fraser Act to incorporate the Roman Catholic Bishop of Peterborough.

THE BUDGET.

The Hon. Mr. Wood, in rising to make his annual financial statement was received with loud applause. He recapitulated the receipts and expenditures of the past year, and announced that the surplus at the close of 1882 was $4,825,566.87. (Applause.) It had been said that were it not for the receipts of the crown lands the government would not be able to carry on the administration of provincial affairs. It was said that they were living upon the capital of the country. Mr. Wood admitted that large sums had been collected from this department, but held that they had been expended on necessary permanent improvements and enlargements. He compared the case of the government to that of a farmer who draws out his capital or sells his timber in order to erect a barn or make some other permanent improvement on his farm. But it ought further to be remembered that the cost of carrying on on the crown land department should be deducted from the revenue of that department. During the past eleven years, however, the government's receipts from that department exceeded the expenditure by $2,221341. The requirements of the country had advanced so much since the days of the Sandfield Macdonald government that a comparison with the financial expenditures of the present day might with great advantage be made. In 1872 there were no asylumns for the blind, no Mercer reformatory, no asylum for idiots, no refuge for girls, no agricultural college, no normal schools, no bureau of industry, no insurance on public buildings, no board of health, no license grant, no inspections of division courts, no school of design. The sole representative now in the house of ideas of that time was the hon. member for East Grey. Another source of increased expenditure was the agricultural commission reports. Over the increased expenditure in connection with public institutions, he thought it would be admitted they had no control. He maintained that what the government were doing now, in view of all the increased requirements, would compare favorably as regards expenditure with what was done ten or twelve years ago. In a young and growing country like this anything like uniformity of expenditure from year to year could not be looked far. He proposed however to compare the expenditure since 1879 with that of previous years. In 1873 the total expenditure was $2,460,212; in 1878 it was $2,408,532; in 1879 it was $2,285,282; in 1880 it was $2,433,663; and in 1881 it was $2,286,314. He did not think that these figures left anybody much to complain of. He went on to compare the cost of administration of government, of legislation, etc.. during these years, with what he claimed to be favorable results, holding that the increase, whenever it occurred, was satisfactorily accounted for. It might be interesting, said Mr. Wood, to note how fast we were travelling in the direction of increased expenditure as compared with our neighbors. It would be unfair to choose Quebec for purpose of comparison; and New York and Pennsylvania he would also omit; but there might be a ground for a contrast being drawn between the states of Ohio and Michigan and the province of Ontario. Both of the former were agricultural states, possessing the same public institutions as Ontario. The total expenditure in Ohio in '71 was $5,259,046, and in '81 $6,740,543, or an increase of 14 cents per head, making allowance for the increase of population. In Michigan in '71 the expenditure was $1,274,364 in '81 it was $2,302,569, an increase of 39 cents per head, also making allowance for population. In Ontario in 1871 the expenditure was $1,816,866, and in '81 $2,286,314, or an increase of 6 cents per head, making allowance for population. (Hear, hear.) Compare the expenditure of the province with that of the dominion government which was $15,324,881 in '71 and $25,502,841 in '82. Take the case of the township expenditures throughout the province. Their expenditure had increased from $1,912,040 in '72 to $3,878,915 in '80. He felt that the expenditure of this government compared favorably with that of the townships and referring to the government's expenditure towards the development of agricultural interests of the country, Mr. Wood stated that during the past year there had been produced 143,600,000 bushels of all kinds of valued at $94,200,000. The government could not benefit agriculture by adding to the broad acres of the province, or regulate the price of the farmers' grain, but they might assist in bettering the quality and quantity of his products. Mr. Woods went on to specify the various expenditures of the government in this direction characterizing the agricultural college as "the crowning act of the Mowat administration." If any hon gentleman wished to lose his seat in an any agricultural constituency let him attack the agricultural college. He concluded by saying that no government in Canada or the United States had done so much to advance agriculture to encourage the tiller of the soil to increase the value of his labor, or place his occupation on a higher plane than the government of Ontario. (Applause.)

Mr. Merrick (Leeds and Grenville) objected to the years chosen by the treasurer for his comparisons of expenditure. The present government he said, entered upon the responsibilities of its office with a surplus on hand of $6,539,000 left by Sandfield Macdonald. He charged the government with taking credit to itself for returning large sums to the people, and withholding any mention of the abnormal receipts which had poured into the treasury within the last ten years. Within the last ten years the government had received from licenses casual revenue Algoma taxes, and law stamps a total amount of $2,011,091. The fact was they were merely given back to the people with one hand what they took out with the other. Furthermore, the government was in receipt of a sum of $291,000 from the dominion government which was not granted to the Sanfield administration. The Ontario government he held was in no way entitled to the credit of the $7,000,000 of surplus, which was gained by no effort of theirs but by reason of abnormal receipts and payments from the dominion government. He went on to compare the present expenditure with that under the regime of Sandfield Macdonald. According to the method adopted by Mr Wood, the expense per capita for the administration of the province was in '71, $1 12; in '83, according to the estimates making allowance for population, it was $1 33. Legislation for 1871 was 4½ cents per head, and 1881 5 3-10; while the cost of administration of justice had risen from 11½ cents per capita in 1871 to 14½ in 1883. From '74 to '76 this government received a larger sum from licenses than ever before.

In '76 the number of licenses was reduced, but within the last 11 years $1,155,018 had been taken out of the people by the operation of the license acts. The fines had also been paid into the general account of the license fund, and taken out of the hands of the municipalities. He further charged the government with making various expenditures not authorized by the house, amongst which he specified a sum paid to settle a difficulty at the agricultural farm, a grant of $1000 to Prof. Wiggins, and an addition of $500 added to the reward offered in connection with the Scott murder.

Messrs Ross, Creighton, Meredith and Fraser followed Mr Merrick. The debate was kept up till 12 35 this morning when Mr Fraser moved the adjournment, and will resume his speech this afternoon.

Mr. N. G. Dean, of Carleton, Ont., caught a severe cold. In a few days the symptoms became so like those of consumption that he and his friends became alarmed of the ultimate result. His physician, who thought more of his patient's welfare than of the "etiquette of the profession," recommended Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam as the very best remedy known to human skill, and Mr. Dean on taking it was in a very short time restored to health. It is a genuine pleasure to refer to such wonderful cures as this in these days of quackery and of "professional etiquette."

Foiled.

On Saturday, the wideawakeness of Mr. John Curran, baggage master, Midland station, foiled the plans of a rough looking rascal who presented a check and demanded his baggage. Mr. C. saw that the check called for a fine trunk, very unlikely to belong to the claimant, and took the precaution of asking the latter to indentify his baggage. This he would not do, and on Mr. C. mentioning a constable, the swindler decamped.

Oddfellowship.

On Monday night Grand Secretary J. B. King of Toronto paid an official and friendly visit to Otonabee Lodge, No. 13. He inspected the books and expressed himself well satisfied at the flourishing condition of the lodge. Afterward he exemplified the work of the order. Several candidates were initiated. Most of the members of Peterborough lodge were present, and other visitors. After lodge the Grand Secretary was hospitably entertained by the brethren. No. 13 is in a flourishing condition.

LITTLE TOWN TOPICS.

A large amount of local matter is held over for lack of space.

During the week ending Thursday last, the thermometer was considerably below zero.

Our thanks are due to Messrs. Blezard and Kincaid, for copies of parliamentary papers.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company next Monday to elect officers.

The report of the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Cemetery company is held over for lack of space. The financial showing is excellent, there being a surplus of $3,022.33. The old board of directors was re-elected, except Rev. Mr. Clementi, who retired, and was succeeded by Mr. G. M. Roger.

Mr. Thomas Billington, a Peterborough boy, thinks Winnipeg a great place for wealth, but for true wealth he preferred the township of Smith. He returned to the North-West on Tuesday, taking with him a wife in the person of Miss Margaret Rae, of Smith. A pleasant journey both to Winnipeg and through life.

Mr. Thos. H. Johnston, an employee of the giant T., was presented by his fellow employees on Faiday night, with a handsome silver cake basket, on the occasion of his marriage. Mr. J. highly appreciates the feeling that prompted the present, as well as the beautiful basket, which both figuratively and literally "takes the cake."

WEST RIDING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting was held on Wednesday and resulted in the election of the following officers:—

PRESIDENT.—Jos. Walton.

1ST VICE-PRESIDENT.—Wm. Rutherford.

2ND VICE-PRESIDENT.—Henry Collins.

DIRECTORS.—Messrs. T. E. Bell, James Campbell S. McKinbon, John Riddell, Hugh Davidson, John Young, John Garbutt, Alex. Scott, and Geo. W. Fitzgerald.

AUDITORS.—Jas. Edwards, and J. J. Hall.

Mr. John Carnegie was selected as Representative to the Arts Association. The audit shows a balance of cash on hand of $86.10, subject to reduction, however, by the liabilities in connection with the ploughing matches, and $28.00 unpaid prize money, which will likely leave a balance of about $10. All the delegates were authorized to attend the meeting to be held at Millbrook on Feb. 7th to decide as to the holding of a Central Exhibition.

TOWN COUNCIL OF 1883.

FIRING THE FIRST SHOT.

The members elect of the Town Council of Peterborough for the year 1883, met in the Council Chamber at 11 o'clock on Monday, January 15th, as provided by law, and filed their declarations of office as follows:—

H. H. SMITH, Mayor.

FIRST WARD.—John McNaughton, T. Cahill and R. S. Davidson.

SECOND WARD. Thos. Kelly, Walter Paterson, jr. and C. W. Sawers.

THIRD WARD.—A. Rutherford, John Douglas and Wm. Yelland.

FOURTH WARD. Thomas Menzies and J. J. Hartley. [Mr. Denne was absent from the opening meeting through ill health.

His Worship in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

APPLICATIONS.

Applications from Messrs. C. McGrath and Joseph Lundy, for the position of Assessors for the year 1883, were received.

An account of O. Giles, drawing charity wood, $5.60, was ordered to be paid.

AUDITORS.

His Worship appointed Mr. James Stratton one of the Auditors for 1883, and for the other the following nominations were made:—

Mr. J. J. Hall, nominated by Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Cahill.

Mr. J. Wilson, nominated by Mr. McNaughton, seconded by Mr. Menzies.

Mr. Edg. Pearse, nominated by Mr. Yelland, seconded by Mr. Douglas.

A vote resulted in the selection of Mr. Pearse.

BY-LAW.

A by-law to confirm these appointments was duly passed, and the salary of the Auditors fixed at $50.00 each.

A MATTER OF TAXES.

Mr. Edg. Pearse appeared before the Council in reference to the taxes on the premises recently occupied by Mr. J. Fairbairn. He had tendered the amount of the taxes on the real property, but the Collector had refused it unless there was added the tax on two dogs owned by Mr. Fairbairn, which had removed from town, and Mr. P. applied to have the taxes on the dogs remitted, which was on motion, done.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following gentlemen composed the special committee appointed to strike the standing committees for the year:—Messrs. Paterson, Douglas, Menzies, Sawers, Rutherford, Cahill and Kelly, the committee to report at the evening meeting.

ASSESSORS.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson,—That Messrs. C. McGrath and Joseph Lundy be appointed Assessors, and the Clerk by instructed to propare a by-law confirming the appointmetn. The motion was agreed to.

Evening Session.

The Council met at 7.30. His Worship in the chair.

Present—Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Menzies and Hartley.

After routine.

COMMUNICATIONS

were read from Mrs. Gilmour asking the appointment of an attendant on Noble instead of Portsmouth, at the Protestant Home, the latter being about to leave the limits. Received.

From Wm. Aldridge, asking to be appointed an assessor. Received.

From S. Johnston, asking remission of dog tax.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Octave Beauvais, asking remission of taxes, on account of the destruction of his property by fire. Referred to Charity Committee.

ASSESSORS.

A by-law was introduced and duly passed, appointing Cornelius McGrath and J. J. Lundy assessors, defining their duties, and fixing their salary at $200 per year.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Rutherford, from the special committee appointed to strike the standing committees reported, recommending the following committees:

FINANCE.

MR. WALTER PATERSON, JR., CHAIRMAN, Messrs. T. Cahill, H. Denne, A. Rutherford, T. Menzies, C. W. Sawers.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

MR. A. RUTHERFORD, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Douglass, Menzies, Davidson and Sawers.

APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE.

MR. JOHN DOUGLASS, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. McNaughton, Cahill, Hartley Rutherford and Kelly.

CHARITY.

MR. C. W. SAWERS, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Yelland, McNaughton, Kelly, and Hartley.

MARKET.

MR. C. W. SAWERS, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Kelly, Denne, Davidson, Douglass and McNaughton.

JOINT COMMITTEE.

MR. A. RUTHERFORD, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Sawers, Menzies, Cahill, Kelly and Hartley.

PRINTING.

MR. T. MENZIES, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. McNaughton, Yelland, Kelly and Denne.

LICENSE COMMITTEE.

MR. A RUTHERFORD, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Douglass, McNaughton, Kelly and Denne.

COURT OF REVISION.

MR. C. W. SAWERS, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Davidson, and Menzies.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

MR. THOS. CAHILL, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Paterson, Douglass, Hartley and Davidson.

BUILDING AND HEALTH.

MR. T. MENZIES, CHAIRMAN, Messrs. Yelland, Davidson, Sawers and Hartley.

The report was adopted.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The clerk stated that Mr. Denne, since the meeting or the morning had filed his declaration of office.

A petition from Thomas Duncan, asking remission of taxes, was referred to the charity Committee.

On motion of Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Hartley, the clerk was instructed to write to the Secretary of the Hospital for Incurables, to get terms as to the admission of patients.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Mr. Sawers moved, seconded by Mr. Paterson, that a joint committee of the council and citizens be appointed to consider the problem of fire protection for the town, the committee to consist of (Councillors) Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, Paterson, Yelland, Denne, Hartley and the mover, and (citizens) Messrs. G. A. Cox, Stevenson, Poussette, Hazlitt, Wrighton, Lundy, (J. J.) and Dumble, (D. W.) The committee to investigate and report to the council.

Mr. Menzies thought the motion superfluous. The town had water works and any citizens who felt unsafe, by petitioning could secure hydrants if they were willing to pay for them.

Mr. McNaughton agreed with Mr. Menzies.

Mr. Kelly considered that the resolution reflected on the efficiency of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee.

Mr. Cahill was opposed to fixing the expense of water works on the town to be paid by general tax, unless all shared equally in the benefits. He could see no objection to the motion.

Mr. Douglass thought the motion an interference with the duties of the committee.

Mr. Kelly asserted that the Council was able to do the business of the town without the advice of outsiders, no matter how wealthy, whom the electors did not see fit to elect to the Council Board. The Council represented the people and should not delegate its powers to any committee.

Mr. Hartly thought the motion would end in nothing. Such committees had been appointed before without any result arising from them and it would be so in this case.

His worship suggested that the Council might express its willingness to grant petitions for hydrants when properly presented, something they had not yet done.

Mr. Paterson seconded the motion because it could do no harm and some good might come out of it. The motion had no connection with the water works.

AN AMENDMENT.

Mr. Menzies moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That the motion be not adopted, but that where the ratepayers of a certain locality, representing two-thirds of the property, present a petition, that it be granted according to law, and be paid for by a local taxation.

Mr. Sawers said he moved the resolution because there were petitions for hydrants on certain streets which had not been acted on, and because we had to depend on the old fire engine which had lost the town probably $100,000. He hoped that action would be taken.

The amendment was carried and the original motion lost.

A BIG UNDERTAKING.

Mr. Sawers moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies,—That the Clerk be instructed to tabulate and refer to each of the by-laws; define the duties, give the callings, salaries, and other particulars respecting the officers of the corporation for 1882; to give a statement of the books of account and reference used by the clerk and treasurer; also a statement of the arrangement for bank deposits and discounts.

Mr. Cahill said that this work would take the clerk three months to do and do nothing else. Mr. Sawers was a new member and would like to make his mark, and he suggested that he be allowed to do the work indicated by his resolution.

The motion was lost.

CROSSINGS AND THE SNOW BY-LAW.

Mr. Sawers moved, seconded bw Mr. Paterson,—That the Street Inspector be instructed to clean the George street crossings of snow and ice and to enforce the snow by-law.

Mr. Rutherford approved of the spirit of the resolution.

Street Inspector Johnson said the crossings had been cleared, and the snow by-law did not admit of his taking action before eight o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Yelland called attention to the walk on George street, north of the post office.

Mr. Douglas moved, seconded by Mr. Yelland, That the corporation procure a snow plow for use of the corporation, and also a horse and man for the same.

Mr. Sawers' motion was put and declared lost, and the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Rutherford, Paterson, Sawers and Hartley. 4.

NAYS.—Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, Yelland, Douglas and Menzies. 7.

This motion having been lost, Mr. Douglas withdrew his snow plow resolution.

SIGNING CHEQUES.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, Councillor Davidson was authorized to sign cheques in the absence of the Mayor.

Mr. —— Wilson was heard in reference to certain alleged irregularities in the estimates, and the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

MILEAGE OF SIDEWALKS.

RECORD OF OUR LOCAL RULERS.

Brief Sketches of the Members of the Town Council of 1883.

The following series of brief sketches of the lucky thirteen, into whose hands the destines of the town are committed, was in type last week, but it was held over to allow insertion of other matter that would not keep—hadn't the staying power as it were—as well as the characters and records of our town fathers, which are incorruptible, and therefore would not deteriorate by keeping a week.

On the whole we have reason to be proud of our Town Council as a deliberative—sometimes on long session nights they might be called a deliberate—body, and though we, like the faithful average wife, may grumble at or scold them, yet, if any outsider should venture on a word of disparagement, it would be the signal for a fight.

In embalming them in the immortality of printer's ink, we shall proceed alphabetically, beginning, however, with His Worship the Mayor.

HENRY HALL SMITH,

was born in the town of Cobourg, thirty-six years ago. He came to Peterborough in 1861, and has since pursued the practice of his profession, the law. He has had considerable municipal experience. He was first elected a councillor for the Second Ward in 1877, and held that position for three years, being returned each time at the head of the poll. In 1881 he was elected Mayor by a majority of 129, and was returned by acclamation for 1882 and 1883. Mayor Smith makes a capital chairman. He is obliging to the press, and holds the members, sometimes given to being a little coltish, well in hand, and while at times, giving reasonable liberties, he does not allow it to be forgotten that he is the head of the council. His rulings are prompt, and seldom appealed from. He might look more dignified in a cocked hat and robe, but he would not make a better chairman.

THOMAS CAHILL,

was born in Ireland in 1841, and has been a resident of the town for many years, and is one of our most influential Roman Catholic citizens. He fills the important Government office of district Inspector of Weights and Measures. He entered municipal life in 1872, being returned by acclamation for the first ward, but he has had opposition every year since and every year been elected. He has been a member of the most important committees of the council, and a member and chairman of the Separate School Board, but resigned the chairmanship at the beginning of this year. In the council Mr. Cahill is a man of weight and measures—his views are listened to with respect, and his measures are generally good ones. He is the orator of the council, his language being well chosen and forcible, and his ideas good. The taste of the turf of the old country on his tongue, does not lessen the effectiveness of his speeches.

JOHN DOUGLASS

is fifty-three years of age, being in years the oldest member of the council. Though a thorough Scotchman, he is next thing to an Englishman, having been born in Roxburgshire on the borders. He came to Canada in 1852. His business is a carriage builder, his establishment being on Brock street, corner of Aylmer. He has been a member of the council for six or seven years, representing the third ward continuously since his first election, this year at the head of the poll. Mr. Douglass is one of the solid members of the council; his voice is not often heard, and then for not any great length of time. His tongue has not forgotten the rough bur-r-r of Scotland, and his remarks are to the point, and often made with a dry and caustic Celtic sarcasm. He speaks with deliberation and judgment, and seldom says anything that he might after wish unsaid. Mr. Douglass would be much missed from the council board.

ROBERT STEWART DAVIDSON

is a native Canadian, having been born in the Township of Smith, — years ago, though the greater part of his life has been spent in town. In early life he was learning the dry goods business with Hall, Innes & Co. About fifteen years ago he became a partner in the firm of McKee & Davidson, hardware merchants. He is a director of the Skating and Curling Rink Company. He is also an entirely new member, and municipally speaking, "his future is before him." His attendance at the first meeting of the Council offered no index to his talents as a speaker, for he only, of all the members of the Council did not have a word to say. But the fact of his vigilant silence is good ground, knowing his general ability, for predicting that he will make one of the most useful members of the Council.

HENRY DENNE,

in the way of age has scored the half-century. He was born 50 years ago in the hoppy county of Kent, England, and came to Peterborough in 1855. He is a member of the firm of Denne & Sperry, proprietors of flouring mills. His experience in municipal matters began seven or eight years ago, since which time he has represented efficiently and satisfactorily the Fourth Ward. He has also been for three years a member of the Board of Education. Mr. Denne brings a good deal of intelligence and independence of thought to the duties of councillor. He is a vigorous speaker and apt to give hard knocks in debate. He is a practical man and performs the duties of his position satisfactorily in all respects.

J. J. HARTLEY,

is Peterborough born, is thirty-four years of age, and follows the business of contractor and builder. His municipal experience was begun in 1881, and after an interval of one year he was re-elected for the Fourth Ward. He has a prompt business way of speaking in the council, and seems to think and act for himself. He is the second junior member of the board. He gives promise of making a useful member and a worthy representative.

THOMAS KELLY,

is "native, and to the manor born," having been born in Peterborough in 1844. He was first elected to the Council in 1880, and has since been returned for the second ward, being honored this year by being returned by acclamation. He was also a member of the Separate School Board for '81 and '82, but retired this year, and is a successful and enterprising dry goods merchant. He is one of our best councillors. Seldom he speaks, but when he does he has something to say. He takes an active and intelligent interest in the various affairs of the Council, and generally masters the merits of a subject before committing himself to action on it. He is an honor to the Second Ward.

THOMAS MENZIES, J. P.

The "Land o' Cakes," had the honor of giving birth to Mr. Menzies, in 1830, he came to Canada thirty-two years ago, and has been a resident of Peterborough ever since. He does a large broking and banking business and has built up a thriving business in the book and stationery trade, though it can't be said that his progress in commercial life has been stationary. A year ago he was put on the commission of the peace. He entered the Council in 1861, and with intervals of retirement, has worthily represented the Fourth Ward since. In speech Mr. M. is quick and prompt, and to a stranger would seem vacillating, but when he once becomes convinced that he is right on any question, there is no doubt of his having a mind of his own. On account, it may well be supposed, of his fitness for the position, he is often select-Chairman of the Committee of the Whole. From the excellent way in which he discharges the duties of the office one would naturally conclude that Mr. M. was the coming man for the Mayoralty, though it is difficult to say if the Fourth Ward will be satisfied to thus lose the services of so useful and efficient a member of the Council. His election for mayor would be almost certain.

JOHN M'NAUGHTON,

known as the most belligrent member of the council, comes honestly by his combative proclivities and his championship of the poor man's cause; he was born in the county Kerry, Ireland, 39 years ago; twenty of which he has spent, as a boot and shoe maker, in Peterborough. He is comparatively a young member of the council, having been first elected for the First Ward in 1879. Mr. McN. is also a frequent and willing speaker, and his twenty years in Canada have but slightly impaired the purity of the Kerry accent. He is the favorite of his constituents, and watches over their welfare with almost aggressive zeal, and is deservedly popular with them. He makes an excellent representative of ward number one.

WALTER PATERSON, JR.,

is a Canadian born. His first birthday occurred in 1843. He is a member of the firm of Paterson & Son, tanners, Aylmer street. In 1871 he was first elected for the Second Ward, and has been a member of the Council every year since his only vacation being about three months when his successor for that year resigned after filling his seat at the council board the first quarter and Mr. P. was elected his successor. Mr. Paterson is the finance minister of the council, being the chairman of that most important committee. He is a gentleman of good executive ability, with a full knowledge of municipal matters. Like Mr. Kelly, he seldom speaks, and then to throw light on the subject in question. In a return of the most efficient and painstaking members of the council, Mr. Paterson's name would have a prominent place, and Ward number two will think twice before dispensing with his services.

ARTHUR RUTHERFORD, J. P.,

first saw the light in England in 1838, and has been a long resident of the town. He is a builder and contractor by profession. In 1863 he was first elected for the Third Ward, and has represented it since, except two years while he was absent in England. He has been a member of the school board for fifteen years, "off and on." He has filled the chair of important committees in the town council. In session he is a ready and willing speaker, his style being familiar and conversational. He is somewhat inclined to be aggressive when attacked, but perhaps would be less so if not stirred up so frequently by member a on the "opposition benches." He has a wide knowledge and intelligent grasp of municipal matters, and is a valuable member, whether on committee or in council assembled."

CAMPBELL WILLIAM SAWERS

is the youngest member of the council by half a dozen years, being only 29 years of age, and is the only novus homo—saving Mr Davidson new man, in the council, all the others saving one having had from one to ten years experience. He was elected by acclamation for number two Ward last January. His profession is the law, he being called to the bar in 1876. He enters actively into the business of the council, and is the chairman of the charity committee, court of revision and market committee. He seems determined to get at the bottom of matters and if he carries out the programme of the first meeting, will revolutionize the municipal affairs of the town. His motions on that occasion, though not all carried, have since been productive of good effects.

WM. YELLAND

is fifty years of age and a native of England. His business is that of a carriage builder. He was elected for the Third Ward in 1877, and has represented the ward since, except during 1882. He was re-elected last at the late election. He is also a member of the board of the Wm. Hall poor trust fund. Mr. Yelland has had considerable experience and will, no doubt, in his coming year justify the wisdom of the electors in selecting him as their representative.

WEST RIDING REFORMERS

ENTHUSIASTIC MASS MEETING

A CANDIDATE NOMINATED.

On Wednesday afternoon a largely attended mass meeting of the Reformers of the West Riding took place in Hill's Music Hall, to select a candidate for the local election.

Every part of the Riding was well represented, and the feeling of enthusiasm was very great.

Mr. T. G. Hazlitt, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and in a few words explained the object of the meeting, speaking in warm eulogy of the course and policy of the Mowat Administration, and the duty of the Liberal party at the present time.

The following were the

NOMINATIONS MADE.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, seconded by Mr. Joseph Griffin, nominated Mr. J. R. Stratton of THE EXAMINER.

Mr. Duncan McLeod, seconded by Mr. Michael Sanderson, nominated Mr. Jas. Campbell, ex-president of the West Riding Agricultural Society.

Mr. Stratton then addressed the meeting, making due acknowledgement for the great honor conferred on him by placing him in nomination as a candidate for the representation of his native county. He then proceeded to speak of the impregnable nature of the position held by the present Reform Government on the Boundary Award matter, the Rivers and Streams Bill, of their phenomenally successful administration of the financial affairs of the Province, of the manner in which they had demonstrated generally, that the destinies of the Province were safe in their hands, and expressed his belief that popular feeling was overwhelmingly in favor of giving them a renewed lease of the power which they had so ably and wisely wielded for the best interests of the country during their term of office. He concluded his remarks by stating that at present he was compelled to decline the nomination.

A motion was then passed, making Mr. Campbell's nomination unanimous, and that gentlemen desired to defer giving an answer as to his becoming a candidate till next Saturday, January 27th at 2 o'clock, when the adjourned meeting will receive his answer.

The following resolutions were enthusiastically adopted by the meeting:

Resolved, That this Convention in reviewing the reasons why the Mowat Government should be entrusted with a new lease of power, proudly regard the splendid financial record of its administration, by which, after an eleven years' tenure of office with every requirement of every department of the public service adequately met, the magnificent surplus of five million dollars is shown, as an incontestable evidence of their integrity ability and fitness as provincial ministers, whose course is hereby cordially and unreservedly endorsed, with every confidence that the future discharge of their administrative duties will be marked by the same prudent economy and wisdom as in the past and that this convention feels it its duty and commits itself to the faithful discharge of the same, to leave no means unemployed which may promote their retention of power.

Resolved, That the manly, straightforward, unswerving and consistent course taken with so much ability zeal and solicitude for the interests of this province by the Mowat Administration in the matter of the Boundary Award, has earned the gratitude of every patriotic citizen of this province; that this convention hereby desires to give full and feeling expression on behalf of the West Riding of Peterborough, to its gratitude for the noble and loyal stand taken by the Reform Government of the Province and that also on behalf of the West Riding this convention hereby asserts, in the name of justice and right the claim of the Province of Ontario to the vast and valuable territory given it by the Award of Her Majesty's Arbitrators, and that it will resist to the utmost all traitorous attempts to deprive the province of this territory and that it will fight to the last ditch to secure the confirmation of the Award, and to retain in power a Government, the chief plank in whose platform is the preservation, intact and entire, of the territory and territorial rights of this Province.

Resolved, That this Convention desires to express its deep resentment of the attempts made by the repeated disallowance of the Rivers and Streams Bill, to unjustly and flagrantly interfere with the rights of this Province to conduct, unadvised, and in accordance with its own ideas of its needs and requirements, its peculiarly provincial and internal affairs, in accordance with the authority conferred by the Federal constitution; and that no such attempts shall be successful, if its most devoted endeavors to secure the return to power of the Mowat Administration, shall mean success.

After brief speeches by Messrs. G. A. Cox, J. Bertram, E. B. Edwards and G. M. Roger, the meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Candidate and the Mowat Government.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Lundy is home from the Northwest on a visit.

The Lindsay Post gives Mr. O'Brien, the head master of the Separate School here a high character for efficiency.

Rev. Mr. Torrance will preach on Sunday afternoon next, on the occasion of the opening of the Presbyterian Church at Campbellford.

Mr. F. E. Burnham was on Tuesday elected to represent Emerson in the Manitoba Legislature, in the Liberal interest. Majority 14.

Mr. D. Galletly will lead the singing at the sevices for opening the Presbyterian Church at Campbellford for Divine worship, next Sunday.

Eclipses this Year.

There will be two eclipses of the sun and two of the moon this year. The first will be a very small eclipse of the moon on April 22nd, visible from parts of America and Australia. The second a total eclipse of the sun on May 6th, visible from Eastern Australia and Central America. The third a partial eclipse of the moon on the morning of October 18th, it being at 59 minutes after 5 a. m., the moon setting in about half an hour, so that it will be partly visible here. The middle of the eclipse will be at 54 minutes after 6. At the time of the greatest eclipse rather more than one quarter of the moon's diameter will be hidden. The eclipse will be visible in Europe, America and West Africa. The fourth will be an annular eclipse of the sun on October 30th and 31st, invisible in this country.

PETEBBOROUGH, JAN. 25, 1883.

"The Farmer's Friends."

The record of the Mowat Administration must have demonstrated very strongly to the farmers which party in this province can be most depended on to look after the interests of the agricultural classes. During the dozen years they have been in power the Reform Administration have omitted no opportunity of promoting the best interests of the farming community.

In the matter of technical education the Agricultural College and Experimental Farm, Guelph, are the most important factors. True, the Agricultural College was established by Hon. Sandfield Macdonald. But it was, at the time of his retirement from power a very modest farm house, and compared to what it is now, the farm was in a state of nature; but this has all been changed. Around this nucleus has risen a college capable of holding 140 pupils, and furnished with the necessary class-rooms, laboratories, reading rooms, museums, etc., etc. The farm, which consists of 550 acres, has been provided with dwellings for professors and foremen, and the whole process by which the farm has been brought to a model state of tilth, has been carried on under the eyes and by the assistance of the students, who have since left the college, and are carrying out in practical farming the valuable lessons learned. The work of technical farm education is carried on by means of lectures inside, and work and instruction in the stables, yards, shops, gardens and fields outside. The institution is doing a great work for the benefit of farming. Since 1874, 597 pupils have entered it, and the majority of these have passed into the ranks of the practical farmers of the province, and the beneficial effects upon an industry in which, though it is the oldest in the world, there is much yet to learn, are incalculable.

Large grants have also been made to Agricultural Societies, besides there have been grants to the Agricultural and Arts Association, Horticultural Societies, Fruit Growers' Associations, Poultry Associations, Dairymen's Associations, etc., etc.

The Agricultural Commission, appointed in 1879, has collected a valuable amount of information respecting the agricultural resources of this province, and the result of their labours are embodied in four large volumes, which form one of the most complete works on Canadian agriculture extant.

The Bureau of Industries established in 1881, though with a brief record has resulted in showing such a glowing picture of the fertility of our soil and the favourablness of the climate for farming, stock-raising and dairying, that it will prove a most valuable aid in drawing attention to, and securing settlement of our yet unoccupied lands.

The bill now before the Ontario Legislature for the establishment of public creameries is another evidence of the watchful care of the Mowat Government over the interests of the farmers. In spite of our leading position as agriculturists, stock-raisers, and cheese-producers, Ontario butter, for lack of uniformity of quality, lack of keeping quality, etc., is not up to the mark. There are produced annually in this province, about fifty million pounds of butter. Competent authorities estimate that creamery butter is worth seven cents more than that manufactured in the ordinary way, but supposing that any means could be adopted by which the price generally could be advanced even two cents per pound, that would mean an annual increase in the value of our butter production of two million dollars. To secure this result the Government has introduced a bill for the establishment of three creameries in this province, one west, one central and the other east. These are to be under the management of competent foremen, and it is provided that, "Subject to certain regulations, any citizen of the province may visit these creameries, and see the modes of proceeding in the manufacture." Thus these creameries will be schools where farmers and farmer's wives may learn the principle of butter making, according to the most advanced and improved systems. Bnt farmers' and farmers' wives may say that they know well enough how to make butter; but the fact that creamery butter commands a price from five to seven cents higher than domestic made butter, is a proof that should silence all objection.

The above slight and imperfect resume of the evidence is only part of what might be added to show that the Mowat Government, as far as their jurisdiction extends, are safe and satifactory guardians of the farmers' interests, and is sufficient to demonstrate that the party that has hindered the Government in their friendly schemes for the farmers' benefit, and which now sneers at and belittles the palpable evidence of their good results, would, as far as the farmers' interests are concerned, make very indifferent and retrogressive substitutes for the Mowat Administration, "The Farmers' Friends."

Editorial Notes.

Even the Government organ at Ottawa has denounced the blackguardly abuse of the Mail as an error of party policy, but it cannot rise to the moral level of condemning it because it was wrong, ungentlemanly, inhospitable, abusive and untruthful.

Mr. Meredith hastens to clear the Mail of a charge which the most fatuous has never dreamed of fixing on it. He says that "the Mail newspaper is not in any case controlling the Conservative party." This is patently true. The Conservative party is as a rule of too respectable a composition to endorse the course of a journal which does not hesitate in the pursuit of its policy to insult a church dignitary, or abuse the chosen representatives of the Reform party. Conservatives can see the fact that the Mail has insulted their neighbors, against whose respectability the rashest dare not venture to insinnate a word of disparagement at home.

A modest Yankee is smitten with the fever of the tariff reform now raging in "the States." That he is modest in his demands, though not more so than the avarage bloated monopolist developed under the kindly fostering of a protective tariff, may be seen from the following letter written to Hon. Sunset Cox:—

"I am going into the business of raising pine apples and other tropical fruits in hot-houses, and I want protection against the 'pauper labor' of the West Indies for my 'infant industry.' I propose employing two small boys, and American labor must be protected, even if pineapples cost $5 apiece. Don't you forget it! Yours,

"C. CHOWDER SMITH,
"A Protectionist."

The Mowat Government is fortunate in this respect, that during their existence they have not been attacked on one act of administration. Their administration of public affairs is unimpeached. No charge of jobbery has been laid at their door, much less has such a charge of the nature been fixed on them. Both as a Cabinet and as individuals, their record for honest, administrative, and capable executive, discharge of their duties is unassailed, because unassailable, and there has not been heard the least whisper that any one of the Ministers during a term of office of almost a dozen years, has sought or promoted by improper means, his personal advantage, or in other words has feathered his own nest. This is indeed a proud record, and one that entitles them to the renewed lease of office, which will be conferred at the coming elections.

AN ANCIENT PROPHECY.

THE FORECAST OF AN OMINOUS COUPLET.

Easter Day this year comes very early. As many of our readers know, it is the 25th of March. But some may not be aware that the same day is the Annunciation of the Virgin Mary. And those who do recollect it may not remember the lines:

"When our Lord falls in our Lady's lap, England shall meet with great mishap,"

a prophecy which, curiously enough, in past years has been fulfilled. On each occasion of its occurrence in the present century, viz., in 1842, 1853 and 1864, there have been troublous times for England. The first of these years was not only the date of dangerous riots and destruction of property in the manufacturing districts, but also of the terrible military disasters in Afghanistan. The second saw the outbreak of the Crimean war, and the third was the period when the Lancashire cotton famine, with all its attendant pauperism was at its highest point.

Quaint old Miller, in his "Worthies of England," writing in 1661, comments thus on the prediction:—"I behold this proverbial prophecy or this prophetical menace, to be not above six score years old, and of Popish extraction. It whispereth more than it dares speak out, and points at more than it dares whisper; and fain would intimate to credulous persons, that the blessed Virgin, offended with the English for abolishing her adoration, watcheth an opportunity of revenge on this nation. When her day (being the five-and-twentieth day of March, and first of the Gregorian year) chanceth to fall on the day of Christ's resurrection, then being, as it were, fortified by her Son's assistance, some signal judgment is intended to our State and Churchmen especially."

Some bid us dismiss our fears of danger this year by showing that the lines mean when Good Friday and Lady Day fall on March 25th. Nevertheless the doggerel prophecy was verified in the years we have stated.

THE GRAND JUNCTION R. R. VS. COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

JUDGMENT OF THE SUPREME COURT.

At a special session of the Supreme Court, held at Ottawa, on Thursday, Jan. 11th, for the delivery of judgment. The following decision was given in the above case, which has a peculiar interest for this county:

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY COMPANY (APPELLANTS) V. COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH ET AL., RESPONDENTS.

This was an appeal from the Ontario Court of Appeals reversing the rule of the Court of Queen's Bench granting a writ of mandamus, commanding the corporation of the County of Peterborough to issue debentures for $75,000 and interest in accordance with the terms of a certain by-law respecting the said Grand Junction Railway Company and the Peterborough & Haliburton Railway Company, and adopted by the ratepayers. The appeal was dismissed with costs. In giving judgment the Chief Justice remarked that the Ontario Legislature in passing the Act to legalize the by-law in question must have been led to believe that all other proceedings were regular and legal excepting the simple omission of the third reading. The Legislature could only legalize what had actually been passed by the Council and approved by the ratepayers. He quoted from the evidence to show that the by-law in question had never been regularly passed by the Council, and the curative process could not be held to apply to matters to which the attention of the Legislature had never been directed. The by-law which it had been attempted to have completed was not really a by-law at all, and the Legislature had acted under a misapprehension of the facts. Therefore on application being made for a mandamus the County Council had a perfect right to raise the question as to the validity of the by-law. Mr. Justice Henry was reluctantly obliged to concur in the judgment, though of opinion that the equities were on the side of the Company, who had done everything the County Council had a right to expect, though perhaps not within the specified time. The Ontario statute only pretended to supply the third reading of the by-law, whereas it appeared that there had never been a second reading, and that the approval of the ratepayers had not been obtained in the proper form. He also entertained doubts as to whether the Local Legislature had power to interfere in any way with a private contract made between a railway company and a municipality. He would express no opinion upon the point, but it would require some argument to convince him that either the Provincial or Dominion Parliament had a right to affect by legislation any contract entered into by independent corporations. Justices Fournier, Gwynne and Taschereau concurred.

Mr. Hector Cameron, Q. C. for the appellants, requested that the Court should state that the decision refused the writ of mandamus should not prejudice any action which the company might undertake for the recovery of the bonus from the county.

The Chief Justice said he would be very sorry to prevent further action by the Company for the enforcement of their alleged equitable claim. The decision of the Court would therefore be that the appeal should be dismissed on the ground that the mandamus was not a proper remedy.

There is no wonder that the friends of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States are proud of its success. The figures which the society is now able to exhibit are eloquent ones. In the year just closed the new insurance done by the Equitable reached sixty millions of dollars and the total income exceeded eleven millions. The assets reported by the society at the close of 1882 amounted to over $48,000,000, of which sum $10,500,000, was surplus. The company's Canadian business has been built up to form no inconsiderable share of the grand total given above.—Monetary Times.

LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.

Shareholders' Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of Little Lake Cemetery Company was held in the Council Chamber on Monday of last week. There was a large attendance, and the President Mr. J. J. Lundy, occupied the chair.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT.

The President read the following report of the Directors:—

Report of the Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company for the year 1882, presented at the annual meeting, held on the 15th of January, 1883:

The retiring Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, in presenting their report for the year 1882, just closed, would improve the opportunity afforded them of congratulating the stockholders upon the very favorable position of the Company, as regards both its financial and real estate interests.

There have been seventy lots sold during the year, and notwithstanding a considerable sum has been expended in improving and beautifying the grounds, there is a cash balance in favor of the Company of $3,022.23, as is seen by the Secretary-Treasurer's balance sheet accompanying this report.

In the matter of the purchasing of land, recommended by the Directors of last year your Board made personal application to Mr. Burnham, who, after some delay, wrote to the Board that he had fixed the price of the land in question at $400 an acre—a price which the Directors unanimously refused to accept.

JOHN J. LUNDY,
President.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

To the Directors of the Little Lake Cemetary Company:

GENTLEMEN,—We beg leave to state that we have examined the books and papers of your Treasurer, submitted to us, and find that the annexed statement of receipts and expenditures, as taken from his books, are correct. The weekly account of your Caretaker we have checked with your Treasurer's books, and find these correct, together with sundry accounts for printing, stationery, etc., which we assume to have been approved of by you.

WILLIAM EASTLAND, } Auditors.

Peterborough, Jan. 11th, 1883.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

The following is the creditable report of the Superintendent, Mr. John Kelly:

To the President and Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg leave to report that the receipts and expenditures of the Little Lake Cemetery, from January 1st, 1882, to January 1st, 1883, were as follows:—

Vault Fees	2 00
Single Graves	1 00
Digging Graves	16 00
Care of lots, etc	71 75
Sundry work	74 50
	$ 623 25

The total number of interments during the year was 119.

In presenting my financial statement I would call your attention to the improvements that have been made during the year, for which there is but little pecuniary return as yet, but when all the lots are sold they will yield an ample compensation for the money expended thereon. At present it beautifies the grounds, and induces many to purchase lots before requiring them.

There were 493 lots cleared and improved this season and terraces built on the side of the hill, which adds very much to the appearance of the place.

There were seventy lots sold during the year, and about one-third of those lots were sold to parties who fancied them since they had been improved, and do not need them at present.

The driving roadway has been greatly improved during the past year by raking all the coarse stone to the centre of those roads and breaking them very fine which will tend to make the roads more permanent and durable, and more comfortable to drive on.

The point at the north end, near the lake shore, has been levelled and seeded, and as the cost of drawing water from place is now very great, I would recommend that some motive power be procured, which if placed at this point would force the water to different parts of the cemetery for watering purposes. In connection with this one or more small fountains could be made, which would be useful as well as ornamental. The cost, I think, would not need to be very large, as a windmill, such as is used in such cases for raising water for ordinary purposes, could be made to force the required supply to any part of the grounds, as the location is well adapted to furnish the power required.

I would also recommend that a substitute be found for the present wooden stakes at the corners of the lots; they should be replaced by some more durable and seemly material. The wood in the ground is decaying, and stakes cannot be kept in proper position. If replaced by iron or stone, level with the surface of the ground, the cutting of the grass with the lawn mower would not be obstructed, and the grounds would look much better, as the grass would be evenly cut in all places.

In conclusion I might say that there are several small improvements made. There was a number of ornamental trees planted, which are doing well; also a drain has been opened at the foot of the hill, east of the chapel, and tiles put in and filled with small stone, so as to readily carry off the water in the spring, which flows in great abundance.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN KELLY,
Superintendent.

January 15th, 1883.

Mr. Jas. Stratton, expressed his confidence in the correctness of the reports and in moving their adoption he remarked that the grounds were kept in order by collections made from owners of lots. But he added that the time was approaching when the relatives and friends of persons buried in the cemetery would be scattered, and the funds now supplied by them for keeping the grounds and graves in order would necessarily not be forthcoming. Therefore he advocated investing the surplus funds in such a way that the proceeds would be available for keeping the grounds in order. He did not wish to find fault, but he believed that it would be wise to adopt the course of action he had suggested.

Mr. Menzies seconded the motion to adopt the reports which was carried.

Mr. Stratton moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies, that the new board of Directors be requested to assume the whole control of the cemetery.

After some discussion the motion was agreed to.

Mr. Stapleton called attention to the necessity of building a walk leading to the cemetery, but no action was taken.

CHANGING THE HOUR.

Mr. Kingan suggested that the hour of meeting at the annual meeting should be changed from 12 to 5 o'clock, and his motion to that effect, seconded by Mr. Yelland, was adopted.

THE NEW DIRECTORS.

The ballot for the new Board of Directors was taken, Messrs. Stratton and Stapleton acting as scrutineers, and resulted in the selection of the following gentlemen, Rev. Mr. Clementi delining to be a candidate: Messrs. Judge Dennistoun, Hon. R. Hamilton, J. Stevenson, Charles Stapleton, G. M. Roger, W. Eastland, James Edwards, and John Carnegie.

The meeting adjourned.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH

On Tuesday of last week the Presbytery of Peterborough met in St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. J. Ross, as Moderator, occupied the chair. There were also present, Rev. Messrs. Andrews, Bennett, Bell, Beattie, Cleland, Clarke, Cameron, Cook, Carmichael, Duncan, Ewing, Flemming, Jamieson, McCrae, Sutherland, Torrance and Madill; Messrs. Aitchison, Fife, Leggett, Little, Montgomery, Mayhood, Plunkett and Russell.

After routine:

CONDOLENCE.

Messrs. Beattie, McCrae, Madill and Russell were appointed a committee to draft a resolution of condolence with the family of the late Col. Haultain.

A CALL.

A request was made for moderating in a call at Cartwright and Ballyduff. On motion of Rev. Mr. Bennett, the matter was tabled till a report of the committee appointed to take steps to remove the arrears of stipend due their former pastor by these congregations, should have been received.

Owing to a previous engagement, the Presbytery was compelled to decline an invitation to attend the Presbyterian Women's Foreign Missionary Association's tea in St. Paul's church in the evening as per invitation of the Association.

Rev. Mr. Cleland's report on the subject of Home Missions was adopted.

The Presbytery by resolution instructed sessions to submit their records for examination at the next meeting of the Presbytery.

After considering certain remits from the General Assembly, the Presbytery postponed their further consideration till the next meeting.

RETIREMENT.

Rev. Mr. White, formerly of Warsaw and Dummer, requested that the usual steps be taken to obtain leave from the General Assembly for him to retire from the active work of the ministry, and Messrs. Cleland and Bell were named a committee to prepare the necessary papers.

NEXT MEETING.

The next meeting of the Presbytery was fixed at Cobourg, on Tuesday, March 2d, at 11 o'clock a.m., and it was also decieded that the first evening of the meeting be devoted to a conference on the state of religion, and on the subjects of temperance and Sabbath schools.

REV. MR. BENNETT'S RESOLUTION.

Rev. Mr. Bennett, in accordance with notice given three months ago, moved his resolution referring to the increase of minister's stipends within bounds.

It was moved by Mr. Carmichael, seconded by Mr. Sutherland, and resolved, That the Presbytery cordially acquiesce in the view Mr. Bennett has presented in his admirable report respecting the stipends paid to ministers and the means proposed to increase the same, thank him for the report and request that it be printed and copies thereof be distributed among our congregations.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

The Presbytery adopted the following resolution of condolence with the family of the late Lieut.-Col. Haultain:—

"While bowing in humble submission to the wise and sovereign will of God in the sudden removal of our dear brother and co-Presbyter, Lieut.-Col. Haultain, we cannot refrain from placing on record our sense of the great loss which we have sustained. We would bear testimony to his eminent services in the Church of Christ, as shown in his readiness to sacrifice time, money and strength for the promotion of the best interests of his fellow men and the glory of his Saviour. While as a Presbytery we feel our loss, we desire to express our deepest sympathy with the bereaved wife and aged mother, and all the members of his bereaved family. We would assure them of our prayers that the Comforter may dwell in their hearts in all fulness, and that they all may, through their trials, be made meet for the inheritance of the Saints in light.

"We would also tender our sympathy to the session and congregation of St. Paul's Church in the loss of one who had long been a laborer and councillor with them.

"We pray that the voice of the Master which has called him away may be heard as the call to duty by many who will cheerfully answer, 'Here am I, Lord.'"

Springless Trusses and Supporters.

Prof. G. W. Hotchkin of Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y., will again visit as follows: Peterborough, Caisse House, March 3, 4 & 5; Lindsay, Benson House, March 6, 7 & 8. Prof. H. having had thirty years experience has become master of his profession and defies the hernia that he cannot hold it in its place. Prof. H. treats Inguinal, Umbilical as well as Varicocele, also children, all of which he has treated successfully. Go and see his for yourselves. 4

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Woman's Share in the Great Work.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society—The Presbyterial Society's Annual Meeting—Officers for 1883—The Secretary's Report—Auxiliary Societies Probable—Growing Interest in Mission Work.

With a most commendable zeal the women of the Presbyterian Church practically deny to its ministers a monopoly of the glorious work of spreading the Gospel. The annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society, a vigorous outgrowth of the Women's Foreign Mission Society, was held in St. Paul's Church, on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

The meeting was very well attended by ladies interested in the work. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and the President, Mrs. Beattie, gave a short address. Reports were received from the different auxiliaries in the Presbytery. The meeting was held at the same time as the meeting of the Presbytery, in order that their reports might be sent to the Presbytery, in accordance with the rules of the Central Board in Toronto.

The following officers of the Society were elected:

PRESIDENT—Miss Roger, Peterborough.
VICE-PRES'T—Mrs. Fairbairn, Peterborough.
TREASURER—Mrs. Finlay, Lakefield.
COR. SEC'Y—Mrs. Graich, Port Hope.
REC. SEC'Y—Mrs. R. H. Dennistoun, Peterborough.

First annual report of the Presbyterial Society of Peterborough, in connection with the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, Western Section:

This Society has now been formed for nearly a year. After the annual meeting of the W. F. M. S., Western Section, held in Peterborough in April last, the Presbyterial Society came into operation. The first meeting was held at Port Hope, on the 6th of July. The Midland Railway, with their usual kindness and courtesy, gave return tickets for one fare, so that many at a distance were enabled to attend the meeting.

The meeting was very well attended, considering that it was the first. The church was made attractive by flowers, sent in by those desirous of aiding to the enjoyment of the meeting. On that occasion we had with us Mrs. Douglass and Miss Roger, both from Lahore. We had also the pleasure of Mrs. Ewarts' presence, and as that lady is the President of the Toronto Board, it was a great privilege, and added much to our meeting.

The object of the present society is to lighten the work of those in Toronto and to facilitate the formation of auxiliary societies in the different congregations in the Presbytery. It would perhaps seem an easy matter to do this, but in reality it is very far from it; there are so many hindrances that are not looked for. You may appoint a day and an hour for the meeting and drive through heat and dust for ten or twelve miles to be met by an audience of one, who will drop in an hour late. This actually occurred not far from Peterborough. Of course we must expect things of this kind and not be discouraged by them, but go on our way with increased zeal and love for the work, which after all is not ours but the Lord's. On another occasion an official visit was made, in this district also, but the congregation did not feel in a position to form an auxiliary there, but hope to do so in the new year. Our efforts in this direction were very substantially rewarded by the receipt of $25 25, the result of the Thanksgiving services. This showed a very decided interest. There are several congregations now ready to form auxiliaries, which we hope will be formed early in the year. As far as the auxiliaries that are formed are concerned, we have much cause to be thankful. The interest has continued unabated and has in some places increased very largely. The amounts raised still seem to increase largely. In Port Hope a new feature in the way of getting money is the formation of a sewing society, which has been a success in every way. In Lakefield the interest has spread to the younger members of the congregation, who have formed themselves into a mission band and are zealous in the attendance of the regular meetings. In Peterborough the interest is gaining ground and many are awakening to earnest helpfulness who have been hitherto unattracted by the work. The children again had a sale of work that realized $130. The growing interest manifested by these societies only makes us more anxious to form an auxiliary society in each congregation of the Presbytery, and I hope that with God's help and guidance this may be accomplished before very long.

EMILY R. H. DENNISTOUN,
Recording Secretary.

January 16th, 1883.

The report was considered very satisfactory.

It was regretted that more of the Presbyteriana of the town did not attend, as it was the annual meeting, and it would have shown what the Society through Divine aid had been able to do. A good field has been opened for the Society for the coming year.

In the evening a public meeting was held in the church, at which several members of the Presbytery delivered short but pleasing addresses. It was a great disappointment to all that the Presbytery as a body were unable, on account of having a previous engagement to accept the invitation to tea. This meeting was very successful, and, like the session in the afternoon, was opened and closed by devotional exercises.

HARVEY.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Harvey Reeve and Councillors elect, met at the Town Hall on the 15th inst., and having filed their declarations of qualification and office, took their seats at the council board.

Minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed.

A by-law was passed appointing W. P. Chase and James Hicks to serve as auditors for 1883.

A by-law was passed re-appointing the clerk and treasurer, and appointing James Richmond assessor.

The following accounts were passed and orders drawn on the treasurer for payment:

A. McMartin, deputy-returning officer election expenses	$ 6 00
James Richmond, deputy-returning officer, election expenses	5 00
James Coons, deputy-returning officer, election expenses	5 00
Chas. Griffin, wood and cleaning town hall	2 00
J. S. Carinduff, div. registrar, births, marriages and deaths	2 70
Wm. H. Taylor, trustee, bal. of levy on S.S. No. 6, for 1882	15 00
Robt. Stockdale, trustee, part levy on S.S. No. 4, for 1882	186 00
Wm. Weir, salary as treasurer	45 00

The pathmasters, pound-keepers and fence-viewers were all appointed by by-law for the current year.

The council adjourned, to meet at the clerk's office on the third Monday in March next.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 25, 1883.

West Riding.

The adjourned meeting of the West Riding Reform Convention, will be held in the Temperance Hall, George Street, opposite Mr Millar's Hardware Store, on Saturday, Jan. 27th, at 2 p.m.

It is desirable that as many supporters of the Mowat Government as can make it convenient, will be present.

Warden Moloney.

On Tuesday John Moloney, Esq., Reeve of Douro, was elected Warden of the County of Peterborough, by a majority of five out of seventeen votes. The election of Mr. Moloney to this important position is a recognition of his valuable services both as a township and county councillor. There are many good men in the Council, and therefore the fact of Mr. M. being selected as Warden, shows that his services have been important and his career useful to the Council. Mr. M. is forty two years of age and was born and educated in Douro. He was first elected Councillor in 1870. He was Deputy Reeve for the two years following, and has been Reeve since 1872. Mr. Moloney is a gentleman of good executive ability, as his thirteen years of experience have amply shown, and he has well earned by faithful services the honor to which he was elevated last Tuesday, and upon which we congratulate both himself and his constituents.

Manitoba Elections.

The Toronto World of the 24th announces that the result of the Manitoba elections, Tuesday, was the defeat of the Norquay, Tory and Syndicate Government, and the denunciation of the dogmatic disallowance policy of the Dominion Government.

A Mighty Effort.

The Opposition are notoriously hard pushed for arguments to show why "Mowat must go," but of all the preposterous and ridiculous splurges in the way of argument is an article in the Review under the title of a "Serious Question." Some time since, in a laboured attempt at double-dealing, our contemporary got itself into a "kink" on the Rivers and Streams Bill, from which we obligingly relieved it. That attempt, though dishonest, had at least the merit of a little ingenuity, but the last departure is downright, unadulterated nonsense, an insult to the crudest intelligence.

Our esteemed cotem. has the audacity to try to make the public believe that the application of the Rivers and Streams Act to "Hamilton's Creek" will make all the property on it liable to confiscation, and quotes as follows:—

"The first section of that Act, as twice passed by the Legislature, provides that 'so far as the Legislature of Ontario has authority to enact, all persons shall, subject to the provisions in this Act contained, have, * * * during the spring summer and autumn freshets, the right to and may float and transmit saw-logs and all other timber of every kind, and all rafts and crafts, down ALL rivers, creeks and streams, in respect of which the Legislature of Ontario has authority to give this power; and (we wish the reader to mark these words) in case it may be necessary to remove any obstruction from such river, creek, &c., * * to facilitate the floating and transmitting of such saw-logs and other timber, rafts or crafts (a canoe or old punt is a craft) down the same, it shall be lawful for the person requiring so to float and transmit such saw-logs, &c., * * * to remove such obstruction, * * doing no unnecessary damage to the said river, creek or stream, or banks thereof."

Now what person having property on Hamilton's creek, has the slightest fear that the Rivers and Streams Bill, if it became law a thousand times, would in the slightest degree interfere with his property? Who in the world, unless a promising candidate for the lunatic asylum, would have the slightest fear that he would have to remove any property, dams or bridges on the creek to admit of the passage of rafts or sawlogs, for which alone the Bill provides, down this broad and stately sweeping stream? Who is afraid that some enterprising lumber merchant will buy the extensive timber limits at White's mill pond, consisting of one magnificent stunted pine and half a dozen decrepit cedars, send up a gang of two or three hundred men to cut logs and timber, and next spring send ahead a gang of men armed with nitro-glycerine or dynamite to clear the creek of obstructions for the purpose of running a few hundred thousand logs down to Spaulding's Bay?

Yet this is the kind of bosh which the Review wants to palm off on the people as argument against the Rivers and Streams Bill! The public know, every one of the Review's readers knows and the editor himself knows that he was writing the veriest nonsense. The Act cannot of necessity apply to any stream, except that on which there are timber limits. The Review might as well say that it applies to the mains of the water works, and that some lumberman will be blowing up the valves to admit of the passage of saw logs down the George street mains. Our contemporary must have had a bad attack of partizanship when it penned the puerile nonsense to which we have called attention.

THE Review with a view of injuring Mr. Blezard's candidature, affects to doubt the intention of the Ontario Government to rebuild Young's dam this year. Our cotem. strives to make much of the fact that the contract was not awarded last spring, and ridicules the Government for not awarding the contract to a tender much higher than the engineer's estimates. It can be answered that the Ontario Government are too honest to imitate the policy of the Dominion Government and award a contract contrary to the advice of an engineer, simply because political expediency suggests the desirability of so doing. Mr. Blezard has taken great interest in the matter, and has travelled to and fro at his own expense in the interests of his constituents. There is no doubt that if the tenders last spring had been within the engineer's estimates the dam would have been built now, but no honest man can blame Mr. Frazer or Mr. Blezard because a contract was not given at figures far above the actual worth of the work. The Review also makes much of the fact that the estimates for the dam are a few dollars less this year than last. No doubt the estimates were prepared after consultation with the engineer, and it will thus be seen that the delay, unavoidable as it was, may result in a saving of money. Our contemporary knows that a "good Tory" Government would, to have gained a political point, have built the bridge at any cost, and it can't understand the action of an honest Government, which rather than waste public funds, runs the risk of hostile criticism.

BETHESDA PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

This beautiful little church is now completed, and everybody concerned has reason to be satisfied with the manner in which the work has been carried out. The Building Committee are so well pleased with the result, that they gave the following testimonial to the contractor, Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald of this town:

We, the building committee of the Bethesda Presbyterian Church, near the village of Harwood, erected during the summer of 1882, have much pleasure in testifying to the workmanlike manner in which the contractor, Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald of the town of Peterborough, has completed the job.

This contract was first let to the late David Carlyle, whose death occurred just at the time he was about to commence the work. After his death Wm. Fitzgerald took the building in hand, and notwithstanding many disadvantages under which he labored, has completed the church to the satisfaction of the committee, who hereby acknowledge that they have a better and more comfortable church than they expected.

Under the contractor's supervision several changes were made in the building from the specifications which have added greatly to the appearance and comfort of the building, whilst they added but very little to the contract price.

Harwood, Jan. 12th, 1883.

DUMMER.

COUNCIL MEETING.—A. R. Kidd, Esq., as reeve, and Messrs. J. J. Crowe, D. Kelly and Jacob White, as councilors, met at Warsaw, Monday, Jan. 18th, 1883, and took the necessary declaration of office and qualification before the clerk. (Note. It is supposed Mr. Kirk was sick, as he did not come.) Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Reeve nominated Wm. Snelgrove as auditor, and the council appointed Edward Mellvena as their auditor. Clerk was instructed to get statement from County Treasurer as to how township stood with county on 31st Dec., 1882, for use of auditors. On motion, James Robb was appointed assessor for 1883. On the Clerk's request, he was authorized to give up the bonds of John Wason and others, David Rose, Charles Calder, W. Reid and John A. Rose. On motion, the printing, &., for township is to be done at EXAMINER office for the present year. The Reeve was appointed to attend the adjourned land sale. Clerk is to authorize County Treasurer to abate Statue Labor tax to S. Pearson, on receipt of certificate that the work is done. Orders granted. To Wason Bros., for goods furnished to J. Elliot, by order of council, $4.00. Abatements and refunds.—To Abraham Wigmore, abatement of taxes of 1882, $7.66; Geo. A. Payne, refund of Statue Labor tax, $1.00. A by-law to appoint auditors and assessor passed. Council adjourned, to meet in Warsaw, on 17th Feb. next.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

Organization Session of 1883.

John Moloney, Esq., of Douro, Warden. J. J. Hall and F. J. Bell, Auditors.

On Tuesday afternoon, at 2.45 p.m., the members of the County Council elect for the year 1883, assembled in the County Council Chamber, all the members as heretofore published in these columns, being present.

ELECTING THE WARDEN.

The clerk read the by-law respecting the election of Warden, and the following nominations were made:

Mr. John Moloney, nominated by Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Mr. Crough.

Mr. Henry Collins, nominated by Mr. Kidd, seconded by Mr. Strickland.

Mr. Strickland said he seconded the nomination of Mr. Collins, because he had made an efficient Warden last year, and had given good satisfaction in his municipality, and he would therefore like to see him re-elected.

The clerk then proceeded to take the vote of the council, which resulted as follows:

For Mr. Moloney—Messrs. McCliggott, Mansfield, Crough, Oliver, Burnham, Sanderson, Fitzgerald, Elmhirst, Lang and Stewart 10.

For Mr. Collins—Messrs. Brown, Kidd, Pearce, Rorke and Strickland 4.

Mr. John Moloney, Reeve of Douro, was therefore declared duly elected, and having assumed the robe of office, was conducted to the chair by Messrs. Sanderson and Crough.

The Warden on taking his seat, thanked the council for the honor of placing him in the chair. He would discharge the duties incident to the position to the best of his ability, and for the best interests of the county.

After routine,

COMMUNICATIONS

were read from Mrs. McWilliams, matron of jail, asking an increase of salary.

From Mr. H. Nesbitt, with a similar petition. Both referred to Finance Committee.

AUDITORS.

Mr. F. J. Bell was appointed by the the Warden, on his behalf, an Auditor for 1883.

On motion of Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. J. J. Hall was appointed Auditor on behalf of the council.

Mr. John Carnegie was appointed Sessional Clerk.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Messrs. Burnham, Strickland, Sanderson, Lang, Collins, Kidd, Pearce and Rorke, were appointed a committee to strike the Standing Committees for the current year.

DEPUTY REEVES.

Mr. Collins, ex-Warden, made explanations in reference to the Nassau bridge and other matters. Speaking of the Deputy-Reeves, he said that there were two here last year whose right to sit in the council was not assured. The fate of one had been decided, and his place was vacant, but the other was present, and the township represented by that one had refused to submit documents required by the committee.

Mr. Burnham stated that the committee had intermitted investigation for the purpose of securing a legal opinion, which, however, still left the matter in doubt, as it was not decided that farmers' sons should be counted.

Mr. Sanderson also made explanations showing that the township of Douro had 515 names on the roll, including farmers' sons.

After an informal discussion, the Warden was requested, on motion of Mr. Kidd, seconded by Mr. Strickland, to write the Attorney-General with reference to the question of the right of farmers' sons to count in the certificate for a Deputy-reeve, and ask that the doubts in regard to the same be removed.

Council adjourned till 10 o'clock on

WEDNESDAY.

The council resumed at 10 a.m. The Warden in the chair.

After routine,

Mr. Pearce, chairman of the committee appointed to strike the Standing Committees, presented their report, which recommended the appointment of the following committees:

COUNTY PROPERTY.

Messrs. Sanderson, (Chairman) Stewart, Collins, Crough, Brown and Rorke.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Messrs. Lang, (Chairman) Crough, Kidd, Fitzgerald, Brown, Rorke, Elmhirst, Mansfield, Strickland, Collins and Pearce.

SCHOOL.

Messrs. Rorke, (Chairman) Oliver, Pearce, Fitzgerald, Elmhirst, Stewart, Kidd, Brown and Crough.

FINANCE AND ASSESSMENT.

Messrs. Kidd, (Chairman) Strickland, Lang, Collins, Pearce, Brown, Burnham, Rorke, Crough and Sanderson.

PETITIONS.

Messrs. Stewart, (Chairman) Mansfield, McCliggott, Oliver, Brown and Elmhirst.

PRINTING.

Messrs. Strickland, (Chairman) Rorke, Kidd, McCliggott, Stewart, Brown, Elmhirst, Mansfield, Fitzgerald and Pearce.

APPOINTMENTS.

Messrs. Burnham, (Chairman) Sanderson, Rorke, Kidd, Oliver, Collins, Crough and Strickland.

EQUALIZATION.

Messrs. Pearce (Chairman) Lang, Collins, Kidd, Brown, Strickland, Burnham, Elmhirst, Rorke, Sanderson and Crough.

The report was adopted.

GRAND JUNCTION SUIT.

Mr. Edwards, solicitor for the county in the Grand Junction suit, gave lengthy explanation of the details of the judgment of the Supreme Court dismissing the appeal. The position of the case at present was that the company could appeal to the Privy Council, England, if they obtained leave or they might sue to recover the amount claimed in the way in which suit would be brought to secure the collection of a debt. He thought the county had no reason to fear the result.

The council adjourned.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

MASONIC FESTIVAL.—Upon the removal of Bro. George McWilliams to the North-West, the brethren of Lorne Lodge assembled around an oyster spread, and presented him with the distinguishing badge of a Master Mason and apron, and the subjoined address:

To Geo. McWilliams, Esq., I.P.M., Lorne Lodge, No. 375, A. F. & A. M., O. R. C. Omemee, Ont.

DEAR BROTHER,—It is certainly useless to state that it is with feelings of sincere regret that we, both as a lodge and as private persons, learn of your resolve to remove to the North-West. Nor can the lodge allow this opportunity to pass without acknowledging your many good and excellent qualities of head and heart, as well as your valuable services, not only as a charter member, as our chief officer, but also as an instructor of the craft and of private members, your place herein will be difficult, very difficult to fill. On taking leave of a member so invaluable, you will please accept from our hands this Past Master's Apron, an emblem so highly prized by all good Masons, and worn only by those to whom merit has been proved to belong. No doubting but you will continue to adorn it, our parting prayer is that you may be long spared to wear it, and finally in that celestial Lodge to which all good Masons aspire, may you be clothed with an apron purely spotless, by that Great Architect above, whose all-seeing eye is ever upon us. So mote it be.

WM. MILLER, W.M.
J. D. THORNTON, Sec'y.

Once the tables were cleared, the W. M., Bro. Miller, called Bro. McWilliams to the floor, and in a few happy and well chosen words, presented him with the apron, while the committee read the address, not one word of which is too flattering. His reply was characteristic, pointed, earnest and appropriate. The Bro. is esteemed.

Our esteemed and efficient Bro. Rev. Dr. Smithett, spoke very excellently on "Practical Masonry." He was really very happy in his remarks. After a song by Bro. Cottingham, W. M. Elliott, M. A., and S. Pim gave a rendering of that inimitable poem of Pope, "The Messiah." Some good music from the Quintette Club, brought Rev. Bro. Barrass up on the three leading traits of Masonry, "utility, integrity and humility," which were exceedingly well handled. The newly returned Bro. English, from the North-west, gave his experience while up there, when votes of thanks to the ladies for their "usual good conduct," to the committee of management, and the Quintette Club for its refreshing strains, ending with "God Save the Queen," brought to a close one of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent in this place.

Bridging Bay of Quinte.

Application will be made at the next session of Parliament for an Act to incorporate a company, with power to construct a bridge across the Bay of Quinte from some point within the city limits of Belleville to Ferry Point in Ameliasburg.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Parliament — Fourth Session.

Tuesday Jan. 16th.

A large number of bills were introduced and received a first reading.

Mr. Wood moved the House into Committee of supply.

Mr. Morris moved an amendment having reference to the Streams Bill declaring that provincial legislation which provides for the taking away of private property without compensation is contrary to natural justice and to the fundamental principles of legislation in all civilized countries and that it was the duty of the Dominion Government to prevent such legislation. Heargued that the founders of Confederation deliberately gave the Dominion Government the power of disallowance.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands protested against the Ottawa Executive being reguarded as a second chamber to revise the legislation of Ontario. He urged that if the position now taken by the Conservatives as to the power of the Federal Government had been laid down prior to Confederation the people never would have consented to surrender their rights. In 1872 Sir John Macdonald admitted that the Federal Government had no right to interfere with Provincial legislation so long as the Local Governments acted within their authority. He denounced the position taken by the Opposition as calculated to break up the Confederation, which if their views were carried out, would not be worth having.

Mr. Meredith contended that it was the duty of the Federal Government to interpose on behalf of the rights of property which were threatened by the Streams Bill.

Mr. Young declared the resolution false in form and in fact, and utterly subversive of the principle of Confederation. He quoted Sir John Macdonald,s opinion on the New Brunswick School Bill, defining the conditions under which the veto power ought to be exercised, and stated that the views of Mr. Mackenzie were the same.

Mr. Hawley denied that the Streams Bill had taken McLaren's rights without compensation, and held that the Legislature was competent to make laws for Ontario.

Mr. Morris' amendment was defeated on division by a vote of 25Yeas to 49 Nays.

Wednesday.

The afternoon was mainly occupied in clearing the paper of a number of motions for returns, &c., of minor importance.

Mr. Creighton's resolution that it would be in the public interest to have the departmental reports printed as soon as possible after the close of the official year and distributed immediately, whether the House be in session or not, gave rise to some debate. The Attorney-General stated that the Government always endeavoured to have the reports distributed during the session, but there were some matters embraced in the educational reports which rendered delay unavoidable. Mr. Fraser pointed out the great inconvenience of circulating reports during the recess. Mr. Morris advocated a change in the financial year corresponding to the practice at Ottawa, and urged that the Provincial Accounts ought to be accessible while the Estimates were being considered. Mr. Young complimented the Government on the promptitude with which the reports were issued. The resolution was lost on a division, by a vote of 26 yeas to 44 nays.

Mr. Hay moved for returns of correspondence with the Dominion Goverement in respect to the land improvement fund accruing on Crown Land sales collected before June 30th, 1867, and expressed his satisfaction that the mode of settlement adopted with regard to the school lands would be followed in respect to this fund. The motion was carried.

Mr. Waters' Bill amending the Municipal Act respecting public cemeteries came up for a second reading. Several members spoke, and the Bill was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

A number of Private Bills were read a second time.

Mr. Wood moved the second reading of the Bill to encourage tree-planting, which provides that any person owning land adjacent to the highway or street may plant trees on the portion adjoining his land, and any owner of a lot may, with the consent of the owners of adjoining property, plant tree on the boundary line. The council of any municipality may pass a by-law for paying a bonus of 25 cents for each tree planted, and appointing an inspector of trees. The inspector is to report the number of trees alive and healthy at the expiration of three years, when the person planting the same will be entitled to the bonus. The money paid is to be recouped by the Province, $50,000 being appropriated for that purpose. The Bill was read a second time.

The Bill for the Establishment of Public Creameries came up for a second reading, and the Bill was read a second time.

Mr. Wood's Bill respecting ditches and water-courses, and the Attorney-General's Bills amending the Act respecting the Solemnization of Marriages, and the Inspectors of Prisons and Public Charities, were read a second time.

The Gas, Street Railway, and Public Parks Bills were passed through committee, and the House adjourned.

Thursday.

Several measures were advanced a stage, including the Bills to Encourage Tree Planting, respecting the Solemnization of Marriages, and respecting the office of the Inspector of Prisons.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to consolidate the laws respecting municipal institutions, which it was proposed to pass en bloc.

The House being moved into Committee of Supply, Mr. Creighton moved an amendment to the effect that the public interest required greater care to be taken for the preservation of the timber, and that no more timber limits should be placed under license without taking the the opinion of the House. He stated that during the last fifteen years the revenue of the Province from timber amounted to upwards of seven millions and a half. He dwelt on the rapid exhaustion of the timber supply both in Canada and the United States, and asserted that the timber resources of Michigan were being so quickly depleted that the Americans contemplated the removal of the duty so as to save their supply by importation from Canada.

Mr. Pardee contended that before a resolution censuring the Government was introduced some evidence of their having pursued a wrong system should be adduced. The mover of the amendment had made out no case. The Government of the Province pursued the same policy in the matter of timber sales as that of the Dominion, excepting that the latter sold limits without public competition. The Government of the old Province of Canada, conducted by the friends of the Opposition, licensed 13,000 square miles at private sale which yielded just $52,000. The 7,305 square miles put under license by the present Ontario Government brought $1,530,725. He pointed out that it was better that the Government should act upon their own responsibility and sell the timber limits to the best advantage than obtain a vote from their supporters in the House authorizing them to sell, which which would give them the opportunity in case of a blunder to shelter themselves behind the action of the House.

Mr. Meredith urged that as the sanction of the House was requisite in the case of money appropriations for public buildings, aid to railways, etc., it should also be required for the sale of timber limits.

Mr. Deroche said that the Conservatives at Ottawa had voted down a resolution moved by Mr. Blake in 1872 in favor of the sale of timber by public competition. The legislation of the House for the prevention of forest fires had proved effective in rendering the settler more cautious and had done much to prevent destruction of timber.

Mr. Bettes was loudly applauded when he said that the Opposition, though very solicitous about the pine timber of the free grant districts, seemed to care nothing at all for the wealth of timber in the territory granted to Ontario by the Boundary Award.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 23 yeas to 50 nays, and the House went into Committee of Supply and passed a number of items.

Friday.

A large amount of business was transacted, both sides of the House being apparently anxious to expedite matters.

Several Bills were read a first time, including one introduced by Mr. Bell, to provide for the safety of inmates of public buildings, hotels, factories, etc., and the Attorney-General's Bill to facilitate the establishment of public libraries, and relating to the administration of justice.

The House went into Committee on Mr. Wood's Bill to encourage tree-planting. The distance from one another at which the trees are to be set out was fixed at 30 feet.

On account of the illness of Mr. Crooks the orders comprising the Bills consolidating the Acts respecting the Education Department, Public Schools and High Schools were discharged.

The House went into Committee of Supply and passed the remaining items of the Estimates excepting a few which were allowed to stand over. On the item for immigration, which showed an increase of $11,450, the Provincial Secretary explained that the increase was due to the anticipated immigration from Ireland under the auspices of the Tuke Committee.

Mr. Dryden urged that the appropriation for the Provincial Exhibition might as well be struck out, as the work was as well or better done by local associations.

Mr. Ferris' motion for a return showing the amount expended by the municipalities in the years 1871, '72, '80, '81 and '82, and also the amounts they received from liquor licenses, was adopted, with an amendment by Mr. Meredith, including the years '74, and '75.

A motion by Mr. Meredith for a return respecting the disposal of the Mimico Farm was carried, Mr. Fraser explaining that the question of some further accommodation for lunatics in Toronto would shortly have to be considered, and that should the cottage system be adopted the Mimico Farm might be utilized for that purpose.

The House then adjourned.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

LECTURE.

Mr. Spence delivered his lecture on "Marriage," in the P.C.A. Hall, on Monday evening. Though such an attractive subject, there was not a very large audience. Old bachelors were handled without gloves; but as they are cautious men, they seemed too discreet to be present, and therefore may possibly not be benefitted.

WAX WORKS.

Mrs. Jarley will be in Lakefield with her far-famed wax works, on Tuesday evening next, in the P.C.A. Hall. The Peterborough Orchestra band will be present. As Mrs. Jarley has been in Lakefield before, she will no doubt have a crowded house on Tuesday evening.

CARNIVAL.

A grand fancy dress carnival will be held in the skating and curling rink, on Wednesday, 31st January. Prizes are to be presented for best costumes; for best skater (in costume) open to girls under 15 years of age; and a barrel race, for boys. A large number, we understand, are preparing for the occasion, and there will likely be a display of fancy dress costumes surpassing anything before seen in our village. Peterborough Fire Brigade Band has been engaged to attend. The rink is to be beautifully illuminated for the occasion.

RATEPAYER'S LETTER.

With regard to the above letter in your last issue, I may say I was not present at the council meeting, and was not aware who moved the payment of the account.

LAKEFIELD.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR.—In the report of the proceedings of the Lakefield Public School Board in your last issue, it was stated the contract for stationery supplies was awarded to Mr. S. Henderson. In referring to the minutes of the meeting as taken down by the secretary they read—Mr. Henderson's tender be accepted provided he furnish foolscap paper equal to Mr. Bird's at $1.50 per Ream, Ink 25 cents per gallon, Crayons 14 cents per box.

It is strange your correspondent did not report this resolution as it occurred. Perhaps it was of minor importance to him, but not so to me. The facts of this matter I would like to present to the public and ask their impartial judgment, whether I as a tenderer by request and a ratepayer have been fairly and justly dealt with by the above august body, the L. P. S. Board. Mr. S. Henderson and myself were requested to send in sealed tenders for stationery supplies to the chairman of the Board, which we accordingly did. At the last meeting those sealed tenders were opened and were in substances as follows:

Mr. Bird's—
Ink 30 cents per gallon,
Crayons, 15 cents per box,
Foolscap, $1.50 and $2 per Ream, as per samples.

Mr. Henderson's—
Ink, 25 cents per gallon,
Crayons, 15 cents per box,
Foolscap, $2.10 per Ream.

Now Mr. Editor, my tender, as a whole and as such should be taken when containing more than one article of supply being in doubt the lower, I ask why was it not accepted?

Dr. Caldwell, one of the members of said Board after finding my tender the lower made the following remarks which I am led to believe influenced the Board sufficiently (for the time being at any rate), to make them forget the justice due me as a tenderer.

"His brother Mr. Henderson did not know how to send in a tender." "He knew his brother Mr. H. had cheaper paper than that quoted by him, and if he (Mr. H.) had consulted him he would have told him to send in cheaper than what he did." "That his brother could furnish same if desired to do so by the Board, etc., etc."

And thus the result of awarding the contract to Mr. H. by "gerrymandering" it to make it lower than mine.

Mr. Editor, I would like to know if it is necessary to have a Big Brother on this Board in order to get fair play in business transactions with the L. P. S. Board.

Thanking you for your valuable space,
I am yours, etc.,
T. J. BIRD.

Important Railroad Purchase.

E. W. Meddaugh, Solicitor for the Grant Trunk system, has returned to Detroit from New York, where he was engaged for several days on railroad business. During his stay in New York, the negotiations for the sale of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad, with all its important rights and franchises at Chicago to five railroads, of which the Chicago & Grant Trunk is one, were completed. The Western Indiana is now the property of the five roads which have been using its terminal facilities at Chicago, and three Grand Trunk representatives own one fifth of its stock. The Western Indiana is important railroad property for many reasons, chief of which, however, is the right of way it owns into and through Chicago and the valuable property it owns convenient to the heart of the city. The five roads which have now become its owners will at once proceed to erect a magnificent depot for their joint use, and otherwise enlarge and improve their facilities. The Wabash is also one of the five purchasers.

Public Creameries.

The bill introduced into the Legislature by the Provincial Treasurer for the establishment of the public creameries in Ontario provides as follows:—

1. This Act may be cited as "The Ontario Creameries Act."

2. Three public Creameries may be erected and supplied with all necessary utensils and apparatus for the proper manufacture and packing of butter, the said Creameries to be established at such places in the Province as may be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council upon a report of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

3. Each Creamery shall be in charge of a skilful manager who, subject to the directions of the said Commissioner shall buy material and supplies, sell the produce of the Creamery and generally carry on the business of butter-making; he shall annually make a full report to the Commissioner concerning the operations of each year, or oftener if required to do so.

4. (Subject to any Regulations to be from time to time made by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in this behalf) any resident of the Province desirous of receiving instructions in the art of butter-making may attend one or other of the public Creameries and obtain from the manager, without the payment of any fee, full information respecting the mode in which the butter is made, cured and packed in such Creamery; and (subject as aforesaid) it shall be the duty of the manager to give such information to all persons seeking to acquire it, and to afford them every needed facility for observing the methods in use throughout all the stages of the Creamery process.

5. An account shall be kept at each Creamery of all receipts and payments at the Creamery, and such receipts and payments shall be under the supervision and subject to the direction of the Treasury Department. An annual appropriation shall be made for the maintenance of the several establishments.

The proposal of the Ontario Government, says the Rural Canadian, to establish public creameries with the object of giving practical instruction in butter-making, will, we believe, commend itself to the good sense of all people. How to make good butter is not one of the lost arts, but it is unfortunately true that in a great many farmers' homes the knowledge of it has never been acquired. Those who make a good article are seldom at a loss to find a ready market for it; yet they are a small minority. The bulk of what is produced and sold at country stores is very poor stuff indeed, and it never improves under the treatment received at the store-keeper's hands. The best of it perhaps is sold to local consumers; the rest is compounded with a club, and perhaps sold to the wholesale dealer at the price of waggon grease. There is no profit to the makers of this class of butter, and certainly no honour. If it goes abroad it is only to bring reproach upon the country—to make the country, like the butter itself, a stench in the nostrils of the people in whose favour we would wish to stand well. It is therefore a praiseworthy act on the part of the Government to make provision for schools of butter-making in the Province. If the services of skilled managers are obtained there is no reason why they should not attract a desirable class of learners. The course of instruction would be largely one of routine; the care of cream, its temperature, the churning, the curing, and the packing would necessarily be the same from day to day; so in a few weeks at the outside any observant person might learn all that could be known of the various steps in the process. Let it be shown that a good article of butter can be as easily made as a bad one, and we may depend that those at all events who take the creamery course will no longer regard this branch of the dairy industry with indifference. They will look on it from the paying side. We see in the market reports of New York city that when gilt-edged butter is quoted at 39c. to 40c. per pound, the common dairy is quoted at 15c. to 20c. Here is certainly a very wide margin, and one that is full of encouragement. An addition of even five cents a pound to the butter produced in Ontario means an extra $2,000,000 yearly to the farmers—and all from the same quantity of raw material. The profits are always found in the margin above the cost of production; and if as the result of establishing the Government creameries, producers get better prices and consumers a better quality of butter, all parties will have cause to be well satisfied.

A VEXED CLERGYMAN. Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial bottles given away at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store.

WOMAN'S TRUE FRIEND. A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly by those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald.

NEWS VARIETIES.

Body Snatcher Snatched.

A young student named Roderic Mignon was arrested at Montreal on Sunday with a body which had been stolen from the cemetery at Actonvale in his possession. The student admitted having stolen the body, and was on the way to Bishop's College when captured.

Three Card Monte Men.

WELLAND, Jan. 6.—E. Wilson and J. Goodman, two Yankee sharpers, were tried at Welland on Saturday on a charge of swindling G. Carpenter out of $20 by the three card trick, while traveling on the cars. The prisoners tried to make out that the game was played in the States. Judge Baxter gave them each a year in the central prison at Toronto.

Taylor's Safe Works Burned.

On Tuesday night Messrs. J. & J. Taylor's Safe Works, Toronto, were burned. On examining the building after the conflagration it was found that the whole of the rear building was gutted, that the two top stories were badly destroyed. However the store room in which there were about twenty-five safes and the office, books, etc., were uninjured. The damage is wholly covered by insurance to the amount of about $40,000, for which policies are held in seven companies.

O'Rourke Hanged.

On Friday morning O'Rourke was hanged at Milton for the murder of the Mahers, in Nelson township. The murderer slept soundly the previous night, feeling sure that there was but one more river to cross, and he would be in heaven. He says he has lived a good life, and if he is not saved he does not know who will be. It is to be hoped that Mr. O'Rourke found things as he expected, but it is hard to understand why it is that dying murderers feel so much surer of heaven, than men who have never washed their hands in gore.

Round-House Burned.

Saturday morning between 1 and 2 the alarm of fire was given, the roundhouse of the Midland Railway Company, Uxbridge in which four locomotives were enclosed, having been discovered in flames. The firemen were delayed for a short time on account of no water, it being shut off at Mr. Gould's mill-dam, but after some little difficulty they managed to get a small stream to play on the surrounding buildings, it being evident that they could not save the roundhouse. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The building is said to be insured to a certain extent.

Freezing to Death.

A New York State man nearly frozen to death while driving to his home described his sensation to a reporter. The condition of extreme suffering gave place to a feeling of greatful warmth and exhilaration. "The sleigh, instead of crawling along at a snail's pace, appeared to glide through the air with great swiftness and the horses fairly flew like pigeons. A sense of exultation filled the farmer's breast as he urged the horses to still greater speed, and the woods on each side were passing so quickly that they became indistinguishable black lines. Then the sleigh bells sounded fainter and fainter, until the chimes disappeared in the distance the farmer fell gradually into a delicious slumber, which became near being the sleep that knows no walking and he knew no more uhtil brought to life under a vigorous treatment."

Sir Hugh Allan's Will.

The late Sir Hugh Allan's will was tyled in Montreal last week. His estate is divided equally among his own family. His eight daughters receive $150,000 each on attaining their majority. During their minority they receive an allowance of $1,500 per annum. The married daughters are to receive the interest on their portions from the present until the estate is finally wound up, and that will occur when the youngest son attains his majority. Hugh Montague and Bryce J. Allan will be made partners in the firm now as their portion. Alexander R. Allan gets $50,000 and a deed of the property he lives on, in Brockville. Hugh Montague Allan is made heir of Ravenscraig, with $400 per week to keep it up in its present condition and style. At the settlement of the estate, Hugh Montague gets one-half, Bryce James one-fourth, and Arthur Edward one-fourth of the net residue. None of the ships are to be sold to pay the legacies, but the amount is to come out of the residue. The testator directs the firm to be carried on as at present. The trustees are Andrew Allan, brother of Sir Hugh, Jackson Rae, Thomas Mildburn and Alfred H. White. Two of his sons are to be added when they attain their majority. The trustees are left $1,000 per annum for their trouble. There is no reliable data for the amount of the assets, which is estimated all the way from six to ten millions. The will was made on the 25th June, 1880, with a codicil in the October following. Provision was also made for Lady Allan, had she survived.

Hop Bitters are the Purest and Best Bitters ever Made.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE NEW COUNCIL.

The newly elected council of the village of Norwood met, according to statute on Monday morning for organization; all took the necessary oath and submitted to the required declaration of office, and then proceeded to business. In the absence of the Reeve, Mr. Wm. Hutchinson was appointed chairman, who discharged the duties of his position in a most creditable manner, it being the first time he held public position in our borough. The following officers were appointed for the current year:

W. H. Mullins, Clerk and Treasurer, salary $35.

Timothy Fitzpatrick, Assessor, salary $12, a saving of eight dollars in this office as $20 have been paid to former assessors,

James Calder, Collector, salary $20.

Isaac Powell, caretaker Town Hall, salary $20.

The council have made a good beginning, and intend to run the municipal ship under as little financial canvas as possible. They intend to make arrangements at once for a quantity of lumber for our sidewalks, and not wait till the time when it must be had at any price. They have this advantage, too, over their predecessors, that they intend to do the business of the village whether the head of the council is present or not. This the old council were either afraid to do, or did not know how to do. The present Norwood Council is certainly to be commended on the pluck and energy so far displayed, and it is to be hoped they will always keep in the present state of mind.

ASPHODEL COUNCIL.

At the meeting of the Asphodel Council held here on Monday, it was decided to hold the meetings of that body for 1883 at Westwood, there being a majority in the council this year from the western portion of the Township. Whether this will suit a majority of the ratepayers of Asphodel is doubtful, as last year, when a vote was taken upon this matter, a large majority of the electors decided in favor of the meetings of the council being held at Norwood. However, our hotel-keepers will be the principal losers by this action.

RAILWAY WORK.

The severe cold weather of the past week or so has almost completely put a stop to railway work in our vicinity, sufficient men only being retained on the several sections at and near Norwood to keep them going, but as the work must be pushed forward vigorously, the contractors state that a large force will be put on the whole line just as soon as the weather moderates. Last week the pump factory, heretofore standing on the line, has been removed a short distance north of its old position, and makes quite a change in the appearance of that part of the village.

PULPIT CHANGE.

Last Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Carmichael and the Rev. Mr. Sanderson changed pulpits, a change which was gracefully accepted by both congregations. Meetings, during the week of prayer, were held alternately between the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, and were well attended each evening.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S
IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.

For several years we have furnished the dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞ But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk.

Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞ And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞ BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞ If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

A FORTUNATE TELEGRAPH OPERATOR

NO MORE "TICK" WITH A FORTUNE OF $850,000.

Many of our readers no doubt recollect the Rev. Mr. Anderson, who was for sometime in charge of the mission of Tyendinaga, and perhaps some of them are personally acquanted with the Rev. gentleman and the family. He is now Church of England Chaplain of the Reformatory at Penetanguishene. His son W. C. Anderson, became a telegraph operator while his father was stationed at Tyendinaga and in course of time got employment at Ottawa. There he married a poor but intelligent and amiable young lady, and subsequently entered the employment of the Great North-Western Telegraph Co. at Lachute in the province of Quebec. When this young man was a child, a brother of his mother, a Cameron of Edinburgh, was in Canada visiting his sister, and then promised that if the child lived he would remember him in his will. The promise was kept. Lately the rich bachelor uncle died and left his nephew $750,000. Mr. W. S. Walker, barrister of Montreal, was intrusted with the settlement of the affair and had no sooner arranged matters to ensure Mr. Anderson's title to the estate than he was informed that another legacy had been left the same young man by another rich bachelor uncle of Scotland. From the second young Anderson gets £20,000, as he is only one of several heirs but the first uncle made him his sole heir. Thus Mr. W. C. Anderson, who has a wife and one child, and who until quite recently was living on a small salary as telegraph operator at Lachute, finds himself the possessor of $850,000 cash. We are informed that he takes his unexpected advancement in wealth with the greatest possible coolness and equanimity. There will be many friends in this vicinity ready to congratulate him on his good fortune in having such rich, generous and thoughtful bachelor uncles.

If your druggist does not keep the remedy, send to headquarters and get the the medicine by mail. Circulars and testimonials on application. 4-2t.

Secretary. 'Here, old man, is your witness' fees.' Old man. 'Thank you very much. As I am an old man with few opportunities of earning a penny, I hope you will call upon me again when you need a witness.'

We have in Wheeler's Phosphates and Calisaya proximate principles, ready made tissue elements, agents of cell growth, the source in the brain and spinal cord of phosphorus, the motor power of the nervous system, perpetual in their activity and maintaining that constant impulse on nutrition so essential to the successful treatment of chronic wasting diseases. In consumption, scrofula, and all others manifestations of errors in nutrition, its protracted use will demonstrate a much greater percentage of radical improvement than any other form of phosporous compounds in existence, whether in pill, solution, or hypophosphites.

BENSFORT.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

At the late entrance examinations at Port Hope, where twenty-seven of the candidates were successful, Thos. Pue, a Bensfort school boy took second highest number of marks. Good for Tom.

On Monday the 15th inst as Henry Read. Mr. McClelland's hired man was putting the horses into the stable his left arm was in about the pole straps when one of the horses went forward and the other pulled back; the result was a broken arm. A Dr. from Millbrook was called in and gave his arm proper treatment.

On Tuesday as the Messrs. Riddell went to draw wood, a coon track was followed to a tree which Joe "speiled," when he discovered a den of coons. In went the hand and soon one was flying through the air. When it reached the ground it was set on with dog and club and soon laid out. This operation was repeated until nine (9) coons lay stretched upon the snow. Who can beat this for a coon story, the truth of which is beyond dispute?

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. We are sometimes so impressed by a fellowman's estimate of his own importance that we tremble at the mere suggestion of what might have been if he had not been born.

Mr. Thos. Wardlaw Taylor, of Toronto barrister, has been appointed a Pussne Judge of the Court of Queen's Bench of the Province of Manitoba vice Justice Miller, resigned.

A beau who had prolonged his stay to an intolerable late hour said to the young lady, "So, Miss Angel, you don't admire men of conservative views like myself?" "No," she replied; "I like men who have some go in them." He went.

Scene—Deck of yacht off Tobermory; a devil-fish has been caught. Clergyman: "O, there's nae use o' ye noo, doctor." Clergyman; "How Jimmy?" Jimmy: "Oh, the deil's dead." Clergyman disappears below.

"A severe cold settled in quick consumption. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam and she took them. They worked a complete change, and by its continuance she was completely restored to health." This is Mr. James T. Fitch's testimony regarding the most popular remedy for coughs and colds, and throat and lungs diseases generally, and a testimony somewhat similar is given by all who have tried it. Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam is nature's cure, and its effects are rapid and beneficial.

'Do you know what church your next door neighbor attends?' inquired a friend of an up town man. 'No, I do not; but I'm sure he's a Christian.' 'What reason have you for thinking so?' 'Because he sprinkles ashes on the sidewalk when it's slippery.'

'What your husband willing to die, Mrs Jones?' enquired the parson of that lady. 'Well,' was the reply, 'John knew that willing or unwilling he had to go; so he made a fist of being willing had it been otherwise, domine, I believe he'd been ag'in dying.

"You have been up here before me half a dozen times this year," said an Austin justice, severely, to a local vagrant. "Come, now, Judge, none of that. Every time I've been here, you have been here too. You are here more than I am. People who live in glass houses should not throw stones."

"I say, old chappie," said a city man to a hen-pecked friend of his, "what a shocking bad hat you have on! Isn't it about time you bought a new one?" "Not yet; my wife told me the other day that she would not go out with me till I had got a new hat; I am going to enjoy myself."

THE MEDICAL FACULTY were among the first to recognize the value of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and soda as a remedy for throat and lung affections, premature decline and generaly debility. Physicians not only recommend it for incipient consumption, bronchitis, asthma and minor pulmonary and bronchial troubles, but speak in the highest terms of it has a means of enriching the blood and counteracting a hereditary tendency to consumption. In every part of the Dominion and throughout the Untried States it as attained a popularity as widespread as it is deserved, and the evidence attesting its efficacy is voluminious and convincing. The Cod Liver Oil, which is its pulmonic constituent, is absolutely pure and does not nauseate the stomach; while the the Hypophosphites, superadded to and chemically blended with this ingredient, possess invigorating properties which render it most desirable in diseases involving such a tremendous waste of tissue and loss of bodily substance as incipient consumption, which it checks with a promptitude truly marvellous. In addition to its pulmonic effect, it imparts tone to the whole system, and being a fine blood depurent counteracts a tendency to scrofula. Moreover, it is sold at a reasonable price, the cost of the smaller bottles (the content of one often sufficing to break up a bad cold) being 50 cents, and of the larger. $1,00 Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont.

Professor Hotchkin.

The celebrated Springless Truss man will be at the Caisse House March 3 4 & 5. Go and see him, he defies the hernia he cannot hold with ease and comfort. 4.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending Jan. 6th, 1883, was as follows:- Passengers and mails, $5,810.42; freight, $6,060.59; total, $11,871.01, as compared with $9,543.35 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $2,327.66.

The Power of Pork.

The purchases of dressed hogs in the Peterborough market this season exceed those of last season by about 500 carcases. There were bought in 1881, 1,150 dressed porkers, and in 1882, 1,650. The average weight of the latter was 240 lbs., and the average price $7.50, making a total weight of 390,000 lbs. or 195 tons, which at the average price of $7.50, would give a value of 29,700.

Eastern Dairymen's Association.

The Eastern Dairymen's Association will hold their Annual Meeting and Convention at Brockville, on January 31st and February 1st, 1883. Speakers from the United States and several in Ontario and Quebec will be present to enlighten the Farmers and Dairyman on the principal topics pertaining to the Dairy Interests. The Railroad Companies will carry Members and those attending, at reduced rates, by first obtaining certificates from the Secretary, Harford Ashley, Belleville, Ontario.

The Lindsay Post, in alluding to the probability of Mr. Carpenter and his company giving an entertainment in Lindsay, says: "It is likely that Mr. L. Francois Carpenter, Peterborough's phenomenal terpsichorean prestidigateur, will give in Lindsay an evening seance, devoted to the exposition of dancing. Mr. Carpenter has cut his name on the pinnacle of fame in letters which shall never be effaced. In Mr. Carpenter's dancing the sharpest critics see nothing to criticise, and the general admiring public hang enraptured on Mr. Carpenter's legs, while the rythmic cadences beaten by his acomplished feet are a poem, a sonnet—a revelation. Give us Mr. Carpenter or we degenerate into a race of square-dancing people."

A Diabolical Deed.

On Thursday Chief Johnson made a most important capture -one that is was thought would work a moral and, perhaps, a millennial revolution, and make the positions of clergymen and ministers a sinecure. When the Chief celled his victim, the latter gave in as his name the diabolical cognomen of "The Devil." But the illusion vanished the next morning in the serene air of the police court, when the prisoner, in pleading to a charge of drunk and disorderly, was glad to answer to the more earthly name of William Walsh, and whine like a school boy to be let off so he could go to work on the railway. Many a man at night when he is comfortably drunk thinks, like Mr. W., he's a d——l of a fellow, but in the morning he feels like mobbing himself.

A Merited Honor.

We learn by an exchange that a fine Memorial Hall (for the Women's Christian Temperance Association), erected in memory of the late Polly Mason, daughter of Rev. T. Mason, Bible Christian minister, formerly of Peterborough, was opened in Windsor, last Friday. The many friends in Peterborough, who knew the exalted christian character of the late Miss Mason, in which were developed so fully the christian graces; who knew of her zeal and ardor in the promotion of every good work, will acknowledge the beautiful Memorial Hall, dedicated to her memory, in connection with the noble work she had so much at heart, as a fitting tribute to the virtues and character of the amiable girl, who passed to her reward, followed by love, respect and benediction.

Baptist Church.

We learn that the Rev. J. H. Best has accepted the call to the Baptist church of this town, and will commence his pastoral work in about four weeks.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Church, held on last Thursday evening, was most satisfactory. Mr. Geo. Edmison occupied the chair. The report showed that during the year there had been contributed by the congregation the handsome sum of $2,500, and the decision was arrived at to have free sittings.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending Jan. 13th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,135.89; freight, $8,508.28; total, $13,634.17, as compared with $12,091.65 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,542.52; and the aggregate traffic to date is $25,505.18, being an increase of $3,870.18 over 1882.

Slightly Elevated.

On Sunday morning last Mr. T. Cavanagh discovered a man sitting on the roof of McKee & Davidson's store. The poor wretch was shivering with the cold and could give no straightforward account of how he reached his elevated position, except by straight-downward whiskey. It is common for a man to be slightly elevated by drink, but it seldom goes the length of "boosting" him on to a housetop. He was brought down and given shelter in the police cells.

"The Only one in America."

The International Throat and Lung institute, Toronto and Montreal, is positively the only one in America where diseases of the air passages alone are treated. Cold inhalations are used through the Spirometer, an instrument or inhaler invented by Dr. M. Souvielle of Paris, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, with proper dietetic, hygienic and constitutional treatment suitable to each case. Thousands of cases of Catarrh, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrhal Deafness and Consumption have been cured at this institute during the last few years. A Graceful Honor.

A number of commercial travellers have conceived and taken practical steps to carry into execution the idea of raising a monument to the memory of the late Thomas Malloy, whose remains lie in the R. C. Cemetery. This action is in recognition of the happy hours spent by them in Mr. Malloy's company, who in his palmy days in Napanee, was full of wit, anecdote, and was wont to "set the table in a roar." During his business career of ten years in Napanee, the amusement he afforded was one of the chief attractions, that made Napanee a favorite place to spend Sunday in. Those who knew Mr Malloy's relations with the "traveller's" will not wonder at the action they have initiated to do honor to his memory. Mr. T. Dolan, is the local treasurer of the fund.

B. C. Anniversary Services.

The anniversary services held in the Bible Christian Church last Sunday and Monday were eminently successful. In the morning and evening Rev. J. H. Nott, connexional editor, preached eloquent sermons, and in the afternoon Rev. J. H. Shaw by an excellent discourse completed the general excellence of the day's preaching. The annual tea was held on Monday evening. There was a good attendance of the public, which after disposing of the excellent edibles prepared, listened attentively to the eloquent and instructive lecture on Astronomy delivered by Rev. Mr. Nott. The church is to be congratulated upon the gratifying success that attended the entire anniversary services. The fact of the church funds being increased about $90 being not the least pleasing.

Director's Meeting.

At the meeting of the Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, held on Monday last, the following officers were elected:

PRESIDENT—J. J. Lundy,
SEC.-TREAS—Jas. Edwards.
SUPERINTENDENT—John Kelly.
AUDITORS—J. J. Hall and W. Eastland.

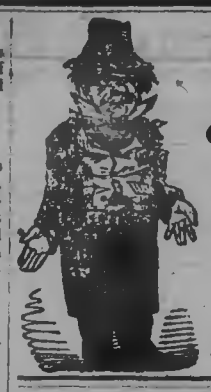
A committee was appointed to carry out the resolution in reference to the care of the grounds, adopted at the annual meetings. An excellent selection of officials has been made, especially in the reappointment of Mr. Kelly, which was to be expected. He is certainly the right man in the right place. He has given the best of satisfaction, and to his carefulness taste and industry, is to be attributed the beauty and neatness of the grounds of the Little Lake Cemetery, which, thanks to Mr. Kelly, are not surpassed by any rural town in the Province. We trust he may be spared many years to have charge of the cemetery. His place could not be well supplied.

A Happy Re-union.

The following from the Winnipeg Sun will interest many of our older readers, especially:

"Twenty years ago Abel Millford ran away from his home in the County of Peterborough, Ont. He was a bright, mischievous boy of twelve years, and although his anxious parents scoured the country and used every effort to find their son, no intelligence of him could be obtained. They knew he ran away, because he had expressed such an intention to seve al companions. Years rolled on and no tidings being heard of Abel, it was concluded that he had perished. His father died, and two years ago his mother came to this city. At the C.P.R. station last night, while walking on the platform she espied her long lost son. She recognized him by a peculiar scar on his forehead, which he received when but a child. Strange to say the young man knew his mother when she spoke to him. It is needless to say there was a tableaux and that the fatted calf was killed. The prodigal explained that he had gone off to the East Indies where he remained till a year ago, when a longing to visit the scenes of his childhood seized him. He sold out his business, which realized him a handsome fortune, and after spending a short time in England came to Canada. Finding that his mother had gone to Winnipeg he followed her here, and met her as described."

Rev. R. J. Stobo, Baptist minister, has received a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church, Belleville. Judged by the demand, Rev. Mr. Stobo's ministerial qualifications must be highly appreciated.



What I want to Know is how can CHINA HALL Sell so much more Cheaply than all other Dealers.

HOW IS IT?

THE REASON.

We will tell you how it is that we are enabled to Sell more Cheaply than small dealers. Our business is CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE—we make a Specialty of these Lines, and buy in Large Quantities, direct from the Factories, and therefore can and do sell Retail at the same (and sometimes less) Prices than Grocers pay for their Goods. Other dealers may tell you that they can sell as Cheaply, but don't believe them.

A lady writes to ask who is the handsomest member of the Town Council. It is a hard question. But, judged by the rule, "handsome is that handsome does," the honor can be distributed. After adjournment, sometimes one, sometimes another "does the handsome."

The Independent informs us that the Right Rev. Bishop Jamot, on the occasion of his first episcopal visit, consecrated the new Roman Catholic Church of St. Joseph at Bobcaygeon, on Sunday, Jan. 14th, the edifice being entirely free from debt.

The members of the battery, assisted by the best amateur local dramatic talent, have in rehearsal that fine military drama. "The French Spy," which they will present before long on the boards of the Opera House. The rehearsals develop a degree of talent that promises to make the play well worth witnessing.

The stone abutments of the new Nassau bridge have been completed in a most satisfactory manner, Messrs. J. G. Belcher and Chas. Wynn, engineer and contractor respectively. To the ex-warden, Mr. Collins and the committee that worked with him—Messrs. Sanderson and Moloney, also a large amount of credit is due.

The reaction following the rush of the holiday trade, and the stirring sweep of holiday events, has left trade as flat as the fall of a circus joke. Merchants grumble at the dullness of trade, and everything else appears to be flat, stale and unprofitable. Both commercial and news circles are suffering from the dyspepsia consequent in indulgence in holiday business.

Mason's Greenhouses Burned.

On Tuesday afternoon a fire broke out in Mason's greenhouses, on Water street north, and before it could be subdued the potting and propagating houses and office were totally destroyed, and two other houses gutted. The new greenhouse is uninjured, but the removal of the plants in the bitter cold destroyed them as effectually as the fire. The alarm was promptly rung, the firemen were as prompt, but a delay of about an hour took place before the engine was at work, and the delay was responsible for the great loss, bulky horses for the delay, and the authorities for the bulky horses. Mr. Mason's loss is not yet estimated, but it will be considerable. The fire occurring at this season will make it impossible for him to replace his ruined plants, in time for the season's trade. The fire resulted from an overheated flue, the intense cold necessitating a corresponding intensity of heat. There were two of Mr. M's. little girls alone in the new green house, when the fire broke out, and the smoke prevented their escape in one way, and the garden door was frozen fast, and they escaped with difficulty by breaking the glass of the door, the elder sister pushing the younger out through the opening, when the alarm was given. There was an insurance of $1000 in the North British and Mercantile on greenhouse and contents. Mr. Mason is to be sympathized with, in his loss, as the fire destroyed a large portion of the result of years of unremitting labor.

Grand Evening Concert.

Recollect the Grand Concert in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening, February 6th, under the baton of Mr. C. W. Ewing, (late of London Eng.,) organist of St. John's Church. BRADBURN'S OPERA HOUSE.

THE NEW SCENERY.

The play-going public will be pleased to learn that recent improvements have made this Opera Hall the best arranged and completest amusement hall in any rural town in Ontario. The improvements consist of a new drop curtain, and an entirely new set of scenery, painted by Mr. Seymour Penson, the scenic artist of the Grand Opera House, Toronto. The drop curtain is a classical subject representing a view from one of the Hills, of Rome, and is a vast improvement both in subject and treatment on its predecessor.

The scenery comprises about two dozen scenes, some of them set scenes, including a "wood scene" a most realistic grouping of trees, foliage, pool and rock; a "rocky pass," with huge boulders and ledges, crowned with blasted pine, a waterfall in the background; a "street scene" with excellent perspective; a "landscape" in which the water effect is cleverly caught; a delightful "garden scene;" a "plain chamber," "fancy chamber," "kitchen scene;" "palace arch;" "prison;" a beautiful snow scene; a set cottage, interior and exterior, and all necessary accessories such as garden vases, etc., in greater completeness than is common outside of city theatres. The proscenium "border" is painted in Pompeian style of decoration and the other boders, sky and drapery borders, the horizon scene, the wooden wings, etc., are all new and of the best. There have been used on the scenery over 400 yards of canvas, and no expense has been spared to make the stage machinery and appliances of Bradburn's Opera Hall as good as the size will permit. It is now so arranged and equipped, that no travelling company need fear of meeting any lack in scenery or stage appliances in coming to Peterborough. A corresponding drop curtain and new set of scenery have been also painted for the Lindsay Opera House, under Mr. Bradburn's management. Mr. E. C. Hill has been most active and pushing in his efforts to assist in making Bradburn's Opera House as perfect as the new arrangements have made it.

WEST PETERBORO!

REFORM STANDARD AFLOAT!

Jas. Campbell, Esq., the Reform Nominee.

On Saturday afternoon last the adjourned meeting of the Reform Convention was held in the rooms of the Association, George street. Mr. T. G. Hazlitt occupied the chair, and there was a splendid meeting of representative Reformers characterized by a spirit of earnestness and enthusiasm.

Mr. Hazlitt mentioned the object of the meeting, and was pleased to announce that the answer given by Mr. Campbell would, he hoped, be agreeable to those present. Mr. C. was a gentleman, whose character for uprightness was above reproach, and whose ability made him eminently adapted to the representation of the riding. He was a gentleman whom every Reformer could support as though it was a personal matter. At present it was the duty of every patriot to work at his best in support of the Mowat administration which had stood up so boldly for the rights of the people against the disloyal attacks of their enemies, involving both the rights of our property, and our rights of self-government. Unless the people wished to be serfs to Ottawa they must rise and assert their rights; if they neglect to do so, they deserve the degradation their want of action will bring. If the Reformers of the riding worked shoulder to shoulder he had not the slightest fear of the success of the Reform candidate. Mr. Campbell would now address the meeting.

Mr. Campbell on rising was greeted with tremendous cheers. He said he had thought the matter over carefully, and could not refuse the candidature so unanimously offered him. (Loud cheers.) He had no political ends to serve, and he responded only to the call of duty. It was a question of Mowat out or Mowat in, and as he was heart and soul in favor of the latter, he consented to be a candidate. He hoped that the convention who had so kindly brought him out would also lend their endeavours to put him in. The rousing cheers that followed the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's remarks showed how popular his candidature was.

Mr. Michael Mansfield, Reeve of Galway, moved, seconded by Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, a resolution pledging the meeting to united exertion to secure Mr. Campbell's return.

Mr. Mansfield was glad to move the resolution. He heard Mr. Campbell well spoken of by everybody. If the rest of the county would do its duty he could promise Mr. Campbell that Galway would do her share to secure his return.

Mr. Sanderson had known Mr. Campbell ever since he came to Peterborough, and was sure he would make a first-class representative. With united effort we were sure of success. He enlarged upon the importance of taking a decided stand when the territory and liberties of the province were in danger. By giving up the disputed territory we would give up increased population and thereby the advantages of representation by population. He referred to Mr. Mowat as the right man in the right place and denounced the attempts at Ottawa centralization.

Mr. Oliver, Reeve of Harvey, expressed his confidence in the candidate selected and heartily favored the resolution.

Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, deputy reeve of Smith, cordially endorsed the nomination, spoke of the danger of over-confidence and urged to active work. He was proud of Mr. Campbell. He had responded to the call of duty. He could be handsomely elected by hard and united work.

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald pointed out the danger to the province, of its government becoming subject to collusion with the Ottawa Government. He spoke strongly of the rightness of the position held by the Ontario Government on the Rivers and Streams Bill and said if it were not assented to, our public domain would be sacrificed. He vigorously condemned the delay of the ratification of the award. Too much praise could not be given the candidate chosen. He urged the party to work, for the battle was a struggle of virtue and patriotism vs. treason and guilt.

Mr. Hull of Lakefield, in a few words endorsed Mr. Campbell's candidature and added all that was required to secure his return was united effort.

Mr. B. Morrow was glad to know that Mr. Campbell had consented to run: he would do all he could to promote his election.

Mr. D. Ullyott, heartily endorsed the resolution. He had known Mr. Campbell a dozen years and had never heard any person, high or low, speak one word against him. He would do all he could to secure his return.

Mr. J. Carroll of St. Catharines, a former resident of Peterborough, was glad to meet so many of his old associates. He was present by accident but that did not prevent him from adding his word in favor of a good cause. The present was a time when Ontario should awake, to assert her rights. He asserted that if the present government with its wise and honest administration of affairs, its stainless record, were defeated it would be time for all honest men to withdraw from politics. He spoke of the duty of resisting the attack on the rights of the people as shown in the disallowance of the Streams Bill and then alluded to the Boundary Award matter. Fifty years ago the province had as great grievances—taxation without responsible government—which culminated in a rebellion, not against the British Government but against the Family Compact; then, the struggle for representation by population was settled by confederation, whose great merit was that it gave us control of our own local affairs, which right was now threatened. Local Legislature was a farce if it could be vetoed at Ottawa for personal ends. The speaker had been in the disputed territory and could from personal observation assert that there were thousands of acres of fertile land, abundance of valuable timber and deposits of rich and valuable minerals; in fine it was a territory worth struggling for. He congratulated the convention on their selection of a candidate, and he had heard from all sides gratifying words said in his favor.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, said that if with the standard bearer now before the people, if with such a government claiming support, if with the magnitude of the interests at stake the party did not carry West Peterborough in this election, they would bring disgrace to the riding. The present was an important crisis and every man should be alive to his duty. West Peterborough never entered on a campaign with such good prospects of success, and to secure success it only required systematic and earnest endeavour. For his part he was bound to be able to say, if the election was lost it would not be his fault, through lack of work or exertion.

Mr. John Bertram heartily endorsed Mr. Campbell's candidature and urged his claims to the energetic services of the party. Mr. Campbell had resigned the peace and quietness of domestic life to enter public life with its turmoil and struggle and it was the duty of the electors to see that he did not do so in vain. He felt satisfied that if all present worked till the last day, success would crown their efforts. If Mr. Campbell was elected he would go to Toronto as your representative alone; he had no ambitions, no party ends to seek there and would work only for the interests of the country. Mr. Carnegie was a professional politician and would seek the good of his party first and of the county afterwards. He would be the willing servant to do whatever Sir John ordered him to do.

He was the very man to follow Mr. Meredith through all his twistings of the Boundary Award matter. Sir John in refusing to ratify a just award had not only done an injustice to Ontario but had complicated the matter by bringing in Manitoba, to which he had given a slice of your territory. Every elector should become an Ontario man and fight for the rights of the Province, and one way was to fight for Mr. Campbell as champion of its rights. He could not elect himself, and every Reformer should work from now till polling day whether the time was long or short.

Mr. Geo. Edmison was highly pleased with the candidate brought out but did not believe much in talk work was what was needed and organization with that view should not be a moment delayed.

Mr. Fife had the utmost confidence in the candidate, both in his personal integrity and his ability to carry the riding. He plainly elucidated the position of the Streams Bill matter, by alluding to a similar matter that had arisen on the Indian River. Disallowance was unjust; Gladstone opposed the National Policy, but he did not disallow it but wisely left it to the people to decide upon. So Sir John should have left the Streams Bill. If it was wrong, it concerned the people of the Province only and they would not submit to anything wrong. Therefore, instead of disallowing it he should have left it to the people to decide upon. He did not know Mr. Campbell personally, but he had heard him highly spoken of by his father and he was not the man to go back on his father's friend. (Cheers.)

Mr. Galvin, of Lakefield, spoke in favor of Home Rule for Ontario. If the people neglected the present opportunity to assert their rights the battle would then have be fought over again.

Mr. A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer, although an East Riding man, endorsed the candidature and promised to do all he could in his favor.

The resolution was then put and was carried with the utmost enthusiasm.

In compliance with the spirit of the resolution, arrangements for thorough organization were at once completed and the first meeting of the campaign was fixed for Monday evening in the committee rooms, when there was a largely attended meeting.

The meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the candidate, the Mowat Government and for the chairman.

SMITH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CONCERT. A very pleasant and interesting concert was held at the Methodist church, Smith, last Friday. A large number from Peterborough took advantage of the opportunity and favored the natives with their presence. The programme was opened by a song by the choir, after which the pastor of the church delivered a short prayer. The principal participants on the programme were the Misses. Shaw, Johnston, Fair, Huston, Ellsworth, Elliott, Smith, Sherin and Dr. Clarke, of Peterborough; Miss Claren and Mr. Henderson of Lakefield, and Master Willie Sanderson of Smith. The audience was highly delighted at the success of the entertainment both financially and in point of numbers and pleasure.

It tones and stimulates the Liver to action, it corrects the acide and regulates the bowels. A few doses will surprise you. Sample bottles 10 cents. 52

THE LENTEN SEASON.

Regulations for the Holy time of Lent in the Diocese of Peterborough.

His Lordship, Bishop Jamot, has promulgated the following instructions for the guidance of his people during the holy season of Lent:

1st.—The general rule of the church is that abstinence from flesh, meat be kept every day in Lent: but by dispensation from the Holy See, flesh is allowed:

(a)—At every meal on Sunday:

(b)—Once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the second Saturday (Ember week) and of Holy Saturday.

N.B.—The privilege of using flesh meat on the Thursday after Ash Wednesday, on Saturdays, on Palm Sunday, and the three days in Holy Week, is granted only for ten years, to be computed from the 4th day of March, 1874.

Flesh and fish are not allowed at the same meal.

2nd.—Every day in Lent, with the exception of Sundays, is a day of fast. Every person 21 years of age complete, is bound to fast. But those who are sickly, or obliged to hard work; women in pregnancy, or nursing infants, and those who would injure their health by fasting, are not obliged to fast.

General custom permits a small collation, about the fourth of a meal at night, and also a cup of tea or coffee, with a small piece of bread in the morning. At the evening collation, eggs, butter and cheese are allowed, but the rules of quantity prescribed for the fast must be complied with. The use of lard is permitted in dressing fasting food.

Every one should enter into the spirit of this Holy Season, and endeavor to satisfy the justice of God by prayer and sorrow for sin, by almsgiving and mortification, by assisting more regularly at Holy Mass on week days, or at the evening devotions in the church, when possible; by performing the stations of the cross; by reciting the Rosary; and especially by meditating piously on the sufferings and death of our blessed Saviour.

The time within which the Easter Communion may be received, commences on Ash Wednesday, and terminates on Trinity Sunday.

Peterborough, 25th January, 1883, Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul, Apostle.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Mr. Stobo, preached in the Baptist Church, Belleville, twice last Sunday.

We were favored with a call on Tuesday from Mr. J. B. Trayes of the Port Hope Times.

Rev. Mr. Newman, M. A., of McMaster Hall, Toronto, preached in the Baptist Church last Sunday morning and evening.

We had the pleasure of a call on Monday from Mr. John Carroll, of St. Catharines, a former resident of Peterborough. He was in town looking after men to work on his contract on the Ottawa & Quebec railway near Tweed.

We are pleased to see that Mr. Thos. Esterbrook, photographer, is sufficiently recovered from his illness to superintend the business of his photographic studio, and all persons requiring his services will be governed accordingly.

Messrs. John R. Scott, Managing Director and W. F. Hall, Secretary of the Napanee Mills Paper Company were in town on Wednesday, arranging for freight rates, with the Midland Railway, in connection with the pulp mills they have decided to establish at Fenelon Falls. The company will go on with the erection of the buildings in the early spring.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

The writer is Mr. O. McIntosh of Irish Creek, N.S.: I commenced coughing and raising blood last spring and consulted two doctors and took their medicines, but obtained no relief. I was greatly alarmed, the more so because all my father's family died of consumption. I am now well; I was cured by Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. Good testimony and reply given. There are hundreds like it. In all cases of coughs, colds and throat diseases and lung diseases, including, asthma, bronchitis and all their tribe, Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam is invaluable.

FREE OF CHARGE.

All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at Taylor and McDondald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, free of charge, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular dollar-size bottle will do. Call early.

Mr. R. C. Winlow, Toronto, writes: Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is a valuable medicine to all who are troubled with indigestion. I tried a bottle of it after suffering for some ten years, and the results are certainly beyond my expectations. It assists digestion wonderfully. I digest my food with no apparent effort, and am now entirely free from that sensation, which every dyspeptic will knows, of unpleasant fullness after each meal."

WEST PETERBORO!

REFORM STANDARD AFLOAT!

Jas. Campbell, Esq., the Reform Nominee.

On Saturday afternoon last the adjourned meeting of the Reform Convention was held in the rooms of the Association, George street. Mr. T. G. Hazlitt occupied the chair, and there was a splendid meeting of representative Reformers characterized by a spirit of earnestness and enthusiasm.

Mr. Hazlitt mentioned the object of the meeting, and was pleased to announce that the answer given by Mr. Campbell would, he hoped, be agreeable to those present. Mr. C. was a gentleman, whose character for uprightness was above reproach, and whose ability made him eminently adapted to the representation of the riding. He was a gentleman whom every Reformer could support as though it was a personal matter. At present it was the duty of every patriot to work at his best in support of the Mowat administration which had stood up so boldly for the rights of the people against the disloyal attacks of their enemies, involving both the rights of our property, and our rights of self-government. Unless the people wished to be serfs to Ottawa they must rise and assert their rights; if they neglect to do so, they deserve the degradation their want of action will bring. If the Reformers of the riding worked shoulder to shoulder he had not the slightest fear of the success of the Reform candidate. Mr. Campbell would now address the meeting.

Mr. Campbell on rising was greeted with tremendous cheers. He said he had thought the matter over carefully, and could not refuse the candidature so unanimously offered him. (Loud cheers.) He had no political ends to serve, and he responded only to the call of duty. It was a question of Mowat out or Mowat in, and as he was heart and soul in favor of the latter, he consented to be a candidate. He hoped that the convention who had so kindly brought him out would also lend their endeavours to put him in. The rousing cheers that followed the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's remarks showed how popular his candidature was.

Mr. Michael Mansfield, Reeve of Galway, moved, seconded by Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, a resolution pledging the meeting to united exertion to secure Mr. Campbell's return.

Mr. Mansfield was glad to move the resolution. He heard Mr. Campbell well spoken of by everybody. If the rest of the county would do its duty he could promise Mr. Campbell that Galway would do her share to secure his return.

Mr. Sanderson had known Mr. Campbell ever since he came to Peterborough, and was sure he would make a first-class representative. With united effort we were sure of success. He enlarged upon the importance of taking a decided stand when the territory and liberties of the province were in danger. By giving up the disputed territory we would give up increased population and thereby the advantages of representation by population. He referred to Mr. Mowat as the right man in the right place and denounced the attempts at Ottawa centralization.

Mr. Oliver, Reeve of Harvey, expressed his confidence in the candidate selected and heartily favored the resolution.

Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, deputy reeve of South, cordially endorsed the nomination, spoke of the danger of over-confidence and urged to active work. He was proud of Mr. Campbell. He had responded to the call of duty. He could be handsomely elected by hard and united work.

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald pointed out the danger to the province, of its government becoming subject to collusion with the Ottawa Government. He spoke strongly of the rightness of the position held by the Ontario Government on the Rivers and Streams Bill and said if it were not assented to, our public domain would be sacrificed. He vigorously condemned the delay of the ratification of the award. Too much praise could not be given the candidate chosen. He urged the party to work, for the battle was a struggle of virtue and patriotism vs. treason and guilt.

Mr. Hull of Lakefield, in a few words endorsed Mr. Campbell's candidature and added all that was required to secure his return was united effort.

Mr. B. Morrow was glad to know that Mr. Campbell had consented to run; he would do all he could to promote his election.

Mr. D. Ullyott, heartily endorsed the resolution. He had known Mr. Campbell a dozen years and had never heard any person, high or low, speak one word against him. He would do all he could to secure his return.

Mr. J. Carroll of St. Catharines, a former resident of Peterborough, was glad to meet so many of his old associates. He was present by accident but that did not prevent him from adding his word in favor of a good cause. The present was a time when Ontario should awake, to assert her rights. He asserted that if the present government with its wise and honest administration of affairs, its stainless record, were defeated it would be time for all honest men to withdraw from politics. He spoke of the duty of resisting the attack on the rights of the people as shown in the disallowance of the Streams Bill and then alluded to the Boundary Award matter. Fifty years ago the province had as great grievances taxation without responsible government—which culminated in a rebellion, not against the British Government but against the Family Compact; then, the struggle for representation by population was settled by confederation, whose great merit was that it gave us control of our own local affairs, which right was now threatened. Local Legislature was a farce it it could be vetoed at Ottawa for personal ends. The speaker had been in the disputed territory and could from personal observation assert that there were thousands of acres of fertile land, abundance of valuable timber and deposits of rich and valuable minerals; in fine it was a territory worth struggling for. He congratulated the convention on their selection of a candidate, and he had heard from all sides gratifying words said in his favor.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, said that if with the standard bearer now before the people, if with such a government claiming support, if with the magnitude of the interests at stake the party did not carry West Peterborough in this election, they would bring disgrace to the riding. The present was an important crisis and every man should be alive to his duty. West Peterborough never entered on a campaign with such good prospects of success, and to secure success it only required systematic and earnest endeavour. For his part he was bound to be able to say, if the election was lost it would not be his fault, through lack of work or exertion.

Mr. John Bertram heartily endorsed Mr. Campbell's candidature and urged his claims to the energetic services of the party. Mr. Campbell had resigned the peace and quietness of domestic life to enter public life with its turmoil and struggle and it was the duty of the electors to see that he did not do so in vain. He felt satisfied that if all present worked till the last day, success would crown their efforts. If Mr. Campbell was elected he would go to Toronto as your representative alone; he had no ambitions, no party ends to seek there and would work only for the interests of the country. Mr. Carnegie was a professional politician and would seek the good of his party first and of the county afterwards. He would be the willing servant to do whatever Sir John ordered him to do.

He was the very man to follow Mr. Meredith through all his twistings of the Boundary Award matter. Sir John in refusing to ratify a just award had not only done an injustice to Ontario but had complicated the matter by bringing in Manitoba, to which he had given a slice of your territory. Every elector should become an Ontario man and fight for the rights of the Province, and one way was to fight for Mr. Campbell as champion of its rights. He could not elect himself, and every Reformer should work from now till polling day whether the time was long or short.

Mr. Geo. Edmison was highly pleased with the candidate brought out but did not believe much in talk work was what was needed and organization with that view should not be a moment delayed.

Mr. Fife had the utmost confidence in the candidate, both in his personal integrity and his ability to carry the riding. He plainly elucidated the position of the Streams Bill matter, by alluding to a similar matter that had arisen on the Indian River. Disallowance was unjust; Gladstone opposed the National Policy, but he did not disallow it but wisely left it to the people to decide upon. So Sir John should have left the Streams Bill. If it was wrong, it concerned the people of the Province only and they would not submit to anything wrong. Therefore, instead of disallowing it he should have left it to the people to decide upon. He did not know Mr. Campbell personally, but he had heard him highly spoken of by his father and he was not the man to go back on his father's friend. (Cheers.)

Mr. Galvin, of Lakefield, spoke in favor of Home Rule for Ontario. If the people neglected the present opportunity to assert their rights the battle would then have to be fought over again.

Mr. A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer, although an East Riding man, endorsed the candidature and promised to do all he could in his favor.

The resolution was then put and was carried with the utmost enthusiasm.

In compliance with the spirit of the resolution, arrangements for thorough organization were at once completed and the first meeting of the campaign was fixed for Monday evening in the committee rooms, when there was a largely attended meeting.

The meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the candidate, the Mowat Government and for the chairman.

SMITH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CONCERT. A very pleasant and interesting concert was held at the Methodist church, Smith, last Friday. A large number from Peterborough took advantage of the opportunity and favored the natives with their presence. The programme was opened by a song by the choir, after which the pastor of the church delivered a short prayer. The principal participants on the programme were the Misses. Shaw, Johnston, Fair, Huston, Ellsworth, Elliott, Smith, Sherin and Dr. Clarke, of Peterborough; Miss Claren and Mr. Henderson of Lakefield, and Master Willie Sanderson of Smith. The audience was highly delighted at the success of the entertainment both financially and in point of numbers and pleasure.

SEE TO IT. ZOPESA will cure the worst case of Dyspepsia. A single dose will relieve in a degree that shows its wonderful curative powers, and its peculiar action upon the stomach and digestive organs. It is a positive and absolute cure for costiveness and constipation, acting in a remarkable way upon the system, carrying off impurities. As a liver regulater its actions are remarkable. It tones and stimulates the Liver to action, it corrects the acide and regulates the bowels. A few doses will surprise you. Sample bottles 10 cents. 52

THE LENTEN SEASON.

Regulations for the Holy time of Lent in the Diocese of Peterborough.

His Lordship, Bishop Jamot, has promulgated the following instructions for the guidance of his people during the holy season of Lent:

1st.—The general rule of the church is that abstinence from flesh, meat be kept every day in Lent: but by dispensation from the Holy See, flesh is allowed:

(a) At every meal on Sunday:

(b)—Once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the second Saturday (Ember week) and of Holy Saturday.

N.B.—The privilege of using flesh meat on the Thursday after Ash Wednesday, on Saturdays, on Palm Sunday, and the three days in Holy Week, is granted only for ten years, to be computed from the 4th day of March, 1874.

Flesh and fish are not allowed at the same meal.

2nd.—Every day in Lent, with the exception of Sundays, is a day of Fast. Every person 21 years of age complete, is bound to fast. But those who are sickly, or obliged to hard work; women in pregnancy, or nursing infants, and those who would injure their health by fasting, are not obliged to fast.

General custom permits a small collation, about the fourth of a meal at night, and also a cup of tea or coffee, with a small piece of bread in the morning. At the evening collation, eggs, butter and cheese are allowed, but the rules of quantity prescribed for the fast must be complied with. The use of lard is permitted in dressing fasting food.

Every one should enter into the spirit of this Holy Season, and endeavor to satisfy the justice of God by prayer and sorrow for sin, by almsgiving and mortification, by assisting more regularly at Holy Mass on week days, or at the evening devotions in the church, when possible; by performing the stations of the cross; by reciting the Rosary; and especially by meditating piously on the sufferings and death of our blessed Saviour.

The time within which the Easter Communion may be received, commences on Ash Wednesday, and terminates on Trinity Sunday.

Peterborough, 25th January, 1883, Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul, Apostle.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Mr. Stobo, preached in the Baptist Church, Belleville, twice last Sunday.

We were favored with a call on Tuesday from Mr. J. B. Trayes of the Port Hope Times.

Rev. Mr. Newman, M. A., of McMaster Hall, Toronto, preached in the Baptist Church last Sunday morning and evening.

We had the pleasure of a call on Monday from Mr. John Carroll, of St. Catharines, a former resident of Peterborough. He was in town looking after men to work on his contract on the Ottawa & Quebec railway near Tweed.

We are pleased to see that Mr. Thos. Esterbrook, photographer, is sufficiently recovered from his illness to superintend the business of his photographic studio, and all persons requiring his services will be governed accordingly.

Messrs. John R. Scott, Managing Director and W. F. Hall, Secretary of the Napanee Mills Paper Company were in town on Wednesday, arranging for freight rates, with the Midland Railway, in connection with the pulp mills they have decided to establish at Fenelon Falls. The company will go on with the erection of the buildings in the early spring.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

The writer is Mr. O. McIntosh of Irish Creek, N.S.: I commenced coughing and raising blood last spring and consulted two doctors and took their medicines, but obtained no relief. I was greatly alarmed, the more so because all my father's family died of consumption. I am now well; I was cured by Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. Good testimony and reply given. There are hundreds like it. In all cases of coughs, colds and throat diseases and lung diseases, including, asthma, bronchitis and all their tribe, Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam is invaluable.

FREE OF CHARGE.

All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at Taylor and McDonald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, free of charge, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular dollar-size bottle will do. Call early.

Mr. R. C. Winlow, Toronto, writes: Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is a valuable medicine to all who are troubled with indigestion. I tried a bottle of it after suffering for some ten years, and the results are certainly beyond my expectations. It assists digestion wonderfully. I digest my food with no apparent effort, and am now entirely free from that sensation, which every dyspeptic will knows, of unpleasant fullness after each meal."

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 1, 1883.

The Rosa's Bridge Matter.

The town is very deeply concerned in the construction of a bridge at Rosa's, in South Monaghan, across the Otonabee. By the present arrangement of travel the distance from South Monaghan to Peterborough is sixteen miles, with a portion of the road heavy and hard to travel, while the distance by way of Rosa's, if a bridge were there, would be reduced to about nine miles, over a greatly better highway.

The advantage that would accrue to Peterborough is not easily estimated, but would be very great. South Monaghan is a large and fertile agricultural township, and the advantage of making Peterborough the market place is obvious, and worth some exertion to bring about. It appears that the county of Northumberland and Durham will take no action in reference to the building and maintenance of the bridge, and under the circumstances, the council of this county appears to be justified in declining to build it unless South Monaghan be annexed to this county for municipal purposes. If this be done there is little doubt that the bridge will be built, and that the town of Peterborough will give a substantial grant towards its erection. The people of South Monaghan are said to be in favour of annexation, and the people of this town and county would also approve of it, and as annexation is to be the price of the bridge for which all parties concerned are so desirous, it is to be hoped that prompt and proper steps will be taken to secure the annexation of the township, the building of the bridge, and the consequent advantages to all parties interested.

The County and the Collegiate Institute.

The action of the County Council at its late session, in not only refusing to give a grant to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, but also withdrawing that to the Norwood High School is a matter for surprise and regret. On every principle of fairness the county, which gets the lion's share of the benefit of the educational advantages of the Collegiate Institute, should contribute pro rata to its support. But this is not asked; a merely nominal appropriation of the county funds is solicited, but this is unconditionally refused.

The Collegiate Institute and the High School are the only means within the reach of a poor man by which his children can obtain a higher education than that conferred by the public schools, and the action of the County Council discriminates against the poor man's children in this respect. To support the Institute efficiently the local board are compelled to impose a fee, which though it may be as nothing to the wealthy farmer, is a serious and prohibitory sum to the struggling farmer, who, not being able to give his son a farm or his daughter a big dower, has no other way to provide for the future of his children except by giving them an education, which according to the spirit of our school system, should be given them free, except as regards his share of contribution to the public taxes. The result is that by the parsimony of the county council, many a clever but comparatively penniless boy will be deprived of the advantage of a more liberal education than that supplied by the public schools. The local board are thereby compelled to retain the fee. The amount asked was only $500, which, while it would be of great benefit to the people of the county, is a very trifling matter for the ratepayers. The ratable property of the county is about eight millions of dollars, and therefore the rate required to be levied to raise $500 would be about one two hundredeth part of a cent on the dollar. Hence the members of the county council who voted against the grant will have the consolation of feeling, that though they have shut out the poor man's children from the chance of receiving a higher education, they have saved their constituents from the terribly crushing burden of taxation implied in the monstrous rate of one half cent on a $100.

Editorial Notes.

THE Mail, will neither "apologize nor fight." It has not apologized for its insults to the farmers of Ontario, given when it characterized six thousand of the best representatives of the class as a mob of half civilized partizans and seekers after free whiskey. Nor has it dared, so far as we have seen, to justify the application of such self-evidently baseless abuse. But one can't expect an ass to apologize for the exercise of the instinct of braying, nor the Mail for the exercise of ribald proclivities, which an unlimited consumption of piscine provender cannot keep under repression.

THE local Opposition must be desperately hard pushed when, shirking the legitimate issues of the campaign, they fall back on the N. P. as a reason why Mr. Mowat must go. Do they think that the ruinous prices for wheat that have obtained under the N. P. will enamour farmers of that political factotum in the way of argument, and make them less anxious for the retention of the immense territory secured to Ontario by the award, or make them more willing to give up home rule, and take our laws at second hand from Ottawa? Will the N. P. and wheat at ninety cents a bushel, reconcile them to gracefully favouring the conversion of the local Government into a donkey engine to the Dominion Government?

MR. MERCIER'S acceptance of the position of the leadership of the Liberal party in Quebec, in place of Mr. Joly, resigned, places upon him a responsibility above and beyond that which usually attaches to the position of a party leader. He succeeded a gentleman, whose character and conduct have placed him above the detraction of political opponents, bitter as the most bitter political era of the province has ever produced. Mr. Joly's purity of character has attended him as both a citizen and a politician. Hon. Honore Mercier, the new leader of the Liberal party in Quebec, is in every way fitted for the position. He is able, eloquent, and aggressively persevering, astute, skilful, and not afraid to cope with the political corruption which, unfortunately, under the present Tory rule, gives Mr. Mercier abundant employment. The people of Quebec will soon tire of their present rule, and it is satisfactory to know that so competent a hand as Mr. Mercier's is ready to grasp the helm.

WHY do Mr. Meredith and his followers of the Opposition delight in a policy of hostility to the interests of the farmers, as shown by their apparently purposeless and gratuitous attacks on the Agricultural College, Guelph? It is admitted on all other hands to be a valuable and important aid in improving the knowledge of farming amongst the people and in disseminating the highest, soundest and most practical knowledge of agriculture amongst the people. It is the only means in the province by which farmer's sons can acquire a higher education that strengthens their love for their calling, fits them for a more profitable practice of it and prevents them rushing into the overcrowded "professions." Even Mr. Broder of Dundas, one of Mr. Meredith's usual following, is so impressed by the usefulness of the Agricultural College, so deeply convinced of its wise and economical management by the Mowat Administration that, disregarding for the moment party allgiance, he unhesitatingly and strongly endorsed both the College and its management. Mr. Meredith and his following will find that they will gain little by disparaging the most successful agricultural collegiate institution in the world. If he despises and ignores the farmers, as a matter of policy he should conceal these feelings, instead of ostentatiously trying to deprive of their most valued institution a class, which, both in politics and in the promotion of the wealth of this province, holds the balance of power.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CARNIVAL.—The first skating carnival of the season at Keene was held on Friday evening of last week, at which a large number of people attended. The number of persons in costume was forty, and the display was far superior to last year, many new and beautiful costumes appearing on the ice for the first time. The costumes of the ladies were greatly admired, and although many of the gents were finely dressed, the ladies most decidedly carried off the palm. A good string band was in attendance, and the enlivening strains of the violins added to the pleasure of the evening. The following is a list of the masquers, and the characters they represented:

What I want to Know is how can CHINA HALL Sell so much more Cheaply than all other Dealers.

HOW IS IT?

THE REASON.

We will tell you how it is that we are enabled to Sell more Cheaply than small dealers. Our business is CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE—we make a Specialty of these Lines, and buy in Large Quantities, direct from the Factories, and therefore can and do sell Retail at the same (and sometimes less) Prices than Grocers pay for their Goods. Other dealers may tell you that they can sell as Cheaply, but don't believe them.

NORWOOD MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

A special meeting of the Directors of the Norwood Mechanics Institute was held on Friday afternoon last, when there was a fair muster of the Board. The funds of the Institute were found to be in a flourishing condition, as the Treasurer had recently received a grant of $150 from the Government. It was decided to expend this amount together with the member's subscriptions (after deducting a few running expenses) on additional books for the library, which, although now stocked with a large number of the most popular works published, required repletion to suit the tastes of those members who patronize it most. Besides a fine collection of books, the Institute is provided with a number of the leading monthly periodicals, and the Graphic and other popular illustrated papers. The Directors, at this meeting made provision to add still more weeklies for the use of members, a wise measure, as they form a leading feature of the attractions of this most deserving and useful institution. It was also decided to hold several re-unions this winter, and an active committee was appointed to carry out the wishes of the Directors. The first re-union will be held on Friday evening, the 2nd February, for which occasion it has been arranged to secure the best musical and reading Norwood neighborhood can produce, and Norwood, as former re-unions held here have proved, can excel in these respects.

THE WEATHER.

The extreme cold of the past few days has been the principal topic under discussion, although the appearance of Mr. G. Read and Mr. T. Blezzard, might, or ought to have furnished more interesting themes for conversation. The "oldest inhabitant" says it is the coldest winter he ever experienced, and hopes he will never see any more like it. On Tuesday morning the thermometer stood here fifteen degrees below zero, and stovewood $1.50 per cord.

OCEAN DISASTERS.

WRECKS OF FORTY YEARS.

Ocean disasters within the past forty years have have involved the loss of thousands of lives. The City of Glasgow mysteriously disappeared in 1854, and 450 lives were lost with her. She was a wooden vessel of 1,609 tons. Later the same year, the Arctic, a 3,000-ton wooden vessel of the Collins line, went down off Cape Race, and 562 lives were lost. The steamship Vesta ran into her. Again, in the same fatal year the steamer Her Majesty, from England for Quebec, disappeared with all on board. In 1856 the Pacific of the Collins line was missing with 200 people. She was never heard from. A French vessel, Le Lyonnais, lost 160 lives in a collision.

In 1857 the Tempest disappeared, and in 1858, 533 lives were lost by the burning of the German ship Austria. The Hungarian of the Allan line, from Liverpool to Boston, was wrecked off Cape Sable in 1860 and 205 lives were lost, and the next year the Canadian of the same line was wrecked and lost 39 lives, and the Rechid disappeared.

In 1863 the Allan line again lost a vessel, the Anglo-Saxon, with 237 lives. The United Kingdom disappeared in 1869. One hundred and ninety-six lives were lost by the wreck of the Cambria of the Anchor line in 1870, and that year the City of Boston disappeared.

In 1870 six vessels disappeard with all on board. These were the Scanderia of the Morgan line, the Shannon, the Devon, the Mary Church, the Commander, and the Charucca. The terrible wreck at Halifax of the Atlantic, of the White Star line was in 1873 and 546 lives were lost. The same year the Ville du Havre, of the French line was wrecked by a collision, and 230 lives were lost, and the Ismailia disappeared. The Anna disappeared in 1874. Two hundred lives were lost by the wreck of the Deutschland, of the North German Lloyds.

The Colombe disappeared in 1876, and Mexican in 1877.

In 1878 the Pommerania, of the Hamburg-America Packet Line was lost off Dover with fifty lives. The Copia, Hesmann Ludwig and Homer disappeared in 1878 and the Zanzibar in 1879

On March 4, the steamer Sultan, from Hamburg, came in collision with another vessel in the Humber, off Sunderland, and was cut to the water's edge. She sunk and eighteen lives were lost. It is possible that this is not the Sultan that sank the Cimbria.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Rev. Father Casey has settled himself in the fine brick residence which he has had erected, lately. It is a large and comfortable dwelling.

The Trent River is frozen over, a clear field of ice from the bridge to the Caledonian mills. A long unbroken stretch of ice in this part of the river has not formed since 1874—eight years ago.

Dancing-Parties are fashionable in this village this winter.

Mr. Collie Cockburn, of this place, has received four acceptances of his challenge to shoot with any man a pigeon match for $50 or $100 a side.

Mr. John Morrison is president and Mr. John Clark Secretary-treasurer of the Seymour Agricultural Society.

ITS CERTAINTY.—To cure Dyspepsia and Biliousness is not speculation, but is proved with letters from persons of high respectability coming in. ZOPESA is an absolute cure. 52

At "Change of Life," we observe constantly a failure of constiutional vigor owing to the large demands made on the vital forces incident to rearing children. Prolonged nursing, constant watchfulness brain worry and work exhaust the nervous system and arrest the work of repair. At this critical period a large number of cases have experienced the remarkable restorative power of Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, which energize the nervous system and promotes the functions of nutrition.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

Continuation of Report.

WEDNESDAY.

Afternoon Session.

At 2 p.m., the Council resumed.

ROSA'S BRIDGE.

Messrs. Riddel and Lightfoot of South Monaghan, were heard before the Council to advocate a grant by the Council for the purpose of constructing a bridge across the Otonabee on the site of Rosa's bridge.

Mr. Riddel indicated the geographical position of South Monaghan, and showed that the people were in earnest in desiring the bridge, from the fact that they had subscribed a large sum for the purpose. He thought the building of the bridge might result in the annexation of the township to this county.

After Mr. Lightfoot had spoken to a similar effect, Mr. Lang moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges, and after some discussion the motion was agreed to, and the council adjourned.

THURSDAY.

Council met at 10 a.m. all the members present.

After routine.

Mr. Collins, Chairman presented the report of the Special Committee appointed last session to investigate and report on the advisabily of the establishment of a House of Refuge for the County of Peterborough.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

The committee to whom was referred the question of establishing a House of Industry and Refuge for the county, beg leave to report:

1. That they instructed the Clerk to send a circular letter to each county in the Province, asking for information in reference to such institutions, and their experience as to the working of the same.

2. From the replies received, your committee find that the counties of Elgin, Waterloo and Wellington have established Houses of Industry, and that in several other counties the matter is being favourably considered.

3. Your committee obtained from the several municipalities of the county a return of the sums paid for some years past for charitable purposes, and although the information given was not in all cases so full as might be desired, yet they are satisfied that the aggregate annual amounts so expended by the municipalities represented in this council is at least $1,500.

4. In addition to this sum must be added the actual loss sustained by the county from the necessity of committing to the common gaol so large a number of vagrants, thereby reducing the amount received from the government for the administration of justice consequent on not having a proper place to send such vagrants. The County Treasurer is of opinion that $400 will not represent this amount annually.

5. From the information furnished your committee, they find that the average costs per person per week in the Houses of Industry in Elgin, Waterloo and Wellington was as follows in 1881: Elgin, 77 2-3 cents; average number of 46. Waterloo, 83½ cents, average number of inmates, 85; average cost per person per year, $46.54. Wellington, $86 4-5 cents, or adding interest on capital, $1.25 8-10; average number of inmates, 60.

6. In all the counties where these institutions have been established, they have been found to be of great benefit to the municipalities.

7. By the Revised Statutes of Ontario, Cap. 174, Sec. 436, provision is made to establish Houses of Industry, either by the county alone or in conjunction with a town separated from the county; and power is given by the statutes to commit thereto persons who are vagrants, and also persons who are unable to support themselves, and who are charges upon the public.

8. After carefully examining the statistics your committee have obtained, taking into consideration the financial position of the county and the amount paid for charity annually by the several municipalities, the reduced amount of the government grant for the administration of justice, the unprofitable way in which a great amount of municipal charity is expended, and the sufferings of many who do obtain a moiety of that charity, your committee most respectfully recommend that a House of Refuge and Industry be established for this county.

9. Your committee are of the opinion that it is not desirable to have a large quantity of land in connection with such an institution, as the labor of the inmates thereof would not be profitable, and that they are of the opinion that not more than forty acres would be required for a site. Land suitable for such a purpose could be got in a suitable locality, your committee do not doubt, for from $40 to $50 an acre, and the cost of a building adapted to the present wants of the county would not cost more than $12,000 or $13,000 furnished.

10. In the opinion of your committee the Town of Peterborough should be invited to join with the county in the establishment of this institution, and they would therefore recommend that the matter be brought before the Town Council during this session.

All of which is repectfully submitted.

HENRY COLLINS,
Chairman.

On motion to adopt the report, Mr. Pearce would like to have more detailed information before consenting to the adoption of the report. Personally he was in favour of the plan proposed.

Mr. Burnham moved in amendment that the report be not now adopted, but that its further consideration be deferred till the matter be submitted to the Town Council, and that a copy of the report be sent, requesting the town council to inform the Warden of the decision arrived at.—Carried.

BURLEIGH AND CHANDOS.

Mr. Elmhirst moved, seconded by Mr Lang, that the County Treasurer be requested to prepare a statement showing the state of account of the municipality of Burleigh and Chandos, with the county for the last four years, with interest charged, if any, and the total amount of indebtedness on the 31st day of December last, and hand the same to the Finance Committee for investigation.—Carried.

GRAND JUNCTION SUIT.

Mr. Sanderson moved, seconded by Mr. Kidd, that in the event of the suit of the Grand Junction being proceeded with, either by appeal to the Privy Council, or by a new suit at law or in Equity, that the Warden shave full power to defend the same and also to use the Corporate Seal of the County in making appointment by any agent as directed by counsel for the County of Peterborough.—Carried.

CONFIRMING BY-LAW.

On motion of Mr. Kidd seconded by Mr. McCliggott, permission was granted the Council of Dummer to close a road on part of lot 12 and part of 13 in the 2nd concession of the said township.

Council adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

At 4 p.m., Council resumed.

SCHOOL BOARD DEPUTATION.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Stevenson, Dumble and J. R. Stratton of the Peterborough School Board was introduced and heard in reference to the County Council giving a grant to the High School. Mr. Stevenson spoke first, and said that the Council had dealt liberally with the High School, but the past two years the grant had been withheld, and consequently the Board had been compelled to impose a fee on pupils which had had the result of sending pupils to Lindsay or Port Hope. The majority of pupils were from the county and in justice the county should make a grant, in which case the fees would be wiped out and the school will be thrown open to every pupil in the county, and the profit and advantage would be mutual.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, felt that he could not hope to add much to what had been said in favor of a grant to the Collegiate Institute. The town and county were municipally separated, but in the matter of the High School their interests were inseparable. If they were united the county would be compelled to contribute to the support of the High School, and he thought Councillors would not ignore the moral responsibility to assist an institution of which three fourths of the pupils were from the county. The majority of the county teachers received their education at the Collegiate Institute, and the county was getting the benefit of the Institute without contributing to its maintenance. The county was justly proud of the high standing of the schools, and the Council should assist in keeping up that standard and not force the School Board, by reason of the cost of maintaining the school, to depreciate its efficiency by the discharge of teachers through compulsory economy. The putting on of a fee of $2.00 was not done in retaliation, but was a necessity forced on the Board. He hoped the Council would deal generously with the High School.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, endorsed the sentiments and arguments already used in the presentation of the case, and he hoped that the Council would see their way clear to giving a grant that would be a substantial assistance and that would admit of the Collegiate Institute being kept at the high standard to which the local board made do inconsiderable exertion to keep it.

The deputation withdrew and the matter was, on motion, referred to the Finance Committee.

PRINTING.

Mr. Strickland, Chairman, presented the report of the Committee on Printing, which was on motion of Mr. Lang, seconded by Mr. Brown, adopted as follows:

The Committee on Printing beg leave to report that they recommend that the printing of the list of convictions be equally divided between the Norwood Register and the Peterborough Times, on the same terms as last year, and in the event of these lists exceeding in the number of convictions contained therein, the average of the years 1880 and 1881, they be paid for such excess at the same rate proportionately.

That the printing of the assessment schedules be given to the Peterborough Times at the same price as paid last year.

That all the other county printing be divided by the clerk between the EXAMINER and Review in the same way and at the same rates for the work as was paid last year.

R. C. STRICKLAND,
Chairman.

January 25th, 1883.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

Mr. Burnham, Chairman presented the report of the Committee on Appointments which on motion of Burnham, seconded by Mr. Strickland, was adopted, as follows:—

The committee on appointments to office beg leave to report recommending the following appointments for the current year:

That Dr. S. P. Ford be appointed Trustee of the Norwood High School.

That Messrs. Sanderson and Carnegie be appointed members of the board of audit of criminal and county accounts.

That John E. Belcher be appointed County Engineer.

That Robert Kincaid M.D., be appointed jail surgeon.

That James McWilliams be appointed caretaker of the Court House and grounds.

That W. B. Kelly be appointed caretaker of the Mud Lake bridge.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

January 25th, 1883.

AUDITORS.

Mr. Burnham introduced a by-law confirming the appointment of auditors, which was duly passed, making Messrs. J. J. Hall and F. T. Bell Auditors for 1883.

Council adjourned till ten o'clock on Friday.

FRIDAY.

At 4.30 p.m., the Council met, the Warden in the chair, and all the members present, the whole of the previous part of the day having been employed by work in committee.

After routine:

Mr. Collins moved, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, that the Clerk be authorized to procure the ice required for the Court House.—Carried.

COUNTY LOAN.

A by-law was introduced by Mr. Pearce and duly passed, empowering the Warden and Treasurer to borrow not more than $15,000, to meet the current expenses of the county till the taxes shall be returned.

Leave was granted on application of Mr. Strickland, to amend the printing report by changing the paragraph in reference to the printing of convictions by directing that the lists be divided between the Peterborough Times and the Norwood Register at the rate of $40 per quarter.

Council adjourned.

SATURDAY.

Council met at 10 a.m., the Warden in the chair, and all the members present.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Lang, Chairman, read the report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, as follows:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report:—

1. That no action be taken with reference to the proposed bridge between Ennismore and Harvey, at Gannon's Narrows.

2. That Mr. Stewart, Deputy Reeve of Otonabee, have the approaches to the Wallace Point bridge repaired, and that such work be done in conjunction with the Reeve of South Monaghan if possible, as each county is, according to the Act, liable for one half of the cost of the same.

3. That no action be taken with reference to the proposed bridge across the Otonabee River at Rosa's, unless the municipality of South Monaghan become annexed to the county of Peterborough.

4. That Mr. Griffin be notified by the Clerk to refund to the county treasurer, all moneys of the county in his hands, and to deliver to the county engineer all county plant in his possession.

5. That Mr. Brown, Reeve of Belmont, be appointed Commissioner for the Deer River bridge, in place of Mr. Burgess.

6. That the sum of $50 be granted to the municipalities of Burleigh, Harvey, Belmont and Galway, for expenditure on the roads in these municipalities, and that the Reeves thereof be the commissioners for the expendituture of the same.

7. With regard to the application of the Reeve of Galway for a special grant on the Bobcaygeon road, your Committee recommend that it be not entertained.

8. That the name of Mr. Collins be added to the committee on the Nassau and Locks bridges.

JOHN LANG,
Chairman.

January 28th, 1882.

On motion to adopt the report Mr. Mansfield moved seconded by Mr. Crough, that the report be not adopted but amended by inserting a clause to grant $100 to the Bobcaygeon road on condition that the county of Victoria give a like sum.

Mr. Mansfield stated that this road was in a bad condition, and that lumbermen who for the most part lived in the front of the country got more benefit from the road than the settler, by whose money chiefly it was kept in repair.

Messrs Oliver and Burnham also favored the grant.

Messrs. Pearce, Collins, Strickland and others opposed the grant and the motion was lost on a division and the report confirmed.

The following is the REPORT OF THE COUNTY ENGINEER.

To the Chairman of the Committee on Roads and Bridges:

SIR,—I beg leave to lay before you my report on the works executed to the bridges of your country since the June session of 1882.

BURLEIGH BRIDGES.

In accordance with a resolution passed at the last sitting of the council, in company with the Warden I made examination of the Burleigh Bridges with a view to repairs and re-flooring and found on a close survey by boring, etc., that they were in a worse condition than I anticipated, from my examinations made during the previous winter when all was frozen tight. The chords of the bridge over the Big Chute are in a bad condition and after a troublesome repair with new timber and iron strapping and bolting, I succeeded in rendering the structure somewhat secure and still more so by strutting the chords from the locks below at either side. These struts are but of a temporary character until such times as the contract for the locks of the Trent Valley Canal at this point has been completed, when it will be necessary for the Government to put in a draw bridge. Making the discovery in time, I stayed further repairs at this bridge.

THE BIG BURLEIGH BRIDGE

was in a serious state of decay, in some of its most vital parts—those of the trusses and chords—to repair which necessitated supporting the bridge on bents until the new trussing timbers and iron strain rods were got in position and completed. The entire bridge proper was then refloored with the flooring removed from the late Lakefield Bridge, which was well spiked down and the flooring of the approaches at each end was made good with the best of the old flooring of the bridge. This bridge is now in as fair condition as the circumstance of its being erected twelve years since will admit, my experience teaching that truss bridges after a lapse of 12 years are seldom worth repair.

KINMOUNT BRIDGE.

The suit brought by the county of Victoria against your county for the recovery of half the cost of this bridge has not yet been concluded.

MUD LAKE BRIDGE.

The aprons of this bridge have been repaired by the caretaker as also has the guard rail from time to time, much of this bridge is at present (Jan. 24th) buried under the snow and ice and I anticipate some trouble with it in the spring. I have provided chain for new anchor stones which will be drawn on the ice in the position indicated by me to the caretaker. The grand boom will also require considerable overhauling and repair in the spring.

NASSAU BRIDGE.

There were some temporary repairs done to the old condemned bridge floor, to enable teams to cross, whilst the new bridge was being constructed. Tenders were advertised for the erection of the stone abutments of the new bridge and that of Mr. Charles Wynn was accepted, but owing to the mills at that place not shut down until the 10th of November, the work was not commenced till that date. The contractor, however, in the meantime had procured the stone from the Moira quarries near Belleville, and had all the material on the ground ready to commence when the opportunity came, and though much hampered by the severity of the weather, has succeeded satisfactorily with the work and it is now nearly ready to receive the iron work, the contract for which has not yet been let, owing to my desire to take advantage of the iron market which has steadily been on the decline to the present.

THE LOCKS BRIDGE,

is in the same state as that of the Nassau Bridge. I deferred asking for tenders and for the reason named. I have made some small repairs, which, while the swing is not being worked, renders it safe for travel, but I must now take action in the new bridge so that it may ready when the navigation opens in May.

BUCKHORN BRIDGE.

In consequence of some repairs being made by the Dominion Government to piers of the dam on which this bridge is erected, it became necessary for the county to move some of the bridge bents which were placed in an old and disused slide in the dam and to substitute therefor corbels, placed on the new government piers. Having received instructions from the Warden, I had these changes made by Mr. Charles Wynn after he had completed Burleigh Bridge. It is now in a satisfactory condition, and one of the best wooden bridges in the county.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
JOHN E. BELCHER, C. E.,
County Engineer.

REPORTS ADOPTED.

By-laws were duly passed confirming various reports of committees and certain appointments by motion.

CONFIRMATORY.

By-laws were duly passed confirming various reports.

MEMORIALS.

The report of the Committee on memorials presented was adopted, recommending memorials to the Ontario Government with reference to the qualifications of teachers, the distribution of statutes to municipalities and railway crossings, and to the Dominion Government in favor of establishing a railway commission.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

On motion of Mr. Strickland, seconded by Mr. Pearce, the committee on the House of Refuge was continued.

COMPLIMENTARY.

Mr. Burnham moved seconded by Mr. Strickland, that the Council express its high appreciation of the very able manner in which Mr. Collins had performed the duties of Warden during the past year.

After complimentary remarks heartily endorsing the resolution, by Messrs. Burnham, Pearce and Strickland, the motion was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Collins returned thanks for the very gratifying resolution just passed. He had done as well as he could do. He did not begrudge Mr. Moloney his position, but hoped at the end of the term he would receive as complimentary a testimonial as he (Mr. C.) had the honor of receiving.

Council adjourned.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 1, 1883.

The Campaign.

The Reform Committee Rooms, George street, will be open every day and evening, and the general committee will meet on Friday night of this week, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday night of next week. Work is going on bravely and we are pleased to say that Mr. Campbell's candidature is meeting with the greatest favor from all friends of good and honest government, and his personal canvass is rewarded with the most gratifying success. Let every supporter of the Mowat administration imitate his example, and enter heartily into the work, for it is by work alone that elections are won.

West Riding Election.

As our readers are already aware, Mr James Campbell is the Liberal candidate for the West Riding of Peterborough. As a candidate he has everything to recommend him, and there is nothing that can be urged against him. His personal record, therefore being unimpeachable, his opinions and platform are to be considered. As he modestly said at the time of his acceptance of the candidature, he had no political ambition to serve; it was simply a question of the Mowat Government in or the Mowat Government out, and that had decided him to take the post of candidate in favor of the present regime. The candidate being eminently satisfactory, the electors have only to fight the battle of principle with their ballots in hand.

The exercise of the franchise is a sacred trust and duty confefred on each elector by the liberties and constitution of his country, which should be conscientiously and honorably performed, and we do hope that in this election party lines will be cast aside party proclivities and blind party obedience will be hurled to the winds, and that shoulder to shoulder united and unanimous every elector, be he Reformer or Conservative, both in this riding and throughout the whole province, will cast his ballot in favour of our present constitutional, capable and economical administration.

Never since confederation were there so many vital questions of urgent importance before the public, and perhaps never again at one time will issues so momentous and so material be brought before the people.

A blow is being struck by Sir John and his disloyal Opposition at the foundation of our constitutional structure. Shall confederation fall? Shall our fair Dominion, whose powers are now being tested, be dismembered? Shall confederation the result of long years of painful struggle, consummated by actual rebellion be rent asunder, and shall those rights which at that time were given to this province be freely enjoyed? These are the first questions the electors will have to solve. These are the first issues which thrust themselves upon the mind of every thoughtful citizen.

An attempt has been made and is now being made to despoil the province of 100,000 square miles of territory, which is rightfully and truly our heritage which belonged to us aforetime, and has since been awarded to us by solemn arbitration. Unless our rights are confirmed unless the Mowat administration is loyally upheld—direct taxation will be inevitable. If the Mowat Administration did not insist upon our rights—if they acquiesced in the wantonly hostile attitude of Sir John A. and his benchman, Mr. Meredith towards our province, they would be traitors to the province and betrayers of the confidence and trust lodged in them. On the contrary the Mowat Administration stand firm as a rock in demanding our rights, and fling back the cowardly compromises which Sir John A. disloyally proposes.

This is a most necessary issue to be decisively settled, and one which concerns both the pockets and honor of the province.

A third question must be answered, and answered by the premeditated vote of each elector. Shall the system of licenses be thrown back into the hands of the municipalities? Shall twenty years of temperance legislation be abruptly set aside? Shall Ontario return to that system which worked miserably, resulted miserably and carried misery and degradation in its train? Shall a license be a freehold possession passing from father to son like land, as Sir John A. wishes, no one responsible, and nothing to curb and check its owner?

The Mowat Administration have carried on honestly, economically and yet liberally the affairs of our province, and have now a surplus of nearly five millions of dollars. Never before were our finances on so settled and solid a basis. Never before were our public institutions better organized. Never before was any province so well and faithfuly served. Never before have Reformers had so grand and exalted a cause for which to fight.

It becomes then every man be he Reformer or Conservative—to work warmly and devotedly for the present administration and cast his vote in a manner which will reflect at once honor on himself, honor on his Riding, and honor on his province.

Dodging Fire.

The issues before the people at the coming election are plain and simple. The people have to decide whether we shall receive our rightful territory under a legally pronounced award, or submit to be robbed of it, and of the consequent increase of population and necessarily of representation by population, the keystone of confederation. Whether we shall have the right to make our own laws, or be subject therein to the dictation of Ottawa politicians. The Opposition of course belittle these questions and try to befog the real issues by bringing in little peddling side issues. But they will not succeed. The session of the Ontario Legislature is practically over, yet the Opposition have failed to fasten on the Government one charge of maladministraion, extravagant expenditure or corrupt conduct. They have unsuccessfully tried to talk away the stubborn fact of a surplus of nearly five million dollars, and they cannot point to an unnecessary public institution, or to a dollar unnecessarily expended on public works. The surplus is now five millions, and it might have been fifteen or twenty millions if the Government had not had the interests of the people at heart. Within the last ten years the Government has received nearly 33 million of dollars, and has expended 25 millions directly among the people in the lighteping of direct local taxation, and in the building of railways which by opening up country to settlement, indirectly lighten taxation. This is the record of and it indicates the policy of a Government which Mr. Jas. Campbell supports. The elector in voting for Mr. Campbell votes for the recovery of 65 million acres of land; votes for Home Rule for Ontario; votes for the government of the people. The elector who votes for Mr. John Carnegie votes for the loss of our territory; votes for Ottawa Centralization; votes for having our laws made, not to suit our own wants but to suit the schemes of Ottawa politicians; votes for an Opposition, without a head or what is worse, a head controlled from Ottawa without a platform; without a policy. On the one side is Mr. Campbell, the champion of Home Rule, Territorial Rights and a systematic and thoroughly organized administration. On the other is Mr. Carnegie, the champion of Ottawa centralization, the enemy of our Territorial Rights, and as a follower of Mr. Meredith, the tool of Ottawa politicians. On one side is Ontario first, Ontario last, and Ontario always. On the other is party first and the country—what of it is not divided in the way of spoil with Quebec last. This election is Ontario's, and only Ontario matters and interests are involved in the contest. The Opposition may strive to dodge the fire but they shall not escape the questions of Ontario's Rights, Ontario's soil for Ontario's sons, and the continuance of a legislatively independent local Government.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon last, Mr. C. Glynn of this village, met with a serious accident. While chopping ties in Mr. Gardner's woods, he struck his right foot with his axe across the in-step inflicting a serious and very ugly wound. He suffered too, very much from the loss of blood before medical attendance was procured. Dr's Massie and Petrigrew were as quickly as possible brought in attendance upon Mr. Glynn, and skilfully operated upon the injured foot, which, owing to the severity of the wound, will be a long time in healing.

WEST RIDING

OF THE

County of Peterboro'

GENTLEMEN,—

At the solicitation of many personal and political friends in the Constituency, I offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the coming election for the House of Assemble of Ontario.

The Government of the Hon. Oliver Mowat has my sympathy and support, believing that they have acted fairly by all classes in the community, and that there administration has been characterized by good faith, good judgment and liberality.

If elected, it will be my endeavor to consider fairly and without partizanship all matters brought before the Assembly, and support those measures that in my opinion would be for the welfare of the whole community.

The efforts of the present Government to promote the interests of the agriculturist, and to assist our pioneer settlers, have my full approval.

I would be in favor of promoting and assisting further technical education for our young artisans.

As a citizen of Ontario, I am very desirous of preserving our Provincial rights, and will support every effort of the administration to obtain possession of the valuable territory awarded to us by the eminent and properly appointed arbitrators, and which is now being wrongfully withheld.

Soliciting the favor of your votes and influence,

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JAMES CAMPBELL.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Parliament — Fourth Session.

Monday, January 22nd.

Only twenty-six members were in their places when the House opened this afternoon, many of those who left for their homes at the end of the week having been delayed in returning owing to the weather. Consequently the business disposed of was mainly of a routine character. Several Bills were read a third time and a number of other advanced a stage.

The House received the report of the Committee of Supply, the items being concurred in, with the exception of some which were allowed to stand over. The House went into Committee on the Bill to consolidate the laws respecting municipal institutions, a very voluminous document, comprising 649 clauses and occupying 215 pages. The Attorney-General explained that the Bill was merely, as its title purported, a consolidation, no new provisions being introduced.

The Bill was reported. Mr. Drury moved for a the return showing the number of reeves and deputy-reeves composing the various County Councils in the years 1872, '77, and 81 with the amount of indemnity paid. He made some very practical and sensible remarks, pointing out the necessity of taking some steps to check the rapid growth in size of the County Councils. This was caused by the incorporation of villages which claimed representation in the County Councils. The motion was carried.

Mr. Meredith moved for a return of applications made for a subsidy in aid of a railway from Muskoka to Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Pardee assured the House that the Government was fully alive to the necessity of constructing the line, and stated that scheme was making rapid headway for the construction of the road by the Grand trunk Railway. If any such correspondence as that referred to by the resolution existed there was no objection to producing it.

The House then adjourned.

Tuesday.

When the Attorney General's Bill amending the act for the solemnization of marriages came up for a third reading. Mr. Merrick moved an amendment reducing the amount payable for marriage licenses from two dollars to one. He stated that $20,000 was paid annually for marriage licenses, of which only $2,400 went to increase the revenue the rest going to the issuers for simply filling up the blanks.

Mr. Mowat stated that the duties of the issuers of marriage licenses were by no means so perfunctory as seemed to be supposed as it was their duty to inquire as to the eligibility to enter upon a contract of marriage, and to prevent the marriages of those who by reason of youth, consanguinity or previous marriage were ineligible. He urged that during the last ten years there had been no complaints that $2 was an excessive fee.

The Opposition insisted on the yeas and nays being taken, and the amendment was defeated by a vote of 44 to 19, several Conservatives voting with the Government.

The Public Parks Bill came up in Committee and the Bill was reported.

Some amendments were made by Mr. Wood to the Public Creameries Bill and the committee reported the Bill.

Mr. Fraser's bill for amending the Election Act was read a second time.

Mr. Bell's Bill to amend the Public and separate Schools Act by introducing the ballot in connection with the election of school trustees came up for a second reading. Mr. Fraser moved the six months' hoist, which was carried by a vote of 43 to 17.

The Bill introduced by Mr. French respecting the sale fermented and spirituous liquors, intending to prevent License Commissioners and inspectors from obtaining any damage from their positions was read a second time. Mr. Fraser pointed out that the mover had adduced no specific instances in which the officials had abused their position to serve private objects.

Wednesday.

A large number of petitions, including one bearing upwards of 700 signatures, in favour of the admission of women to University College were presented.

Several measures were read a third time and passed, and a number of bills received second reading.

The second reading of the Bill for protecting the public interest in rivers and streams was moved by Mr. Pardee, who urged that it was the duty of the House to repass the Bill so long as the subject-matter was within their jurisdiction. He confined his remarks almost altogether to the merits of the Bill, contending that for thirty years the streams had been used as public property. The right of public in the streams was secured by an Act passed in the session of 12 Victoria, and the evidence of the man who drew the Bill was to the effect that it was the intention of the Legislature that the Act should include all streams. The recent decision of the Supreme Court had no reference to the present Bill. He pointed out that notwithstanding the extensive interests affected there had been no manifestations of public feeling against the Bill. The measure secured ample compensation to the owners affected. The rejection of the Bill involved the virtual confiscation of the property in timber limits affected. The extent of the interests involved might be understood when it was considered that there were no fewer than 434 streams used for floating timber, on 233 of which there were improvements. He expressed his confidence that the people would endorse the course of the Government.

Mr. Meredith said that the right of expropriation was only to be exercised in case of urgent public necessity. He contended that the Bill was an infringment on the rights of private property. As to the difficulties in which the owners of timber limits above improvements found themselves, that was a matter which would regulate itself. It would be the interest of the owners of improvements to allow others to use them on payment of compensation. The Dominion Act of 1872 in reference to the water courses of the North-West was not analogous to this Bill, which was "the most infamous bill ever placed on the statute book of Canada or any other country." He urged that the judgment of the Supreme Court had a bearing on the question, as the bill purported to state what actually was the law, whereas the judges had decided to the contrary effect.

Mr. Morris claimed that the question had been decided at the Dominion elections last June. He entered into a long legal argument to show that no right of way existed, except in floatable streams, and went over the ground assumed by the Opposition on the question of disallowance.

Mr. Young said that the action of the Dominion Ministry was an interference with the right of local self-government, and that if the contention of the Opposition as to the veto power prevailed it would end in the breaking up of Confederation.

Mr. Creighton said that the Government had failed to adduce sufficient reasons for the passage of the measure.

Mr. Deroche made a strong plea for the interests of the settlers, instancing the case of one of his own constituents who found himself unable to dispose of his timber because McLaren would not allow the use of his improvements to float it down.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Lees, Caldwell, Broder, Sinclair, White, and Badgerow, the second reading of the Bill being carried on division.

Mr. Wood moved that the House go into Committee of Supply.

Mr. Meredith, in a lengthy speech dealing with the license question, moved an amendment, declaring that the Boards of License Commissioners instead of being appointed as now by the Government, should be chosen in counties by the County Councils, and in towns separated from counties by Town Councils. He contended that the people had never asked that the licensing power should be taken from the municipalities, and charged the Government with being actuated by the desire to make political capital in making the change and carrying out the maxim that "to the victors belong the spoils." He denied that it was contemplated by the Opposition to remove the restrictions on the sale of liquor. He charged the License Commissioners and Inspectors appointed by the Government with partisanship, the evidence of which was as clear as the sun at noonday. The Government claimed a falling off in intemperance as a consequence of the Act, but it was due rather to the increased temperance sentiment of the Province. The license fees, instead of going to swell the surplus, should be handed over to the municipalities.

Mr. Fraser, in reply, said that though Mr. Meredith now professed to be anxious not to remove the restrictions on the sale of liquor he could not be depended upon to adhere to this policy if Sir John asked him to change his tactics. He repudiated the charge that the law was administered in a partisan or arbitary spirit. In reference to the statement that the law was not asked for or approved by the public, he quoted memorials from the Licensed Victuallers before the passage of the law and other representative expressions of opinion on the subject. The Methodist body had put on record their view that the Crooks Act was the best instrument for the suppression of intemperance that the Province ever had. In his speech at St. Thomas the leader of the Opposition took distinct ground in favour of restoring the licensing power to the municipalities. He said nothing then about County Councils. In his Yorkville speech Sir John distinctly stated that he intended to give back to the municipalities the authority to issue licenses. In 1879 Mr. Meredith introduced an amendment to the Municipal Act preventing any member of a municipal council from being a license commissioner or inspector. Several other illustrations were given to show the inconsistency and want of harmony of the Opposition on the question. The proposal to give the municipalities all the license fees was a bait for the municipalities was an altogether new proposition. The law by which a portion of the license money went to the Government was passed by a Conservative Administration.

Mr. Meredith entered into an explanation of his action in the matter of the Boundary Award resolutions.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 26 yeas to 49 nays, and the House went into Committee of Supply, adjourning a minute afterwards.

Thursday.

Among the measures which passed through Committee to-day were the Streams Bill, which was reported without amendment; and the Bill to authorize the construction of Street Railways.

Mr. Hardy's Bill to consolidate and amend the Acts as to juries and jurors was read a second time, the Provincial Secretary explaining the principal amendments made to the law, which were in the direction of simplifying the present complicated system of calculating the qualification of jurors.

On Mr. Wood's motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Lauder moved an amendment declaring that the centralizing policy of the Government by usurpation for partizan purposes, before possessed by the municipalities and the judiciary, has struck a serious blow at the principles of self-government. He accused the Government of having removed the issuers of marriage licenses in order to appoint their own friends. They had also centralized the educational system by making it a Government department.

Mr. Harcourt taunted the Opposition with inconsistency in objecting to the Government appointing their own friends to vacant offices when they supported Sir John's practice in that respect. As the Government were responsible for the administration of justice, it was only fair that they should have the power of appointing men upon whom they could rely as officials.

Mr. Meredith defended the County Court judges from the charge of making improper appointments of clerks and bailiffs.

Mr. Hardy contended that the judges were liable to criticism if they did wrong. He gave details showing that the statement regarding the dismissal of issuers of marriage licenses was incorrect. The Opposition took no exception to the extent of the patronage of the Dominion Government, which had five thousand appointments in connection with the Customs, Postoffice, and Weights and Measures Departments in Ontario, being many times larger than the numbers of Provincial appointments.

After Messrs. Metcalfe, Madill and others had spoken, a division was taken on the amendment, which was rejected by 25 yeas to 48 nays.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, and passed one or two items before adjournment.

Friday

Among the petitions presented yesterday was one bearing about seven hundred signatures praying that the Insane Asylum be removed outside the city of Toronto.

Several Bills were read a third time and passed, including the Government measures for the establishment of public creameries and the encouragement of tree-planting.

Another want of confidence motion was introduced by Mr. Creighton in the form of an amendment to Mr. Wood's motion to go into Committee of Supply. The amendment was to the effect that the rapid increase of the expenditure, having doubled between 1871 and 1882, while the annual revenue—a large part of which is derived from receipts on capital account—has remained nearly stationary, and the rapid dissipation of the formerly available surplus, are matters demanding earnest attention if the Province is not within the near future to resort to direct taxation. In support of his motion Mr. Creighton quoted figures with the object of showing that the revenue was almost stationary, and charged the Ministry having dissipated the surplus left by the late Sandfield Macdonald to the extent of over two million dollars.

Mr. Ferris said the Opposition had confined themselves to vague general assertions as to the expenditure, but had not ventured to specify any particular item which could be reduced or dispensed with. In point of fact there were committed to these expenditures, as they had not opposed the granting of the estimates. The reality of the surplus was shown by the receipt of interest by the Government to the extent of upwards of $1,000,000 a year. He compared the financial position of Ontario with that of Quebec, where Tory rule had resulted in running Province heavily in debt. He compared the liberal expenditure of the present Government, in assuming the burdens which would otherwise have to be borne by the municipalities, with the cheeseparing policy pursued by their predecessors. If the Government had been desirous of building up a surplus they could have had a much larger one to show, but this was was not one of the functions of a Government. They preferred to spend the money in lessening local taxation.

The amendment was lost on division, by a vote of 25 yeas to 50 nays, and the House went into Committee and passed a few items.

Some other business having been transacted Mr. Boulter, on motion to go into Committee of Supply, moved an amendment to the effect that in the settlement of the free grant districts every effort should be made to further the interests of the settlers by a liberal expenditure, and by returning as far as practicable to the principles of the Free Grant Act of 1868. He urged that when the patent to land issued after the performence of settlement duties the remaining pine on the lot should become the property of the settler. The lumbermen ought not to be allowed to strip the farms of the settlers after the patent had issued. Otherwise the settler would often be left without enough timber to erect farm buildings, which he was seldom able to put up during the first few years of his occupancy.

Mr. Pardee stated that if the Government had erred in its dealings with the Free Grant Districts it was in the direction of liberal expenditure. The aim of the Department had been to give settler a common interest with the lumberman in the preservation of the timber. The settler was given one-third of the dues on all timber cut after the issue of his patent. The 500 majority given to Mr. Bettes at the bye-elections showed how the people of the Free Grant Districts appreciate the manner in which the Government had dealt with them. He contrasted the facilities offered to settlers in Ontario with the course of the Dominion Government in alienating the lands of the North-West to colonization companies and speculators, so that it was impossible for a settler to find land within seven hundred miles of Winnipeg not taken up.

Mr. Meredith that the regulation giving the settler one-third of the timber dues was forced on the Government by the pressure of the Opposition. He charged the Government with having used the money voted for colonization roads as a corruption fund, and defended with considerable warmth the North-West land policy of the Dominion Government.

Mr. Deroche pointed out the Opposition were trying to make it appear that they were the friends of the settler. When there was a real case of oppressive monopoly which required redress as in a matter of the Stream Bill, they were found voting solidly against the settlers' interest.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 25 yeas to 49 nays.

On a subsequent motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. White moved an amendment declaring that the franchise should be conferred upon the sons of mechanics and others. He urged that as farmers' sons had been entrusted with a vote the same privelege should be granted to a large class in the towns and cities who were now deprived of it.

Mr. Cascaden said that the country naturally looked to be the liberal party to initiat legislation in the direction of extending the suffrage and that it would not look in vain.

The amendment which was lost on a vote of 25 yeas and 47 nays.

East Riding Commissioners.

The Ontario Government has appointed Messrs. James Drummond, William Maher, Sr., and William Darling License Commissioners for the East Riding license district.

Church Concert.

The members of the choir of the Cathedral Church of St. Peter will give a concert in Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening next, February 2nd, under the patronage of His Lordship Bishop Jamot.

Entertainment.

St. Luke's Parochial Association intend giving a second entertainment in the school room, Ashburnham, on Monday, Feb. 5th, at 7.30 p.m. The programme is, we believe, a long and interesting one and as the admission fee is only ten cents there is sure to be a full house.

The Late Mrs. Richard Hall.

We, in common with our citizens, regret to learn of the death of the wife of Mr. Richard Hall, of Hall, Innes & Co., which took place about four o'clock on Monday. Mrs. Hall, who was a daughter of the late Samuel Dickson, Esq., has been hoplessly ill for some time. Her death is deeply regretted by a large circle of relatives, acquaintances and friends.

Sunday School Anniversary.

The anniversary services in connection with the George Street Sunday School were conducted on Sunday and Monday evening last. On Sunday the Rev. Mr. Shaw preached a sermon to the children and in the evening Rev. Mr. Manning preached to the parents. On Monday evening Rev Mr. Shaw occupied the chair, and Mr. D. W. Dumble delivered an address on "Training Children," Rev. Mr. Torrance on "How to Study the Bible," and Rev. Mr. Manning on "The Work of the Sunday School." The annual report, read by the secretary, Mr. A. H. Clegg, showed the flourishing condition of the school. The singing by the children gave great pleasure as well as evidence of judicious training.

Poultry Association.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Midland Poultry Association was held in the committee room of the council chamber Peterborough, on Thursday evening last, when the following officers were elected for the current year:

PRESIDENT—T. E. Bell.
VICE-PRESIDENT—G. B. Sproule.
SEC'Y-TREAS.—James McClelland.
DIRECTORS—John McClelland, H. W. Watson, I. Dormer, W. O'Brien and John Bird.

There was a fair attendance of members, and the treasurer's statement submitted showed a balance on hand of $35.

The Punishment of the Pummellers.

On Tuesday morning Wm. H. Meharry and John Wilson were arraigned for the last time before Police Magistrate Dumble on the charge of assault with intent on the person of Samuel Milligan of Ashburnham. After reviewing the evidence that had been offered, his worship sentenced Wilson to two years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, and Meharry to two years, lacking one day, in the Central Prison. This will not only be a lesson to these two men but to all bruisers and bullies who, spoiling for a fight, are apt to distribute their blows very carlessly, to say the least.

Rural New Yorker.

There are many excellent farm and garden journals besides the RURAL NEW-YORKER. But the RURAL is not the less an actual necessity to all for several reasons peculiar to that journal. It tests all new plants, farm and garden seeds in its Experiment Grounds, the first to have been established by any paper. It sells neither books, seeds, plants nor anything else, so that its advice is disinterested. Its reports are made without fear or favor. It has the best and longest list of contributors of any rural Journal published. Its Free Seed and Plant Distributions have introduced many of the best cereals, potatoes, vegetables and flowers known. It gives 500 illustrations from nature every year and it costs more than any other rural weekly published anywhere. Its mercantile standing is second to that of no other paper published. It is conducted by real farmers and horticulturists who gather their notes in the field and garden not in an office. In short all progressive farmers will be obliged to read the RURAL if they would not fall behind their neighbors who do. It has become the first journal of its class by enterprises, the results of which are now working a new era in our agriculture. Specimen copies will be mailed to any of our readers without charge. Address the RURAL NEW YORKER 34 Park Row, New York, mentioning this paper.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

THE PRINTER'S BEST "TAKE"

On Wednesday evening last the EXAMINER office had a pleasant little social sensation of its own, on the occasion of Mr. F. J. Jameson, general foreman of the EXAMINER printing establishment emerging from the darkness and dreariness of bachelorhood into the light and bliss of matrimonial life. On Wednesday afternoon the proprietor and staff of the paper inveigled Mr. Jameson into the sanctum, where Mr. Charles J. Ridley, news foreman, read the following address:

To Mr. F. J. Jameson, General Foreman EXAMINER Printing Establishment:

DEAR SIR,—We, the proprietor and staff of this establishment, having heard with pleasure of the arrival of a most important crisis in your life, involving your future happiness and social usefulness the occasion of your marriage, individually feel that we should not be true to the promptings of our better natures if we failed to take advantage of the opportunity to attempt an expression of our sentiments of friendship and real regard toward you.

Your eighteen years connection with the EXAMINER office associates you with all its traditions so intimately that you seem to be an integral part of it, and to your zeal in the promotion of its interests, to your industry, watchful oversight and intelligent appreciation of its requirements, we may, without flattery, attribute a large share of the signal success that has marked its progress to the front rank of provincial printing establishments.

While thus heartily recognizing your merely official services, we can all bear testimony to your uniform kindness towards those associated with you, in every capacity, in carrying on the business of the office, a kindness and considerateness that have begotten towards you similar kindly feelings, to whose expression we now find words so weak and inadequate.

In earnest of our assurances of regard we beg to present you with a bedroom suite as a tangible and enduring token of the friendly feelings which your sterling character has evoked in our hearts.

We also desire to offer you our most cordial congratulations on your approaching marriage and hope that the years of wedded life of both yourself and Mrs Jameson so soon to be, may be years of unalloyed happiness, that material prosperity may reward your industry, and that nothing but success may attend you and yours in the fullest sense, through the journey of life.

On behalf of the staff,
C. J. RIDLEY.

Peterborough Jan. 31st, 1883.

The present was a handsome bedroom suite, which had been sent to the residence, the prospective Benedict had in readiness for the beginning of domestic life.

The address was a complete surprise to Mr. Jameson, who was deeply affected by the proof of his popularity in the office. He returned his most heartfelt thanks for the handsome present, briefly reviewed his connection with the EXAMINER office and testified to the amicable relations that had always existed between employees and employer. He had always found the latter, fair and liberal in his dealings with those that were in his employ. He referred to the fact of the rapid advance of the business and the improvement of the paper under its present proprietor, and concluded by wishing it a continuation of success, and hoping that the good feelings that had always existed would be indefinitely continued.

We desire to offer Mr. Jameson our heartiest congratulations. As an employee of this establishment he has faithfully performed his duties and in every way identified himself with its interests. We give Mr. and Mrs. Jameson our most cordial wishes for success and many years of wedded bliss.

LITTLE TOWN TOPICS.

At the rate work is being pushed, the Missing Link will soon turn up.

Work, suspended by the cold snap, has been resumed on the repairs to the Charlotte street Methodist Church.

The machine shop of Mr. Wm. Hamilton has received an important addition to its already unsurpassed facilities, in the shape of a gigantic lathe.

In the suit of Stethem vs Ullyott in the Chancery Division, a motion was made for an injunction to restrain the defendant from trespassing on plaintiff's lot in a timber lot. The injunction was refused.

Vennor asserts that February and April will be full of water, and March and May full of snow and cold. Couldn't Mr. Vennor afford to "draw it mild"—for May at any rate?

D member the annual meeting of the Branch Bible Society fn St. Andrew's Church, to-night (Thursday), when Rev. Mr. Drummond, agent of the Society, will be present.

Make a note of the date of Mr. Ewing's grand evening concert, in the Opera House, on Tuesday evening, February 6th. Reserved seats at Hartley's music store and at Miss Semple's. Tickets 50 and 25 cents.

An immense amount of stone will be used in the construction of the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridge over the Otonabee here. Sleighs laden with gigantic blocks of stone, as big as a small barn, pass through the streets so often as not to occasion remark.

A number of gentlemen are applying for letters patent to incorporate them as the Midland Transportation Company (limited). The capital is to be $50,000. Among the "ex-officio" provisional directors is Mr. Geo. A. Cox, and Messrs. Poussette & Roger are solicitors for the applicants.

Messrs. Flavelle, Wallace and Bradburn three of the victorious curlers of Lindsay, stopped in town on Tuesday on their way home from the Montreal carnival, where the Lindsay curlers made a clean "scoop" of all competitors. We congratulate them on their success, and laud and honor them for thus upholding the honor of the Midland District.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending Jan. 20, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $4,955.69; freight, $9,266.30; total, $14,221.99, as compared with $12,701.24 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,520.75; and the aggregate traffic to date is $39,727.17, being an increase of $5,390.93 over 1882.

Springless Trusses and Supporters.

Prof. G. W. Hotchkin of Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y., will again visit as follows: Peterborough, Caisse House, March 3, 4 & 5; Lindsay, Benson House, March 6, 7 & 8. Prof. H. having had thirty years experience has become master of his profession and defies the hernia that he cannot hold it in its place. Prof. H. treats Inguinal, Umbilical as well as Varicocele, also children, all of which he has treated successfully. Go and see his for yourselves. 4

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 31, 1883.

Grain is moving freely. Prices have declined some, but are now fairly steady at following quotations:—Spring Wheat selling from 93c to 96c, receipts good; Fall is bringing 92c to 94c; Goose Wheat 85c to 86c, a good deal offering. Barley is selling from 45c to 60c, extra heavy and bright something higher. Oats are not offering; freely selling at 42c to 43c. Peas, receipts small, worth from 70c to 71c. On the market there has not been much doing. Fresh butter is very light supply, demand good, 23c to 25c; keg butter not offering, would bring 18c to 20c. Eggs are very scarce, selling from 22c to 25c according to quality. Dressed Hogs still offering and selling from $7.50 to $8. Poultry scarce, and will bring full prices. Beef selling from $5.50 to $7, not so plentiful but enough to supply demand. Other things unchanged.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CAMPAIGN MEETINGS.

Young's Point and Madill's School House.

On Monday night the campaign was opened in the West Riding, by the holding of a slimly attended meeting at Young's Point in the interest of Mr. Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie began by a speech in which he touched upon the Boundary Award matter, using the usual stock arguments, apologizing for the attitude of Mr. Meredith and his master, Sir John Macdonald, on the subject; and falling back on Sir John's Privy Council dodge, which Mr. Mowat was blamed for not accepting, and falsely asserting that the question was pronounced upon and decided at the June elections. The award was not worth the paper it was written on unless it was ratified, and the Dominion Government was pledged to oppose its ratification. He tauntingly inquired how Mr. Mowat was to secure the ratification. He justified the disallowance of the Streams Bill, and in fine was prepared to support Mr. Meredith through thick and thin in his anti-provincial platform. He railed long and laboredly, but in vain, to show that the financial administration of the Mowat government was extravagant, and concluded by insulting the teachers of the counnty, who, he asserted, got their qualifications under false pretences at the cost of the people, since they only used the Normal school training as a stepping stone to some professional position.

Mr. Preston, of the Port Hope News was allowed an hour in reply. He proved himself a vigorous, fair-minded and effective speaker, and both by his style and argumentative utterances carried conviction to his hearers.

With regard to the boundary award, he must take issue with Mr. Carnegie. It was not necessary to express the various causes which gave origin to this momentous question. It was unsettled at confederation. The northern and westerly baundaries of the province were then undefined. The speaker briefly traced the history of the causes that led to the reference to arbitration. There had been no question raised as to the right of the Dominion Government to enter into negotiations on the matter, and Sir John tacitly approved of the course of the Mackenzie Administration, and did not oppose a vote of funds necessary to defray expenses. It was pointed out that the award was to be final, and not a mere report. He disproved the statement that the arbitrators had been engaged on the award only two or three days, and showed that they had spent two years in investigating the matter. The speaker explained that Mr. Mackenzie was not in a position to ratify the award, being defeated one month after the decision had been given. The map of Ontario, bearing the signature of Sir John himself, issued just after his acceptance of office, represented the disputed territory as belonging to this Province. But Sir John had received new light and after a long delay he refused to ratify the award. Reference was made to Mr. Chief Justice Draper's visit to England to assert the claim of Upper Canada to this territory and his advice to refer to the Privy Council, but a Government memorandum states that that would involve costly vexatious and prolonged litigation, yet that was the course advised now by Sir John who had not even taken the first step to secure the assent of Manitoba, which, by Sir John's own Act, had been drawn into the dispute.

If the Privy Council, after long years of litigation, should make an award we had no guarantee that Sir John would not repudiate it as he had done that of the arbitrators.

The speaker contrasted the finances of Quebec and Ontario, one almost bankrupt and the other with a surplus of five millions. He showed the inconsistency of Mr. Carnegie's complaining of Mowat's extravagence. He (Mr C.) had in '70 and '71 voted against every motion for reduction of expenditure. The man that voted against a motion reducing an unnecessary item from $1,000 to $50 now accuses the Mowat Government of frittering away the public money, but he did not object to frittering away 100,000 square miles of territory worth millions of dollars.

The speaker took the ground completely away from Mr. Carnegie on the Rivers and Streams Bill, and showed that without such a law, the more remote timber limits would be vaueless, and concluded a pithy, pointed and argumentative speech by appealing to the electors to uphold the economy, patriotism, and good legislation of the Mowat Government.

MADILL'S SCHOOL HOUSE.

Another of Mr. Carnegie's meetings was held here on Suesday night, attended by about a dozen electors, who received Mr. C. in chilling silence, and listened to his rehash of the speech given the evening before, in a similar spirit.

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for Mr. Campbell, and said that he did not appeal to solid Grits or Tories, but to men who think for themselves and form their own opinions. Referring to Mr. Carnegie's financial splurge, he invited attention to the contrast between the financial position of Quebec and Ontario. The latter has a surplus of nearly five millions, while Quebec, by Tory rule, had been reduced to direct taxation. The former speaker dealt in a mass of unmeaning figures to distract attention from the real issues. Mr. E. scathingly denounced Mr. Meredith's inconsistent somersaulting on the Boundary Award matter. If the award gave us the disputed territory let us have it. The award would have been ratified if Sir John had not been coerced by the Quebec Blous who demanded an equivalent. There was no territory to give, hence they must get their equivalent from the public cheat. Mr. E. then went on to sketch the origin of the dispute and showed clearly that the territory now claimed was that which the Confederation Act gave us. This had been confirmed by the wording of the commissions of ten Governors of Canada, which defined their jurisdiction as extending to the utmost limit now claimed under the Award. He illustrated the evils of going to law—to the Privy Council—and showed that it would be expensive and tedious. He referred to the clap-trap idea that the Award did not give us enough. Mr. Mowat was willing to stand by the Award honorably, as any decent Government would. Sir John squirmed in every way; he rejected the Award, yet proposed to refer it to the decision of Lord Selburn—anything to delay, to keep Ontario out of her rights and please Quebec. He quoted legal decisions to show that different judges held that the territory belonged to Ontario.

Mr. Edwards approved of the veto power granted by the Confederation Act, but he showed clearly that disallowance of Legislation, placed by the Confederation Act under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Local Legislatures was ultra vires and an outrage on Provincial rights. He pertinently pointed out that Sir John did not disallow the Act, passed by Mr. Carnegie's criminal negligence, legalizing the Grand Junction bonus by-law, but was quick to disallow the Rivers and Strerms Bill in the interest of a political supporter. The reply to a deputation asking the disallowance of the Grand Junction Bill was that the legislation, however vexatious, was within the power of the Local Legislature and could not be disallowed. The Rivers and Streams Bill was one of general interest not a party measure. Contrary to Mr. Carnegie's contention the Act gave full compensation for the use of slides, dams, &c. Without the Act any person can throw a little dam across a stream and blackmail owners of timber limits further up the stream.

Mr. Edwards concluded a calm, logical, argumentative and gentlemanly speech, by asserting that the contest was not between Mr. Campbell and Mr. Carnegie, but between Mowat and Meredith, and appealing to the audience as honest men to cast their ballots accordingly.

THE BIBLE BROADCAST

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Branch Bible Society—Secretary and Treasurer's Reports—Address by the Rev. Mr. Drummond.

The annual meeting of the Peterboro' Branch Bible Society was held in St. Andrew's church on Thursday evening last. There was a small attendance. The choir of the church conducted the singing and Rev. Mr. Bell, pastor, the devotional exercises.

Dr. Fife, president, occupied the chair, and stated the object of the meeting and strongly presented its claims upon Christian people.

Mr. James Stratton, secretary, read the report of the committee, which recited the glorious work done by the Bible Society and referred to the local aspect of the work in the following paragraphs:

"In the year 1881 your committee were able to canvass the town pretty well through the volunteered services of members of the committee and others. This year, however, they regret having to report their inability to procure any one to solicit subscriptions in some of the wards. Mr. W. C. Nichols, an old and tried friend of the Bible Society, has canvassed the third ward and has been very successful, but your committee have not found any collectors for wards No. 1, 2 and 4. We readily acknowledge the demands on the time of business men, and we make these references to the work only with a view to enlisting the sympathies and activities of lady canvassers if gentlemen cannot be found who can spare the time to do the work. If four persons in each ward mentioned would volunteer two afternoons each to the work, they would find themselves amply repaid by the consciousness of having done the work of their Heavenly Master and in the increase to collections of the Society and of the amount they would be able to give to the parent and auxiliary society.

"With these observations, your committee leave the matter of collecting for further consideration, awaiting the action of some of the friends of the Bible who have time to spare and are willing to spend it in this good work.

"Your committee recommend the following gentlemen as officers of the Society for the ensuing year:

JOHN WALTON, ESQ. President.
J. STATTON, ESQ.—Secretary.
J. H. ROPER, ESQ. Treasurer.
P. CONNAL, ESQ. Depositary.

COMMITTEE—All ministers of the gospel in town, R. Kingan, Sheriff Hall, G. M. Roger, John Erskine, Dr. Fife, W. A. Morrow, John Lockhart, J. F. Jeffers, Wm. Yelland, Wm. Wand, H. Pethwick, S. Allan, S. Curtis, Wm. Aldridge, Alex. Gillespie, W. C. Nichols, Wm. Eastland, E. A. Sherwood, Dr. Burnham, John Carnegie, R. Tully and Dr. Bell"

On motion of Rev. Mr. Shaw, seconded by Rev. Mr. Torrance, the reports were adopted.

Rev. Mr. Drummond, of Newcastle, then delivered a fervent and earnest address, in which he outlined the origin of the British and Foreign Bible Society. He showed how rapid had been the spread of the Bible under the grand labours of the Society, the number of copies having been received in eighty years was five millions in fifty different languages, and its present circulation three hundred million copies in three hundred different languages and dialects. Through the labors of the Society every British soldier that embarked for the late war in Egypt was, on leaving the shores of England, presented with a copy of the Bible. The spread of the Bible through France and Italy were graphically indicated, and the fruits of the good work was cause of gratitude and encouragement to Christian workers. In India, China and Japan the Bible was working a mighty revolution, bringing light from darkness and raising the people from the degradation of heathenism and idolatry to the grand moral elevation of Christian civilization. The fruits of the spread of the Bible were wonderful and were an incentive to every Christian to redouble his zeal in the cause of spreading broadcast over the world the written Word of God. The address, which was logical, earnest and full of fact, information and encouragement, was listened to with deep interest and will doubtless be productive of much good.

At its close a cordial vote of thanks, moved by Rev. Mr. Torrance, seconded by Mr. W. A. Morrow, was tendered the rev. gentleman, after which the meeting was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Shaw.

NORWOOD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

FAREWELL SUPPER.

On Tuesday evening of last week a happy little assemblage met in the Norwood Masonic Hall, where the members of Norwood Masonic Lodge gave Mr. Archibald Fowler, a worthy member of that Lodge, a farewell oyster supper. A goodly number sat around the festive board, over which presided Mr. J. A. Butterfield. The delicious bivalves and other condiments provided were heartily enjoyed by all, and did ample credit to the caterers. The chairman proposed the toast of the evening "Our Departing Brother," Mr. Fowler, which was enthusiastically, though regretfully responded to. Mr. Fowler replied thanking the brethren for the hearty manner in which the toast in his honour had been given and responded to and expressed his sincere regret that the pleasant associations which had existed between him and the Norwood Lodge would for a time be broken; but wherever his lot would in the future be cast, he would look back with pride upon the many pleasant evenings he had spent with his brethren, and he would always think proudly and with veneration of his mother Lodge. Mr. Roxburgh, Mr. T. Fraser, Mr. Stephenson, Mr. Burke and other members present also made short speeches, speaking in high terms of Mr. Fowler both as a Mason and a citizen of our town. With song and speech, greatly assisted by the aforementioned delicious edibles, a remarkably pleasant evening was enjoyed, and closed with the usual masonic sentiment, "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again," and the singing of "God Save the Queen". Mr. Fowler left on Thursday morning last for Cobourg, from whence he leaves for Minneapolis, U. S.

A WRECK.

About ten o'clock on Saturday evening, our citizens were alarmed by the sound of a crash that startled them as if they were shaken by the shock of an earthquake. The noise proved to be caused by the tumbling down of the long row of sheds in Mr. Brennan's hotel yard, the weight of the accumulated snow and frozen rain of Saturday night proving too much for the frail structure. Five horses, standing at the time in the sheds, were entombed in the debris of lumber and snow, nearly all were slightly injured, and were with difficulty rescued from their perilous position. Mr. Mullins will at once commence the reconstruction of the sheds.

NEARLY A FIRE.

On Friday afternoon last the residence of Mr. Wm. Pegg, of Dummer, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire. The fire started in the second floor of the building, by a spark from the stove-pipes, and before being discovered, speedily spread into a bedroom above, and even had reached the ceiling. There was no water to be had, as all the wells in the vicinity had gone dry, and the fire was only controlled and finally quenched from the contents of a swill barrel and ye copious applications of snow, of which fortunately there was an unlimited quantity. Mr. Pegg's loss is fully covered by insurance.

FARMS SOLD.

Mr. R. H. Elliott, of Asphodel, has sold his farm to Mr. M. O'Keefe of the same township for $5,000 cash. Mr. E. leaves as soon as possible for Oregon, U. S., which he intends to make his future home. Mr. J. C. Brown, P. S. I., who has been residing here about a month, has purchased Mr. Henry Thistlewait's farm of Asphodel, paying therefor the sum of $3,100.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Mr. Chapman, of Campbellford, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here on Sunday morning and evening last, on the occasion of the quarterly services of that congregation being dispensed. The Rev. gentleman delivered two very impressive and highly appropriate sermons, the evening discourse being particularly so, and was listened to by his large congregation with marked attention. The Rev. Mr. Manning, of Peterborough, will occupy the same pulpit next Sunday morning and evening, on the occasion of the Missionary services being held in that church.

RESIGNED.

Mr. Thos. Rorke has sent in his resignation to the Asphodel Council as Reeve of that municipality; but that body has refused to accept it. This step has been taken by Mr. Rorke as he felt, on account of some high-handed proceedings on the part of that council, that he could not act in accord with these matters pertaining to the business of the township; and perhaps thinks that, as the western portion of the township can run the municipal institution without his assistance, he had better fall in with their wishes, and allow them to paddle their own canoe. It was rumored in Norwood that Messrs. Jas. Stevenson and John Walsh had also resigned, but on inquiry we find there is no truth in the statement.

White and Grey Cottons of superior make, go to Turnbull's.

CAMPBELLFORD.

DEDICATORY SERVICES IN THE NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT CAMPBELLFORD.

The new Presbyterian church at Campbellford was opened for Divine service on the 28th ult. The services were conducted in the morning and evening by the Rev. Principal Grant, of Queen's College, Kingston, and in the afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Torrance, of Peterboro'. The church is considered a very handsome edifice. The cost, when the spire is completed, will be about $8,000. At the soiree on Monday interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Neill, of Seymour, and the Rev. Messrs. Mitchell, of Belleville, Carmichael, of Norwood, and Chapman, of the C. M. Church. Valuable presentations were made to the pastor, the Rev. D. Sutherland, and his wife, which were gratefully acknowledged. Mr. Robert Cock made a brief statement of the present encouraging financial position and prospects of the congregation. He also acknowledged certain special gifts which had been made by three ladies of the congregation, viz., a handsome pulpit Bible and Psalm-book from Miss Jane Dinwoodie, two elegant chairs for the platform by Mrs. A. Wilson, and a beautiful church clock from Mrs. T. S. Porte. The thanks of the congregation were enthusiastically given to the donors.

County Poor Houses.

There seems to be a general movement towards supplying in the counties, Poor Houses or Houses of Refuge as substitutes for the slip-shod, unsatisfactory and wasteful way formerly adopted for dispensing municipal charity. Oxford county has been investigating the matter and like our own council leaves the matter over till the June session, when, as the report states, the council will probably vote in favor of the erection of an Industrial House. While the matter is before the people it may be of interest to adduce instances of the successful conduct of such institutions. One in the county of Elgin seems to be a model: "When the Elgin County Councillors visited the County Poor House, says the St. Thomas Evening Journal, everything was found in first-class order. There are sixty-two inmates at present, composed of two classes, mostly the very young and the aged. The majority are old, several being between sixty and one hundred years of age. There are a great many children inmates, of whom it might be said, as one bright little boy said of himself when asked where his parents were, "I never had any parents. I was found." This little fellow was picked up on the streets of Port Burwell when he was less than two years of age. Who he is and who left him alone to the mercies of a cold world are not known. He answered to the name of Fred, the only word he could prattle; and so they called him Fred Port Burwell, and sent him to the House of Industry. He will not be likely to stop there long, as a genial-looking county councilman took the lad up in his arms, and said he reckoned there was a cot in his house that would just suit that boy."

Methodist Union.

If the public mind were not at present so deeply engrossed with politics, the interest that is taken by the public in the question of Methodist Union would be sure to be very great. The question is affecting the numerically largest denomination in the Dominion; it possesses an intrinsic gravity, which will be intensified by the great results for good or evil that will certainly follow the consummation of a connexional union. In the matter of doctrine there is practically no difference and the divers church politics are so similar in effect that the only obstacle to the union being brought about exists in matters of detail, which a broad and liberal Chsistian charity may easily overlook when the advantages to be gained are so marked and important. The Methodist Episcopal General Conference has adopted the basis of union by a large majority and the quarterly boards of the C. M. Church have generally as far as they have had an opportunity of expressing an opinion, declared themselves in favor of a union on the basis proposed by the joint committee that met recently at Hamilton, and the Primitive Methodists are also falling into line. In fact the members of this body in Kingston are credited with a most commendable spirit. The members of the church voted against union by 24 to 20, yet a resolution was adopted to the effect that though they were personally opposed to union on any basis, yet, as there was a general desire in the country for the unification of Methodism, they would offer no official opposition to it. If Methodists generally would thus nobly and generously drop personal feelings and preferences for the sake of the general good, there is no doubt that Methodist union would speedily become, as it likely will do, an accomplished fact.

Meredith vs. The Methodists.

Mr. Meredith has this one questionable qualification for a political leader he doesn't mind running his head against public opinion. The Methodists of Ontario are the most numerous of our religious denominations, and that they stand amongst the first in religious sentiment and moral advancement goes without saying. The following is the opinion of the Methodists expressed through their general conference in regard to the Crooks Act, its working and the proposed changes:

Resolutions of the Methodist General Conference, 1882:

"Although we cannot accept as righteous absolutely any license law, yet, if we must tolerate some one as the tentative regulator of an evil till we can have it removed, WE MUST REGARD THE CROOKS ACT AS THE BEST INSTRUMENT FOR THE SUPPRESSION THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO EVER HAD. We would emphatically deprecate any legislation that would impair its efficacy, and we would respectfully recommend our people where this law obtains to use their voice and franchise to prevent the control of this license system reverting to the municipalities, where the industrious ward politician and the interested liquor dealer, so largely manipulate the election."

And in the face of this emphatic declaration, here is what the modest Mr. Meredith as leader of the Conservative party has put on record as the position of his party on the question:

Resolution moved in the Legislature by Mr. Meredith defining the Conservative position on the License Question:

"That this House, while recognizing the necessity of maintaining the other provisions of the existing liquor license laws, and strictly enforcing them, is of opinion that it is not in the public interest or calculated to promote the cause of temperance to continue the mode of appointing Boards of License Commissioners and License Inspectors now in force, and is further of opinion that these Boards should, in order to remove them as far as possible from the influence of political partisanship, be appointed in counties by the County Councils, and in cities and towns separated from counties by the Councils thereof; and that the power of appointing one or more License Inspectors in each license district should be vested in these Boards; and that the House regrets that legislation providing for this change in the law, and for handing over to the municipalities the whole of the license fees except a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of the License Branch of the Provincial Secretary's Department, has not been proposed for its consideration by the advisers of his Honour the Lieutenant-Governor."

Editorial Notes.

HON. MR. CROOKS has accepted the Reform nomination for South Oxford, and issued his address to the electors. His election is a foregone conclusion.

At the Conservative convention held at Millbrook on Friday, Dr. Brereton was elected as the standard bearer for East Durham. Superstitiously speaking, Friday is a "cold day" for nominating a candidate.

ONE of the provisions of the bill to amend the Act respecting Market Fees, is that warehouses for grain seeds, dressed hogs, etc., within one hundred yards from the market house shall be exempt from fees.

THE leader of the Dominion Government, it is rumoured, will direct the Tory campaign in Ontario from Ottawa, ignoring Mr. Meredith in the matter. An effort is being made to devise some means of distributing some of Sir Leonard's surplus by way of a bribe. Tories have also received grants of timber lands in the North-West in order to spur to greater activity.

THE Albany Times calls for the general establishment of the Kindergarten system. "It can scarcely be," it says "that a system of education which so excels in theory and practice should be long neglected by so practical and intelligent a people as ours. Thoroughness will at last be preferred before haste, in education as in other things, and the American of the future may owe his superiority over men of other lands to careful 'grounding,' as the English say, in the Kindergarten."

MR. J. J. TILLEY, Public School Inspector for Durham, has published in pamphlet form, his report on the schools of his district for 1882. During last year a new system was put in practice with apparently good results. One of the inspectorial visits to the school has been abandoned and a second promotion examination has been substituted for it, so that there are now two examinations and one visit. This change wrought so well last year that the County Council at a late meeting passed a resolution approving of it.

NO ONE will have the hardihood to say now that it is not worth while to make great concessions to retain British Columbia as a province of the confederation. We cannot afford to let go a country that has produced a Shakspere and a Homer. Among the members elected at the recent British Columbia elections are Mr. Shakspere and Mr. Homer. The great dramatist is in Toronto now en route to Ottawa and the Blind Bard is expected every day. It will require two such men to fill the place of the lamented Mr. Bunster, the defeated of ungrateful Nanaimo.

WHEN did the down-trodden or oppressed ever look to a Tory source for relief or sympathy? The people of Ireland are suffering and starving for lack of food, and the Mail, in pursuit of its policy of coarse abuse and insult towards the Irish people, remarks in its evening reprint:—

"If the thousands who in Ireland spent their time rushing round to hear the speeches of agitators had given as much energy and time to fishing and agriculture the cry of famine which resounds through the fated Isle would not be so intense. The agitators called off the people from their peaceful pursuits, and then blame the Government for the famine which they have been so largely instrumental in bringing on."

THE London Advertiser says:—The number of tavern and shop licenses under the old law in 1874 was 6,185. The number under the present law is 4,133, being according to population, 42 per cent less now than then. There can be no doubt as to which is most favorable to the peace and good order of the community, and we are satisfied that not only the temperance people, but hotel keepers who desire to conform to the law and to keep respectable houses, prefer the law as it is. Of all bids for popular support we think this the least defensible. The public may occasionally err, but the general tendency of public sentiment is in favor of sobriety, decency and good order, and we are well assured that Mr. Meredith and his friends will discover that they never made a greater mistake than to suppose that all those who are not in favor of total prohibition are in favor of a general rule of rum and riot.

MR. MEREDITH in his desperation, among other buncombe amendments caused to brought up, one in reference to the extension of the franchise to the son's of mechanic's in cities, similar to that now enjoyed by farmers' sons. The Government had already announced that they intended to deal with an extension of the franchise, but Mr. Meredith's party have for years fought so valiantly (?) for a more liberal franchise that the impatience of the Tories could not be repressed, and electoral privileges must be granted on the spot. The resolution was promptly and properly voted down. In such matters action should be preceded by due deliberation, and besides it is the farce of farces to see the Tory party moving for franchise extension; for they have always opposed reform of this kind tooth and nail, and have not yielded till forced to do so by political emergency. The people cannot be fooled by these transparent little political tricks. They know that the government of a party who have always led the van in the direction of more liberal popular representative privileges, may be safely trusted to take action when the proper time comes. Mr. Meredith would not have thought of it either just on the eve of an election, if he had not expected to be able to make a little political capital. And looking humanly at the position of him and his party, he cannot be greatly blamed. A party leader and a party without a platform, may be excused for grasping at anything that will give their disjecta membra of a party the slightest semblance of cohesion.

THE FACTS IN THE BOUNDARY AWARD MATTER.

The Globe very succinctly puts the facts of the case on the boundary question and a careful persual of the points at issue shows the inconsistency of those who opposed the ratification of the award, and how much they are prepared to throw away the injury of Ontario to please their party leader at Ottawa.

The disputed territory is that lying immediately east of a line drawn northward from the northwesterly angle of the Lake of the Woods and immediately south of a line running from James' Bay to the intersection of the first mentioned line and the English River.

This territory belongs to Ontario as heir to Upper Canada, part of the old Province of Canada.

If the territory ever belonged to Upper Canada or the Province of Canada, it belongs to Ontario now.

Several successive Governments of the Province of Canada claimed the territory as part of Upper Canada.

All the leading conservatives in the Parliament of the Province of Canada asserted the right of Upper Canada to this territory.

Sir John Macdonald Sir Alex Campbell and Sir George Cartier were among them.

The last-named statesman went so far as to say that no one who made an impartial investigation of the evidence could doubt that the territory belonged to Upper Canada.

A conservative Government of Old Canada sent Chief Justice Draper to England to assert the right of Upper Canada to this territory.

There never was, and there is not to this day, any real doubt in the mind of any Canadian statesman that the territory belonged to Upper Canada.

In 1874 when the Dominion Government consented to a reference of the question to arbitration the Conservative party acquiesced in the reference.

The whole Conservative party at Ottawa endorsed the reference as is evidenced by their voting for the payment of the expenses of the arbitration.

The Award when rendered in August, 1878, was an unanimous one.

It decided the true boundaries of the Province.

It would have been ratified in the next session of the Dominion Parliament had not Mr. Mackenzie been defeated and Sir John Macdonald succeeded to power before the next session came on.

During the session of the Dominion Parliament in the spring of 1879 Sir John Macdonald refused to take up the question of the Boundary Award on the pretence that he had no time to devote to the matter.

During the Ontario election campaign in 1879 he allowed his followers, Mr. Meredith and Hon. Alexander Morris, to go around the country saying that, it Mr. Mowat was defeated, the Award should be ratified.

After-events proved one of two things: Either John Macdonald deceived his two Ontario henchmen, or the latter deceived the people; for

In the fall of 1882 it transpired that the repudiation of the Award had been secretly resolved upon as long ago as September, 1878, and that the reason for this was that the leaders of the French Conservative made its non-ratification an indispensable condition of their allegiance to Sir John Macdonald.

This was proved by Mr. Mousseau, the present Premier of Quebec, who said in public that, previous to Sir John's assuming office, he (Mr. Mousseau) and Mr. Masson "laid down the conditions upon which we "could exist with the Government at "Ottawa"

One of these conditions was that the Ontario Boundary Award should not be ratified unless Quebec received an equivalent.

After misrepresenting for two or three years the true state of affairs Sir John at length threw off them ask and declared that Ontario should never get a stick or a stone of the territory.

And the Ontario Conservatives who for two years had declared they would stand by the Mowat Government in the attempts of the latter to get the Award ratified, promptly turned their coats and threw in their fortunes on the side of Sir John Macdonald against the interests of their own Province.

By the act of Sir John Macdonald, the Province of Manitoba was dawn into the dispute.

Sir John declares that he has made a proposition for a reference of the question to the Surpreme Court of Canada, the Imperial Privy Council, or to some English law lord; but

In truth he has never been in a position to make such a proposition, having neglected to secure the necessary consent Manitoba to such reference.

The Ontario Government was and is willing to submit the matter to the Privy Council, provided that in the meantime the administration of the territory be placed in the hands of Ontario.

This provision is absolutely necessary for the reason that, though the decision of the Privy Council would certainly be in favour of Ontario's claim, it might take ten or twenty years to reach that decision.

And because, when that decision was reached, the Dominion Parliament could repudiate it just as it has repudiated the Award of the arbitrators.

To this kind of a reference Sir John Macdonald will not consent, because to hand over the territory to Ontario would be to deprive himself of a bribery fund.

The Dominion Government intends to keep the question unsettled for as long a period as possible.

And in the meantime the territory is being despoiled of its most valuable timber by friends and favorites of Sir John Macdonald.

The value of the disputed territory is enormous.

It comprises nearly 100,000 square miles, or 64,000,000 acres, which is six and a half times the area of all the cleared land in Ontario.

It has a great wealth of pine and other timber. A person best qualified of all Canadians to judge has estimated that the standing pine in this territory is worth $150,000,000.

No pine is found to the northward of this territory.

No pine is found to the westward of it.

The pine standing in that territory is the largest block of this valuable timber that has not gone into private hands.

In view of the coming exhaustion of American pine land and of the fact that the Canadian prairies must draw their lumber supplies from this source, the pine, hemlock, spruce and other timber in this territory will be of enormous value.

The disputed country abounds with minerals; gold, silver, lead, iron, copper, etc., exist there in prodigious quantities, and coal has also been found.

Should the navigation of Hudson Bay and Straits be found practicable for several months in the year, as it is apposed to be, the importance to Ontario of the possession of a seaport of her own cannot be exaggerated.

The Dominion Government threatens to deprive Ontario not only of the far western and northern parts of this territory, but also of some hundreds of square miles of country immediately west of Lake Superior, over which Ontario and Upper Canada have exercised jurisdiction for two or three generations.

The Dominion Government has issued an official map showing that it intends to steal from Ontario the ports of Prince Arthur's Landing and the fort William; also the Rainy River country. In all of these places Ontario has spent money on colonization or harbour works and for other purposes.

Ontario is thus to be deprived of the possession of Lake Superior terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and of the great city which will be sure to grow up around that terminus,

The Province will also be deprived of a princely revenue from Crown Lands timber dues and sales of timber limits.

Without that territory, and with two or three years of Tory misgovernment and extravagance, the people of Ontario would soon find the income of the Province insufficient to cover the expense of the many works which the Local Government now performs.

OBSERVATIONS FROM THE ORCHARD.

We introduce ourselves to the public without begging leave or pardon. That is old, and the public wants something new. We have used the plural of the pronoun because it represents, in this correspondence an indefinite number: but all charges of indefiniteness may be brought against the leader of this staff. All particularities of the idiosyncracies of the several members are for various reasons declined; but an occasional flash of biographpy may gratify the curiosity of the public, if it has any, which is not very improbable, if the public may safely be condensed to an individual. First we wish to impress on the public cranium that we wish it to mind its own business as it always has done, of course—in addition to everybody's else. Furthermore that we are not writing for anything so lofty as fame, nor so eminent as public approval, though the latter is indeed neither coveted nor contemned, knowing that the national judgment is not unreliable concerning the ability of one who presents himself for popular estimation. I may remark that the matter of this correspondence may be singularly diversified, as it will generally appear a facsimile of the mind of the staff, which shall undoubtedly be found perturbed, like all nature, in certain periods. All irrationalities abstraction which may occur can be ascribed to the influence of the school of which Dr. Wild is now the head: republicanism to the Bobcaygeon Independent; violence in political ruffles to the local lights—the Review, etc. We do not choose to appear under a sunflower or any of the popular sensations just yet, but for the present may be associated with a coal stove or a comforable grate. Any alteraaions in our present policy which may appear in next week's issue will entirely depend upon the rise of the thermometer.

HASTINGS.

Last Saturday Hastings village was visited by another destructive fire. Peters' woollen mill took fire about five o'clock Saturday morning and was burnt down with all the machinery, stock, etc., involving a loss of about $8,000, covered by an insurance of $2,000. Fowlds' Bros. cotton factory, not in operation, was also destroyed. The latter firm owned the buildings, whose loss is about $13,000 with a loss of machinery about $2,000. Their loss is covered by about $5,000 insurance. This last is a sad blow to Hastings following so closely on the big fire of last May.

To the free and Independent Electors of the WEST RIDING OF THE County of Peterboro'

GENTLEMEN.

At the solicitation of many personal and political friends in the Constituency, I offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the coming election for the House of Assemble of Ontario.

The Government of the Hon. Oliver Mowat has my sympathy and support, believing that they have acted fairly by all classes in the community, and that there administration has been characterized by good faith, good judgment and liberality.

If elected, it will be my endeavor to consider fairly and without partizanship all matters brought before the Assembly, and support those measures that in my opinion would be for the welfare of the whole community.

The efforts of the present Government to promote the interests of the agriculturist, and to assist our pioneer settlers, have my full approval.

I would be in favor of promoting and assisting further technical education for our young artisans.

As a citizen of Ontario, I am very desirous of preserving our Provincial rights, and will support every effort of the administration to obtain possession of the valuable territory awarded to us by the eminent and properly appointed arbitrators, and which is now being wrongfully withheld.

Soliciting the favor of your votes and influence,

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JAMES CAMPBELL.

ONTARIO LECISLATURE.

Fourth Parliament--Fourth Session

Saturday.

In reply to a question from Mr. Meredith the Attorney-General stated that it was probable that prorogation would take place on Thursday next.

On a motion being made to go into Committee of Supply Mr. Nairn moved an amendment declaring that the liberal party stands pledge to extend the franchise, that any law now passed could not be put into force before the general election, and that an opportunity would then be afforded to consult the people with respect to the change.

Mr. Meredith charged the Government with trifling with the question.

Mr. Fraser said that the history of the Tory party showed that they were everywhere opposed to extending the franchise the only instance to the contrary being the passage of the last Reform Bill in England, where Disraeli, as he said, "caught the Whigs bathing and stole their clothes." Formerly Mr. Meredith was an advocate of manhood suffrage, but since he became leader of the Opposition he had been retrograding, as shown by the character of the resolution he now supported. The Reform party were quite abreast of public sentiment in the matter of extending the franchise and would carry out the views of the people in the matter

The amendment was carried by a vote of 44 yeas to 22 nays.

The House went into Committee of Supply.

A long digcussion took place on the item of $123,500 for colonization roads, Messrs Lauder and Meredith reiterating the old and repeatedly disproved accusations as to improper expenditure, the employment of several persons of the family on the same work, and the payment of money through the members of parliament. They urged that the payments for work done on the roads should be made through the municipalities.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands made a vigorous and effective reply pointed out that the investigation set on foot by the Opposition had only result in proving one or two trifling informalities. The proposition that the municipalities should be entrusted with the expenditure of the money was altogether untenable and the Government by adopting it would be shirking its responsibilities. Mr. Deroche also spoke in defense of the course of the Government, showing that the present system was in every way satisfactory and economical.

The item passed.

Several Bills passed through Committee of the whole and the House adjourned.

Monday.

The House was chiefly engaged in transacting routine business this afternoon. Before going into the Orders of the day, Mr. Meredith made a personal explanation respecting some remarks which he made on Saturday charging the Commissioner of Crown lands with a breach of faith. From the explanations which were made, he was quite satisfied that there was no breach of faith on the part of that hon. gentleman.

Amendments were made to the election Act in Committee, the principal one of which provided that the failure of the Returning officer to initial a ballot paper or his making marks upon it would not vitiate it.

The report of the Board of Health and the report of the Bureau of Industries were laid on the table by the hon. the Provincial Secretary.

On the motion to go into Supply Mr. Merrick moved an amendment which affirmed that it is highly inexpedint that the Government and the Legislature should assume an attitude of hostility towards the National Policy. Mr. Merrick made quite a long speech in favor of protection, using the usual arguments and statistics in support of his position.

Mr. McLaughlin replied. He said that it would take but a few strokes of the scalpel to take the cuticle off the resolution, and he believed that beneath it would be found nothing but sham and bunkum. He maintained that neither the Government nor the Legislature had taken one side or the other on the question of the National Policy. It was a Dominion question, and was not within the purview of the Provincial Legislature. That Legislature might just as properly discuss the doctrines of the perseverence of the saints as deliberate upon the question of protection. The Opposition having no question to go to the country with were under the necessity of making an issue of a matter with which the Legislative Assembly had nothing whatever to do. The amendment was put and lost by a division of 23 to 44, Mr. Parkhill pairing with Mr. Young.

Mr. Meredith moved an amendment condemning the establishment of a department of education, and recommending that the office of Chief Superintendent be restored. He maintained that the administration of education by a Minister of the Crown had been a failure, that several mistakes had been made, and that political partisanship had been introduced into the management of the Public School system.

Mr. Mowat replied in a moderate speech in which he contended that it was admitted on all sides that the administration of the educational system by a Minister of the Crown was theoretically the best, and that it had proved successful in practice. He denied that there was a feeling in the country unfavourable to the Department of education as now administered. He said that the management of education should be free from political partizanship, and he asserted that it was so managed by the present Minister of Education. The experiment of placing a Minister of the Crown at the head of the educational system had been a successful improvement on the old system.

Mr. Morris praised the old system highly as being practically the best.

Mr. Hardy made a vigorous and eloquent speech in favour of having at the head of the public schools a Minister responsible to the people. He denied that appointments were made by the Department on political considerations, and showed from the personnel of the Senate of the University of Toronto that such was not the case as far as that institution was concerned. After speeches from Mr. Metcalfe and Mr. Drury the amendment was put and lost by a division of 25 to 48.

On concurrence on the items for education, Mr. Kerr moved "That County Boards of Examiners be authorized to grant certificates of a lower grade than third class."

Mr. Hardy moved in amendment to the amendment "That the House, while concurring in the resolution, desire to express confidence that proper regulations necessary to remove all difficulties in reference to any scarcity of third-class teachers will be provided in that behalf."

Mr. Meredith suggested that Mr. Hardy have leave to withdraw his resolution.

The discussion that ensued was lively and interesting, all the speakers deprecating the interference of political feeling on educational matters. The matter in dispute was whether the change desired required legislation or should be left to be dealt with by the Department. The amendment to the amendment being put, it was carried on a division of 50 to 22.

After transacting some routine business, the House adjourned at midnight.

Tuesday.

A number of Bills were read a third time and passed. Mr. Wood moved some amendments to the Act respecting market fees. He proposed that warehouses for grain, seeds, dressed hogs, &c., within one hundred yards from the market house shall be exempt from fees. The amendments were adopted.

Mr. Meredith moved an amendment to the Administration of Justice Act to the effect that the duties of registrar of the Surrogate Court be performed by the clerk of the County court and that the excess of fees be paid to the municipal council.

Mr. Mowat contented that the law did not create a new office, but prevented a plurality of offices. The duties of the two positions were entirely different, and could only be properly formed by two different men. He contended that the amendment would effect no saving, for if the Registrar were not appointed a second clerk must be employed, and the surplus of fees would be but trifling if there would be any at all. A division was called for by the Opposition. The motion was put and lost by a division of 26 to 49.

When the Election Law was up for the third reading Mr. Meredith moved an amendment to extend the privilege of the franchise now exeerised by farmers' sons to the sons of the mechanics. Mr. Fraser took exception to the motion as being out of order, the House having already pronounced upon the subject matter of the amendment in a vote. After some discussion on the subject the Speaker ruled that the motion was out of order. Mr. Meredith appealed to the House against the decision of the Speaker, and a division being insisted upon by Mr. Meredith the Speaker's ruling was sustained by a vote of 49 to 26.

Mr. Meredith then moved another amendment the effect of which would be to extend the franchise to all persons who were in receipt of an income of four hundred dollars independently of all municipal regulation. Mr. Fraser took exception to this amendment also, it being out of order, as the House had already decided in the present session that "any considerable extension of the franchise is especially a subject upon which the people ought to be consulted." A short discussion ensued, after which the Speaker ruled that the amendment was out of order. This decision was also appealed from by the leader of the Opposition. The House sustained the Speaker's decison by a division of 47 to 25.

Mr. Meredith then moved a third amendment to reduce the qualification of voters to an income of $300 in towns and villages and to $200 in townships. Mr. Fraser pronounced this amendment to be out of order. He directed attention to the fact that the Opposition had permitted the session to pass without taking any steps towards extending the franchise, and now in its last hours they proposed amendments which would sweep away the voters' lists and the whole electoral machinery. He characterized the amendments as the purest kind of humbug. The Speaker decided that this amendment, like the others, was out of order.

When the motion to read the Bill for Protecting the Public Interest in Rivers, Streams, and Creeks a third time was made, Mr. Meredith proposed an amendment that the first provision of the Bill is highly dangerous and objectionable and should not pass. This dangerous provision sets forth:

"So far as the Legislature of Ontario has authority so to enact, all persons shall, subject to the provisions in this Act contained, have and the hereby declared always to have had during the spring, summer, and autumn freshets, the right to and may float and transmit saw-logs and all other timber of every kind, and all rafts and crafts, down all rivers, creeks, and streams in respect of which the Legislature of Ontario has authority to give this power: and in case it may be necessary to remove any obstruction from such river, creek, or stream, or construct any apron, dam, slide, gate-lock, boom, or other work therein or thereon, necessary to facilitate the floating and transmitting such saw-logs and other timber, rafts, or crafts down the same, then it shall be lawful for the person required, so to float and transmit such saw-logs and other timber, rafts, and crafts, and it is hereby declared always to have been lawful to remove such obstruction, and to construct such apron, dam, slide, gate-lock, boom, or other work necessary for the purpose aforesaid, doing no unnecessary damage to the said river, creek, or stream, or to the banks thereof."

The amendment was lost on division by a vote of 52 to 26.

Mr. Meredith then moved an amendment affirming that "the Bill will interfere with important private interets, without making adequate compensation for such interference, and is therefore opposed to sound principles of legislation." The amendment was declared lost on the same division as the one preceding it.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to amend the Act respecting joint stock companies for the construction and purchase of roads and other works.

When the motion for the second reading of the Bill to amend the Synod and Rectory Sales Act affecting the Diocese of Toronto was made, Mr. Cascaden said that although he assented to the second reading of the Bill he must not be considered as committing himself to the principle it contained, and gave notice that he would move an amendment in Committee to-morrow.

The House went into Supply on the supplementary estimates. The different items, passed without much dicussion.

In amendment to the motion for concurrence in the resolutions reported from Committee of Supply, Mr. Meredith moved that the expenditure of moneys voted for colonization roads be, where practicable entrusted to the municipalities. This amendment gave rise to a somewhat warm discussion. Mr. Awrey moved an amendment to the amendment to the effect that the moneys voted for colonization roads be expended as heretofore. This amendment was carried by a vote of 51 to 26.

Mr. Mowat pronounced a warm eulogy on the late Mr. Bonfield, who died on Monday. The House adjourned at midnight.

Wednesday.

The morning session was devoted to advancing to their final stages a number of Government and Private Bills. The Supply Bill, was introduced, read a second and a third time, and passed.

After recess the Act to amend the Municipalities Act was considered in Committee. A number of amendments were moved, and the whole of the afternoon was spent in perfecting the Bill. In the evening session it was read a third time and passed.

On the motion to go into Committee on the Bill to amend the Synod and Rectory Sales Acts affecting the Diocese of Toronto, Mr. Harcourt explained that one party held that all the lands to which the Bill had reference came within the provisions of the Rectory Lands Act, and that the Act determined the rights of the parties to the lands. Another party contended that, while the Rectory Lands Act defined the rights of the Synod to part of the lands, there was also a part with which the Rectory Lands Act had nothing to do. The matter was still in dispute. The case was now in the courts, and it was not fair that the Legislature should interfere to prejudice the rights of either of the litigants. Legislation, therefore, on the subject should be postponed until the matters in dispute were settled. He then moved an amendment in accordance with the views he had expressed. In the discussion which ensued all the speakers expressed themselves opposed to the Legislature's interfering in the question in dispute between the parties. Some, however, believed that the Bill might be passed without injuring in any way the rights real or supposed of either of the claimants. Mr. Mowat moved an amendment that this Act shall not apply to any lands in the city of Toronto. The division being taken the amendment was carried. Mr. Deroche then moved that the Committee rise without reporting, which was declared carried. This quashed the Bill.

Mr. Gibson moved for a return of correspondence between lady undergraduates of the University of Toronto and the authorities of the University College, on the subject of the admission of ladies to the lectures of the college. He directed attention to the hardship of requiring ladies to pass the university examinations while they were not permitted to attend the university lectures. Petitions signed by persons of intelligence and influence have been presented, requiring the admission of ladies to the lectures, and he hoped that the matter would at no distant time receive the attention it demanded.

Mr. Lyon presented the claims of Algoma to representation in the Legislature in some degree proportionate to its area, its population, and its growing importance, in a well considered and forcible speech.

On Mr. Meredith's motion relative to a supposed transfer of the Muskoka Pine Works to the Muskoka Slide, Dam and Boom Company, Mr. Fraser explained that there had been no transfer, but only a lease for one slide. Several other motions for returns were agreed to and some withdrawn.

When the House was in Committee on the Bill to consolidate the laws respecting municipal institutions Mr. Meredith moved an amendment to a section of the Act which was intended to give to Municipal Councils the regulation of the salaries of gaolers without interference from Provincial officials. Mr. Mowat replied, maintaining that as the Province contributed largely towards the maintenance of prisons it had a perfect right to have a voice in deciding what remuneration the gaolers shall have, but that the Inspector of Prisons had found it necessary to interfere in one case only. A division was taken on the amendment, which was lost by a vote of 21 to 41.

The House adjourned a little before midnight.

Thursday.

The fourth session of the fourth Legislature of Ontario was prorogued to-day by the delivery by the Lieut.-Governor of the subjoined speech. There was the usual military display. Following is the speech:

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

In relieving you from the discharge of your legislative functions, I desire to thank you for your assiduous attention to your duties and to express my appreciation of the useful and practical results of your labors. The numerous public and private bills to which I have assented affirm the zeal and diligence with which you have applied yourselves to the parliamentary work of the session. I congratulate you upon the successful consolidation of the acts relating to municipal institutions and to jurors and juries. In addition to placing these laws upon the statute book in a convenient form, the amendments which you have made will be of public advantage. The general acts which you have passed to facilitate the construction of street railways, gas works and other local improvements in cities and towns, and to provide public parks, are opportune, and will no doubt meet with the approval of the people. The measures for establishing public creameries and encouraging the planting of trees in the Province have my warmest approval, as also the purchase of new and improved varieties of seed grain. The agricultural interests of the province cannot fail to be encouraged and benefitted by these measures. My government will continue to guard the interests of the Province in relation to the Boundary Award. I thank you for the supplies granted for the year. They will be expended with every regard to economy and to the efficiency of the public service. In bringing to a close the last session of the fourth Parliament of this province, I cannot part with you without referring with satisfaction to the wisdom and prudence which have guided your deliberations, or without expressing my hope that the new Assembly will prove not less anxious than its predecessors have been to advance every interest of the people, nor less resolved to retain intact the integrity of our Province.

The presiding officer of a caucus is called the chair, because everybody likes to sit down on him.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 8, 1883.

The Call to Arms.

The writs for the general election for the Legislative Assembly of Ontario are issued. Nomination day has been fixed for Tuesday, Feb. 20th, and polling day for the 27th. These facts imply a brief, sharp, stern struggle. Not a day is to be lost. We call upon the Reformers in these two ridings to perfect every arrangement and call upon every individual Reformer to order his affairs so as to make everything else for the next fortnight subordinate to the grand work of electing supporters of the Mowat Administration. There are seventeen days to be devoted to hard and unremitting work for the cause of good government.

The Mowat Administration has enjoyed the confidence of the province for eleven years, and earned a record for good, honest and economical government. During that time not one member of the government has been touched by the breath of political or personal scandal. No single act of maladministration has been proved. As a result of their government an immense surplus of five millions of dollars remains, after every farthing of debt or liability is paid. This is a government worth fighting for: theirs is a record worth perpetuating.

The Mowat Administration has been twice triumphantly re-elected to power. They are now on trial a third time, and this third time the hardest fight is threatened. We have not only to contend against the foes of good government at home, but we are threatened with invasion from abroad. Our rights have been invaded, our territory is threatened, our right to legislate our own local matters has been attacked, but a more bitter struggle is now at hand. The Opposition, raging for office and place, have called the enemies of Ontario to their aid; Sir John Macdonald, not content with disallowing our legislation, not content with the attempt to rob us of our territory, has issued orders to his followers to make a determined attempt to capture the provincial government at the coming elections.

Every elector knows what this means and implies. It means the employment of every expedient, fair or foul, to compass the overthrow of the Mowat Administration; it implies every form of corruption, every corrupt influence, from intimidation to open bribery. In the face of these gigantic dangers, threatening the purity of our franchise, there is no ground for over-confidence. Only untiring work, only sleepless vigilance, only the polling of every honest vote can avert the threatened calamity. Responsible Government is threatened with its death blow. The integrity of the Confederation is menaced. Home rule for Ontario is sought to be made the sport and tool of politicians. Everything is to be centralized at Ottawa. The Ontario and Dominion Governments are to be brought in harmony so that the work of spoiling Ontario may go on without let or hindrance. The Dominion Ministers want to make local legislation a farce. If they succeed they will say, "we rule Ontario, we have a subservient majority in the local house, elected by our efforts, and they must carry out our policy, they must legislate to our dictation."

Electors! these are the dangers that threaten this province. Ontario is, with a pure government, the natural enemy of the corrupt Dominion Administration. Hence Ontario must be humbled; her territory must be curtailed, and her influence must be lessened. The next three weeks will decide whether Ontario is to be governed by rulers at Toronto selected by the people, or be ruled virtually by Ottawa politicians. Mr. Meredith is working as the lieutenant of Sir John, from whom comes the orders. Mr. Mowat is inspired by the grand ambition of maintaining the rights of Ontario, of promoting the interests of the people. Mr. Meredith is the tool of Ottawa politicians. Mr. Mowat is the champion of the people's rights. Mr. Meredith depends on the favors and funds of his Ottawa masters to gain the day. Mr. Mowat depends on the gratitude of the electors, won by eleven years of Government wielded in their interests alone. And it is for the electors to show that the appeal to their honesty and fairness is not over-rated. Every vote must be polled, every moment between now and the 27th of February must be improved. Every man has his influence—let it be exercised to the fullest extent. From now till the 27th at 5 o'clock the watchword is work, work, work.

Mr. Carnegie's Tactics.

Mr. Carnegie, the anti Home-Rule-for-Ontario candidate, opened the campaign at Youngs' Point on Monday night. His remarks were a rehash of the laborious editorials that have slumbered on successive pages of the Review, only they received additional venom from the spiteful manner in which they were uttered—a style in which, as the public well know, the truly good editor of the Review greatly excels. There was a fierce attack on the Financial Administration of the Government, in which the points sought to be made were obscured by a mass of irrelevant figures, distorted by malicious insinuations. There is a peculiarity about the candidate's style of presenting figures as elicited by the detection of a most palpable attempt at "cooking" in a previous campaign, that causes his statements and figures to be received with a pretty liberal pinch of salt. Mr. Carnegie denounced the Financial Administration of the Mowat Government and showed his consistency by coming out "flat-footed" as a supporter of Mr. Meredith, the Mutable. He supports Mr. Meredith, who, during the long years he has been leader of the Opposition, has not felt called on to make one honest attempt to show that the Financial Administration of the Reform Government was extravagant, for the simple reason that incompetent as Mr. Meredith is, he has still sense enough not to attempt impossibilities. Yet Mr. Carnegie will trump up charges against the Government on financial matters, which the do-nothing conduct of his leader, Mr. Meredith, shows to be groundless. The latter dare not make such statements as Mr. Carnegie makes, on the floor of the House, for he knows their fallacy to be self-evident. But Mr. Carnegie thinks he can gull the electors by presenting ex parte statements and malicious insinuations. The candidate strives to make capital of the Youngs' Point dam affair, virtually denouncing the Government for not awarding the contract to tenders much in excess of the estimated cost. In fact Mr. Carnegie, as one of a knot of intriguing politicians, is responsible for the delay he has the hypocrisy to complain of. He is not innocent of promoting a scheme to swindle the Province to make political capital at this very election. The scheme consisted of underhand negotiations with the Dominion Government to secure the transfer of the works to that Government when the repairs were completed. Under the circumstances the Local Government were justified in hesitating about making an expenditure of between $8,000 and $10,000—justified in waiting till they had some assurance that when the works were completed they would not be "gobbled" by the Dominion Government and thereby the Province be swindled out of the expenditure on the works. Thus it will be seen that whatever delay there has been was due, in the first place, to excessively high tenders, and lastly, to the very efforts of political wire-pullers to make political capital by selling their own Province to the Dominion Government. Mr. Carnegie and his party believe in making Ontario a tool of the Dominion Government and the electors should see that such a platform does not triumph. The "Truly Good" to complain of delay in reference to Youngs' Point dam! What adamantine cheek!

Bribery.

Mr. Campbell and his committee have completed arrangements, with a view of preventing the practice of bribery at the present election, as far as possible and expect to be assisted with the co-operation of every honest elector. If there is any instance, which does not come under the cognizance of the committee, of an elector being approached with proposal of bribery, the party so insulted is requested to communicate with the President of the Association. The Reform party of this riding are bound in view of the active part taken in this election by the Dominion Government to see that bribery, intimidation and corrupt practices are reduced to a minimum.

The people of Ireland, through a failure of crops, are suffering for want of food, and the Mail shows the broad nature of its sympathy felt by telling the Irish people it serves them right, that it is their own fault. These are noble and manly words and are a strong appeal to the benevolent feelings of the people of Canada.

A Venomous Attack.

The parliamentary record of Mr. Blezard of the East Riding has been so straightforward and commends itself so strongly to the good sense of the electors that it is no wonder that the Review is rabid in its desire to cover him with slander and false charges. It is a great compliment to Mr. Blezard's influence that our esteemed contemporary devotes two columns of its valuable space to blackening his political record. The whole article is a tissue of vile insinuations, and trumped up charges, justified only by the false, malicious and tortured construction put upon Mr. Blezard's acts by the partizan rancour of the Tory organ. The votes of which the Review complains, were principally those against the buncombe and claptrap resolutions introduced by the opposition at the close of the session and in such a way that they were motions of want of confidence. According to parliamentary usage when a Government motion is made that the House go into Committee of supply, an Opposition member rises in his place and, by way of amendment thereto, moves a resolution containing the Opposition view on any one of the principal questions. Now, it is a part of parliamentary procedure that every amendment offered to a motion that the House go into Supply is in itself a motion of want of confidence in the Government, and must therefore, regardless of its nature, be opposed by supporters of the Administration. Consequently, no matter how reasonable a motion may be in itself, and regardless of the fact that it may contain statements to which Ministerial members are prepared to subscribe, it must be voted down, admitting as it does, of no amendments. And it is for voting against claptrap resolutions introduced as a trick, at a time when they could not be dealt with on their merits, that the Review condemns Mr. Blezard. The whole attack is simply a vile catalogue of base insinuations imputed motives, garbled construction, malicious misrepresentation, flat assumption, the very incarnation of malice and all uncharitableness.

Disallowance.

WHAT is this disallowance that the Mowat Administration is so strongly insisting on in the interests of the people? Simply this. Supposing the County Council of Peterborough should take steps, make appropriations, etc., to erect a House of Refuge, which the condition of the charitable expenditures of the municipalities demanded, and made eminently desirable for the interests of the county at large, and which a large majority of the ratepayers—two to one—were heartily agreed was for the interests of the county. Then thirteen men at Ottawa met and declared that all this municipal arrangement is null and void, declared that we didn't know our own business nor wants—that is disallowance, and exactly a parallel case to the actual outrage perpetrated by the Dominion Government in the disallowance of the Rivers and Streams Bill. If the Bill is unjust in its provisions, which we deny, are not the people of Ontario competent to declare whether or not it is what they want? and if not, haven't they brains enough to demand its repeal? No disallowance of legislation is justifiable or will be borne except that disallowed by the people ballot in hand. The electors of Ontario need no little knot of politicians at Ottawa to tell them what they don't want, and to manage business which they themselves are perfectly competent to look after. Disallowance is the height of political impertinence and injustice, a tyrannical exercise of power, which no free people will stand.

Mr. Campbell's Meetings.

As will be seen by advertisement in another column Mr. Campbell, opens the campaign at Bailleboro on Monday next, Feb. 12th, and will continue holding meetings until he has visited every conveniently accessible portion of the riding. The party is working unitedly and harmoniously; and they need to do so. They have to contend against the Dominion Government influence through its henchmen and officials, they have to contend against an unscrupulous candidate, who to promote the success of his candidature will stick at no statement, and will hesitate to employ no means, however equivocal to secure if possible the overthrow of good government.

The Canvass.

THE canvass of Messrs. Campbell and Blezard is going forward favourably and new encouragement is gathered at every step. These gentlemen feel that it is comparatively easy to advocate a cause that so strongly commends itself to the good sense of the intelligent elector as the policy of the Mowat Government. Economical Administration, a handsome surplus, a bold stand for our rights, a respect for the rights of all classes, are stirring cards and backed by two candidates of irreproachable personal and political records must win. Let every patriot and friend of the Province strengthen the hands of the candidates by dilligent and effective work.

THE attacks on the Colonization Roads expenditure of the Mowat Government fizzled out, as all the rubbish charges of newspaper gossip, have done, in mere words. Mr. Pardee not only defied Mr. Lauder in the House to prove that one dollar of the money had been expended for political purposes, but also showed that the present Government gets as much work done for 70 cents as the Sandfield Macdonald Government got under the contract system for $1.25.

What I want to Know is how can CHINA HALL Sell so much more Cheaply than all other Dealers.

HOW IS IT?

THE REASON.

We will tell you how it is that we are enabled to Sell more Cheaply than small dealers. Our business is CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE—we make a Specialty of these Lines, and buy in Large Quantities, direct from the Factories, and therefore can and do sell Retail at the same (and sometimes less) Prices than Grocers pay for their Goods. Other dealers may tell you that they can sell as Cheaply, but don't believe them.

To the Free and Independent Electors of the

WEST RIDING

OF THE

COUNTY OF PETERBORO'.

GENTLEMEN, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor having seen fit to dissolve the Legislature of this Province and to issue writs for the election of a new Legislature on the shortest possible notice, I beg respectfully to solicit your votes to return me as your representative in the Assembly about to be elected.

In doing so I beg to state:

That I am opposed to the policy of the Mowat Government whereby we are being kept out of our just territoral rights, and that, if elected, I shall do all in my power to secure for the Province the boundaries assigned to it at Confederation.

I am opposed to all ex post facto legislation and I am convinced that it is contrary to sound policy as well as justice that any man's property should be taken from him without full and adequate compensation to be ascertained by an independment and fairly constituted tribunal.

I believe there is now on the Statute Book of this Province all or nearly all the legislation required to protect the public interests and to provide for the acquisition of non-floatable streams and improvements which may have been made thereon upon terms at once just to the lumbermen and to the owners thereof.

I am opposed to the unnecessary centralization of patronage where it can be used to influence the electorate, believing that such centralization is dangerous to the freedom of the people and calculated to produce the same evils in Canada as it has already produced in the neighboring States.

I am opposed to any Government using the power vested in them for the time being by the people to prevent a free expression of public opinion upon any subject and especially upon a subject with which they as a Government have nothing to do, as was done by the Mowat Government and their officials in the last Dominion election in regard to the tariff policy adopted by the people.

I am opposed to the reckless and unnecessary extravagance of the Mowat Government whereby the capital of the Province is being rapidly dissipated and its ordinary expenditure increased to a point which cannot be maintained without a resort to direct taxation in one form or another.

With a view to bringing the ordinary expenditure within the ordinary income of the Province, without curtailing those expenditures which have a direct bearing upon local taxation I shall advocate a substantial reduction in the number of the representatives of the Assembly, greater economy in the departments and generally such reforms as may be calculated to reduce those expenditures from which the people are deriving no direct advantage believing that they are entitled to and desire the cheapest Government that suffices to regulate their affairs.

I am opposed to making the liquor traffic the shuttlecock of any political party, and will advocate and support every measure calculated to place the issue of licenses and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto in the hands of those least likely to be influenced by political considerations.

I am in favor of such a readjustment of the franchise as will give to all classes of the community that voice in the Government of the country to which they are entitled and of which certain classes are now unjustly deprived by the present Government notwithstanding that they have had ample opportunities of remedying this injustice.

The educational department under a political head not having proved a success I shall favor a return to the non-political position which the department occupied when under the able management of the late Dr. Ryerson.

I believe that too much attention and too much money has been spent on what is called higher education and upon educational theorizing to the neglect of the three R's; that the cost of maintaining public schools especially in the outlying districts has been unnecessarily increased thereby, and that the people are not deriving the advantages which they should do from the large amount annually expended nominally for educational purposes, but in too many instances, to little practical advantage.

There are, no doubt, several other questions to which allusion might be made, but this address is already too long, and as my views on the public questions of the day are already pretty well known to most of you, and especially as I hope to have the opportunity, between this and polling day, of discussing the issues of the campaign with my opponent in your presence, I shall conclude by expressing the hope that my long and active connection with the public affairs of the Town and County of Peterborough, my practical knowledge of its agricultural and manufacturing interests and the manner in which I have hitherto discharged the public duties with which I have from time to time been entrusted have been such as to secure for me the hearty and active support of not only those who agree with me, but also of those electors who believe it to be the duty of a representative to try and impress his views upon his party leaders and not simply to vote as directed by them.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

JOHN CARNEGIE.

Editorial Notes.

WITH what wonderful wisdom does Mr. Tilley agitate the tariff see-saw! His latest departure is in the way of making an important necessary of life free of duty. The excise duty on tobacco is to be reduced. Thus trade in this article will be strengthened by making the market unsettled and the struggling housewife can look forward to laying in a cheap supply of tobacco for her children, and the tax being retained on such trifling superfluities as breadstuffs, blankets, coal, cotton, boots, shoes, &c., she will be compelled to exercise a wise economy in such vicious luxuries as those enumerated.

THE Irish Canadian, Toronto, ultra Tory in its tone and sympathies, remarks that the Globe deserves credit for protesting against the suppression of free speech in Ireland, and lectures the Mail for its lack of policy and its want of sense in saying the right thing at the right time, especially when by so doing it could attack the Liberal Government of Mr. Gladstone. The Canadian is, it seems, unreasonable. Does it forget that the Mail's antipathy to the Irish is so great that the policy of saying the "right thing (in the way of soft-sawder at election times) in the right place" respecting the Irish, must give way to the carrying out of the motto it has blazoned on its banner "No Irish need apply," be he Archbishop, agitator or starving peasant.

THE Tory journals, the Review and Mail especially, are greatly exercised respecting a statement that Mr. Blezard credited to Sir John Macdonald, to the effect that the gallant knight had asserted that he would make the whiskey as free as water. Mr. Blezard's authority is doubtless found in this statement made by the Dominion Premier, in reference to the licensing power of the local Government:

"The law," Sir John says, "does not give to the local legislatures the power of preventing persons becoming innkeepers, which is as free for any person to enter into as to become merchants."

Will our contemporaries deny that this is fair grounds for the inferences imputed in Mr. Blezard's remarks. Sir John expressed the idea, though he did not use the words "free as water," but he certainly declared for unrestricted free trade in whiskey, which amounts to much the same thing.

THE N. P. is apparently going to the dogs; the political rabies is apparently dying out. Already Sir Leonard Tilley has provided a free breakfast table for those who can breakfast on tea and coffee alone, (without sugar, of course.) The admirers of the Opposition leader have inaugurated a free tea table by giving Mr. Meredith a present of a silver tea set and Sir John, the dear old man, has promised Ontario if she will elect him a legislature of subservient serfs, free trade in whiskey, and Sir Tilley's promise of a free pipe added to the list goes a long way towards testifying to a decided weakening on the part of the protection party. We may not be surprised to hear of the duty being removed from valentines and patent medicines, to give love a free posy and the poor invalid a free pull at Hop Bitters or St. Jacob's Oil. The absolute necessaries of life should not be taxed.

MATHER'S CORNERS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Wednesday last Mr. Wm. Wood, who has been engaged at teaching here, deserted the birch and intends going into the insurance business at Walkerton, Bruce county, as agent of the Sun Life Insurance Co'y. At the close of his term of teaching on Wednesday last, he received a gratifying testimonial to his efficiency as a teacher and his popularity as a citizen, in the shape of a complimentary address from the pupils accompanied by the present of a handsome writing desk. This, as well as other evidences, goes to show that Mr. Wood has been a successful teacher, and has won many warm friends, whose best wishes, with ours, follow him to his new field of labour in Walkerton. He leaves this week to enter upon his duties.

TO ONTARIO FARMERS.

Address by Members of their Own Calling.

The Agricultural Record of the Mowat Government.

The following address gives in concise form an account of what has been done by the Mowat Administration for the promotion of Agriculture.

THE ADDRESS.

The undersigned, as practical farmers, and specially representing that class in the Ontario Legislature, desire to call your attention to the growing importance of agriculture in our Province.

We point with pride to the fact that the value of the products of the farm now reaches a vast sum yearly, and it is steadily on the increase.

For richness of agricultural products, Ontario now take the first place, not only in our own Dominion, but in the whole American continent. We have skilful farming, a rich soil, and a favouring climate.

At no period in our history has more enterprise been manifested among our agricultural population, or more solid improvement made, than at the present time.

In every department of our business the watchword is ONWARD.

CAUSE OF PROGRESS.

It is worth while to ask what has caused this rapid development? what influences have been at work aiding us to reach this high position? Certainly, every one looking at the past history of Ontario will admit that much of the progress is due to the liberal treatment that our interests have received at the hands of the Provincial Government. The various headed by the Provincial Association, have undoubtedly done much in the past to stimulate and encourage the farmer to improvement all along the line—in the tillage of his fields, in the use of labour-saving implements, and in the care of his flocks and herds. Those societies are liberally aided by the Government. Last year the total amount of grants made them was about $70,000, and it is quite true, that many of them could not have existed but for the help thus received. In addition to the general aid given to agricultural societies, special attention has been paid to that most important interest, fruit growing. Through the grants made to the Fruit Growers' Association, the Government has placed the great field of horticulture on a basis unsurpassed on the Continent for enterprise and success. So also, in regard to

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES,

THE DAIRY INTEREST.

The continued aid given to the Dairymen's Association has enable much to be done in the way of scientific research, and the practical application of knowledge so acquired. As a consequence the cheese industry of Ontario compares favorably now with that of any State in the neighboring Union. The cash value of cheese produced in the Province last year alone was not less than four million dollars. Coming to a later period, the Government has devised means and made liberal provision for the

DRAINAGE

of the land of our country. This is admitted on all sides to have been a most important step. Much of our land has been improved—many thousands of acres have been brought into a state of cultivation, and the government has placed it within the reach of large numbers of farmers to double the produce of their lands by taking advantage of the provisions of the Drainage Acts. Our

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

and Experimental Farm at Guelph are doing an excellent service in the promotion of a generally improved husbandry. The practical fruits to flow from this institution—while to some extent seen from year to year—can only be properly estimated in its educational effects in the future. The degree of success already attained is highly gratifying; and, compared with similar efforts in other countries, the results are a matter of just national pride. The college is worthy of our Province. Its reports are eagerly sought after by farmers, and through them much useful agricultural information is being annually distributed. Above and beyond all these we point with the utmost satisfaction and delight to the appointment of

THE AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION.

Perhaps no other act of the Government has met with greater approval, or has been more thoroughly useful to the whole country. The report of that Commission has stimulated and incited our farmers everywhere to a degree hitherto unknown. Undoubtedly its enquires and researches, which have been far-reaching and exhaustive, will form the basis of further legislative action in the future. We have two excellent instances this year, in the Bills to establish Public Creameries and to encourage the planting of trees on highways and boundary lines. Following closely upon the work of the Commission, and growing out of it, has been the establishment of whereby much valuable information in the shape of statistics, and relating to crops and live stock, is collected and published. The reports of the Bureau have already commanded attention in other countries, and will certainly do a great deal to put our Province before the world in the high position it deserves to occupy. We might also refer to the measure of the Government giving to the farmers their just rights in the delivery of their produce in the centres of trade free from the imposition of vexatious market fees.

THE BUREAU OF INDUSTRIES,

THE CONCLUSION.

The undersigned are convinced that a Government which has thus been so persistent and so zealous in aiding and promoting this great interest of agriculture among others in our province, will not fail in the future to take still further steps in the same direction.

We desire to record our own high appreciation of the Government's efforts, and we feel that it is our bounden duty by every honest effort to aid in keeping its members in their present position of usefulness to our Province.

We confidently appeal to our brother farmers for their hearty co-operation to attain this end: being assured that while we point with pride to what has been done for the advancement of agriculture every other interest has been equally well guarded and fostered. The Government of Mr. Mowat has always combined and wise economy. In proof we need only say that notwithstanding the large increase of population during the past eleven years, and the consequent additional expenditure necessary for the administration of justice: the education of the people; the care of the insane; the training of the deaf, dumb, and blind, &c., the finances of the Province have been so well managed that the Treasury can today boast of a surplus of nearly five millions of dollars. And this, too, after distributing a very large sum (over three millions of dollars) among the municipalities, and giving an equally large sum for aiding the construction of new lines of railway. A Government with a record like this deserves to be warmly supported and we feel sure that the farmers of Ontario will cheerfully do their part in sustaining it.

ENNISMORE.

WEATHER NOTES. Having styled December a month of storms, we may style January a month of frost. Eleven times has the thermometer been below zero at sunrise, ranging from 3° to 31° on the morning of the 26th, being the coldest as yet. On the 23rd of January, 1882, it stood at 23°, and on the 24th it fell to 34° being 3° degrees lower than the 26th inst., and on eight nights at sundown it ranged from 2° to 10° below zero, while January 1882, had only six days below zero. In 1883 we had an average temperature at sunrise and sunset of 10° 17-31 above zero, when January 1882 averaged 17° 7-31. Our highest temperature was on the evening of the 20th, namely 34° above. Snow fell on 12 days to the depth of 15 9-16 inches. Rain feel on three days to the depth of 11-100 of an inch, giving a total depth of water of 1 60-100 of an inch. In January of 1881 the coldest day was on the 14th, when at sunrise the thermometer fell to 14° below zero. Sleighing is now getting disagreeable and heavy owing to the large accumulation of unpacked snow.

DOURO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

HYMENEAL.—Something to be remembered and never to be forgotten, was the marriage last Tuesday evening, January 30th, of Mr. M. D. Sullivan, of the township of Douro, son of John Sullivan, Esq., of "Poplar Grove," to one of Douro's fairest daughters, Miss Kate McCue, only daughter of Wilfred McCue, Esq., of the same place. After the couple were united in marriage they returned to Mr. McCue's residence where a grand spread was prepared for them. Mr. John Sullivan, father of the groom, occupied the chair, and after ample justice was done to the good things provided, he proposed the health of the "Happy Couple," which the groom responded to in a few appropriate remarks. Squire O'Donell was called upon and dwelt considerable time in speaking of the good qualities of the happy pair and concluded by wishing them all prosperity in their journey through life. After supper was over the party adjourned to the dancing hall where Prof. Martin's quadrille band furnished grand music, and where Squire Sullivan was kept busy serving "refreshments" during the night to keep the "dust washed down," and when the old blood of Squire O'Donell, Dennis Delaney, Thomas Russell, P. Hogan and several others commenced to stir up, they had to call upon Jim Hefferan to play them a good "Irish reel," and Jim is the boy that can handle the bow. To see Squire O'Donell and Dennis Delaney tripping the light fahtastic would gladden the heart of any Irishman, but the Squire and his lady were declared the best dancers. There were about 200 guests present. The party broke up about four o'clock in the morning, wishing the couple a long and prosperous life.

Economizing Fuel.

The farmer who has only a small wood lot cannot be too careful of it. It is not good economy to clear away all the underbrush, or to cut down trees without any regard to their shape, size or vitality. The choicest of the young trees should not be touched, except to trim them neatly: they will take the place of the older trees by-and-by, and by a proper selection the wood lot may not only continue to give an indefinite supply, but even to increase in value. There are already many sections of Ontario in which the farmers are obliged to exercise a saving habit, in spite of the fact that ours is called a "wooden" country.—Rural Canadian.

The Price of Beef.

Beef is cheaper now than it was a few months ago. There are two reasons for this: One is, that there has been a falling off in the shipments of fat cattle to England; the other is, that roots and coarse grains are abundant, and consequently every animal that could be picked up has been stalled. But owing to the heavy drain of the last three or four years there is in Ontario a scarcity of first-class animals, and while prices may be lower in Spring than now the lovers of juicy roasts and steaks must not be too sanguine of getting cuts exactly to their taste. The breed as well as the feeding has much to do in the producing of a fine quality of beef.—Rural Canadian.

The Clover Seed Market.

Cable enquiries continue to be received from England for Canadian clover seed, and several round lots have changed hands within the past few days at Western Points, at $8.35 to $8.60 per bushel f. o. b. Owing to the light crop of clover in Ontario, holders do not feel disposed to part with it except at full rates. We know of one lot west of Toronto that is held at $8.70, and for which $8.60 has been refused. Samples of Canadian seed are said to be very fine this year, and are likely to realize high prices. We have just heard of the sale of a car lot of choice clover seed in the West on Montreal account at $8.75. In timothy, there only a few lbs. being bought in by farmers which are being picked up at about $2.25 per bushel of 51 lbs., and quotations range from $2 to $2.50 as to quality and quantity.

Clean Milk.

The towns and cities get their milk supply from the country. But sometimes they get more than milk; they get the proverbial peck of dirt which every man is supposed to eat in his lifetime. On emptying the pitcher which the milkman fills a sediment is often found, enough to turn a man's stomach. Whence comes it? From the udders and bodies of cows. They are milked as they rise in their stall, without any process of brushing or cleaning. If the stalls are not kept clean the milk will be tainted, and if the cows are not brushed before being milked there will be sediment in the pitcher. The farmer who is neat in the dairy will have a quick market, and get the highest prices for his milk and butter.—Rural Canadian.

Suppressing the Facts.

United States newspapers will persist in keeping Canada in the background, as far as they are able to do so. The old wheat figures of the 1871 census are every now and then made to do duty, and whenever an estimate is made for current years it is based on the figures of that unfortunate census. There is an article now going the rounds of the papers on the World's Wheat Crop, in which the average crop for the Dominion is given as 13,720,000 bushels, and the estimate for 1882 as 16,464,000 bushels. The statistics published by the Bureau of Industries shown that for the Province of Ontario alone the wheat crop of 1882 was more than 40,000,000 bushels, or about 250 per cent. in excess of the estimate so widely published by United States journals. Why don't they publish the real facts? Is it because they are jealous of Ontario?—Rural Canadian.

The Rural Canadian thinks the council of the Agricultural and Arts Association is not as wise as it might be and adds that it fears that it is getting into dotage, and that its usefulness is well nigh gone. The want of tact and sagacity—to speak of no higher qualities which was shown a few days ago, when the Commissioner of Agriculture asked for advice on the propriety of establishing model creameries, is not remarkable. The matter was referred to a special committee, and the committee after a brief deliberation reported in effect that they had no time to consider it. The Council knew that the Commissioner wished to take action during the present session of the Legislature, if he was satisfied that the scheme was practicable and useful; yet they shelved the subject or the pretence of want of time and information. Why didn't they take time? and why didn't they inform themselves? Another day might have been profitably spent in deliberation, and if this was not sufficient the committee might have been instructed to continued the enquiry and report to the Commissioner before the close of the session. One of the objects for which the Council exists is, that it may give advice to the Government on measures affecting the agricultural interests of the country: and for the refusal to do so when advice is solicited it fails to justify its existence.

EAST ONTARIO DAIRYMEN

IN COUNCIL IN BROCKVILLE.—THE GOVERNMENT CREAMERIES ENDORSED.

The sixth annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen Association met on Wednesday, Jan. 31st, in the Court House. At the morning session there was only a small attendance, but at the afternoon session there was a very large gathering. Mr. K. Graham occupied the chair. After the address a paper was read on butter-making by the Hon. Harris Lewis, of Frankfort, N. Y. At the afternoon session Prof. Wm. Brown, of the Guelph Model Farm, gave an address on "Grasses," and Prof. Wetherell one on "Theory and Practice." In the course of the discussion which followed, the Hon. Harris Lewis referred to the creameries which it is the intention of the Ontario Government to start, in the following terms:—"I presume that within two or three years you will take about the same position in regard to butter that you now do in cheese, for I understand that your Government has decided to establish three creameries for the manufacture of butter, and I have no doubt they will raise the character of the butter you make very much, and that all the Province will feel their influence. They will, I am sure, add to the value of the butter you make at least $1,000,000, and possibly two or three millions of dollars. I admire the position your Government has taken in this matter. While they have been very lavish in the matter of aiding the commerce of the Province they have not forgotten the agricultural interests. We have not learned that yet on the other side. I have no doubt that under proper management they will be highly successful and greatly improve the quality of the butter." Prof. Wetherell spoke in similar terms of the course the Government had taken in this regard.

Tuesday's proceedings of the Dairymen's Convention were of a highly interesting and successful character. The report of the Nominating Committee was received, naming Mr. D. Derbyshire for president. This was adopted and the newly-elected president took the chair. Mr. W. Brown gave an address on ensilage and the breeds of cattle for dairying, and Mr. J. B. Harris read a lengthy paper on cheese making. In the afternoon session the report of Mr. Arnold, late instructor to the Association, was read. A tribute of respect was paid to the memory of the late Mr. X. A. Willard. Mr. Robert McAdam, of Rome, N. Y., read a paper on cheese making. Mr. Harris told what he saw and what he did not see at the Milwaukee Show, and Mr. D. M. McPherson addressed the Association, chiefly on the commercial aspects of cheese making. The evening session was consumed in general conversation and questions.

The Bad and Worthless

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word 'Hop' or 'Hops' were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 6-4t

THE DREAD DISEASE.

CONSUMPTION AND ITS CAUSES—WHY SO MANY DIE OF IT—SIGNIFICANT FACTS AND FIGURES.

At the Canadian Institute, Toronto, on Saturday night Dr. P. H. Bryce delivered a lecture on "Consumption," giving reasons why so many persons are annually carried off by this dread scourge, with facts taken from mortality returns and sanitary laws. From his position as Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health the doctor has obtained a firm grasp of the subject in hand. The speaker remarked that the question of the zymotic origin of consumption, or more properly tuberculosis, has received within the past year added interest from the fact that Knoch, of Berlin, has given the world the results of experiments which he claims to have proved that certain bacteria may invariably be found in the sputa of consumptive patients, and that by the cultivation of them in blood at the temperature of the body they may be developed, and if injected into the body of rabbits they will cause the tuberculous disease. Opinions of some of the greatest biologists the day were given pro and con., and the conclusions arrived at by the speaker on the whole favored the theory of the contagious character of the disease. Thus an account was given of the observation at Nuremberg, Germany, in which a consumptive midwife apparently gave the disease to at least ten infants, who died of the tubercular disease within a year, while of the children nursed by another healthy woman none died of the disease. Against these facts the experience of Dr. T. Williams, of the Brompton Hospital for Consumptives, was given—that if care were taken to have an abundance of fresh air in the sick room the danger of communicating the disease is very small. However, apart from this question, the speaker remarked there are certain facts so important that it is the duty of all to know them. From the Registrar-General's return he had obtained the following facts:

The total percentage of deaths from consumption annually is in the country towns 10.7, and in the rest of the Province 10.4 of all deaths returned.

In the 10 cities..20.02 per 1,000 of population
Towns .....15.07 " "
Rest of Province.10.4

Children under 1 year.

Cities..... 31.8 of all deaths.
Towns..... 23.7 " "
Rest of Province ..... 20.1 " "

Deducting under 1 year.

Cities.....13.7 per 1,000 of population
Towns.....12.0 " "
Rest of Province.. 8.3 " "

Children under one year compared with births:

Cities 25.7
Towns..... 16.2
Rest of Province 10.1

Deaths compared with births:

	Deaths.	Births.
Cities	100	127
Towns.....	100	139
Rest of Province.....	100	198

Deaths from consumption:

Cities.....14.6 2.04 per 1,000
Towns.....17.0 2.01 "
Rest of Province.....13.0 1.08 "

As to causation of disease there are three principal classes of causes: (1) Hereditary influences. (2) Influences which reduce the vitality of the physical system. (3) The influence of cold and dampness. Hereditary influences, he remarked, show themselves in a constitutional debility, or what is called by Jaccord, "an imperfection of nutrition." But further than this, the disease may be innate or acquired. The influences which reduce the vitality of the system are many, which may increase hereditary and innate tendencies, as well as cause the disease to be acquired.

Among those are: (1) Over-study. (2) Over-work. (3) Working at unhealthy trades and occupations. (4) Mental trouble. (5) Immoral excesses. (6) Amongst children. (7) Insufficient milk while nursing. (8) Artificial feeding. (9) Too early weaning. (10) Lack of fresh air and exercise. (11) Unwholesome food. (12) Excessive labor in large manufactories. (13) Abuse of alcoholic liquors.

To show the influence of some of these statistics were given. Thus, in England, 1 child in every 6 dies within a year of birth; in Paris 50 per cent. die within four years of birth; in Ontario 1 child in every 7 dies within 1 year of birth in the ten cities, and in the country 1 in every 10 dies. It must be evident, he remarked, from these figures, that the same causes producing such frightful mortality among the children in Canadian cities must, with additional others, tend to produce consumption in later life. To show what is the result, especially from bad air, he gave statistics showing the influence of bad air. Thus the mortality in foundling hospitals in the towns of England shows a mortality of 92 per cent.—of children under 5 years of age,—while in hospitals in the country the death rate is only 11½ per cent. The difference in this case must be largely due, he remarked, to the impure air and lack of room in towns. Again, 74 per cent. of the total mortality for 1875 in London for the three summer months was of children under 1 year, and from diarrhœa.

Hence, summing up, he concluded that bad food and water by their effects upon the digestive system; bad air, as shown in the decreased mortality on the introduction of good ventilation in the Dublin Children's Hospital; early work and over work amongst the poor, and working at unhealthy trades are the chief factors which, added to a hereditary tendency, produce consumption, so fatal in towns, as compared with the country. Damp localities of residences, cellars, and unventilated spaces under houses yet further add to the mortality of the disease, from which it is calculated one-sixth of the whole population of the world dies.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

SABBATH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT. On Tuesday evening the 9th inst., in the the Presbyterian Church in this place, at 9 p.m., an entertainment was held by the Mount Pleasant Sabbath School. After a portion of the Scriptures were read by the Superintendent, Jas. McLean, Esq., and prayer by the Rev. J. Ewing, a programme consisting of music, dialogues, recitations and readings was commenced and carried out in a praiseworthy manner. The pieces were first-class, and the way in which they were rendered by the children of the school reflects great credit on our public school teacher, Mr. W. Hickson. Each of the pupils belonging to the school received a very nice present. A beautiful arch of evergreens was erected over which was placed the words: "Seek Me Early." As a closing speech the Superintendent gave each of the pupils a large orange: this with the other presents given was acceptable to the children. The audience was large and all were satisfied that this was the most successful intellectual entertainment ever given in this village.

[Mr. McLean, for the past twenty five years has been an earnest worker, and has done great good in the Sabbath Schol. many having passed from the school who will sow the good seed in this and other lands.—ED. EXAMINER.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Council elect for the year 1883, met at Centreville, on Jan. 15th, pursuanty to the statute in that behalf at 11 o'clock a.m.

Each member subscribed to the declarations of qualification and of office, and filed the same with the clerk, as follows: For Reeve, Wm. Rutherford; for Councillors, John Lightfoot, John Riddell, J. Perrin and L. Byers.

The Council then came to order, the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting of the old Council were then read and confirmed.

A by-law was introduced by Mr. Riddell appointing Edward Ball and Emery B. Graham auditors for the year 1883. A by-law was introduced by Mr. Lightfoot, appointing Wm. Smithson assessor for the year 1883, at a salary of $40.

The matter of purchasing a gravel pit from Robert Waddel, was referred to the committee appointed for that purpose.

Wm. Emberson was heard on behalf of Mrs. R. Montgomery, and asked the Council to assist in defraying the exposnes incurred in carrying her husband, Robert Montgomery (an insane person) to the lunatic asylum at Hamilton.

On motion of Mr. Byers, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, Wm. Emberson was allowed the sum of six dollars, for damage sustained to a stump machine while pulling stumps on the highway.

A committee consisting of the whole Council were appointed to examine Wood Duck Bridge, on 1st concession, and Anderson's Bridge on 2nd concession, and were authorized to take such steps as they deemed advisable towards putting the same bridges in good repair.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:

Robt. Waddell, gravel	$10 35
N. Ure & Co., blank forms	2 89
Jas. Kerr & Bro., door lock ...	1 25
John Hall, putting on door lock	25
J. W. Kerr, for a certified copy of Revised Voters's List, 1882.	3 43
Robert Fair, Returning Officer, for fees to dep. Ret. Officers, poll clerks and constables, and for polling place for election held 1st Jan. 1883.....	20 00
Weekly News Port Hope, for printing and advertising	8 00

On motion of Mr. Perrin, seconded by Mr. Riddell, James Bonar was allowed the sum of eight dollars for eleven days attendance on S. Bonar, an indigent, during illness.

The clerk was instructed to invite tenders for printing for the current year.

Mr. Perrin gave notice that at the next meeting of this Council he would introduce a by-law to amend by-law No. 3.

On motion of Mr. Lightfoot, seconded by Mr. Riddell, the Council did then adjourn, subject to a call of the Reeve.

A free meeting is proposed at the installation of these officers on Friday, Feb. 2nd, 1883.

CLERICAL. Mr. Ratcliffe and family have withdrawn from this field of labor, to the regret of many warm friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ratcliffe will be much missed at the manse and line church. The former is eulogized for his earnestness and the latter for her sympathetic nature. There is another vacant chair, that of the late John Gerrie. Surely he was a Christian gentleman in the highest sense of the term.

OBITUARY. The sudden death of the late John Sanderson was startling to this neighborhood of which he has long been a resident.

MARKET FEES.

Important Amendments.

The Bill to amend the Act respecting Market Fees has become law, having been assented to last Thursday. On the second reading, Hon. Mr. Wood explained that by a literal interpretation of the language of the present Act with respect to those selling goods within 100 yards of the market, warehouses for the sale of wood, dressed hogs, &c., had been included, though it was not the intention of the Legislature to include them. The present Bill amended that clause to make it clear that these were excluded. Section 2 was as follows:—Section ten of the said Act, relating to market fees, is amended by adding the following thereto: "Provided further, that after nine o'clock in the forenoon, between the first day of April and the first day of November, and after ten o'clock in the forenoon between the first day of November and the first day of April, no person shall be compelled to remain on, or resort to, any market place with any articles which he may have for sale, but may, after the expiration of such hour, sell or dispose of such articles elsewhere than in or on said market places." Section 3 made clear the right of municipalities to sell, assign or lease their market fees.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keepingboys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

REMEMBER THE PLACE: Pengelly's old stand, 3 doors west of Cavanagh's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterborough.

HOW SLATE PENCILS ARE MADE.

Broken slate from the quarries is put into a mortar run by steam and pounded into small particles. Thence it goes into the hopper of a mill, which runs it into a bolting machine, such as is used in flouring mills, where it is bolted, the fine, almost impalpable flour that results being taking into a mixing-tub, where a small quantity of steatite flour manufactured in a similar manner is added. This dough is throughly kneaded by passing it several times betees iron rollers. Thence it is carried to a table, where it is made into charges—that is, short cylinders, four or five inches thick, and containing from eight to ten pounds each. Four of these are placed in a strong iron chamber or retort, with a changeable nozzle, so as to regulate, the size of the pencil, and subjected to tremendous hydraulic pressure under which the composition is pushed through the nozzle in a long cord like a slender snake sliding out of a hole, and passing over a sloping table set at right angles with the cord to give passage, with a knife which cuts them into lengths. They are then laid on boards to dry, and after a few hours are removed to sheets of corrugated zinc, the corrugations serving to prevent the pencil from warping during the process of baking, to which they are next subjected in a kill, into which superheated steam is introduced in pipes; the temperature being regulated according to the requirements of the articles, go to the finishing and packing rooms, where the ends are thrust for a second under rapidly-revolving emery wheels, and withdrawn neatly and smoothly pointed ready for use. They are then packed in pasteboard boxes, each containing 100 pencils; and these boxes in turn are packed for shipment in wooden boxes containing one hundred each, or 10,000 in a shipping box. Nearly all the work is done by boys, and the cost therefore is light.

AN AGGRAVATING LITTLE WRETCH.

Some of our city stores are constantly annoyed by children coming to the door and asking for cards, empty boxes, and that sort of thing. The clerks are, of course, down on the youngsters, and the warfare never ends. The other day a little girl opened a store door, and sticking head in, called out:

"Say, mister, have you any empty boxes?"

"No!" said the clerk, not very politely.

"Got no cards?"

"No!"

"Got any almanacs?"

"No!"

"Got any empty bottles?"

"No!"

"Got any pictures?"

"No!"

"Got any sense?"

"No—yes—no—yes—you miserable little wretch!" and the clerk flew out of door; but the youngster was in the next alley making faces at him, and he came back madder than he had been since his salary was reduced.

A table of Remnants to select from, astonishingly low, at TURNBULL'S.

HE DIDN'T KNOW SHE MADE THE REST OF THE SHIRT.

Mrs. Bullard Waterbury is a very masculine kind of woman, while Mr. Waterbury is just the reverse, being one of the mildest of men. It is stated as a historical fact that not long since Mr. Waterbury being ill and confined to his bed, he exhibited a hesitancy about taking a dose of quinine.

"Take that medicine, Bullard," said the wife.

"It's too bitter."

"Take that medicine, Bullard said she sat down at his bedside and removed her slipper.

Bullard took his medicine like a man. Yesterday Bullard Waterbury was calling attention to his shirt, which was neatly made and which he said, with pride, was made by his wife.

"Did she make the entire shirt?" asked Gilhooly, carelessly.

"Every stitch of it."

"Well, I didn't know. I heard that she always collared and cuffed you, but I didn't know who made the rest of the shirt."

A DISTRESSING CASE OF LOST DIAMONDS.

They had been married only six weeks, when he came home from the store one evening and found her in tears. She had lost one of her diamond ear-rings.

'Well, crying won't restore it, dear,' he remarked, as he kissed her on the chin.

"N—no, but you see what an embarrassing position I am placed in."

'Certainly; we will advertise the loss in all the city papers.'"

"And offer a liberal reward?"

"Yes."

"The finder will expect at least $25?"

"Thrt's what makes me feel so—sad!" she cried, as she laid her beautiful head on his shoulder. "Those diamonds were a wedding present from f—ather, and he got 'em at the d—ollar store, and I don't want to see you swindled out of twenty-four dollars!"

A HINT TO THE GIRLS

The newest parlor game Laramie, Wyoming territory, when woman suffrage has been established, was invited by the ladies of that region. The girls sit in one room in a row, with a chair in front of each one. The young men are stationed in another room, and are brought in one by one. When he comes in the youth chooses his chair, and the young lady behind him binds his eyes with a handkerchief. Then the black cook come in, kisses him and disappears. The young man is released, feeling much refreshed and elated, promptly retires to the other end of the room. His feelngs went the next young man comes in and and is treated to this novel entertainment can be imagined, but they are mitigated by the pleasure of seeing the other fellows undergoing the experiment. As a winter evening amusement it is one of the most popular in Wyoming.

ENNISMORE.

The veteran meteorologist of Ennismore writes us supplying the cheering information that on Friday morning, the 26th January, 1883, at sunrise the thermometer marked 31° below zero.

A WORLD OF GOOD.—One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nuuda Neus. 6-2t

STREET TALK. "How much better you look, Mr. S." "Yes, I have gained 32 pounds on Hall's Catarrh Cure. Have not felt so well in 20 years. It has made a complete cure and is worth $50 a bottle to any one that has the Catarrh." John McKee, Druggist, Peterborough. 6-2t

The old proverb, "Where there's a will there's a way," has been revised to suit the situation. It now reads, "When there's a bill we're away."

WHAT TORONTO'S WELL-KNOWN GOOD-SAMARITAN SAYS. I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. CLARA E. PORTER.

IN THE history of medicine no preparation has received such universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by John McKee. 3-8t.

G. W. Mingay, Parkdale, Toronto, writes: "My wife had several very severe attacks of cramps in the stomach. Hearing of DR. AUSTIN'S PHOSPHATINE, and its pleasantness to take, I gave her two bottles, and she has not had an attack since, and her health is much improved." For sale by all druggists. 3-8t.

SAYS DRYDEN:

"She knows her man, and when you rant and swear,
Can draw you to her with a single hair."

But it must be beautiful hair to have such power; and beautiful hair can be insured by the use of CINGALESE HAIR RENEWER. Sold at 50 cents by J. D. Tully. 3-8t.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Twenty-five cents expended to your druggist for a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil will allay more pain cure more diseases than many dollars spent for ordinary medicines would do. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, Sore Throat, Croup, Stiff Joints, Contracted Cords, and all Lameness and Inflammation. 6-2t

NEVER NEGLECT IT.—If you suffer from a cough, never neglect it, it is no trifling matter, and might lead to a speedily fatal disease of the Lungs. Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam will allay all irritation of the mucous membrane by its soothing healing power; it cures Bronchites, Asthma, and all throat and Lung complaints. 6-2t

A CURE FOR HEADACHE.—Thousands are suffering martyrs of this distressing trouble. If you have pure and properly vitalized blood coursing through your veins; if the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels act rightly, you will never experience headache. Burdock Blood Bitters will effect this desirable condition, if properly used. Try it. 6-2t

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint, culminating in jaundice, is literally "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act, is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache, impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade, dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humours, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, rouses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

In Maine they are finding diamond pins in the old oak trees. The hotel clerk of New England appears to have attended picnics at a very early period.

 "In choosing allies, look to their power as well as to their will to aid you." In choosing a remedy for bowel, liver and kidney diseases, try Kidney-Wort, and you will never regret it. If you are subject to ague you must be sure to keep your liver, bowels and kidneys in good free condition. When so, you will be safe from all attacks.

A philosopher informs us that a bonnet is no longer a bonnet when it becomes a pretty woman. And the inference is that a women is no longer a woman when she becomes a "poke."

Mrs. Barnhart, cor. Pratt and Broadway, has been a sufferer for twelve years through rheumatism, and has tried every remedy she could hear of, but recived no benefit, until she tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil: she says she cannot express the satisfaction she feels at having her pain entirely removed and her rheumatism cured."

It is related as a singular fact that fat men never commit crime. It doesn't seem so singular when you reflect that it is difficult for a fat man to stoop to anything low.

Mr. J. R. Seymour, Druggist, St. Catharines, writes that he finds an ever-increasing sale for Burdock Blood Bitters, and adds that he can, without hesitancy, recommend it. Burdock Blood Bitters is the grand specific for all diseases of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. 6-2t

Mr. Mor——, reading Virgil, "Three times I strove to cast my arms about her neck, and that's as far as I got, Professer." "Well, Mr. Mor——, I think that was quite far enough."

Mrs. Wm. Allan, of Acton, says she has never been without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in the house for the last twenty years, and would not be for ten times the cost; adding that she has never known it to fail for Colds and Croup, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Burns, Scalds, etc. She concludes by saying, "if any one doubts its efficacy, refer them to me." 6-2t

"What do we give up," asks a clergyman, "in abandoning liquor?" We should say he gave up the liquor, for one thing; and perhaps a great many consequent howling headaches.

Mr. W. R. Lazier, Bailiff, &c., Belleville, writes: "I find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil the best medicine I have ever used in my stable. I have used it for bruises, scratches, wind puffs and cuts, and in every case it gave the best satisfaction. We use it as a household remedy for colds, burns, &c., and it is a perfect panacea. It will remove warts by paring them down and applying it occasionally."

The tramp who tried to steal a through passage to New York remarked, when he picked himself from the snowbank into which the muscular brakeman had deposited him, that he didn't care to be a threw passenger again.

IS IT WORTH THE MONEY?—That's the question. Will it pay to suffer day after day when a twenty-five cent bottle of PUTNAM'S PAINESS CORN EXTRACTOR will give prompt and permanent ease and comfort. Thousands testify that it is a good investment, and if you are a sufferer from corns, try, it Sure, safe and painless. Sold by druggists everywhere. N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Proprietors.

So great is the faith reposed in Ayer's Pills by those who have given them a trial, that the consumption of them almost passes belief, far exceeding any precedent. They cleanse the blood, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. They are pleasant to take, gentle in their operation, yet through, searching, and powerful in subduing disease.

"The Pendleton Civil Service bill has passed," remarked Mr. Wigglesworth from the interior of his paper. "Well, I'm glad of that," his wife, "and now I hope our hired girl will have a little more manners."

HOW IT WORKS.—Malarial Diseases, so prevalent in the Spring and Fall, such as Ague, Chill Fever, Bilious Fever, &c., depend upon an inactive state of the liver, bowels, skin, kidneys, etc., for did these outlets of morbid poisonous matter free the system properly, no sickness would result. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually regulates these organs and corrects the absorbent and secretory system as well. 6-2t

A bee in a rosebud: Arthur Crayon—"Miss Rosebud, I have brought a little picture which I painted especially for you. It has proved a very pleasant task during the month that I have worked on it." Pinky Rosebud—"Oh, thanks Mr. Crayon, you are very kind, but I am afraid that I must return the frame, as mother never allows me to accept presents of any value from gentlemen."

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

INVALIDS IN ESTIMATING the relative value of WHEELER'S PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA, and Hypophosphites, in treating debility, must avoid strychnine preparations, since this agent like opium and alcohol, induces a transient feeling of buoyancy, which is not the result of permanent restorative work, but over stimulation of the nerve ganglia, which must be kept up or relapse follows. Phosphates are a ready-made brain and nerve food for constructing tissue, and Hypophosphites cannot be substituted to do their work.

"Some time ago my wife took a severe cough which, in spite of all we could do, grew worse and worse. She soon began to raise blood every day. It was apparent to everybody that she was in a decline and her days were short amongst us. I obtained medical advice and tried one prescription after another, but they did no good. When all hope had gone we heard of some wonderful cures performed by Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam, and a friend drove several miles to get several bottles for us. In two weeks she was entirely cured." This testimony given by Mr. G. M. Ramsay of East Bagot, is that of thousands of others in this country.

Sad Bereavement.

We learn with regret from the Chetek, (Wisconsin) Alert of the sad bereavement suffered by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lousley former residents of Peterborough, the latter a native, being a sister of Mr. C. J. Ridley, of this town, in the death of their son Fred, who died on Jan. 14th, aged 12 years.

Charity Sermon

On Sunday evening Rev. Father Conway, Chaplain to Bishop Jamot, will preach a charity sermon under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Peterborough. The proceeds of the collection to be taken will go into the funds of this society to assist them in fulfilling their noble mission of charity in relieving the suffering and afflicted.

Snow Collapses.

The weight of the great body of snow on roofs is causing the weaker or more expanded to collapse. On Wednesday night last the roof of the bowling alley erected by Rev. Father Lynch and presented by him to the young men of his late flock, fell in and is a wreck. The alley was about to be opened for the benefit of the young men. On Saturday night about 7.30 the roof of Stevenson's coal sheds, corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets, collapsed with a crash, sinking under tons of snow. Parties who have flat, widely expanded roofs had better take warning and forestall calamity by removing the snow

Serious Accident.

We regret to have to announce that Mr. A. P. Poussette, of the law firm of Poussette & Roger, met with a most painful accident while tobogganning on last Wednesday night. He was enjoying this exciting, but dangerous amusement, on the Mud Lake road, we are informed, when by some mishap he collided with a stone fence and his bended knee striking a stone with great violence a fracture of the patella-knee-cap resulted. The bone was broken in three pieces, one transverse break across the centre and another fracture from the centre outwards of the lower half. The wound, of course, is painful, but it is not likely that any more serious result will ensue than considerable pain and a few weeks detention of the patient in his room. He is under the professional care of Dr. Halliday.

"Muldoon's Picnic."

This entertainment to be given by Gorman's Specialty Company on next Saturday evening, Feb. 10th, in Bradburn's Opera House, is the biggest chunk of solid fun that has ever "struck" the town. This is what the Norwich Telegraph says of them:

"The entertainment (Muldoon's Picnic) given by Gorman's Specialty Company last Monday evening at Burtt's Opera House, was a thoroughly enjoyable affair; all the seats in the house were taken long before the company arrived and all who were so thoughtful in securing their seats so early—and attended the Picnic are not sorry we'll vouch the comedy abounds in fun, in fact more solid fun to the square inch than anything we ever saw at the Opera House and at the same time chaste, and nothing to offend the most fastidious—Gibson and Ryan, as Muldoon and Mulcahey, were simply immense and their excentricities never failed to bring down the house. 'Ellwood,' the female impersonator, was pleasing and artistic while Miss Isabel Ward, in her xelophonic musicals and steel chimes, received several encores. They will be well received here if they ever come again."

The Late Wm. Wood.

Many of the former friends and acquaintances of William Wood, at one time a well-known and highly respected resident of this county, will be pained to hear of his death, which took place at Portland, Oregon, on Wednesday, Jan. 30th. Mr. Wood was a native of Berwickshire, Scotland, being born there in 1827. He came to Canada in 1852, and settled in the township of Harvey. Here he remained till 1879, when he removed to British Columbia, from which place he went to Portland, Oregon, where he died of congestion of the lungs. While a resident of Harvey he was a member of the municipal council, a reeve and justice of the peace. He was a prominent member of the Masonic order, a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church and a staunch Reformer. He was very highly respected for his many excellent qualities. He leaves behind him eight descendants, four sons and four daughters, two of whom are married. Many of Mr. Wood's former friends will learn with deep regret of his decease.

METHODIST UNION.

Local Endorsation of the Basis.

At the quarterly meeting of the official Board of the C. M. Church, held in the bible-class room of the George Street Church, the question of union was considered. Rev. John Shaw occupied the chair, and the following resolutions were adopted by a vote of 17 for and only 1 against:

RESOLUTIONS.

1. That our judgment and our sympathies both lead us to desire a union of the several Methodist Churches in Canada.

2. That there appear to be fewer difficulties in the way of communicating this union now than at any future time.

3. That the basis of union as submitted for our consideration commends itself to our judgment as a fairly equitable and practicable basis upon which the union may be consummated now.

4. That such difficulties as may show themselves in the practical working of the new constitution may be dealt with by the new church and amendments made until it is found to work smoothly and equitably.

5. Therefore, this quarterly meeting recommend the adoption of the basis of union as submitted.

This is another link in the chain of union that is being forged in every part of Canada.

The Quarterly Boards of Lakefield, unanimously, Norwood 16 to 1, Frazerville and Cavanville unanimously, Keene 15 to 1, and Millbrook 14 to 5, have agreed to the basis of union adopted by the joint committee.

Traffic Returns

Traffic returns of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending January 27th, 1883, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $4,928.45; freight, $9,734.99; total, $14,663.44, as compared with $12,684.43 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,979.01; and the aggregate traffic to date is $54,390.61, being an increase of $7,369.94 over 1882.

The Cathedral Concert.

Lack of space prevents our doing full justice to the most successful concert of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, given on Friday night. The choral numbers were most creditably rendered, and Misses Begley, Dunn and Delaney, and Mr. Ball, in solo acquitted themselves in a manner worthy of all praise. The instrumental duets and solos, by Misses Delaney and Lauder, were finely rendered. Mr. M. O'Meara gave an excellent reading from Longfellow. The house was packed, and the concert both musically and financially, was a most gratifying and profitable success.

Mr. Ewing's Concert.

The grand concert given in the Opera House, on Tuesday evening, by Mr. Ewing, was a grand success. We were unable, owing to other engagements, to be present and give an extended and critical report. Mrs. Caldwell's singing was magnificent, especially her superb rendering of the aria from Mozart's Il Flauto Magico; she was repeatedly recalled. Mr. Ewing's pianoforte solos were exquisitely excellent. Mrs. Chambers added new leaves to her laurels, and the members of the choir, individually and collectively, acquitted themselves with great credit.

Well Merited Tribute.

Mrs. John Flavelle, having decided to take up her residence in Lindsay, whither she goes this week, her co-workers of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church, determined to recognize the efficient and valuable services which she has rendered the church while occupying the position of Secretary-Treasurer. Accordingly, on last Thursday night, the members met Mrs. Flavelle at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Bradburn, when a feeling and eloquent address was read to Mrs. Flavelle accompanied with a magnificent Davenport in black walnut, fully equiped with all the paraphenalia of writing, including paper, envelopes, stamp, a gold pen, pencil, &c. Mrs. F. was completely taken by surprise and so overcome was she by her feelings that she delegated to Rev. Mr. Shaw, who was present, the task of replying to the address, which he did in a few graceful words. Mrs. Flavelle will be greatly missed both in general society and in the circles of her chosen church, and which she has been a zealous and devout co-operator in all undertakings for the benefit of the church. She has occupied the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society ever since its inception at the time of the opening of the George Street Church. The best wishes of a large circle of friends and the prayers of her church for many years of happiness and usefulness follow her to her new home.

A School-Girl Burns Her Child.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The first meeting of the new Board of Education of the Public and High Schools, was held on Tuesday evening in the School buildings.

Present Messrs. Stevenson Stratton, Wrighton, Robinson, Sproule, Denne, McClelland, Dumble, Kendry and Sawers.

The new members elect made and subscribed their declarations of qualification.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. W. A. Morrow, called the meeting to order and announced that the Town Council had appointed Mr. Dumble in place of Mr. Poussette, resigned; had re-appointed Mr. Rutherford, and appointed Mr. Kendry in Mr. Best's place. Also that the following had been re-elected to the Board at the late election:—Mr. Stratton, from No. 1 Ward; Mr. Wrighton from No. 2; Dr. Burnham, No. 3; and Mr. Sawers, No. 4. He then called on those present to elect their Chairman for the year.

Mr. McClelland moved, seconded by Mr. Sproule, That James Stevenson be re-elected Chairman for the current year. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Stevenson, on taking the chair, returned thanks for the renewed confidence reposed in him, and promised to discharge the duties of the office to the best of his ability.

STRIKING STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. McClelland, That the following be a committee to strike the standing committees for the year 1883, viz.:—Messrs. Wrighton, Stratton, McClelland, Sawers, Denne, and the mover. Carried.

Mr. Rutherford entered and took his seat.

The committee retired and after a short absence returned, when Mr. Dumble presented and read the following report:

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The Committee appointed to strike the Standing Committees for 1883, beg leave to recommend the following:

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.—Messrs Dumble, Cox, Wrighton, McClelland, Sawers, Rutherford.

FINANCE.—Messrs. Dumble, Kendry, Wrighton, Burnham, Stratton and Sproule.

PROPERTY.—Messrs. Wrighton, McClelland, Sawers, Weir, Robinson and Rutherford.

SCHOOL SUPERVISION.—Burnham, Kendry, Stratton, Denne, Robinson, Weir, and Sproule.

The report was on motion adopted.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

APPOINTMENT OF INSPECTOR.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Robinson, That Mr. Jas. Stratton be re-appointed Inspector.

In amendment, Mr. McClelland moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that Mr. Jas. C. Brown be appointed Inspector.

The amendment on being put was declared lost and the original motion carried.

This makes the 16th consecutive time Mr. Stratton has been appointed Inspector, having since 1866 been nominated by members of all political and religious creeds.

ENQUIRIES.

The Chairman said that the County Council had refused to give a grant this year to the High Schools, and it would now rest with the Board to take action in the matter of fees for outside pupils.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:

Adam Hall	$3 80
Melvil'e Millar	11 32
Mr. Tighe	2 00

COMMUNICATIONS.

From C. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, giving names of the new trustees.

From John Dixon, Principal, asking for two or three months leave of absence on account of ill-health, and offering to procure a competent substitute.

The request was granted, and the Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Committee on Appointments instructed to confer with the Principal as to obtaining a substitute.

NON-RESIDENT PUPILS.

The Secretary reported that in answer to an enquiry made at last meeting there were 39 non-resident pupils attending the public schools.

REPORT OF ATTENDANCE.

The Head Master's report of attendance at the public schools for the past month was read, showing the attendance to be as follows:

	On Roll.	Av.
Central School	360	191
West ward	150	126
South ward	215	177
	955	797

PROVIDING FUNDS.

A By-law to empower the Chairman and Secretary to borrow $9,000 for school purposes, received its several readings and was passed.

SCHOOL DEBENTURES.

Mr. Denne asked if any of the school debentures were being cleared off.

Mr. Stevenson said he did not think any were cleared off, but the interest on them had been reduced.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. McClelland, That the Secretary be instructed to ask the town auditors as to the amounts raised by taxes for the purpose of a sinking fund to pay off school debentures during the last twenty years, and as to the appropriation of such moneys, and how much the school debenture debt has been reduced.

HIGH SCHOOL FEES.

Moved by Mr. Kutherford, seconded by Mr. Denne, That the Board regret the action of the County Council in refusing to grant aid to the Institute, and would recommend that the fees to be charged to outside pupils, from the beginning of next term be five dollars per month, with the exception of Ashburnham, which will be admitted on the same terms as last year.

After a lengthy discussion over the question of fees, during which the action of the County Council was severely criticised in refusing to grant aid to the High School, although the county at large was receiving a very great benefit, it was Moved in amendment by Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Kendry, That the question of fees to be charged to non-resident pupils attending the High School be referred to the following committee to report at the next meeting, viz: Messrs. Dumble, McClelland, Wrighton, Cox, Denne, Rutherford, Sawers, Robinson and the Chairman.

The amendment was carried and the original motion lost.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

The Secretary was instructed to advertise for tenders for school supplies.

INSPECTOR'S VISIT TO SCHOOLS.

On motion the Inspector was required to visit the schools monthly and report not less than quarterly the result to the Board.

APPOINTING A DEPUTATION.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. McClelland, That the Chairman of this Board, Mr. Denne and the mover, be a deputation to wait on the Minister of Education and the Attorney General with a view of getting in the Consolidated School Act a clause making towns separated from counties a part of the county proper for High School purposes.—Carried.

INFORMATION ASKED FOR.

Moved by Sawers, seconded by Mr. Sproule, That the Head Master of both Public and High Schools be authorized to furnish a list of the pupils attending and the sums paid by them and what part of the county they are from, for the year 1882.

The Board then adjourned.

Embroideries, full lines of Hamburg and Swiss Embroideries, already received at Turnbull's.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLY TENDERS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR, It is, not without some degree of reluctance that I ask for space to reply to a letter appearing in your issue of 25th January, over the signature of Mr. T. J. Bird.

It will be quite obvious to those who have read it, that there are different reasons why I should prefer to allow it to pass unnoticed, but as the signature gives it respectability and as I have always considered and treated Mr. B. as a gentleman, I have decided to place the facts before the public.

I may say, however, that I consider it a very trivial affair, indeed, for a newspaper correspondence; also that it is the first time in Lakefield or elsewhere that I have been publicly accused of refusing "fair play" or "justice," to any one even if he were not, like Mr. B. a "ratepayer," but whatever he may gain in public estimation by the course he has taken I can well afford to lose.

Before referring to Mr. B's, letter I wish to make an explanation of what took place at the meeting of the School Board previous to the one complained of. Quotations unsolicited by the Board, were received from Messrs. Bird and Henderson; a motion was made that Mr. H. should furnish the supplies; an amendment was also moved that sealed tenders should be asked, the object of which could only be to give Mr. Bird another chance of getting the order; it is evident, too, that the mover of the amendment did not consider Mr. B's quotations the lower or he would not have moved for tenders, but for awarding it to Mr. B. at once as being fully entitled to it. As Mr. H. happens to be my brother (as you will see by said letter) I, with the consent of the Board, refrained from voting at all simply out of courtesy to Mr. Bird; the chairman, instead of myself, gave the casting vote and in favor of the amendment; had I exercised my privilege which I had a perfect right to do, he need not have had another opportunity of giving quotations for the supplies, and I would not have been accused of refusing fair play. I am quite willing to let the public judge, whether or not, Mr. B. has been equally courteous to me; or whether he is likely to get more fair play and justice from the individual who was so contemptibly mean as to misrepresent to him what I said at the next meeting of the board in January, at which Mr. B. says I made certain remarks after finding his tender the "lower."

I absolutely deny that I made a single one of the remarks attributed to me, notwithstanding the quotation marks. But if my veracity is doubtful compared with the source of his information I am permitted to use the names of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Gordon in support of my denial. I must also assert positively that I did not consider Mr. Bird's tender the lower. Mr. Henderson was lower on the crayons, the ink, and the paper equally as cheap, quality considered and that is the only way you can put a value on it. The amendment in favor of Mr. Bird's tender was withdrawn leaving Mr. B's to be accepted unanimously.

I moved nor seconded no motions, asked no one to do so, and, as stated above declined to vote on one occasion, out of courtesy to Mr. Bird, and yet I am made the scapegoat for the sin of the whole Board (if they committed one), by Mr. B. though he received from me greater consideration than he did from other members. The statement which he makes that I "influenced the Board" he cannot prove, while I am prepared, if necessary, to prove that I did not.

It is to be observed from the above that no member of the board gave it as their opinion that Mr. B's quotations were the lower at the December meeting, that those who favored him moved for sealed tenders instead of accepting his quotations as the lower, and that in his sealed tender his prices were just the same, while Mr. H. had reduced the price of each article, trifling in amount I admit, but the whole affair is but a trifle. I regret, however, that one, who stands so high in the public esteem for his cheerful, genial, and social qualities, should be the first to accuse me through the public press of refusing fair play, and I yet hesitate to believe that he would have done so in the spirit he has if he had been aware of the facts.

In the meantime I am prepared to defend the course I took, or any remark I made at the Board or elsewhere.

Apologizing for occupying so much of your space,

I am, dear sir,
Yours, &c.,
WM. CALDWELL.

CHARITY SERMON.

Delivered in St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, at the request of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, by Rev. Father Conway on the First Sunday in Lent, 1883.

"I have compassion on the multitude." MARK, VIII Chap., 2nd.

When the multitudes followed, through Palestine, our Divine Lord, to hear his saving doctrines, they hungered and thirsted so much after spiritual food which he so liberally dispensed to them that they seemed to forget the wants of the body. But he is not unmindful of them. Calling his disciples, he says unto them "I have compassion on the multitude," and the few loaves and fishes in his possession he miraculously multiplied so as to satisfy the thousands assembled. Whilst by this miracle He gave proof of his divinity, he wished also

TO SET AN EXAMPLE TO HIS FOLLOWERS.

He wished that we, too, should have compassion on the multitude, whom God, in his infinite wisdom, has deprived of this world's goods. We are, like the disciples, appointed by our Lord to distribute of what we have to the poor, and, as the loaves and fishes multiplied in the hands of the disciples, so will this world's goods, blessed by the Merciful God, increase in our hands, in proportion as we alleviate the sufferings of his members, the poor.

It is, then, to plead their cause that I am before you this evening and to endeavour to correct an opinion that is as common as it is erroneous, viz., that the giving of alms, or as it is commonly called, charity, is a work of supererogation, not at all obligatory upon us and can, consequently be omitted without any dereliction of duty. This principle is false, as I hope to show you, by proving—(1) We are bound to give alms.—(2) It is our interest to give them.

The false principle of being able to look with an eye of indifference, on the sufferings of the poor arises from the inordinate love we have for earthly goods, and of everything that can flatter or satisfy corrupt nature. This avaricious passion blinds the intellect, dries up the channels of compassion in the heart and

ROBS GOD'S POOR OF THEIR PATRIMONY.

That we are bound to give alms to the poor is manifest, both from the commandment of God and also from the relationship that exists between poor and rich. We are all brothers descended from a common parent and still more closely united as Christians. Does God interest himself in behalf of the poor? Does he command us to assist them? Most assuredly he does, and has done so from the beginning, even before the establishment of the law of love. In the 15th chap., and 11th verse of Deuteronomy the Lord commands his people amongst other things, to be generous to the poor. He says, "Therefore I command thee to open thy hand to thy needy and poor brother." I beg your attention to the force of the expression. It is not that I counsel you, or I advise you, but I command you. Is there, I ask you, any precept of the Bible more clearly or more unequivocally expressed than this? Again we read in the fourth chapter of Ecclesiasticus:

"Son, defraud not the poor of alms and
Turn not away thy eyes from the poor.
Despise not the hungry soul, and provoke not the poor in his want.
Afflict not the heart of the needy, and defer not to give to him that is in distress.
Reject not the petition of the afflicted, and turn not away thy face from the needy.
Turn not away thy eyes from the poor for fear of anger, and leave not to them that ask of thee to curse thee behind thy back.

What stronger language could possibly be used to show you that the giving of alms is not a work of supererogation, but of absolute and indispensible necessity,

A POSITIVE PRECEPT OF GOD,

who has the unquestionable right to dispose of all things according to his good will. "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," says holy David in the 23rd Psalm. Do we doubt of this truth? Has he not created the earth and all its products? Are they not his? Can he not dispose of them as he pleases? What is man, then, but a mere agent, a steward or treasurer of these good gifts of God?

He desires those stewards in whose hands he has placed much to pay tribute, in proportion to the amount of their possessions, and to whom? Not to himself in person, because according to the royal psalmist "he has no need of our goods"—but to his poor, whom he leaves to us as his representatives.

And now let me ask why is it that God gives abundance to some and leaves others in need? It may be said that "it is their own fault—they are slothful, indolent, spendthrifts, etc. If they worked as hard for a living as I, they would not be starving." I admit that your remark is true in a great many instances. But there are instances where it does not hold good. Very frequently do we see honesty and industry unaccompanied by their usual handmaids, comfort and abundance, and this for some reason known to God alone. Riches and earthly treasures are not the test of virtue—God forbid! They are, on the contrary, frequently the incentive of passions adding fuel to their flame and become agents of Satan instead of instruments of God's mercy, and it is for this abuse of them that God has pronounced "woe to the rich!"

Think not then, rich of the world, that that you can dispose of your goods according to your whims and caprices.

YOU ARE ONLY GOD'S AGENT

in their management and distribution. He permits you to use them, as far as they are necessary or useful to further your spiritual interests, but he reserves the surplus for the poor. He relies on you for their subsistence and charges you to take care of them. Tibi derelictus est pauper "to thee is left the poor," says Isias the prophet, and again, Orphano tu eris adjutor "to the orphan thou shalt be a helper." It is for this end that God blesses your labors and brings them to a happy termination—it is for this He gives an increase to the fruits of the earth—it is for this he gives you health and strength to fulfil the duties of your respective stations in life. If you employ them, then, for any other purpose do you not deserve that they be withdrawn from you? Is it not what you would do yourself to a steward who had disposed of your property contrary to your direction, or who would make a criminal abuse of it?

It there be anything wanting to convince you of

YOUR OBLIGATION OF ASSISTING THE POOR

let us go in spirit to the valley of Jehosephat, and there listen to the words of our divine Redeemer, addressed to the reprobate at the final separation: "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire which was prepared for the devil and his angels. For I was hungry and ye gave me not to eat; I was thirsty and ye gave me not to drink." And the reprobate, astonished at these expressions, asks, "Lord, when did we see Thee hungry or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked or sick, or in prison and did not minister to Thee?" Our Lord's answer is, "Amen, I say to you, as long as you did it not to one of the least, neither did you do it to me." We see here, beloved brethren, the reason why our Lord hurls from his face the reprobate, is simply because he neglects to perform those works of charity and mercy which he expected from them towards his poor. He does not here pronounce the sentence of condemnation against them, for the evil deeds which they have committed, but because they that came within their reach, because they did not succour the poor and the distressed.

Will you, after these clear and unequivocal expressions of truth itself, maintain that the giving of alms is only a work of supererogation, which can be omitted without any dereliction of duty. Would a just and merciful God ever condemn to eternal torments, souls ransomed by his blood, for omitting to do a thing which was not obligatory upon them? The idea would be blasphemous.

Let us now for a moment consider the relationship that exists between the poor and the rich, and the obligation resulting therefrom of assisting each other in our necessities. To be brief I will pass over the claims which each of us has upon his fellow man, in a human point of view, and will come to a namely, that of Christianity. By baptism we are incorporated in the mystic body of which Jesus Christ is the head, and as the members of the natural body mutually sympathize with and assist each other, so should we of the mystic body also sympathize with and assist each other. We have God for our Father and the Church for our Mother; we are nourished with the same spiritual food, the sacraments of the Church, and we hope to be possessors of the same undying inheritance, the beatific vision of God. "You are the body of Christ, and members of member." I. Cor., cap. xii., 27 v.

HIGHER AND HOLIER RELATIONSHIP,

And, as a member of the natural body failing to discharge its obligations becomes useless, and a burden to the others, so does the member of the mystic body, failing to discharge his duties, become a useless and decayed member,

DESERVING TO BE SEVERED

from the trunk or head. Hence St. John said, Qui non diligat manet in morte,—"He who loves not abideth in death." Now, beloved brethren, I am sure there is not one amongst us but admits that the giving of alms to our suffering brethren is not simply a work of supererogation, but is founded upon the command of God, and on the relationship that exists between us as men and Christians.

A STRICT OBLIGATION,

But as we have looked upon this work as a duty and as an obligation, let us now consider some of the advantages resulting to us from the faithful fulfillment of this duty. Our divine Lord tells us through St. Luke, cap. vi., 38 v.: "Give, and it shall be given to you; good measure and pressed down and shaken together and running over, shall they give into your bosom." Now we may ask what are the goods that shall be given to us so copiously? Goods of fortune, goods of grace, and goods of glory, these are the rewards of alms deeds and they should strongly influence us to bestow of our abundance upon Christ's suffering members, the poor. I will not dwell upon proving to you that alms deeds are

REWARDED BY TEMPORAL PROSPERITY:

I will leave the proof to the Holy Ghost where He says through the Wise Man, "He that hath mercy on the poor lendeth to the Lord" Proverbs, Cap. XIX, 17th v. Now I ask, do you for a moment imagine that a God of magnaminity will be outdone in generosity? No: but for what we give to him we may reasonably and confidently expect an increase of ten, nay, of a hundred fold. We have an instance of this in the widow of Sarepta, who whilst giving of the small quantity of oil in her possession to the prophet, Elias, found it to constantly increase, so as to supply all her wants. This reward proceeds from a first from God, who looks as done for himself, what is done for one of his little ones; and secondly, from the prayers of those whose wants we supply, "For the Lord hath heard the poor," saith the Royal Psalmist.

DOUBLE SOURCE,

How is it that two men embarking in a similar enterprise, under exactly the same circumstances, one of them succeeds beyond his expectations and the other fails ruinously? It is because the one invested some of his goods with the Lord by giving it to his poor, and their prayers and blessings ascended to the throne of God and brought down benedictions in abundance on their benefactor. Whilst he, who, relied upon himself and his own efforts, felt in his mishaps, and losses the truth of God's words, "For with the same measure that you shall mete withal, it shall be measured to you again." Luke, Chap. VI, 38th verse. Fear not then to impoverish yourself by assisting the poor and distressed: on the contrary relieving them is the surest means of advancing your temporal as well as your eternal interests. I say your eternal interests, for there is no more certain way of attracting from God, than by alms deeds—graces of conversion for the sinner, and graces of perseverance for the just. Graces of conversion, for according to holy Tobias, "For alms deliver from all sin and from death" Chap. IV, 11th v. The author of Ecclesiasticus, tells us that as water extinguishes fire, so do alms deeds resist sin, and St. Luke tells us: "Give alms and behold all things are clean for you."

The same feeling of mercy and compassion that you manifest to the poor, will God manifest to you in relieving you from the slavery of satan, in breaking the chains of sin, and restoring you to the freedom, not only of servants, but of children of God. Cornelius, the centurion, although a pagan, prayed and gave alms, and his prayers and alms ascended to Heaven, and merited for him the light of faith, for the prince of the apostles instructed him in the truths of salvation What stronger proof of the

than this? It is related in Ecclesiastical history in the Roman Breviary, that St. Martin of Tours, while yet a catechumen, that is a pagan preparing for christianity, and a soldier, having nothing but his clothing and arms, and being asked for charity in the name of Christ, took his sword and severed his cloak giving part of it to the poor man demanding alms. The next night our Lord appeared to him bearing the part of the garment of Martin, given to the poor, saying to him "Martin, a catechumen hath covered me with this garment." O, then, you, who are rich in this world's goods, but poor and needy in those of a higher order, to relieve the poor. Avert by timely charity the anger of God. The prayers and blesings of the poor in your regard, will stop the arm of God's anger, already raised for your chastisement. Follow the advice of the prophet Daniel, to King Nabuchodonosar, "Redeem thou thy sins with alms."—Chap. IV, 24th v.

RETRENCH YOUR SUPERFLUITIES

If the giving of alms be necessary for the conversion of the sinner, it is of equal necessity for the

for two things are required to insure our perseverance. On the part of God, choice graces, and on our part co-operation with them. Now, alms deeds will secure for us both these means—"for God provideth for him that showeth favour" says Ecclesiasticus, and a co-operation with these graces is the inevitable result of alms deeds. For the royal prophet says of him who gives them, "that the Lord will deliver him in the evil day." Yes, my brethren, in that day, evil for many, when the soul about to depart from the body, looks into the dark vista of eternity, and when the powers of hell will be united and organized to effect its destruction in its final struggle, the charitable man will look upon its exit with calmness and composure the promise of God is given him—in the evil day the Lord will deliver him. The prayers of some of those whose are now poured forth to God, "O Lord," say they, "this thy servant had compassion and mercy on us while on earth; save him now; suffer him not to perish eternally; extend to him, as you have promised, that mercy and charity which he so often extended to us." God will hear their prayer, and, in this evil hour deliver him. Happy soul, that by your mercy deserved mercy, now when it is most required! Blessed alms deeds, that deserve so much from Jesus, inspire the poor soul in its struggles with so much confidence, and cause it to hear

DISTRESS HE SO OFTEN RELIEVED

THOSE CONSOLING WORDS

"Come, you blessed of my father, and possess the Kingdom prepared for you," etc.

What a difference between the charitable man and the hardened miser who hoarded up his money to leave to ungrateful heirs? These heirs he will behold, even before the breath leaves him, struggling for his riches with as much eagerness as the devils struggle for his soul. While he is yet conscious, but unable to speak, he begins to comprehend the advice of our Saviour, "Make to yourself friends of the mammon of iniquity," but it is too late. The angry face of God confronts him as

THESE DREADFUL WORDS

"Depart from me, ye cursed," fall upon his ears, "I was hungry, and you gave me not to eat," etc.

But I consider that I have said enough to convince you that the goods of glory are the recompense of alms deeds, as also are the goods of grace, and often are also the goods of this world. "Make then, to yourself friends of the mammon of iniquity, that when you shall fail, they may receive you into everlasting dwellings." "Give, and it shall be given you; good measure, and pressed down and shaken together, running over shall they give into your bosom." Give with cheerfulness; for

GOD LOVES THE CHEERFUL GIVER."

And now to you members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, let me address a few words. They will be few for I do not wish to derogate from your reward prepared by God, in praising or flattering you. Continue your good work. You are marked peculiarly as God's own. "By this shall you know them, etc." Seek out the poor and needy, banish cold and poverty from their wretched hovels—wipe away the tears of distress from the eyes of the widow and the orphan; the angels will record your conduct in the Book of Life. Save the poor erring brother or sister from destruction by your timely aid, your good advice. Heaven's choicest blessings are in store for you during time and eternity.

And you my good friends who are not members of that society: let me exhort you not to leave all the reward to them. We too, should have a share of it; the poor are ours as well as theirs. Let us assist them to continue and extend their good work! As co-operators with them in relieving the poor, we will be sharers with them in the reward. I may say for the information of other denominations, that the members of the society give with judgment and discrimination. They use a wise judgment in bestowing food, fuel and clothing, so that it cannot be diverted to sinful purposes. They bestow what best suits the particular case, and in their dispensation of charity they know

NEITHER CREED, COUNTRY NOR COLOR.

Such distinctions would not be charity. Give then, to-night generously, according to your means. Lend to the Lord; it will be REPAID TO YOU ABUNDANTLY.

Deserve that the shelter of God's protection may be thrown around you on the evil day.

That those consoling words, "Come, ye blessed of my father, and possess the kingdom prepared for you," may be addressed to each of you on account of your charity to God's poor, is the blessing I wish you. Amen.

The Evils of Tobacco.

Prince Charles, the brother of the emperor of Germany, is dead. He was an immoderate smoker, and his death was no doubt hastened by his indulgence in the horrible habit of smoking. Such excess was sure to be punished, and he was cut off by death at the early age of eighty-three years, an awful warning to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco. The Prince was born in 1801, never did anything remarkable, left a great many children and grand-children, and was distinguished for nothing more than health and good spirits. PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 15, 1883.

Adding Insult to Injury.

Before the campaign closes Mr. Carnegie promises to develop into a rank red communist—a leveller as ultra as Jack Cade. In his address he declares against a higher education, asserting that too much money is spent on higher education namely, (as he explained in his speech at Madill's), on high schools and collegiate institutes. Let us see what he complains of. In the estimates for 1883 there is set down as grants to public, separate and poor schools the sum of $255,979, divided as follows:—

Public schools	$225,600
Separate schools	14,381
Poor schools	15,989
	$255,979
High schools, etc	$ 84,404
Excess to public schools	$171,575

These figures show that the high schools are not greatly overshadowing the public schools.

Then there is this to be considered: the high schools are of immense advantage in the way of preparing teachers for the public schools, and should be credited with that work in considering the cost of their maintenance.

Thus it would seem that the Conservative candidate is simply finding fault for the sake of fault-finding, or, else, he holds the opinion, which his language leads one to infer, that he thinks a common school education good enough for the farmers—the majority of the people. He advocates the practical extinction of the higher schools, at least as far as government aid is concerned. If any one wants to rise higher than the grade of a public school education, he must do it "at his own expense. The Conservative candidate evidently forgets that because the son or daughter of a poor man is poor, that he or she may have aspirations for higher things. Why close the door so that the poor man's child may not rise? The ranks of our legislatures, of our professions and of even the bench, are plentifully represented by men who, but for the liberality assisted by the liberal educational system of Ontario, would not have been able to secure an education fitting them for the exalted positions they now hold, and would have been still, in all probability, "hewers of wood and drawers of water." Mr. Carnegie takes the position, "once humble keep them down," "once obscure close the door to distinction."

But the candidate goes farther than this: he not only wants to cripple the High schools and thus cut off the supply of teachers to the public schools and thus cripple them, but he even denounces the Normal schools and practically accuses the students of felonious intentions—securing an education under false pretenses by making the profession of teaching a stepping stone to some profession or other. This is a downright insult—adding insult to injury, to a large and most respectable class of educationists. But when was the candidate ever known to yield to the dictates of common courtesy, when the rancour of political partizanship, suggested the better advisability of insulting words or insulting insinuations?

Mr. Carnegie vs. Mr. Meredith

In his address to the electors, Mr. Carnegie expresses his opposition to the "reckless and unnecessary extravagance" of the Mowat Administration, and in contradiction to this, in his campaign utterances he announced his unswerving fidelity to Mr. Meredith, the leader, (subject of course to Sir John's instructions) of the Conservative party in Ontario. Now it is only natural to ask, if Mr. Carnegie succeeds in being elected, and if Mr. Meredith secures the confidence of the province, and becomes Mr. Mowat's successor as Prime Minister, what prospect is there that the "reckless expenditure" will be curtailed? Mr. Meredith does not agree with Mr. Carnegie that there has been any reckless expenditure; if he had done so he would have made some bona fide attempt to expose it. But he has not practically shown nor earnestly tried to show, that the financial Administration of the Mowat Government has been unwise, nor attempted to reduce the expenditure complained of by Mr. Carnegie. Take, for instance the last four years of the administration, the last lease of power from the electors. During that time the expenditure has been about $10,000,000, as follows:

In 1880	$2,518,186 80
" 1881	2,545,053 36
" 1882	2,920 161 05
" 1883 (estimated)	2,559 283 63
	10 582,684 84

With all this necessary expenditure on behalf of the public interests, if there had been any grounds for Mr. Carnegie's blind party charge of "reckless extravagance" it would have been supposed that a shrewd and capable statesman, such as Mr. Meredith is claimed by his admirer to be, and whom he declares, he will unflinchingly support, would have protested against millions of it. Yet what is the fact? Of all this vast expenditure, Mr. Meredith has only felt called on to protest against a comparatively paltry $40,770. After all of Mr. Mowat's "reckless extravagance" Mr. Meredith found only one two hundred and fiftieth part sufficiently objectionable to bring to adverse vote. This was composed of the following items:

Lieut. Governor's trip	$ 5,570
Immigration	20,400
Agricultural Commission	5,000
School of Practical Science	5,000
New Territory Survey	3,000
Inspector of Division Courts	1,800
	$ 40,770

And he failed to make the House see that even these morsels, compared to the aggregate expenditure, were unnecessary. There could be no more emphatic testimony to the honesty and economy of the financial administration of the Mowat Government than the fact that the leader of the Opposition could find only such comparatively trifling objections as those alluded to. Mr. Carnegie complains of "reckless and unnecessarily extravagant expenditure," yet he declares himself a "thick and thin supporter" of Mr. Meredith, who holds a decidedly different opinion, for with all his opportunities he has not even attempted in earnest to show that there are any grounds for the Tory candidate's reckless statements in reference to the financial record of the Mowat Government." Either Mr. Carnegie is false in his assertions, or Mr. Meredith is guilty of grave neglect of duty in omitting to expose such "reckless extravagance," and is therefore unfit to be trusted with the destines of the province, with even Mr. Carnegie a zealous supporter. The latter may spit himself upon either horn of the dilemma he chooses. His position in regard to this matter is as inconsistent as his whole record has been.

Leaves From Mr. Read's Record.

Mr. Read, the Conservative candidate for East Peterborough, comes before the people with a parliamentary record, which, apart from the bad policy he now supports, shows how dangerous a man he is to be trusted with the oversight of the interests of the riding. It will be remembered that he, by his vote, aimed a blow at responsible Government, by intrusting the Sandfield Macdonald Ministry with $1,500,000, to be spent in aid of railways, without having first received the approval of the representatives of the people whose money was thus to be spent—an usurpation fraught with danger to public liberty and constitutional government.

This portion of Mr. Read's record is bad enough, though it was neutralized by the patriotism of the legislature, but another of his acts, that is yet bearing fruit may prove to be of the gravest detriment to the financial interests of this county of the riding which Mr. Read now seeks to represent.

The Bill to give effect to the county by-law granting a bonus of $75,000 to the Grand Junction Railway received Mr. Read's vote and support, and although Mr. Carnegie, who at that time represented Durham Carnegie in the name of West Peterborough, sought to clear himself with his constituents by moving a bunkombe resolution on the third reading, yet he must shoulder his share of the responsibility of an act that has been so great a source of vexation and expense to this county. Mr. Carnegie allowed the bill to pass from stage to stage, without notifying his constituents how their interests were threatened, and delayed taking decided action till the bill came up for its third reading, when he had reason to be sure that any resolution moved at that stage would be voted down. It will thus be seen that Mr. Read and Mr. Carnegie were in this important matter, indifferent to the interests of the county; that through their indifference, to put it the most mildly, the county has been put to the expense of a long, tedious and costly litigation, that never would have arisen if its representatives had looked sharply after the interests of their constituents. And the trouble is not over yet. It is true that the Supreme Court, a short time since, decided in favour of the county, but if Mr. Bickford, as he threatens, and will doubtless do, takes the matter to the Privy Council, the precious blunders of its representatives will, if the suit is lost, impose a further expense, of, it is estimated, $140,000 including bonus, interest, law costs, etc., on the county of Peterborough.

The electors of both ridings are in duty bound in their own interests, to cast their votes against the two candidates that have failed upon trial to show themselves careful guardians of the public interests—who have been weighed in the balance and have been found wanting.

The Outside Question.

Wanting any other kind of platform, the Tory party in Ontario are trying to force an outside question on the electors, hoping thus to obscure the burning questions on which they oppose the real interests of the province. They want to make it appear that the N. P. is on its trial. Regarding this the Toronto Telegram, an N. P. Organ, says:—

"It is assumed by the chief organ of the Conservatives that all who voted for the N. P. will vote for Mr. Meredith. Of course this is all nonsense. Mr. Meredith has nothing to do with the N. P., just as the N. P. has nothing to do with Mr. Meredith. Scores of Liberals who voted for the N. P. will not vote against their party in Ontario politics. The Mail is reckoning without its host."

This appears to us to be according to the facts. We have before pointed out, and reassert now, that if every riding in Ontario returned a supporter of Mr. Mowat, such a result would not affect the N. P. more than the voting on a cane for the most popular man at a pic-nic would affect it. It is simply child's play to assume that the N. P. in any way forms an element in the local elections. That question affects the Dominion generally and can only be reversed by the voice of the Dominion electors. If every province in the Dominion, at their local elections, voted in condemnation of the N. P., it would not have the slightest effect upon it.

Only Politicians Cry, "Change"

The Opposition seem determined to force on the municipalities what the latter have expressed no desire to get, namely, the power of issuing licenses. This return to the old system would be a noxious retrogression, injurious, not only to the interests of sobriety, morality and and temperance but also to hotel keepers, who now are protected by the Crooks Act in their successful attempts to keep respectable and creditable houses of entertainment. There is now almost an utter absence of the low groggeries which brings disgrace on the hotel business.

Hotel keepers don't desire any change, the municipalities don't desire it, and those who have a paramount interest in the preservation of the moral tone of society have emphatically pronounced against any change.

Some time since, the London Advertiser sent to prominent public men the following questions in reference to the License Act:

1. Do you approve as a whole of the Crooks License Act as a measure for the regulation of the liquor traffic?

2. Are there any amendments you would desire to recommend?

3. Do you desire to see the issuing of public licenses placed in the hands of the municipal councils?

Of all the replies received not one disapproved of the Crooks Act, except those who were in favor of a total abstenence measure. A few were disposed to recommend changes of detail, and the following are the answers given to the third query:

Rev. Father Stafford—Most decidedly not; such a change would be a curse.

Rev. John Wood, Ottawa—No! a thousand times, no! Our municipal councils are two much under the control of corner groceries and tavernkeepers et al. to be entrusted with the licensing power. The taking away of the licensing power from the municipal councils is one of the crowning excellences of the Crooks Act.

W. H. Howland, Toronto—No.

W. B. McMurrich, Toronto—In the light of past experience, I have no hesitation in saying it would be an unmitigated evil to go back to the old condition of affairs, nor do I think the municipal councils wish to have any more to do with them.

Rev. W. Herridge, London—I think it would be a great mistake.

Rev. W. H. Withrow, Toronto—No; it would bring them too much under the influence of the traffic.

Rev. W. A. McKay, Woodstock—I would regret very much to see the issuing of licenses again placed in the hands of the municipal councils. The history of the past very clearly shows that the councils have not the moral strength sufficient to use such a power aright. But the Crooks Act does not go far enough. Crime should be prohibited, not regulated.

Mr. Mark Irish, Toronto—I would never allow the issuing of licenses to be in the power of the municipalities.

Rev. Manly Benson—No; but would like to see greater care shown in the selection of the license commissioners. They should be men of undoubted integrity.

Rev. Dr. Cochrane, Brantford—No.

Dr. Oldright, Toronto—An emphatic no.

Rev. W. Pirritte, Hamilton—By no means; I think it would be unwise and dangerous.

Rev. L. Gaetz, London—Certainly not; matters are bad enough as they are.

Rev. Dr. Wild, Toronto—I do not: the Crooks License Act, I think to be a good one. It is a great and wholesome advance on all other so far. It is, I think also fully abreast of the age. It is as much as temperance men can reasonably ask and most certainly as much as they can carry out. It should remain in force, for I regard it as honourable, fair, and equitable to all. It might, perhaps, be improved in some of its details. I cannot say; but this I do say, that public sentiment needs improvement more than the Act.

Rev. Principal Caven, Toronto—No; neither on general grounds nor in view of results would I desire this to be done.

Rev. H. D. Hunter—No, never; but license Commissioners should be selected of nearly as may be evenly from both political parties.

Rev. Dr. Sanderson, London—The License commissioners should not be appointed for political party purposes, and a change without introducing corresponding evils would undoubtedly be an improvement.

Rev. W. R. Parker—My answer to questions 1 and 3, you have already published in the resolution of the General Conference Committee on Temperance.

Rev. W. Williams—No, nor in any other hands.

D. B. Chisholm, Hamilton—I do not approve of placing the licensing power back into the hands of the Municipal Councils, because it would be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

This is a strong award of friendly testimony, while it is a significant fact that the only opposition that has been shown towards the Crooks Act has been shown by politicians sitting in the cold shade of opposition.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE CARNIVAL.

The fancy dress skating carnival took place on Wednesday 31st January, and proved a success beyond expectation; the evening was favorable and the ice in excellent condition. The Peterborough Fire Brigade Band was present and the music they furnished throughout the evening added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion.

The rink was very tastefully decorated with evergreens, and brilliantly illuminated for the occasion with a large display of lamps and chinese lanterns.

By eight o'clock about fifty in costume were on the ice, representing different nationalities, from royalty down to the simple peasant girl and fishwife. The army and navy, the stage, the turf, the ring and even the heathen Chinee were all represented. Fairy land, as well as the land of the south were not forgotten, the fairies making a striking contrast to the Topseys.

These varied characters in rich costumes, with the graceful movements of the wearers, was a most pleasing and amusing sight, and was much appreciated by the large number of spectators present. The following is a list of the names with the character assumed, of those who left their cards with the manager:

LADIES.

Mrs. R. Strickland	Swiss Peasant Girl
Mrs. Wright	Mother Goose
Mrs. Richardson	Fairy Queen
Miss I. Huston	Good Luck
" B. Graham	Coming thro' the Rye
" M. Todd	Milk Maid
" E. Clarin	"Iolanthe" a Fairy
" Scott	Liberty
" L. Grylls	Persian Girl
" S. Griffin	Vivandiere
" A. Wynne	Red Riding Hood
" E. Baptie	Flower Girl
" H. Johnston	Fishwife
" T. Peyroff	Little Gleaner
" A. Cox	Morning
" J. Sutton	Water Sprite

GENTLEMEN.

Mr. G. Chapin	King of Diamonds
" W. Barlee	Robin Hood
" Geo. Mowry	Jockey
" R. C. Strickland	C.O.F.
" F. Graham	Hamlet
" W. F. Grylls	Highlander
" W. Strickland	British Ensign
" J. Jayes	H. M. S. "Bonanza"
" W. Graham	Gentleman of the 17th Century.
" R. Cotton	King Charles I
" W. Arnott	Arabian Chief
" R. Richardson	Spanish Bull Fighter
" B. Eden	Stars and Stripes
" T. J. Bird	King of Spain
Master C. Clarin	Topsy
" K. Kincaid	Young Cree Indian
" A. Bell	Topsy
" A. E. Griffin	Chinese Ambassador
" Lockhart	Peggy Short
" D. Simons	Young Nig
" W. Alexander	Cricketer
" T. Barlee	Past Age
" Sweetman	Reefer
" D. Cottingham	Business
" Jellett	Cards
" McQueen	Cards
" B. Elliott	Clown
" H. Strickland	Highwayman

The following gentlemen acted as judges: Mr. McCallum, Chief Engineer, Ontario Government works; Mr. Tait of Peterborough, and Messrs. LeFevre and Shearer. They had no enviable task to perform owing to the great variety of characters assumed, and the very superior costumes in which so many had arrayed themselves.

The prizes were awarded to the following:

LADY IN COSTUME.—1st, Miss Ella Huston, Peterborough; 2nd, Miss Ella Clarin.

GENTLEMEN IN COSTUME.—1st, Mr. R. C. Strickland; 2nd, Mr. F. Graham, Peterborough.

FOR GIRLS.—1st, Miss A. Wynne; 2nd, Miss E. Baptie.

FOR BOYS.—1st, Master K. Kincaid, Peterborough; 2nd, Master E. Griffin.

Special prize, by Mr. Henderson, girls under 15 years, Miss E. Baptie.

Barrel Race, special prize by Mr. B. Graham, Master C. Clarin.

A second race was won by Master A. Bell.

The barrel race was so hotly contested that it caused considerable excitement among the spectators. There will probably be one more carnival this season when prizes of greater value will be given for costume, comic and fancy, also for fancy skating.

SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting of the School Board was held in the Council Chamber on Friday, 2nd February.

Present Mr. C. J. Galvin, Chairman, and Messrs. Gordon, Sanders, Dr. Armour and Dr. Caldwell.

The business was to select a teacher; there were about twenty-five applications five of which were selected for further consideration.

The Board adjourned.

MR. BIRD'S CRITICISM.

Mr. B. finds fault with my report of a resolution in connection with his tender to the Public School Board. "It is strange," he says "that your correspondent did not report this resolution as it occurred." Now the "resolution" was not reported at all. The fact that the tender was awarded to Mr. Henderson, was carried. If facts are given, not prejudicial to those interested, no one should feel aggrieved. If Mr. Bird wished for a fuller account of the proceedings of the P. S. B. he might just have said so, instead of saying it was not reported as it occurred. It was written for the public, not for individuals.

ACCIDENT.

On Thursday last Mrs. Dwyer, mother-in-law of Mr. Cranley slipped on some ice, fell and broke her thigh bone, injuring herself severely.

How It Works.—Malarial Diseases, so prevalent in the Spring and Fall, such as Ague, Chill Fever, Bilious Fever, &c., depend upon an inactive state of the liver, bowels, skin, kidneys, etc., for did these outlets of morbid poisonous matter free the system properly, no sickness would result. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually regulates these organs and corrects the absorbent and secretory system as well. 6-2t

To the free and Independent Electors of the WEST RIDING OF THE County of Peterboro'

GENTLEMEN,

At the solicitation of many personal and political friends in the Constituency, I offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the coming election for the House of Assemble of Ontario.

The Government of the Hon. Oliver Mowat has my sympathy and support, believing that they have acted fairly by all classes in the community, and that there administration has been characterized by good faith, good judgment and liberality.

If elected, it will be my endeavor to consider fairly and without partizanship all matters brought before the Assembly, and support those measures that in my opinion would be for the welfare of the whole community.

The efforts of the present Government to promote the interests of the agriculturist, and to assist our pioneer settlers, have my full approval.

I would be in favor of promoting and assisting further technical education for our young artisans.

As a citizen of Ontario, I am very desirous of preserving our Provincial rights, and will support every effort of the administration to obtain possession of the valuable territory awarded to us by the eminent and properly appointed arbitrators, and which is now being wrongfully withheld.

Soliciting the favor of your votes and influence.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

Letter from Archbishop Lynch to the Press.

Suggestions for the Improvement of the Land and People of the Emerald Isle.

His Grace, Archbishop Lynch, has forwarded a letter to the press for publication. Unfortunately our space requires a slight curtailment, but all the points of the communication are amply given in the following:

The condition of Ireland is still most deplorable. The cruelties of the evictions of thousands of poor impoverished families from miserable huts and homes, in the depths of winter, brings a blush of shame on the cheeks of those who are not entirely hardened to the common rights of humanity. If mere animals were treated as those human beings are, philanthropic societies would have good reason to enter a prosecution against the barbarous authors of such cruelties, and still they continue in the nineteenth century, and are even partially condoned by some, because practised on the mere Irish. We have no pity for those who can pay their rents, but who do not pay them; but we have earnest sympathy for the poor who, through no fault of theirs, but owing to the bad land and bad weather, cannot keep themselves and their families above starvation, not to speak of rent. A government which permits, and landlords who carry out deeds of oppression so barbarous, will meet a just God, who will vindicate, even in this life, the ways of His holy providence towards the poor. The archbishop and the bishops of a whole province of Ireland, who, to fulfil the promise made at their consecration, "to be the fathers of the poor," approached lately the head of the government of Ireland, to beg for the lives of the poor of their province, but alas! We must restrain our feeling. Hon. Mr. Gladstone, who has done more to redress the unjust grievances of Ireland than any other statesman of England, and would do more if his countrymen would sustain him, proposes as a partial remedy, to help the poor people in overcrowded districts to emigrate. We are quite sure that a vast number of poor will avail themselves of this offer, and will come to this country. It is large enough for all, and labourers and mechanics are required in many parts of it.

The climate of Ireland and England has undergone for the last fifty years a very great change. There are now constant rains and fogs, so that certain crops do not mature as formerly. Wheat is uncertain, potatoes more so, apples which ripened in Ireland fifty years ago now shrivel on the trees; America supplies that commodity. The moisture of the earth is destructive to the hoofs of the sheep and they rot in thousands. There is not enough of sunshine to dry the turf, which is the fuel of the poor. This state of things will become the normal state of Ireland. The summers and winters of Ireland are interlapping; large masses of heavy leaden clouds, almost touching the ground, are seen careering over all Ireland, and nearly every day pours down its heavy showers on the already flooded earth. The question is asked Is this to continue? We fear that it will, and perhaps increase. The warm Gulf Stream which formerly only cast a wave around Ireland now embraces it, and with its thick vapors inundates it. . . . . Facts especially noticed for the last fifty years or more, have proved sufficiently the grounds of our fears about the constantly increasing dampness of the climate of Ireland. What now is to be done to make that island habitable and fairly prosperous under its changed circumstances? To alter the climate is not in the power of man, but by man's ingenuity and industry Ireland can yet be made a prosperous country.

1. By planting trees. Ireland was called in Pagan times the "forest island:" the bogs, the mountains, and the hill were covered with trees, as their remains amply prove, and at the present day, by the industry of the monks of Mount Mellery, Caboquine, trees now grow where the mountain heather alone flourished. Instead of trying to bring under other cultivation waste and barren lands, which will not repay the outlay, let trees be planted as in Switzerland.

Let the government of Ireland appropriate, as is done in other countries of Europe, lands that are only fit for trees, to the peasants, free of all rent and award premiums for the planting of trees. In twenty years Ireland would be supplied with fuel and the commencement of a commerce in timber, and in the meantime would supply employment, which also means food, to a starving people. The deer and other animals of the mountain forest would supply a certain portion of food and other materials to the peasants, as in other mountainous countries.

There is a great number of lakes and rivers in Ireland which should be stocked with fish—not for the exclusive right of the rich landlords, but for the food of the peasants. Our good and paternal government of Canada thus utilizes our rivers and lakes, not because the people are in need of this means of support, but because the work is useful. The poor mountaineers of the Pyrenees have their fish for Friday fattened in their little ponds without let or hindrance from the landlords.

2. To divide into reasonable farms those immense tracts of country now under cattle. Pope Pius VII., seeing that large tracts of his dominions possessed by great princes and lords, were used only for the breeding and rising of cattle, which were sold for the exclusive benefit of their owners, made a law requiring a certain number of acres to be cultivated in proportion to that which was left uncultivated. His Holiness thus helped commerce, procured food for the inhabitants, and employment for a great number of men, and enhanced the value of his state and did no injury to the princes. This should be done in Ireland. Pope Leo XII. found another grievance. By a decree of the allied powers after the fall of Napoleon I., large tracts of territory in the states of the church were taken from the convents and monasteries and given for the support of the Beauharnois family. Those estates were farmed under the supervision of agents, as is unfortunately too often the case in Ireland with the estates of absentee landlords; hence evictions, quarrels, assassinations, and horrid crimes, because the too natural outcome of such a system.

Under the direction of the pope a company was formed in Rome that bought up the estates of the Beauharnois family, and re-sold them to the occupiers, to the advantage of both, thus ending what was a great calamity; a step somewhat in this direction has been commenced in Ireland, and it is to be hoped that it will be fully carried out.

Draining the land can only be done effectually by government plans, and the people themselves and their children will carry out the work cheaply and well. The soil of Ireland, if properly managed, is capable of supporting treble the present population. By adopting the measures that we have indicated, the people will be loyal, prosperous, and the happiest on earth. The experience of the past centuries amply proves from the history of the Irish at home and abroad that they will never sit down contentedly to be oppressed worse than slaves, or to change their religion for any worldly consideration, and for these noble qualities every right-minded man honors them. To carry out reforms that will content an intellectual and high-spirited people a paternal government residing in Ireland would be necessary.

Let the women of Ireland keep to their resolve neither to wear or buy for themselves or their children anything that is not manufactured in Ireland, and their decaying and abandoned industries will revive and flourish, and render the country prosperous. It is deplorable to see wool going from Ireland to England in large quantities to be manufactured in the English looms, and returned in light shoddy cloth which will wear out in a very short time. The Irish have to emigrate to be employed in the factories there in order that their labor and the products of Ireland may go to enrich English merchants and add to the already vast wealth and revenue of England. If we add to this the money that is drained from Ireland by absentee landlords, we cannot be surprised at the miserable condition of the people, and at their restlessness under their manifold grievances. Dean Swift is reported to have often said to his countrymen, "Take nothing from England except her coals and burn them."

Ireland should not be governed for the benefit of England alone as hitherto. It has taken many years for an English parliament to redress a few of the minor grievances of Ireland that could be done in a few months by an Irish parliament. The idea of disintegration as the chief objection to home rule is a bugbear held up as an excuse to refuse justice to Ireland. As emancipation was granted, so home rule will be granted to prevent disintegration and civil war. English statesmen should recollect that against the five millions of down-trodden people in Ireland, there are more than double that number of free Irishmen and their children abroad who feel sorely indignant at the treatment they or their parents received. It is by justice that empires flourish.

And Englishmen must not suppose that their empire is everlasting, or that the present prosperity of the island is always to continue. There may be yet, in the no distant future, mighty upheavings of the masses of the people who, unfortunately, are becoming daily innoculated by socialistic principles. Humanity shudders at the thought, and every good Christian and loyal subject should do what in him lies to forward the amelioration of the condition of the working classes which form the vast body of the nation, and thus by justice and humanity a bloody tragedy similar to that which occurred in France at the end of the last century may be averted.

Crown Lands

The Bobcaygeon Independent lives on the spot and may, therefore, be supposed to speak by the book. Its remarks in reference to the Ontario Government policy regarding the treatment of settlers is worthy of especial attention:

The Conservative supporters of Mr. Meredith in the back country, who back him in his attempt to overthrow Mr. Mowat's Government, will not be greatly encouraged by the proceedings last week in the Local Parliament. Mr. Meredith attacked Mr. Mowat's policy in the matter of Crown Lands and Colonization Roads, declaring that the money voted for the latter was improperly spent, and that the pine lands should be exclusively kept for the lumbermen. The Crown Land Commissioner made a very vigorous and unanswerable reply, and completely knocked the arguments out of his opponents, but Mr. Meredith's friends allowed it to be clearly seen what would be their policy should they be promoted to office, and that policy the back country may fairly dread. Our friends in the north, it must be clearly understood, ask for and require more than justice—they need not only just but generous treatment and that they have received from Mr. Mowat. The Commissioner spoke well and truly on this subject. He said:

The question of doing something to settle up our new country was one demanding the attention of the Government. They all knew that for the last three or four years there had been great excitement about the North-West, and a large number had been drawn up there, and for the last few years in consequence of that they had not been able to do as much for the settlement of our districts as they might otherwise have done. He was not complaining of the immigration to Manitoba; he was only glad to see that Province settled up; but in view of that fact the Government were entitled to special credit for the very satisfactory progress made. During the last ten years the Government had sent in on an average 2,000 settlers a year to Muskoka and Parry Sound alone, saying nothing about the other districts. The population a few years ago was estimated to be about 7,000 now it was set down at 30,000; and he was happy to say, taking it all in all, they were progressing and satisfied. He admitted it would be impossible to settle these new districts unless they made a liberal expenditure of money on colonization roads. Had this Government met the requirements of the people in that respect? Within the last ten years they had constructed no less than 1,849 miles of road and 162 bridges, and repaired 3,617 miles of colonization roads. Then they had extended a railway up into the district as far as Gravenhurst, had given liberal grants for the extension of a railway up into Haliburton, and they had aided the Kingston and Pembroke Railway. They had aided the Victoria Railway and made provision for extending it to the Ottawa River, if capitalists could be got to take hold of it. In addition to extending a railway through Muskoka, the Government had given a grant of $8,000 a mile to aid in constructing a road from Gravenhurst to Sault Ste. Marie, and he was glad to be able to say that there was a good prospect of the Grand Trunk Railway Company taking hold of the work and pushing it through to completion in a short time.

The Commissioner closed his speech by making some rather hard hits at the land policy of the Dominion Government. He remarked:

He would ask the House to look at the rules and regulations provided for the Free Grants. They were easily accessible to the settler, and when he went into the new country he knew exactly what he was entitled to and what he should expect. They had none of the complicated arrangements which existed at Ottawa. The Government had granted no monopolies, licensed no colonization companies. They kept the land for the settler and not for monopolists, and he would like it if his hon. friends were able to say that the lands in the great North-West were being settled in the same way. Settlers going up into the North-West found the best of the land in the hands of companies.

The debate closed by Mr. Meredith declaring that the expenditure of money on the colonization roads was an entirely wrong policy, and was used as a means of political corruption. The back country folk will be well able to form a true idea of what amount of truth there may be in Mr. Meredith's charges.

COUNCIL MEETING. The first meeting of the Council elect for 1883 was held in the Town Hall, on the 15th of January. The members having taken the required declarations of qualification and office, took their seats, the Reeve, Henry Collins, Esq., in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Reeve reappointed Mr. James Edwards auditor on his behalf, and on motion of Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Dunlop, Mr. Joseph L. Walton was appointed auditor on behalf of the Council. A by-law confirming the appointments received its several readings, was passed, signed and sealed. A by-law to appoint certain township officers was read a first time. On motion of Mr Brownscombe, seconded by Mr. Forster, it was ordered that the sum of twenty-five dollars be paid to Mr. R. B. Rogers P. L. S., for services rendered in connection with the "Dobbin fence." On motion of Mr. Dunlop, seconded by Mr. Forster, Joseph Garrett was granted four dollars as charity. The Council adjourned to the 29th of January.

SECOND MEETING. The Council met again on Monday, January 29th, pursuant to adjournment, all the members present, except Mr. Brownscombe. The Reeve, H. Collins Esq., in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A by-law appointing certain township officers was read a second and third time and passed. The following accounts were presented and, on motion, ordered to be paid:—Mr. D. W. Dumble costs in the Dobbin suit, $227.04; Dennistoun & Hall, on account of Dobbin suit, $100.00; Joseph Bennet, Jr., repairing culvert, 1.00. A by-law to appoint pound keepers, fence-viewers, and pathmasters was read a first time. On motion, the Council adjourned to the 2nd day of April.

IN THE history of medicine no preparation has received such universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by John McKee. 3-8t.

G. W. Mingay, Parkdale, Toronto, writes: "My wife had several very severe attacks of cramps in the stomach. Hearing of DR. AUSTIN'S PHOSPHATINE, and its pleasantness to take, I gave her two bottles, and she has not had an attack since, and her health is much improved." For sale by all druggists. 3-8t.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament First Session.

The Dominion Parliment began its sessions on Thursday. The proceedings in the House of Commons were confined to the election of Speaker. Mr. G. A. Kirpatrick, member for Frontenac, was appointed on motion of Sir John Macdonald seconded by Sir Hector Langevin. Short speeches were made by Hon. Mr. Blake and Hon. Mr. Mackenzie. The House adjourned at 3:30 p.m.

FRIDAY.

To-day at three o'clock His Exelency the Governor General, formerally opened the first session fifth Parliment Canada and delivered the following:

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

It is my pleasing duty on the opening of a New Parliment to congratulate you on the auspicious circumstances under which you will begin your labours.

Canada is in the enjoyment of peace and prosperity, and all her industries, agricultural, manufacturing, and commercial, are in a healthy and improving condition.

Following the example of my distinguished predecessor, I paid a visit of some length to British Columbia last season. The great natural resources of that Province promise that as soon, as the Pacific Railroad is completed an impulse to its prosperity commensurate with the progress made elsewhere will be assured. Meanwhile the disposal of the lands set aside in aid of the railway to actual settlers will add to the importance and wealth of the Province.

While passing through the United States, I was rejoiced to observe many evidences of regard for the Empire of which this country forms so large a portion. May this friendship, which is so fully returned by us, be as enduring as it is natural and advantageous to the mutual interest of both great nations.

The steady flow of settlers into Manitoba and the North-West territories last year, and the assurance received of an increased immigration during the coming season, promise well for the early development of those fertile and salubrious regions.

It is important that the laws relating to the representation of the people in Parliament should be amended, and the electoral franchises existing in the several Provinces assimilated. A measure for this purpose will be submitted for your consideration.

I am advised that the judgment of the Lords of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council delivered last June, in the appeal of Russell v. The Queen, goes to show that in order to prevent the unrestrained sale of intoxicating liquors, and for that purpose to regulate the granting of shop, saloon, and tavern licenses, legislation by the Dominion Parliament will be necessary. Your earnest consideration of this important subjects is desired.

Your attention is specially invited to a measure regulating factory labour, and the protection of the workingman and his family.

Bills for the consolidation and amendment of the laws relating to the customs, the militia, and the public lands, will be laid before you.

Among other measures, bills will be presented to your respecting the civil service, Acts relating to banking, and the examination of masters and mates of vessel navigating our inland waters.

I am glad to be able to inform you that the progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been quite unprecedented. Traffic can now be carried on the main line from Thunder Bay to within fifty miles of the crossing of the South Saskatchewan, a distance of over one thousand miles. It is confidently expected that the Rocky Mountains will be reached during the present year, and that within the same period substantial progress will be made on the Lake Superior section of the railway, and the tract laid upon a large portion of the road now under contract in British Columbia.

I have also pleasure in stanting that the traffic on the lutercolonial Railway is largely in excess of any former year, and that the balance in favor of the road shows a gratifying increase.

Gentleman of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the last fiscal year will be laid before you.

You will be pleased to learn that notwithstanding the expenditure on capital account amounted to more than seven millions of dollars, the surplus of the consolidated revenue together with the proceeds of the sales of the lands in the North West during last year were more than sufficient to cover that expenditure, and that the net debt at the close of the year and and the amount of interest paid thereon were less than for the year previous.

The estimates for the ensuing year will also be submitted. They have been prepared with all due ecomony consistent with the necessary development of the varied resources of the Dominion.

On the first of January, 1885, the large 5 per cent. loan will mature. A bill will be submitted authorizing the issue of debentures bearing a rate of interest not exceeding 4 per cent. for the redemption of this loan.

Honourable Gentleman of the Senate:
Gentleman of the House of Commons:

The subjects I have mentioned to you are of much importance, and I commend them to your consideration with full confidence in your discretion and patriotism.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 15, 1883.

East and West.

Electors of Peterborough, on Tuesday the 27th the die will be cast, and the fate of the province decided. On that morning the sun will rise either on a compact province extending as far westward as Rainy River, or upon a mutilated and dwarfed territory of about half the size it ought to be. Make your choice, and vote either for Blezard and Campbell and justice to our claims, or for Read and Carnegie, and the spoliation of Ontario.

When to Act.

Before it is too late—that is, now. Now is the time to work in the cause of good Government. If every Reformer works to the best of his ability from now till February 27th, he will not after the election, if the result is adverse, have to say, "I see now where two votes might have been found." "I know where two good votes have been missed." The time to find these votes is now. Remember every vote counts. Contests have been decided in this riding with such slender majorities as one and five. Every township, every ward and school section organization should be made so complete as to leave no room for such after election remarks as we have quoted. By closely watching every voter the plans of briber and intimidator will be foiled. As we have before remarked, let nothing be taken for granted. See personally every elector that should be taken to the polls and take him there. With united action like this success is certain.

Giving up the Citadel.

Mr. Carnegie, the Conservative candidate, speaking editorially in the Review follows up the majority of the Opposition party, and gives up the citadel, the last position on the license question, in which, after yielding point after point, he finally entrenched himself. Our esteemed contemporary claims that it, nor its party, does not want to interfere with the provisions of what the Review calls "this excellent instrument" (the Crook's Act), for the maintenance of the present restrictions upon the liquor traffic and upon the number of licenses." "No control" our cotemporary adds, "of the license system is to be given to the municipalities," but it "is proposed that the municipalities shall have the appointment of the officers to carry out the law, instead of their being appointed as political partisans." This is the veriest nonsense. The only improvement the Review asks, (every other provision of this "excellent instrument" the Crooks Act, being satisfactory) is already on the statute book. Let the Review or the reader turn to section 97 of the Liquor License Act," R. S. O. vol. II., page 1912, and there read:

"It shall be the duty of every police officer, or constable, or inspector of licenses in each municipality, to see that the several provisions of this act are duly observed, and to proceed by information, and otherwise to prosecute for the punishment of any offence against the provisions of this act, and in case of wilful neglect or default in so doing in any case, such officer, constable, or inspector shall incur a penalty of ten dollars for each and every such neglect and default."

But lest this should not satisfy the cravings of the Review to dip its hand in the blood of the hotel keeper through the town constables, the 25th section of 44 Victoria, cap. 27, says what shall be the law as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the Board of Police Commissioners and of the chief of police to enforce the provisions of section 97 of the Liquor License Act (as quoted above) and any officer or policeman convicted of violating the provisions of said section may be summarily dismissed."

Thus it will be seen that the law already provides for the only objectionable feature of the Crooks Act in the eyes of the Review. These two clauses settle the power of the municipalities as to the "question of the manner of enforcing the law." Would the constables appointed by the councils specially for the purpose, carry out the law better than constables whose duty is laid down by statute? The Review asks if any Inspector has been removed for this neglect of duty? And we ask has any constable been removed for this neglect of duty? The law makes it the duty of the constable appointed by the councils to enforce the Act as much as it does the Inspector appointed by the Government. And then, is it worth while that "Mowat must go" to dismiss a capable and patriotic Government, whose past eleven years of administration has been invariably in the interests of the country for the sake of putting in power a no-policy except place hunting party, for the sake of securing an amendment in a law, to make it like the law that is already on the statute book? No! And we are sure the electors will tell all political adventurers and carping critics who are crying change for the mere sake of change, that it is wise to let well-enough alone. After all it is only politicians and would-be unlicensed whiskey vendors that demand the head of the Crooks' Act. Temperance people lacking prohibition want no better measure, and hotel-keepers, who are protected in their business from the competition of unlicensed traffic and by the restriction of licenses to respectable men, by the Crooks Act, desire no change, and no municipality longs to be burdened with issue of licenses. Political quacksalvers only, who, to get sale for their political nostrums, try to find a sore on the provincial body politic, cry "change".

Thus Mr. Carnegie is driven from the citadel in which he editorially took refuge on deserting every other point of objection to the Crooks' Act. He has now no other ground to take unless he takes refuge in some other equally untenable quibbling.

Candidate's Records.

The editor of the Review, the Conservative candidate, is terribly exercised about Mr. Blezard's record, and defends his abuse of that gentleman and of the dishonest construction put upon his acts. In our last issue we justified Mr. B. in his voting against certain resolutions brought up as amendments to the motion to go into committee of supply, stating that as such a motion was a motion of want of confidence in the Government, as such Mr. B. was justified in voting it down. In so doing he did not vote against the principle involved, but against the trickster's manner in which it was introduced. Our cotem. quotes an instance in support of its position, which should make every honest Conservative blush to think that an Ontario citizen could so shamelessly move a resolution involving the robbery of the province of 64,000,000 acres of land. The motion alluded to was the amendment of Mr. Plumb, (April 4th) to Sir Leonard Tilley's motion to go into committee of supply. Mr. Plumb's amendment virtually called for the repudiation of the award, and the consequent robbery of Ontario in the matter of her territory, and the Government winked at the irregularity of the mode of introducing the motion, in order to strike a blow at Ontario. Besides—and it makes all the difference in the world—Mr. Plumb was a supporter of the Government. If an Opposition member had moved a similar resolution under the circumstances by way of trick to trap the Government, their supporters would have, properly enough, voted it down.

The candidate, in his capacity of editor of the Review, is very anxious about Mr. Blezard, but should see first that his own skirts are clean. We will give a leaf from his record furnished by a friendly contributor, one of his own political party. Speaking in reference to the Review's heartless onslaught on the Irish last summer, Mr. Boyle, a Tory of the Tories, in the Irish Canadian thus gives his opinion of the editor of the Review, the present Conservative candidate. The Irish Canadian says:

"A number of Irish emigrants, principally from the estates of the late Lord Leitrim, of unsavory memory, recently arrived at Peterborough, and the Review of that town seized the opportunity to assail them coarsely. When it says these poor people, who had fled from the Crowbar, were in a "pitiable plight," we can well believe it. It is probable, however, that Mr. Carnegie's ancestors were no better off when they made their escape from the terrors of eviction in the Highlands of Scotland. But when the Review says that they were "emigrants of the very lowest class," and adds, that the very lowest type of people to be met with in Canada are vastly their superior in every respect," the Review should at least except from the comparison its own conductors, for we take it that the meanest type of humanity in Canada or elsewhere is the wretch who can greet a poor emigrant with contumely, and gloat over the misfortunes which have forced him into exile. The good people of Peterborough evidently had a better opinion of these unfortunate newcomers, and a much more exalted idea of the duty men owe to their suffering fellow men, than the gentlemen of the Review, for they treated them with great kindness, fed them and cared for them in every possible way, and gave them, or most of them, employment. All that the Irish emigrant asks upon his arrival in Canada is the chance to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow; but he has the right also to expect that the public press shall treat him fairly. Poverty is no crime, especially in Ireland; but conduct such as that the Review has been guilty of, would be considered base and in-human, even in an uncivilized land."

Opposition Estimate of Rural Electors.

Farmers and electors, you recollect the grand Reform convention held at Toronto at which many of you attended, and now when the Opposition party is crying for your votes let us remind you what the Opposition party through their official organ, the Mail, thinks of you. The Mail says:

"There is no doubt at all the managers of Grit Convention have appealed very strongly to their particular constituency of delegates. Cheap railway fares, board at half price, whiskey and cigars at the expense of the combined License Commissioners, and the promise of a "cordial" reception at "the stations"—such a feast of Reason and flow of Soul—such a combination of free lecture and free lunch never yet tempted the imagination of a somewhat dullwitted mob of semi civilized partizans. All that was needed was a promise to throw in some old clothes, a few spelling books, a ration of cut plug the promise of a bath and a copy of the Globe's Christmas illustrated paper, and the rush would have been tremendous." Further on it says: "The Grit delegate will deem this libelled city one vast free-lunching place, and will detect in the sharps of Mr. Hardy's piping and the flats of Mr. Blake's oratory nothing but suggestions of eleemosynary drinks, and everything on the half shell."

Thus the organ of Mr. Meredith calls you paupers, whiskey suckers, dead beats and that love of free drinks, free lunches, plug tobacco, and old clothes called you to Toronto and not a desire to confer with your fellow citizens on the affairs of the Province. When the Mail party solicits your vote, point to the above insult for answer.

An Exploded Cry.

The howl raised by the office-seekers that the Crooks Act robs the municipalities is utterly unfounded. Let us look at the official figures, the latest returns, for the license year of 1881-2, for brevity's sake only, for the town of Peterborough, although the other municipalities indicate a similar favorable showing in their favor:

The number of licenses granted in Peterborough was 27,—hotel, 17—shop, 10. The net amount paid to the municipality was:

In 1881-2	$1373 16
Payable to town under the old license law	1143 00
Gain to town under Crooks Act..	230 16

We fancy the municipalities are not greatly displeased at this kind of robbery.

In the West Riding license district the number of licenses issued was 37—hotels 27; shop, 10. The net amount paid out of the license fund to the municipalities was:

In 1881-2	$1785 58
Payable under the old license law	1343 00
Gain to municipalities under the Crooks Act.....	$442 58

In the East Riding license district the difference was less marked, but still the Crooks Act gave an excess of $61.33 over what would have been obtained under the Act of '68-69. Thus it will be seen that the Crooks Act, instead of "robbing the municipalities," is compared with the Act of 1868-9, a positive improvement in the way of municipal revenue. The Crooks Act not only gives more money both to the Government and the municipalities, but it protects the hotel keeper in his business, diminishes the evils of intemperance, and is in every way a most desirable enactment, and political place-hunters and campaign croakers should not be allowed to destroy it.

The Farmer's Candidate.

In Mr. Blezard, the farmers of the East Riding have a candidate for whom they may well be proud to cast their votes. He is one of them; he is identified with their interests; and in addition to the fact that his integrity, honesty and honor, both political and individual, commit him to honest action, his personal interests are so intertwisted with those of the farmers that he cannot cast a vote on the floor of the House injurious to them without injuring himself. He cannot go contrary to the interests of the farmers. There is no stiff, starched, stand-offishness about Mr. Blezard. He is as approachable, as friendly, as ready with the right hand of fellowship every day in the year as he is at election time. There is no "big I" and "little you" about him. He is not lying in wait for a farmer who may be in a little financial trouble, to get a chance to take cent per cent interest out of his necessities. If his constituents want a favor, they can go to Mr. Blezard as one of their own class, on equal footing and rely on civil treatment without patronage, and rely on being honestly served by him to the best of his ability. He has looked well after your interests, farmers of the East Riding, for four years, and richly earned a renewal of your confidence. Therefore you will consult your interests as well as those of the province, by giving him a hearty support and returning him at the head of the poll by a rousing majority.

A WORLD OF GOOD.—One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News. 6-2t

TOO FRANK.

The supporters of Mr. Meredith and the Opposition fight shy of the reasons which govern Sir John in making his followers eat the leek and sell their province on the boundary question. They will argue all round the circle, but strenously deny the facts as stated by Mr. Mousseau in this too frank speech at Jacques Cartier, although the truth is very evident on the face of them, as well as from the history of the case. For fear those who back Mr. Meredith in his devious course should forget what Mr. Mousseau did say, we give the report again as found in Sir John's organ, the Montreal Gazette, on Aug. 22nd, 1882.

"You have heard of the great question of the Ontario Boundary; it will not be necessary for me to go into all the details of this question. The Government of Mr. Mackenzie had submitted this question to an arbitration, and in 1878 the arbitration decided that Ontario should obtain an additional extent of boundary of 62,000,000 acres. When we, the Conservatives, arrived in power, we refused to accept this decision, and offered to refer the case to the Privy Council. When at St. Jerome, in 1878, with the Hon. Mr. Masson, I laid down the condition on which we would hold our position as members of the Federal Cabinet, I said: If the Province of Ontario is to acquire an additional territory of 62,000,000 acres more than she was given under the British North America Act, the Province of Quebec would have the right to demand an equivalent. It would be impossible for the Province of Quebec to remain in this position if Ontario gained her case, because any improvement in her position must be followed by an equal one in ours. Other wise the Federal equilibri would be broken."

Does such language bear out the contention of Mr. Meredith and his friends that they are seeking to gain more territory for Ontario? Was Sir John looking for more territory for Ontario, when he acceded to Mr. Mousseau's and Mr. Masson's request, and refused to ratify the award?

The Coraline Corset which has become so popular, are to be had at Turnbull's in all sizes.

The Rivers and Streams Bill.

In the debate on the Rivers and Streams Bill in the Legislative Assembly the pretence that it was proposed to take McLaren's improvements on the Mississippi without compensation was refuted by the reading of this clause of the Act:

The Lieutenan Governor in Council may fix the amounts which any persons entitled to tolls under this Act shall be at liberty to charge on the saw-logs and different kinds of timber, rafts or crafts, and may, from time to time, vary the same: and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, in fixing such tolls shall have regard to, and take into consideration, orginal cost of such constructions and improvements, the amount required to maintain the same, and to cover interest upon the original cost, as well as such other matters as under all the circumstances may to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council seem just and equitable.

Mr. Deroche explained to the House the necessity for such a Bill as the one under consideration. He said the Opposition forgot that there were a large number of people in the county of Addington interested in the Mississippi who had gone there and settled upon bush land, and who had timber they wished to float down to market. He held in his hands a letter from Mr. W. C. Klotz, who lived with in fifty rods of Buckshot Lake on the Mississippi River. It was as follows:

I was at Clarendon station, on the K. and P. R., the other day where I had a chance to sell the timber on my swamp, but the party would not buy it because Mr McLaren would not allow anybody to come on his waters. Now here I am out of money I want badly, and I would get it if our natural outlet was not the property of one man. We surely have not the right to call ourselves a free people. Such a despotism would not be tolerated in any part of Europe. The favor shown to Peter McLaren in times past prevents me from getting the chance to sell. Now money makes money. I surely would spend it to improve my farm. This would give some of my neighbors again a chance to earn money, and my property would be worth $500 more; but all I can do now is to look at my swamp and think it might be money, and then look down to Buckshot Creek and sigh that that creek belongs to one individual, and although it is a natural stream, and within fifty rods of my swamp, I dare not use it.

Opera Kid Gloves six buttons, a choice lot, just received at Turnbull's.

The Tory press and the Opposition in the Legislature have grown as "silent as a clam" on the "Marmion" matter. But the insult they heaped upon the Catholic minority in the Province has not been forgotten. We can forgive a great deal of hard hitting and hard words during the heat of an election campaign. But when a political party—its leaders and its press in attacking a government goes outside of its way to call the chief Catholic ecclesiastical dignitary in the Province a "donkey," and an "ass," and his colleagues "petty intriguers," it commits an act of wanton insult which it is impossible to overlook, and which is not likely to go unpunished. Men of the lower nature, and particularly in political life, always see in an opponent who differs with them only the dishonest motives which animate themselves.

The Brantford scandal has collapsed much quicker than many expected, by the disappearance of the girl Leishman. The busy pencils of the press reporters shed a flood of light on the girl's antecedents and she took flight from the residence of Mrs. Beattie's parents in Toronto one night, and has not since been heard of. It is supposed she was supplied with money to take her out of the country as she only had $5 when leaving Brantford. There is now no doubt that the foul charge was a wicked conspiracy against Rev. Mr. Beattie, and the public would like to see the conspirators richly punished. Substantial sympathy is widely expressed for Mr. Beattie in this section where he has many warm friends and well wishers.

The Candidate's Consistency.

Mr. Carnegie in his address condemns, with a good deal of emphasis, ex-post facto legislation, a condemnation that suggests the idea of a certain well-known personage rebuking sin. With all this virtuous indignation, Mr. Bertram showed at Mr. Carnegie's meeting that the Conservative candidate while in the House voted for some half-dozen measures, containing the principle of ex-post facto legislation. One relates to government road allowances and the other to the law of dower in reference to wild lands, which tended to rob the widow of her right of dower. Mr. Blake, then a member of the Legislature, moved an amendment, and Mr. Carnegie voted it down, thus trampling on the rights of widows for the sake of voting for ex-post facto legislation. These statements fell like a thunder-clap on the candidate; he could not deny them, and shuffled out of the dilemma by saying that he had changed his mind. This chameleon-like characteristic of the gentleman explains the bond of sympathy that fastens his fealty to Mr. Meredith. What fitter follower could Mr. Meredith, the Mutable, have than Mr. Carnegie, the Changeable.

ROANTREE'S

GRIST MILLS,

NORWOOD.

The subscriber having succeeded in the above Mills beyond his expectations, has been compelled to make large additions to his premises to meet the increasing demand of his numerous customers in Norwood and surrounding Townships, and would now respectfully intimate that he has completed arrangements to further increase the capacity of the mill, as well as to keep in supply all kinds of superior Baking Flour, Chop, and every description of Mill Feed, usually found in a well kept Gristing Mill.

Having engaged a miller of extensive practical experience in some of the best mills in the country, to manage the gristing department of his mill, he will now be in a position to give greater attention to the wants of his customers in all lines of his business.

Special attention will be given to every description of Gristing, and customers will not only be guaranteed the utmost satisfaction in all kinds of Gristing, but will be assured that all orders will be attended to with the utmost promptness, and farmers residing at a distance can have their Gristing done for them so as to be able to take it home with them.

Spacious Storehouses are now being constructed in connection with the mill for the storing of grain to accommodate all classes of his customers, and nothing will be left undone by him to secure a continuance of the extensive patronage he has received in the past, and hopes by strict attention to business, guaranteeing a superior class of Gristing and charging low rates commensurate with good work, to merit in the future confidence in the public generally.

Remember the Mills, opposite the Union School Buildings, Colborne St., Norwood.

POLITICAL.

Opera House Mass Meeting

Politics at the Foot-Lights.

Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Bertram address the Electors of Peterborough—The Candidate under a cloud—Uphill Work—His Labored Special Pleadings Demolished.

On Monday evening there was a good attendance of the electors of the town at the meeting called in Mr. Carnegie's interest in the Opera House. In political sympathy the audience seemed to be pretty evenly divided, though a good deal of the credit of the applause given on one side, is due to the little knot of Tory claquers under the gallery, who didn't always, however, start the howl at the right moment.

Mr. James Stevenson occupied the chair, and preserved the excellent order that marked the meeting, except the interruption of some gentleman under the influence of ex post facto —that's the campaign name for it—enthusiasm.

The Chairman made a little speech of his own, in which he raked the Mowat Government fore and aft, and particularly came down on the political head of the education department, Hon. Mr. Crooks.

Mr. Carnegie was received with cheers, which, however, failed to disperse the cloud under which he seemed to labour. He did not speak with his usual fluency and stumbled and toiled on in a way that damped the ardor of even his claquers, and led his audience to believe that the cause he was advocating made his efforts up hill work. On the Boundary Award he took the position that it was settled at the June elections. Mr. Mowat proposed to stand by the Award, but, asked the candidate, tauntingly, "what are you going to do about it?" His party wanted it referred to the Privy Council, and on that point it was asserted that Mr. Meredith gave no uncertain sound that is to-day, but it wasn't stated what kind of sound he would give to-morrow. The Disallowance Question was also settled at the June elections, and the Dominion Government were bound to stick to the principle of hostility to Ontario, and again the traitorous taunt from the candidate, "What are you going to do about it?" He denounced the Streams Bill as the worst measure ever passed by any Legislature, as an act of confiscation, and falsely asserted that its provisions were covered by other acts, that it allowed no compensation, etc. The speaker even insulted the intelligence of his audience by telling them that Hamilton's creek came under the Bill, and that a boy riding on a plank in the stream could force Mr. Hamilton to remove his buildings. The speaker referred to the evils of the patronage system, instancing the appointment of license and Division Court officials, etc. He advocated the extension of the franchise to others in a similar position to farmers' sons, but didn't tell how he proposed to have it done. After answering a question, which he had doubtless employed somebody to hand in, which gave him a chance to explain in reference to his vote on the grant to denominational colleges, he brought a lame and impotent speech to a most lame and impotent conclusion, and resumed his seat amidst the cheers of his friends.

Mr. John Bertram, who appeared for Mr. Campbell, was received with loud cheers. He devoted a half minute to the chairman's speech, and in reply to that part condemning the Minister of Education, replied that the chairman would be surprised to hear that in the session of 1870-71, Mr. Carnegie actually voted for the "centralization policy" of Mr. Mowat, and for a Minister of Education, a retort that brought down the house in ringing cheers. He would make no personal allusions, but might remark that Mr. Campbell was no politician, but if sent to the house would go as the representative of the people, and not as a politician, which Mr. Carnegie was. In referring to the franchise matter, he said that according to the candidates remark, both parties were bidding for the franchise vote, and explained how according to parliamentary usage, it was impossible to do otherwise than to vote down buncombe resolutions. The Boundary Award matter involved 64,000,000 acres of land, and it was a vital question to the Province. He admired the daring assumption of Mr. Carnegie, who in the first paragraph of his address blamed Mr. Mowat for what Sir John himself was doing—causing delay. All that Sir John had to do was to pass a law ratifying the award, and the territory was ours. (Cheers.) The speaker reviewed the history of the question, and showed that the government had always claimed the territory claimed in the award. In '74 arbitrators were appointed, a board composed of men distinguished and competent beyond question, and the agreement was made binding on both houses that the award was to be ratified by concurrent legislation. Ontario did her part and passed the required legislation, but the Dominion Government refused to do so; not only did they refuse, but did nothing approaching a settlemen till 1880. The speaker pointed out how the dishonor of the country was involved in the refusal of the Dominion Government to ratify a binding award. Other nations kept faith, as witness the unhesitating though disagreeable ratification of the Alabama and Fishery Awards, both claimed to be unjust; but national honor forbade their repudiation. The Dominion were treating us unjustly, and Mr. Carnegie sneeringly asked "whatare you going to do about it?" The answer was, stand up for our rights and failing in other methods to secure justice, to lay our cause at the foot of the throne. (Cheers.) The want of faith in the sincerity of the professions of the Dominion Government for the settlement of the question was shown in their complicating the question by drawing Manitoba into the dispute by making over to her 39,000 square miles of the best of the disputed territory; her consent would be necessary for a reference to the Privy Council, and Sir John had taken no steps to secure it. Then we had no assurance, after the rejection of the award of the arbitrators, that the award of the Privy Council too would not be repudiated. Sir John quibbled with the question: at one time it was the Privy Council, at another the Supreme Court, at another some law lord was to settle the matter. Mr. Meredith had said for three years that the Dominion Government was wrong, and voted in 1880 to sustain the award, and in 1881 re-affirmed his position, yet in 1882 he turned against Ontario. The reason Mr. Meredith changed front was known to the audience as well as himself. The Dominion Government broke faith, trampled our rights in the dust and insulted us with the taunt, "What are you going to do about it?" He asked the electors to throw aside party feelings and consider country first and party afterwards. Quebec in anything affecting herself stands shoulder to shoulder, regardless of party. Ontario presented a solid front for three years, till the Meredith phalanx changed front and deserted to the enemy. Let the electors stand together and bring Ontario to the position she occupied on this question in 1881 and to do this they must record their votes for James Campbell. In considering the alleged ex post facto part of the Streams Bill of which Carnegie complained, Mr. Bertram smote the candidate hip and thigh. He showed that even the immaculate Mr Carnegie was guilty of voting for several ex post facto legislative acts, and, as the speaker confronted him with instance, after instance of his hypocritical inconsistency, as recorded by his vote in the journals of the house, the candidate writhed like a trodden worm under the record and the hall rang with cheers. Mr. B. denied that the bill confiscated private property and defied the proof. (Cheers.) The law prevented a party from getting possession of the mouth of the stream and shutting off all others from its use. The necessity of the bill was shown by the statement that the decision of the vice-chancellor in Caldwell vs. McLaren, fell like a thunder clap on the lumberman and they agitated for legislation and in answer this necessary bill passed the house. The bill doesn't take one iota of McLaren's property. The improvements are his yet, but he must not deprive others of their rights. As to the question of the Acts of other provinces being disallowed, why did they not protest against it? In 1868 Sir John said the Dominion Government had no right to disallow local legislation whether the bill was ultra vires or not. The Confederation Act gave us control over property and civil rights and the disallowance of the Streams Bill was an invasion of our rights to self government. The veto power was purely technical and seldom exercised. The power existed but not the right. If the principal were allowed to prevail, the central government could control every institution of the Province and legislation would be a farce. The speaker made a stirring appeal to the electors to strongly consider these two great questions and cast their ballots without regard to political predilictions in favour of Mr. James Campbell, and resumed his seat amidst loud cheers.

Mr. Carnegie replied in his usual style of argument, but not with his usual vim, and closed with a dismal attempt at extracting humour out of Hamilton's creek.

Mr. Cox asked leave to make an explanation in reference to the allusions of Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Carnegie to the Mowat Government and himself in reference to the charter to the Ontario and Quebec Railway. As long as the Toronto and Ottawa charter had belonged to Mr. Scott there was no complaint, but the minute it came into his (Mr. Cox's) hands, the action of the Government in refusing the Ontario & Quebec a charter was all wrong. He claimed that under the circumstances it would have been an injustice to charter the Ontario & Quebec, and he defended the action of the Mowat Government in the premises. He went on to point out that the Midland was essentially a Peterborough railway, and he felt the force of the ingratitude of his fellow citizens in attacking him when he was doing his best to build up the town. He reiterated that it was the bounden duty of the Ontario Legislature to protect the charter of the Toronto & Ottawa, granted in good faith, and he hoped soon to see the day when the workshops would be erected in Peterborough. The road would be built, he could assure them of that, and ere long he hoped to see the line extended to Sault Ste. Marie, and connections made that would make a thorough railway line from the Pacific to the Atlantic, passing through Peterborough, with the chief offices and works located here. (Cheers.) The present expenses of the Midland was about $600,000 per year, and the larger portion of it was spent in Peterborough. (Cheers.)

After a few words of damp-blanket compliment to the Midland Railway from Mr. Carnegie, the meeting dispersed with cheers for the Queen and candidates.

ENNISMORE.

The building committee of the Ennismore R. C. church have presented a gold-headed cane to be voted to the most popular candidate in the West Riding Election. The vote to be decided before the 27th.

Mrs. A. Nelson, No. 94. Colborne St. Brantford, writes: "I was a sufferer from Chronic Dyspepsia for eleven years. Always after eating an intense burning sensation in the stomach, at times very distressing, causing a drooping and languid feeling, which would last for several hours after eating. I was recommended by Mr. Poppliwell, chemist, of our city, to try Northrop &. Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and I am thankful to say that I have not been better for years; that burning sensation and languid feeling has all gone, and food does not lie heavy on my stomach. Others of my family have used it with the best results."

Being personally acquainted with Mrs. Nelson, I certify to the truth of the above statement.

[Signed] A. A. POPPLEWELL.

Advices just received from Fort McLeod and Cullgary state that the winter thereabouts has been severe. The Cochrane Ranch Company will lose heavily in stock, as they had purchased some 10,000 head of cattle from Montana, and the animals, not becoming acclimated before the severe cold weather set in, died by hundreds.

WINTER BLASTS ARE SPECIALLY FRUITFUL of coughs and colds. Children who romp out of doors during the cold season are very subject to them, and no household where there are children should be unprovided with an effectual safeguard against lung disease. Such a one is Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and Hypophites of Lime and Soda a preparation in which the former ingredient possesses the utmost purity, and where its wellknown pulmonic properties are increased by the admixture of the lime and soda salts. Of these the basis is phosphorus, an essential constituent of the brain, the muscles and the blood, and long recognized by physicians as a strengthening and fortifying agent of surpassing efficacy. The waste of bodily tissue consequent upon lung, chest, and throat complaints is promptly checked by this time-honored remedy, and the irritation of the breathing organs arrested and overcome by it. The article has been pronounced by physicians the best preparation of its class, and this professional verdict has found an echo in the grateful acknowledgements of many who, despairing of aid from any source, nevertheless sought and found relief from it. Persons whose chest and lungs are weak should use it as a preventive. Asthma, coughs, colds, spitting of blood, bronchitis and laryngitis are promptly remedied by it, and it also possesses properties as a blood purifier very manifest in various types of scrofula. Prepared only by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Canada.

SMITH.

THE LATE THOMAS TINDLE.

We regret to have to record the death of Mr. Thos. Tindle, of Smith, who died on Friday last, Feb. 9th, aged 83 years. Deceased was born in Northumberland, England, and has been 42 years in this country—of which six were passed in town. His wife died two years ago. Deceased leaves a family of three, two sons, Thomas and James Tindle, and Mrs. Wm. Edmison. Mr. Tindle was trustee of School Section No. 2, Smith, for 24 years and a staunch Reformer. He passed away full of years and honor.

A town correspondent asks if the council of Smith are sleeping or gone on a journey, that they do not look after the Communication road. Its pitch holes and drifts make the road almost impassable and traffic and travel are greatly impeded. Something might be done when a few dollars would make the road passable.

ITS CERTAINTY. To cure Dyspepsia and Biliousness is not speculation, but is proved with letters from persons of high respectability coming in. ZOPESA is an absolute cure. 52

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, Feb. 14, 1883.

Receipts of wheat have been the highest of the season, so large that some of the store houses could not handle it. Prices are not now so high as they have been, although American and English markets continue to advance. Spring wheat closed from 97c to $1.00; fall wheat 92 to 96c. Goose, from 90 to 92c. Rye, 53 to 55c. In barley the movement is small, and prices are not so high; selling from 48 to 65c, small receipts. Oats are more plentiful, selling from 42 to 43c.

On the market there is not much doing. Butter continues scarce, selling when good at about 25c; keg butter almost out of the market. A few kegs have sold from 21 to 22c. Eggs continue scarce, selling from 23 to 25c. Poultry is scarce—chickens selling at 60 to 65c per pair. Turkeys, 75 to $1.25. Beef, from $5.50 $7.00. Dressed hogs, $7.50 to $8.00. Potatoes, 75 to 80c per bag. Wood plentiful.

Breeds of Cattle for Dairying Purposes.

Prof. Brown, at the Ingersoll convention read a paper on the breeds of cattle for the dairy and creamery. The following are the main points of the paper. He defined the qualities of a good cow for the dairy as follows:—An early maturer and breeder, giving her first calf when two and a half years old; not to be a full milker necessarily before calving, because of more trouble and deaths; a particularly warm mother is not wanted; a whole week is sometimes lost by fretting, breeds and individuals differing in this respect. Both quality and quantity of milk is required for the dairy and creamery. The cow must be a free milker, as in a herd of 50 the loss of time in one season would amount to 27 days. Nothing should be done with a vicious cow, whatever her other qualities were, as temper affects the quality of the milk, not to speak of other drawbacks. "Command me," said he, "to the cow that chews her cud when a sore teat pinches." There should be at least twenty pounds of milk per day, for an average of 200 days a year. If even this moderate average were reached he was sure the Province would be surprised. He was an utter unbeliever in specific gravity as a true indicator of milk quality, and he had tried it by nearly 3,000 observations in the different breeds, for the last three years. The weight of cream from 100 pounds of milk was the proper criterion, and the model dairy cow should always give 8 pounds of cream to the 100, and nearly one half of that should be butter. He would submit to the Convention what quantity of cheese should be got from 100 pounds of milk. Prof. Brown here referred to the various breeds of cattle on the list published by the Globe. He concluded by claiming for what is called the Canadian cow a better defined position and a higher status than has hitherto been accorded to her. "Pedigree" is well, "blood" is good, but milk at a dairy convention is better than either of them.

The Ayrshire Cow.

At a meeting of the Western Dairyman's Association held in Ingersoll last week, the following paper was read by Mr. McAdam on the the pedigree and performances of an Ayrshire cow. The origin of the Kyloes cow as it was sometimes called, was not very clearly recorded in the history of the bovine race, and the record does not extend back to more than one hundred years. The colour of the Ayrshire cow is now mostly brown and white, but a black is not considered a sign of impure blood. Tradition was strong that the Ayrshire Kyloe was of a cross from the Channel Island breeds and the West Highland breed. They were beautiful, symmetrical, fine-formed horned animals. The Cunninghame breed of cows, kept at one time in considerable quantities in the north of Ayshire, were thought to be different from the Ayrshire in his boyhood, yet they had long since become amalgamated, and now they were recognized as only one breed of cows. The "Cunninghame" breed were black and white, and here he considered that the black Holstein was indicated, but as the sires were mostly kept from the brown and white Kyloes, this colour predominated. At a comparatively recent date Mr. Parker, of Broomlands, near Irvine, bred a celebrated bull named "Cardigan." He was entirely black, and was considered the most perfect specimen of a male Kyloe ever seen. His symmetery and beauty were remarkable, and he gained many prizes in Scotland and England, and invaded France and took the $500 prize in Paris. In the Ayrshire stock there were considerable numbers of "Brockies" or "Hawkies," as Burns calls them, indicating a stream of Hereford blood in their veins.

Dawrfed twal pint Hawkies guen,
As Yells' the Bill.

"Twal pint Hawkies" seems to have been the equal in milking qualities of "old breamer" or "aggie" for a Scotch pint is two chapriss or one and a half imperial quarts which would make "Hawkie's" yield 90 lbs a day. He thought that this breed of cows were entitled to the dairy crown against all comers for the "Crummies Keyloe" to a useful "coo" and she is come of a "guid kine." The care bestowed upon improving the milking streams of the cows in Ayrshire is really remarkable. The perfect Ayrshire cow is fine boned and short legged, with straight level back; wide deep hip; well bent barrel like ribs, light brisket, small dewlap; the shoulder narrowing forward, giving a wedge-like shape to the fore quarters; the neck not thick, but fine; the head medium size, but short below the eyes; handsome white horns well set upwards; the eye full and mild with docile expression when not disturbed, the skin soft and mellow to the touch with a good coat of soft hair, a slim tapering tail; but the sine qua non of this breed must be the udder and teats. The former must be carried well forward and firmly braced up to the body—not hanging down loosely—and the teats must be neat, tapering very little, rather short and cut square across at the top, and set widely apart on the udder. Alluding to the produce from the cows he stated that in West-n, Cheshire, England, he had got 66,197 pounds of milk from 64 Ayrshires, yielding 6,421 lbs of cured cheese with a ratio of 10 17-100, while from 64 Shorthorns, of a celebrated Shorthorn milking breed, 53,328 lbs of milk, 4,779 lbs of cured cheese, with a ratio of 11 15-100. This was for the month of June. In this case he attributed the deficiency in the Shorthorn yield to the fact that the pasture in their case was not so good as that on which the Ayrshires fed. Even supposing that the yield had been equal, they must remember that the Shorthorn was a larger animal than the Ayrshire and would require more land for their support, and therefore the latter would be the most economical cow. This he contended was borne out by the experience of 100 dairies in England. The returns, during 27 years of his own dairying, from Ayrshire cows, was on average of 520 lbs. of cheese. In the counties of Wigton and and Kirkcudbright in the south of Scotland, he believed it would be found that the average yield of all the Ayrshire cows kept there would be 500 pounds of cheese per annum. In conclusion, he remarked that the very best breed he had ever seen for aptitude to fatten early and make the finest quality of beef, is a cross between the fine shorthorn bull and the pure Ayrshire cow. He had raised forty of such calves in one season which sold at 16 months of age at a price averaging £26 sterling, with beef at 8d per pound.

In the discussion arising from the paper,

Mr. McAdam stated that he did not regard colour as having the slightest influence on a cow for milking purposes. Colour was no more an indication of excellence of milking than the parting of a fop's hair in the middle is an indication of a greater amount of sense. Referring to a question on the subject of feeding turnips to cows, he stated that the taste of turnips could be got away by means of the centrifugal system of extracting cream.

Mr. Caswell contended that this could not be done by any means at the command of dairymen, and strongly deprecated the feeding of turnips to cows. He mentioned that while in England he had sold cheese on which he had been forced to suffer a loss of four shillings per cwt. on the whole lot, owing to the fact that the dairy of cheese had come from turnip-fed cows.

The Chairman said this difficulty had probably arisen from feeding cows turnip tops.

Mr. Molton strongly urged the growing of sugar beets in place of tuanips. He had done so and with the very best of results.

Pro. Barnard said that one ton of good sugar beets is equal for all feeding purposer to 2½ tons of turnips.

The Bad and Worthless

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word 'Hop' or 'Hops' were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 6-4t

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of Northrop & Lyman, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Consumption Cured.

THE MOWAT GOVERNMENT.

HIGHLY CREDITABLE LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

Municipal and Educational Systems.

Improvements in the Administration of Justice.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at the recent Liberal Convention:

That this Convention expresses its gratification that under the auspices of the Reform Governments of Ontario our election laws have been greatly improved; that valuable reforms have been effected in the laws relating to real and personal property; that our municipal and school laws have been much improved; that the statute law of the Province has been revised and consolidated; that the great and radical reforms in the procedure and practice of our courts, tending to promotion of simplicity, economy, and expedition in the administration of justice; have been successfully accomplished; that prompt means have invariably been taken to establish such administration in every outlying district of the Province contemporaneous with settlement; and that justice has been administered throughout the Province with purity and uprightness.

The advent of a Liberal Government to power in 1871 gave the party an opportunity of promoting legislation on subjects in which the people were deeply interested and at every session of the Legislature which has been held since important measures have been enacted for the reform of abuses, the correction of injustice, the the simplification of legal procedure, the repression of vice, the improvement of the sanitary condition of the people, or the perfecting of our educational system.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

Mr. Mowat assumed office in 1872, and in the ten years that have elapsed since then such a wealth of useful, practical legislation has been given to the Province as was, perhaps, never before given to any country in a like period of time. In the Administration of Justice Acts of 1873 and 1874 Mr. Mowat used his large experience as a lawyer and a judge in framing measures of legal reform. By these Acts he removed the chief grounds of complaint made in respect of the administration of legal remedies in the distinct Courts, and did much to enable parties to obtain a decision upon their rights free from technical obstructions and in the shortest practicable time.

These Acts worked so well that it was said nothing more was needed, although intended only as preparatory to a still greater reform by the adaptation of the English Judicature Act to the requirements of the Province. Mr. Mowat was so convinced of the merits of the simple system of pleading introduced by the English Act and the importance of doing away with even the appearance of a distinction in the powers and jurisdiction of the Superior Courts, that he had no hesitation in urging the Legislature to adopt the full measure. Many who were at the time most strongly opposed to the introduction of this Act are now fully convinced that it greatly simplifies and facilitates legal proceedings, with a considerable saving of judicial strength, while it largely diminishes the cost of litigation.

But legal reform has not been confined to the Superior and County Courts. The jurisdiction confered upon Division Courts has been widened and thereby the remedies of many who are obliged to enforce their rights by legal process are promptly and cheaply obtained.

And in all those measures of law reform it is worthy of remark that the Government had neither the support nor the sympathy of the legal profession. They were framed in the interest of suitors and of the whole country not for the benefit of a class or a profession.

Under the law as it stood in 1871 the Government had authority at their own will and motion to divide counties into registry districts and of course to fill the places so made with their own friends. This had actually been done in Middlesex, Perth, and Wellington, although the public interest did not require it. So strong was the popular feeling against such exercise of authority of patronage purposes that upon the application of the counties, the divisions of Perth and Wellington were, at considerable expense, abolished by the Legislature. One of Mr. Blake's first measures was the repeal of the statute conferring such power on the Government so that no Minister could thereafter establish Registry offices without the sanction of the Legislature. In the same session an Act was passed giving to the counties a share of the fees received by Registrars after their emoluments had reached a reasonable figure. Under this Act the counties are re-imbursed in part of the expense to which they are put in connection with the Registry system.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

Important and valuable work has been done in the interests of municipal government.

Up to 1872 corrupt practices had prevailed at municipal elections almost unchecked; but in that year an Act was passed by Mr. Blake which dealt effectually with those practices and as a result of its provisions the people of Ontario may fairly boast that municipal contests are almost entirely free from that species of crime.

By the measure codifying the municipal laws of the Province in 1873 more than a thousand sections scattered throughout numerous Acts were combined in one statute in a manner so satisfactory that the late Chief Justice Harrison described it as a most complete and perfect code of the kind that he knew of in any country in the world.

The ballot has been adopted for voting at municipal elections and for municipal by-laws; and irregularities in the mode of taxation under the Assessment Act, which had remained on the statute book for many years, have been to a great extent removed.

The municipal law relating to the public health has been amended, and by the co-operation of the Provincial Board with local Boards much needed aid is given to local authorities for the prevention of disease.

All additions to or amendments of the municipal laws made since 1873 have been consolidated with the code of that year, by an Act passed during the late session.

RIGHTS OF WORKINGMEN.

Measures of highly useful and practical character have been passed with the view of aiding in a solution of difficulties between workingmen and employers of labor.

In the Mechanics' Lien Law a cure has been found for the injustice which workingmen had long suffered through either the fraud or misfortune of their employers. This law is cheap in its machinery and just in its operation, giving to persons who by their work increase the value of property security for the payment of their wages.

Provisions has been made enabling employers to give to their workmen a share in the profits of the business, free from the liabilities attending ordinary partnerships.

Facilities have been given for settling the disputes between capital and labor by arbitration, and the wages of workingmen to a reasonable amount have been made exempt from seizure by garnishee process.

Railway companies are required to make greater security for the safety of trainmen, and in case of accident where provision for security has been neglected the person injured or his legal representatives are entitled to compensation from the company of all damages and loss which he has sustained.

THE MARRIAGE LAWS.

For a long time the successive Governments had been aware that, owing to alleged informalities, a great many marriages throughout the Province were to be impeached and that owing to the religious belief of a large section of the community a measure which would simply make these marriages valid would be only a partial cure. It can only be supposed that no plan occurred to those Governments which would remedy the evil. But no sooner did Mr. Mowat introduce his Bill providing for the solemnization of marriage, either by license or certificate, and declaring valid all prior marriages where the parties had lived together as husband and wife, than the measure was accepted on all hands as a happy solution of the difficulty. It settled the irregularities or supposed irregularities, of the past and prevented their occurrence in the future, and at the same time to put clergymen of all denominations upon exactly the same footing. By this measure, also, the Government relinquished all its share of the fees formerly collected on the issue of licenses. Instead of $6, as formerly, the license costs now only $2—which is the fee of the issuer.

INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The difficult subject of insurance has been dealt with in a way which gives reasonable protection to insurers without doing injustice to companies engaged in the insuring business. This has been accomplished partly by a system of inspection of Provincial companies, and partly by the enactment of reasonable statutory conditions obligatory on all companies. The onerous and often unreasonable conditions which companies were formerly allowed to impose placed insurers who had the misfortune to suffer from fire at their mercy—an advantage which, as numerous cases in the Courts show, some companies were to ready to avail themselves of. This Act was long resisted, particularly by imperial and foreign companies; not that the conditions were unjust, but because they considered the matter was one beyond the competence of a Provincial Legislature and that other Legislatures might imless reasonable conditions. Mr. Mowat however, has been the satisfaction of having his views upon the constitutional question sustained on appeal to the Privy Council, and there is now hardly two opinions as to the immense advantage of this system of uniform conditions.

INCORPORATION LAWS.

The incorporation of Companies and Societies by general Acts has received a large share of attention. Under the laws framed by Mr. Mowat and his colleagues persons desiring incorporation for objects of business or benovelence may do so at a very slight expense to themselves, and without burdening the Legislature with the consideration of matters which are only of importance to the persons financially interested therein. In addition, the danger is avoided of having one set of principles applicable to one body and another set to others bodies, incorporated for exactly the same purpose. Then the volume of statutes is no longer swelled with a multitude of private Acts whose objects can be as well attained by these general laws.

EDUCATION.

The educational interests of the Province have been placed under the special care of a Minister responsible to the Legislature for the proper conduct thereof, and administrative reforms of beneficial character have been effected in the education office and in our school system. Under the Minister of Education the Public and High School laws have been consolidated and in many respects amended.

REAL ESTATE LAWS.

Amongst other important reforms the following deserve special mention:—

Persons who under a mistake of title improve lands which belong to some one else are secured in the right to be paid therefor before they can be ejected.

The transfer of real estate has been greatly simplified, and the cost of search of titles very much lessened.

The time required to secure a person in the possession of real estate has been shortened.

The power of woman to deal with their real estate has been enlarged and simplified.

In its dealings with each of the above important subjects, the Ontario Government merits a full measure of renewed confidence at the hands of the electors. Its legislation has been in every respect just as well as beneficial.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

REMEMBER THE PLACE:—Pengelly's old stand, 3 doors west of Cavanagh's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterborough.

OVERCOATS!

Notwithstanding the unprecedented demand upon our stock of Overcoats this Fall, we have still a full supply on hand, and are constantly receiving and manufacturing our popular lines. REMEMBER we can furnish you with an Overcoat at any price, and guarantee you better material, better make, a better fit and better prices than any other house in this district.

In all other lines of CLOTHING and GENTS' FURNISHINGS, we carry the largest and best selected stock in town.

OBSERVATIONS FROM THE ORCHARD.

The staff has had their minds full of foreign subjects this week, and came very near forgetting the note for print. Ethel has been engaged profoundly in putting old Coley in waters—such an unseasonable time for painting nobody but her remarkable self would have chosen; but she would have it that she could execute her subject better in the season that suggested it. We have not much experience in the sentiments of a painter so we always sympathize with her and forbear to to call it a whim. James (York) his other name, but he is English and very sensitive, so the public will please treat his name with the circumspectness of a Prince's, even if it do admit of reformation) has not yet emerged from a Roman history, in which he has been tracing with intense interest, the character, merits and fate of Cæsar. He is incessantly talking of his genius. For his sake we try to get ourselves legion-bearers of his indomitable forces directed by the magic of his will—now scaling the Alps, now struggling in German forests; now braving the frown of Castor; to the conquest of smiling Britain, and its inexhaustible wealth. James would revere anybody who had the good fortune to discover the home of such an illustrious nation as that to which he belongs.

He sometimes volunteers to assist us in our articles or extricate us from some illiterate difficulty with his superior knowledge of literature and history, so we always treat him with great deference. George and I had to prepare this little diary to-night in a hurry, for we did not much care to disengage ourselves of Shakespeare, Milton and Tennyson, or even to leave off disputing the chartist difficulty. He nints strongly as if there was a great oppression of the poor; but does not attach any unjust indifference to the dear young Queen, who had been so lately called on to bear the uncountable weight of her position. But I was nearly going to leave no room to mention the suggestion of Frank to introduce his Christmas poetry. I told him I would rather be obscure than distinguished for a failure. He brought some heavy argument upon me and made me succumb. So I acknowledged that to know its merits the public must see it, and a public execution is quite as honorable, I supposed, as a private one as far as the unfortunate is concerned. To please him we send it, after assuring him, however, of the extreme hazard, and telling him plainly that it did not excel Longfellow. Besides he has made the remarkable departure from all that can possibly be called poetry by disregarding a definite measure of each line. It is entitled "Thought."

Yours, etc.,
U. SINGLE.

THOUGHT.

Come, thought as the vision of light,
That passes the eyes of the blind,
As pure as the heart would long to read,
As perfect as God's own mind.

Such as words could never have writ
Or mind never thought before;
With feelings that never were felt
Or wakened the leaves of love.

Such as gush from the heart inflamed with love,
Or thrilled by ineffable dream;
As tender as woman's tenderest thought
As chaste as her passions seem.

With the sadness that fills a sunset gaze
Or a lonely orphan's face,
When the cold, cold world and a dreary night
Cares not that she has a resting-place.

As still as the cloud and moon may rise,
Or the night emotion swells;
As soft as winds and music meet
Or the chime of village bells.

That may chase o'er the mind of the thoughtless
One shadow of death or hell,
As they ring the dirge for the body
Oh soul! is it well? is it well?

May the critic forget to murmur
And the hard-to please disgust,
As they view all those glitter for nothing
Without polish or ancient rust.

But think one thought, the purest,
The freest from self and sin:
If each thought of all men are written
Let it be not as those that have been.

But free from distinctions of manners and creed,
Let it brighten the angels' look,
Let it be such a thought as he can delight
To place in the judgment-book.

A SAD BEREAVEMENT.

THE DEATH OF LITTLE ERNEST BOND FORETOLD BY HIMSELF BEFORE HIS ILLNESS.

Strangely pathetic, says the St. Thomas Journal, was the premonition of his approching end to which little Ernest Bond gave expression a week before his decease, when the ruddy hue of health was still upon his cheek, and no thought that death had marked him for his own had yet entered the minds of his parents.

"Mamma," he said, one day, "little Ernie is going to leave you, and never come back any more. He is going into a narrow box way down in a deep cellar, and you, and papa and uncle will be standing around, crying, but Ernie will never come up again."

No attention was paid to the prattle of the boy, but the words came back with painful vividness to his parents, when on Friday the little fellow was taken seriously ill, as they watched his battle with the king of terrors during three weary days, and nights. On Wednesday the child, who prophesied better than he knew, will be laid to rest in the narrow box, which some messenger from the unseen world may have whispered to him was so soon to replace his crib, and the dark earth will be his last earthly resting place, and neither mother nor father nor uncle will ever again in the flesh see "Little Ernie."

No family dyes were ever so popular as the Diamond Dyes. They never fail. The Black is far superior to logwood. The other colors are brilliant.

The temperate are the most truly luxurious. By abstaining from most things, it is surprising how many things we enjoy.

Jacob Loockman, Buffalo, N. Y., says he has been using Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for rheumatism; he had such a lame back he could not do anything, but one bottle has, to use his own expression, "cured him up." He thinks it is the best thing in the market.

When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, a hundred.

Edward Johnston, a clerk in Hendrie & and Co.'s office Toronto attempted to jump on the last car of No. 4 express from the east at noon on Wednesday, missed his footing and fell under the steps of the car. The poor fellow was instantly crushed to death.

'Tis thus that on the choice of friends
Our good or evil name depends.

Girls we love for what they are; young men for what they promise to be.

A serious accident occured at the Canada Atlantic Railroad on Tuesday night, at the crossing of the nignt mixed trains at Kenyon. Mr. Clarke, fireman of engine No. 2, was killed; Miles, engineer, of No. 2, had two ribs broken. Three other trainmen were slightly injured, but no passengers were hurt.

Growing thought
Makes growing revelation.

I have lived to know that the secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.

"Better bear present evils than fly to those unknown." Better still, use Kidney-Wort and make your present evils fly to parts unknown. If you find yourself getting bilious, head heavy, mouth foul, eyes yellow, kidneys disordered, symptoms of piles tormenting you, take at once a few doses of Kidney-Wort. Use it as an advance guard—either in dry or liquid form—it is efficient.

There is no arena in which vanity displays itself under such a variety of forms as in conversation.

It is an indisputable fact that Hall's Hair Renewer renews, cleanses, brightens, invigorates and restores faded or gray hair to its youthful color and lustre, cheaply, quickly, and surely. People with gray hair prefer to buy it, rather than proclaim to the world through their bleached locks that they are becoming aged, and pasaing on to decay.

This is truth the poet sings.
That a sorrow's crown of sorrow is Remembering happier days.

It is not enough to have reason; it is spoilt it is dishonored by sustaining a brusque and churlish manner.

Henry Clement, writes: "For a long time I was troubled with chronic rheumatism, at time wholly disabled; I tried anything and everything recommended, but failed to get any benefit, until a gentleman who was cured of rheumatism by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil told me about it. I began using it both internally and externally, and before two bottles were used I was radically cured. We find it a household medicine, and for croup, burns, cuts and bruises, it has no equal."

Nothing can atone for the want of modesty, without which beauty is ungraceful and wit detestable.

The greatest pleasure I know is to do a good action by stealth, and to have it found out by accident.

The Remarkable Sustaining power so noticeable in Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya is of decided advantage when in becomes expedient to maintain the nervous system at concert pitch for prolonged periods during any great mental or muscular exertion being better and safer to create force than alcoholic stimulants. The increased energy being derived from the food elements in the preparation that are the source of nerve power, it prevents the excessive waste and exhaustion that result from over work.

The reason why borrowed books are so seldom returned to their owners is that it is much easier to return the books than what is in them.

Lost wealth may be replaced by industry; lost knowledge by study; lost health by temperance or medicine but lost time is gone for ever.

A REMARKABLE RECOVERY. Farmers in washing sheep, lumbermen in stream driving, and others in like occupations are greatly exposed to colds. One of these was Mr. E. B. Ellis, Milltown, N. B. He caught a severe cold while stream driving, which in a short time brought on night sweat, sunken chest and every symptom of deep-seated consumption. Medicines brought no relief until Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam was tried. It cured him. This Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam is the king of remedies for throat and lungs diseases.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

Traffic Returns.

Traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending Febry. 3rd 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $4,820.23; freight, $9,085.78; total, $13,906.01, as compared with $14,102. 61 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $256.60; and the aggregate traffic todate is $68,296.62, being an increase of $7,113.34 over 1882.

Charity Sermon.

There was an immense attendance at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday night to hear the eloquent and logical charity sermon preached for the St. Vincent de Paul Society by Rev. Father Conway. The effect of his appeals was a collection amounting to the sum of $121, a handsome addition to the funds of the society. A verbatim report of the sermon appears in this issue.

The Masonic Lottery.

The drawing for prizes in the great London Lottery, did not add greatly to the ready money resources of Peterborough. In all about $175 was drawn by different individuals, which will hardly pay expenses all round. Mr. J. D. Porter of Ballyduff, a village of about sixty souls in the County of Durham, captured the $15,000 prize. He is the son of a farmer in moderate circumstances. The farm this summer will be largely visited by lightning rod, sewing machine and reaping machine agents.

Presentation.

Mr. John Miller, an old member of the Fire Brigade Band, brother of Mr. F. W. Miller, the popular bandmaster, left for his new home in West Point, Nebraska, on Tuesday evening, under the impetus of a most cordial and flattering "send-off" from his many friends. His fellow members of the choir of the Bible Christian Church presented him with an elegant dressing-case and a gold chain, coupled with an address eulogizing his faithfulness and efficiency as a member of the choir, and the Fire Brigade Band, of which he has long been a member, presented him with an address and a silver watch. Mr. Miller carries to his new home abundant evidences of his good fellowship and solid worth, such as any young man may be proud of, and we hope that his merits will secure for him in West Point as many earnest friends, as many well wishers, as he leave behind him in Peterborough.

Springless Trusses and Supporters.

Prof. G. W. Hotchkin of Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y., will again visit as follows: Peterborough, Caisse House, March 3, 4 & 5; Lindsay, Benson House, March 6, 7 & 8. Prof. H. having had thirty years experience has become master of his profession and defies the hernia that he cannot hold it in its place. Prof. H. treats Inguinal, Umbilical as well as Varicocele, also children, all of which he has treated successfully. Go and see his for yourselves. 4

That Boy's Sister.

The public will be highly pleased to learn that arrangements have been completed with Rev. Dr. Vincent, and that the eloquent lecturer will deliver his noted address on "That Boy's Sister," in the George Street Methodist Church, on Wednesday evening, February 21st, 1883. From all parts of America one is accustomed to hear the fame of Rev. Dr. Vincent as a lecturer, and those who patronize the lecture on the 21st will not be disappointed in finding that the reality exceeds the expectations they may have been led to form. Those who heard Dr. Vincent's lecture on the subject of "That Boy" can bear testimony to the graceful eloquence, the touching pathos, refined humour and sound morality that characterized the reverend gentleman's remarks. Tears, laughter and admiration strove for mastery in the audience while listening to the varied phases that mark the career of "That Boy." And it is certain that the companion lecture, in style or matter, will not be one whit behind that, that established Dr. Vincent's reputation for eloquence on a sound basis in Peterborough. Remember the date, February 21st. Admission tickets, 25 cents.

For Coraline Corsets warranted not to break go to Turnbull's.

The Shooting of German Brooks.

The many friends of the late German Brook, a former resident and business man of Peterborough, who have heard of his melancholy death, will read with interest the following details clipped from a California paper.

The examination of Arthur Brook, charged with the murder of his father, was resumed yesterday in the Police Court at Oakland. The courtroom was crowded with spectators. The defense resumed the examination of witnesses on behalf of the prisoner.

J. D. Hunter testified that he was a clerk in the house of Dewey & Co., stock brokers, in San Francisco; had known defendant for five years, having lived next door to him; he considered Brook's reputation as good. Robert A. Crosby testified to the same effect.

Miss Nettie Brook, a sister of defendant, testified that the relationship existing between the defendant and his father was very good and that she did not know of any trouble between them.

Officer Fields was recalled and testified that he had had no conversation with the defendant in the presence of Mrs. Thomas; that she was leaning over the fence when he had the conversation with the defendant; that he did not hear him say "I don't care a——"; that Mrs. Thomas was about six feet distant at the time.

Robert H. Swain testified, that he had always understood the defendant's reputation for peace and quietness to be good; that he had been associated with him in business for over two years.

George J. Lamley, John Hall and Wm. Noble were also examined on behalf of defendant, and corroborated the testimony of foregoing witness. The defense then rested.

Arguments were began by Deputy Districts-Attorney Johnson, who reviewed the testimony, dwelling on the inconsistency between defendant's statements and his manner after the shooting.

N. S. Wirt, for the defense, claimed that there was no proof that the defendant had committed the crime; that there was no evidence to warrant a jury in finding him guilty.

Colonel E. M. Gibson closed on behalf of the defense. He referred to the law that should govern the court in such a case, and reviewed the testimony at length. He claimed that no jury would hold the defendant, and urged that the case be dismissed. The Colonel referred in pathetic language to the illness of the mother of the young man, and during these remarks the defendant wept copiously.

District-Attorney Hall closed for the prosecution, and claimed that the case on behalf of the prosecution was fully proved.

The case being submitted, Judge Daniels said that it was his duty as a committing magistrate to hear the testimony and dispose of the case. He believed he had admitted testimony for the defendant which ought to have been excluded, owing to his anxiety to get at the facts in the case; the Court must find whether the offence was committed, and whether there was sufficient cause to believe that the defendant was guilty. "There seems," said the Court, "to be two theories as to how the killing occurred, one, that the deceased was killed by two masked men, the other, that the defendant did the killing. If two men were at the house, they must have had some reason for the killing and it does not appear that any one had any enmity or malice, neither did it appear that the deceased had any wealth." The Court did not think that in a thickly settled portion of the city two men would attempt such a deed, except under the excitement of malice, or with the prospect of gain. "The next question," said the Court, "is whether the defendant was guilty of the offence. The evidence showed that he was the only one that had a hand in the crime; that on the day of the killing he had purchased a pistol, and had only stated in a bakery that he had been shot. He gave no alarm, nor did he arouse the neighborhood." The judge then referred to the statements made by the defendant, and said it was apparent that some person stood behind the deceased and fired the fatal shot. The Judge felt fully satisfied that there was sufficient cause to hold the defendant.

In reply to a request from defendant's counsel to fix bail, the Judge said that this was not a bailable case and he had no jurisdiction.

Colonel Gibson stated that he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

The defendant received the remarks of the Court with indifference and was escorted to the jail to await his trial in the Superior Court.

Complimentary Notice.

We desire to call attention to the advertisement in another column of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich., the great seedsmen whose mammoth establishment is one of the sights of the chief city of Michigan. They do the largest business in their trade in the United States, reaching even across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The house is entirely reliable, and if you wish to get exactly what you order, you cannot do better than send to them for your seeds, and you may depend upon it you will get the best that the market can supply. Their seeds have become known over the entire civilized world for purity and fertility, and have gained for them an enviable reputation. Their Annual Seed Catalogue just issued for 1883, replete with information and beautifully illustrated, will be sent free on application.

Attempted Arson.

Last Friday night, or early Saturday morning, another abortive attempt was made to burn the storehouse of Mr. Adam Hall, Bethune street. Cotton waste saturated with oil had been taken from the box of a car wheel and placed to good advantage on the eastern side of the storehouse and set on fire. Fortunately the fire was discovered within a few minutes and put out without much trouble. The object of the midnight miscreant seemed to be plunder. An immense quantity of coal oil is stored in the building, and this would make the biggest blaze, attract most attention, and leave George street free for the operations of burglars or thieves. There is not the slightest suspicion of the guilty party.

Nominations for the West Riding at the Court House at 12 o'clock on Tuesday next.

This is an utterly utter old fashioned winter, with leg of mutton sleeves, straight skirt and waist, way up in the back of the neck.

Rev. J. E. Sanderson and Rev. John Shaw, preached missionary sermons in the George Street Church, morning and evening respectively, last Sunday.

Last Friday evening two rinks drawn from the Home Curling Club, went to Lakefield and brought home victory to the tune of a score of 52 to 21.

Lafayette's fantastic toe has lost its cunning skipped frizzled. Professionally, Mr. Carpenter has turned his toes up and the sole has fled.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson, Oculist and Aurist, was thronged with patients on his visit last Saturday to the Oriental, where he will be again on Saturday, April 20th. Make a note of the date.

A meeting of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral was held in the church last Sunday, after Mass, to consider the proposal to build a new cathedral and bishop's palace. No definite action was taken and another meeting is to be held next Sunday.

The local grain trade was very brisk on Monday and Tuesday. At noon on the latter day there were forty largely laden teams with wheat, standing on the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets. The price stiffened considerably which accounts perhaps, for the rush.

Last, Friday, the date of Wiggins' preliminary big storm the overture to the performance on March 11th was the calmest, brightest, pleasantest day we have had this winter. Did the snow blockade prevent the planets like the trains, from making connections?

The Missionary Meeting in the George Street Methodist Church on Monday night was highly successful. There was a fair attendance. Mr. J. Campbell occupied the chair, Rev. Mr. Shaw read the annual report, and Rev. Messrs. Shorey and Reach delivered addresses.

For the past few days the gas lights have been fluctuating like the stock market, owing to the gas being watered that is water finding its way into the mains or pipes. In the churches on Sunday the gas was so dim that almost gross darkness covered the people, and the "dim religious light" was not a poetic fiction.

The ice ploughs are turning their crystal furrows on the river near Little Lake for refrigerating purposes only. As a rule, ice should not be taken out of a stream below a town for drinking purposes but as we have no drains to speak of, there can't be much sewage contamination.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Hugh Bertram left on Tuesday night to take up his residence in Orillia.

Mr. and Mrs. John Garbutt, of Smith, and Mr. D. Kennedy, of Otonabee, are in Toronto this week attending the annual meeting of the Provincial Gronge.

Mr. R. S. Davidson starts to-night (Thursday) for California where he goes for the benefit of his health, which we hope to see completely restored on his return.

At the late Law Society examinations, Mr. J. Shelton, of Mr. E. B. Edwards' office, passed his first intermediate, without an oral, and Mr. F. T. Henry was admitted as a student at law, standing third in a long list. We congratulate both gentlemen.

Mr. Sam. Jameson, an old typo of the Examiner office, after a summer's tour in the Northwest has returned to town and to his first love, and looks as natural at his old "frame" as a bird on a bough. His many friends are glad to see him back.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis will start next Monday for Florida, which is visited for the benefit of Mr. Davis' health. They go via Washington, where they will spend a few days en route. We wish them a pleasant journey and a full realization of the object of their trip.

Mr. Orm. Dixon, Peterborough's ventriloquist, is playing with immense success in the principal Chicago theatres. He has finished engagements of one week at the well known "Criterion" and "Park" theatres, and is now appearing nightly at the "Olympic." Just as we expected. Congratulations.

At the recent examinations of the Law Society, Toronto, Mr. James Henry, of Mr. D. W. Dumble's, passed his final examination in law and was sworn in as barrister. He took a very high standing and passed without an oral examination. Mr. Henry will please accept our heartiest congratulations. He is a young gentleman of good natural ability and great diligence, and of such perseverance that he will not be content to stand in any but the first rank of his profession, a position which his past conquest of difficulties assures him. As a testimony to his ability and industry he has been taken into partnership with Mr. D. W. Dumble, and the firm of Dumble & Henry will hereafter, we are sure, rank amongst the first, in a town that has no lack of clever lawyers.

MR MEREDITH'S INCONSISTENCY.

Mr. Right-about, Turn-about, Jump Jim-Crow Meredith declared in the session of 1880:

"I will at all times give my cordial support to the assertion by the government of the just claims and rights of the province, and to all necessary and proper measures to vindicate such just claims and rights and, to sustain the award of the arbitrators."

In the session of 1881 the same professor of ground and lofty tumbling said in the House:

"It is the duty of the government of Ontario to assert and maintain in the just claims and rights of the Provice of Ontario as determined by the Award of the Arbitrators, and I hereby re-affirm my determination to give my cordial support to the government of Ontario in any step which it may be necessary to take to sustain the Award and to assert and maintain the just claims and rights of the province as thereby declared and determined."

Since then, in obedience to orders issued by Sir John Macdonald at the command of Messrs Masson and Mousseau, the only great living political acrobat in Onthrio has declared that the province should surrender the award. What a nice young man for small ten party this is. Exchange.

What I want to Know is how can CHINA HALL Sell so much more Cheaply than all other Dealers.

HOW IS IT?

THE REASON.

We will tell you how it is that we are enabled to Sell more Cheaply than small dealers. Our business is CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE—we make a Specialty of these Lines, and buy in Large Quantities, direct from the Factories, and therefore can and do sell Retail at the same (and sometimes less) Prices than Grocers pay for their Goods. Other dealers may tell you that they can sell as Cheaply, but don't believe them.

NORWOOD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

EAST PETERBOROUGH COUNTY ORANGE LODGE.

At the Annual County Meeting of the County Lodge, of East Peterborough, held in the Village of Norwood, on the 6th instant, the order was reported to be in a very satisfactory condition. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Bro. D. A. Macfarlane, W. C. M; Bro. R. Bonner, D. C. M; Bro. J. Bonner, C. C; Bro. J. Robb, C. S; Bro. W. H. Stephenson, F. S; Bro. C. Stephenson C. T; Bro. T. McIntyre C. L. Bro. A. Smith, C. D. C; The newly elected officers were duly installed and took their seats after which the Lodge was closed.

THE RE-UNION.

The first re-union of the season, under the auspices of the Norwood Mechanics, Institute, was held in the town hall here, on Tuesday evening of last week. The attendance was remarkably good; and it was quite evident the audience enjoyed the literary and musical programme provided for their entertainment. The lady vocalists were Mrs. S. J. Griffin, Mrs. Dr. Massie and Mrs. G. Jones, while Miss L. Butterfield and Miss Annie Raddon ably played the accompaniments upon the organ. The gentlemen vocalists were Messrs. F. H. Birt, W. E. Roxburgh, — Phoenix, E. Bongard and R. Stewart. The readers were Dr. Massie, Mr. Dermo and Mr. Lyons. All the participants acquitted themselves in such a manner as to thoroughly please the large audience present.

METHODIST UNION.

At the quarterly meeting of the official board of the Methodist churches of the Norwood circuit, held in Norwood last week, it was almost unanimously agreed to accept the basis of union as adopted at the recent meeting of the general conference of the Canada Methodist Church. Only one vote at the meeting was given against union.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

A Magistrate's court was held here on Thursday last, to dispose of two rather important pugilistic cases. The first case was that of James G. Hicks vs. Joel Raddon, who was arraigned by the former for committing an assault and battery upon him in Dummer. The battery was easily proven by the peculiar figures on Hick's face. Raddon pleaded guilty and seemed highly pleased with himself and his pugilistic accomplishment. Mr. Drain, officiating magistrate, fined defendant $5 and $5.10 cost. The $10 was promptly paid.

The other case was that of a pugilistic encounter between two females of our village, both respectable married women. Mrs. Squires charged Mrs. Knight, both residents of one house, with assaulting her, striking her, and calling her bad names. The epithets attested in court that were used on this occasion, the plaintiff said, were "a liar, a bitch and a Thomas cat." The utterance of the offensive language was proven by one witness, but the charge of battery was not sustained. Mr. Drain advised the litigants to try and live peaceably together in the future, and said he would only impose the light fine of fifty cents and costs, amounting to $3.50 altogether. The fine was paid forthwith.

LENTEN SERVICES.

During last week, a French Jesuit Priest has been holding religious services in the Roman Catholic church here. The services have been attended by a very large number of people, the rev. gentleman attracting a large number of Protestants to hear him. His addresses are plain, but remarkably impressive, and no doubt will have a good result among his many hearers.

SERIOUS FIRE.

Mr. John M. Quaig, of Dummer, on Tuesday of last week, met with a serious loss by the total destruction of his house and contents by fire, the family only saving the apparel on their persons with which they escaped from the burning building. Much sympathy has been manifested for Mr. McQuaig, and a subscription list, circulated in our village, was liberally responded to by our people.

To the Free and Independent Electors of the

WEST RIDING

OF THE

COUNTY OF PETERBORO'.

Gentlemen, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor having seen fit to dissolve the Legislature of this Province and to issue writs for the election of a new Legislature on the shortest possible notice, I beg respectfully to solicit your votes to return me as your representative in the Assembly about to be elected.

In doing so I beg to state:

That I am opposed to the policy of the Mowat Government whereby we are being kept out of our just territorial rights, and that, if elected, I shall do all in my power to secure for the Province the boundaries assigned to it at Confederation.

I am opposed to all ex post facto legislation and I am convinced that it is contrary to sound policy as well as justice that any man's property should be taken from him without full and adequate compensation to be ascertained by an independent and fairly constituted tribunal.

I believe there is now on the Statute Book of this Province all or nearly all the legislation required to protect the public interests and to provide for the acquisition of non-floatable streams and improvements which may have been made thereon upon terms at once just to the lumbermen and to the owners thereof.

I am opposed to the unnecessary centralization of patronage where it can be used to influence the electorate, believing that such centralization is dangerous to the freedom of the people and calculated to produce the same evils in Canada as it has already produced in the neighboring States.

I am opposed to any Government using the power vested in them for the time being by the people to prevent a free expression of public opinion upon any subject and especially upon a subject with which they as a Government have nothing to do, as was done by the Mowat Government and their officials in the last Dominion election in regard to the tariff policy adopted by the people.

I am opposed to the reckless and unnecessary extravagance of the Mowat Government whereby the capital of the Province is being rapidly dissipated and its ordinary expenditure increased to a point which cannot be maintained without a resort to direct taxation in one form or another.

With a view to bringing the ordinary expenditure within the ordinary income of the Province, without curtailing those expenditures which have a direct bearing upon local taxation I shall advocate a substantial reduction in the number of the representatives of the Assembly, greater economy in the departments and generally such reforms as may be calculated to reduce those expenditures from which the people are deriving no direct advantage believing that they are entitled to and desire the cheapest Government that suffices to regulate their affairs.

I am opposed to making the liquor traffic the shuttlecock of any political party, and will advocate and support every measure calculated to place the issue of licenses and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto in the hands of those least likely to be influenced by political considerations.

I am in favrr of such a readjustment of the franchise as will give to all classes of the community that voice in the Government of the country to which they are entitled and of which certain classes are now unjustly deprived by the present Government notwithstanding that they have had ample opportunities of remedying this injustice.

The educational department under a political head not having proved a success I shall favor a return to the non political position which the department occupied when under the able management of the late Dr. Ryerson.

I believe that too much attention and too much money has been spent on what is called higher education and upon educational theorizing to the neglect of the three R's; that the cost of maintaining public schools—especially in the outlying districts has been unnecessarily increased thereby, and that the people are not deriving the advantages which they should do from the large amount annually expended nominally for educational purposes, but in too many instances, to little practical advantage.

There are, no doubt, several other questions to which allusion might be made, but this address is already too long, and as my views on the public questions of the day are already pretty well known to most of you, and especially as I hope to have the opportunity, between this and polling day, of discussing the issues of the campaign with my opponent in your presence, I shall conclude by expressing the hope that my long and active connection with the public affairs of the Town and County of Peterborough, my practical knowledge of its agricultural and manufacturing interests and the manner in which I have hitherto discharged the public duties with which I have from time to time been entrusted have been such as to secure for me the hearty and active support of not only those who agree with me, but also of those electors who believe it to be the duty of a representative to try and impress his views upon his party leaders and not simply to vote as directed by them.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN CARNEGIE.

POLITICAL.

WARSAW.

Mr. Blezard in Dummer—A Warm Welcome in a Good Township.

Mr. Blezard M. P. P., addressed the electors of Dummer at Warsaw, on Monday evening last. There was a large attendance of the electors present. Mr. A. R. Kidd, the popular Reeve of the township, occupied the chair, in his usual happy manner. Not a few came from distant parts of the township. Among the audience were many of the oldest and best known Reformers of Dummer, and a large number of the young men, who by their intelligence, zeal and activity, are proving themselves to be worthy sons of worthy sires, in battling for the principles of Reform. Mr. Blezard discussed the Boundary Award and the Streams Bill, and after referring briefly to the financial record of the Government, spoke at length on the interest taken by Mr. Mowat in the farmers. He was frequently applauded, and loudly cheered when taking his seat. Mr. Preston also addressed the meeting. The chairman gave an opportunity to anyone present to speak in the interest of Mr. Read, but no one cared to do so. Mr. Read's vote to legalize the Grand Junction by-law was strongly condemned. The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, the candidate, the chairman and the Mowat Government. Dummer's motto is "Mowat must not go," and the Reformers are working with enthusiasm and determination. (Crowded out last week.)

Mr. Carnegie's Meetings.

It is a remarkable fact that all the meetings called by Mr. Carnegie, excepting the one held in the Opera House here and in Lakefield, were very thinly attended. At the latter meeting Dr. Caldwell occupied the chair, and addresses were delivered by Mr. Carnegie who was ably replied to by Mr. Preston of Port Hope. Mr. R. C. Strickland also offered a few remarks on the subjects of the hour.

Selwyn.

Mr. Campbell, Mr. R. E. Wood, and Mr. Edwards, addressed the electors of Smith, at Selwyn, on Thursday evening, there being a large gathering of the electors notwithstanding the condition of the roads. No one put in an appearance for Mr. Carnegie. Smith, in this locality is sound for the Mowat Government.

Young's Point.

A great many of the electors of this part of the West Riding, who assembled on Friday evening to welcome Mr. Campbell, the Reform candidate, were somewhat disappointed that he or some of his friends from Peterborough did not put in an appearance. There were a number of electors present who came from a distance and who would have been very glad to hear Mr. Campbell's views on the issues before the province at this election. The audience waited until a late hour, but owing to Mr. Campbell being in ill health on that night, and to the execrable condition of the roads and weather, he and his friends were unable to be present, therefore after hearing some statements from Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, who happened to be present, they dispersed to their homes. Among all the electors here there is almost complete unanimity in behalf of Mr. Campbell, and if the other parts of the West Riding work and act as they shall, Mr. Campbell will be elected by the largest majority of any other member for a long time past. We hear that Mr. Blezard will get a majority of at least two hundred. He deserves it.

Ennismore.

The largest Reform meeting ever held in Ennismore was held in Mr. Campbell's interest, on Wednesday night. Mr. P. Gallivan, a veteran Reformer over eighty years of age, occupied the chair. On Mr. Campbell's behalf, addresses were delivered by himself, Mr. Bertram and others, while Mr. Hilliard, Mr. O'Meara and Mr. T. Cabill, a Dominion Government official, spoke for Mr. Carnegie. The meeting was three to one in Mr. Campbell's favor. Old Ennismore will give a good account of itself next Tuesday.

South Douro.

Mr. Blezard addressed a meeting of the electors on Wednesday night. Telling addresses were delivered by Mr. Blezard and Mr. H. O'Leary, Lindsay.

MOWAT and Honest Government.

WEST RIDING NOMINATIONS.

Messrs. James Campbell and John Carnegie Nominated.

On Tuesday last, Feb. 20th, 1883, the nomination of candidates for the representation of West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature took place at the Court House, Peterborough.

After the reading of the writ by the Returning Officer, Sheriff Hall,

Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, seconded by Mr. Patrick Crough, Reeve of Ennismore, nominated Mr. James Campbell, and in doing so, Mr. Sanderson thought the nomination a good one. He had known Mr. Campbell for years, and he felt a better representative could not be selected. He was an honest man and would deal fairly by both parties, and would support the Mowat Government in its fight against Dominion centralization.

Mr. Henry Collins, seconded by Mr. Geo. Revington, of Ennismore, nominated Mr. John Carnegie as a candidate. Mr. Collins' made a few remarks endorsing Mr. Carnegie's candidature.

He was followed by Mr. Lewis Davis, of Smith, in support of the nomination. He condemned Mr. Collins' personalities, and lauded the Crooks Act as an excellent and unobjectionable measure, and thought our educational system was the best in the world, and therefore he asked the electors to support Mr. Carnegie.

The following nominations were also also made:

Mr. Geo. Hilliard, nominated by Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Thomas Kelly.

Mr. John Bertram, nominated by Dr. Fife, seconded by Mr. G. Dunaford.

Mr. J. O'Meara, nominated by Mr. Green seconded Kendry.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, nominated by Mr. Bennet seconded by Mr. O'Meara.

Dr. Fife, nominated by Mr. R. Weir, seconded by Mr. W. A. Morrow.

Mr. Campbell, in rising to address the electors, said he had come out at the earnest solicitation of his friends, and by a nomination so unanimous that he could not refuse. He had never sought the position. He was not a politician and did not profess to be a speaker; but he was prepared, if elected, to deal fairly with all parties. He referred to the important benefits conferred upon the farming interests, by the Mowat administration as shown by their management and liberal endowment of the Agricultural College, and though Mr. Carnegie condemned the expenditure on this very college, he showed his appreciation of its thorough character by sending his son to be educated there. He approved of the extension of facilities for a higher mechanical education for the sons of mechanics in order to place them on a par with farmers' sons, for whose benefit the Agricultural College was supported. By its attention to the construction of Colonization roads, the Government had greatly promoted the settlement of the country and the convenience of settlers. The money spent on drainage—loaned to municipalities at five per cent.—had resulted in reclaiming and making fit for cultivation thousands of acres of otherwise valueless land. The proposed establishment of creameries was another evi*dence of the anxiety* of the Mowat Government to promote the farmers' interests and cause them to take in butter-making the leading position they had already done in the article of cheese. Referring to the Boundary Award matter, Mr. Campbell said he would stand by the Mowat Administration in their efforts to secure the ratification of the award that gave Ontario such a large acreage of valuable territory; to which ratification both Governments were in honor pledged. He would do all in his power to see that justice was done to Ontario. But he reserved to himself the right of independent action, and would support the Mowat Government only so far as they were, according to his opinion, in the right. He denounced the disallowance of the Rivers and Streams Bill, as arbitrary exercise of power that worked great wrong to parties who were kept from a market for their timber by parties seizing on and holding the mouths of streams in lumbering districts.

At the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's remarks Mr. Carnegie asked him how the Mowat Government proposed to get the rights of the Province in the Boundary Award.

Mr. Campbell replied, that they would agitate and by the force of public opinion compel the Dominion Government to do Ontario justice, and failing is, they would apply to the Queen herself. (Loud Cheers.)

Mr. Carnegie, after a few personal explanations, in which he tried to explain away the mischievous legislation he had assisted at, and to clear his skirts of guilt in his neglect of the county's interests in the Grand Junction By-law, repeated his usual campaign speech, with such elaborations as the occasion called forth. He denounced afresh higher education, and was in favor of confining educational advantages to the merest rudiments which were good enough for the ordinary mechanic. He justified the right-about movements of Mr. Meredith on the Boundary matter, and justified the disallowance of the Streams Bill, and intimated that he was so much dreaded that the whole strength of the Mowat Administration was combined for his defeat!

Mr. Bertram was received with cheers. He returned thanks for the nomination, but retired in Mr. Campbell's favor. Since personal qualifications had been alluded to, Mr. Campbell had shown that he was abundantly competent to manage his own business successfully, which showed that he would have similar success in attending to public business, a business standing which Mr. Carnegie's warmest friends did not claim for him. Referring to Mr. Carnegie's position in reference to the grant to denominational colleges, he showed from the journals of the House that Mr. Carnegie had voted against Government aid to denominational colleges.

Mr. Carnegie here attempted to explain away his action, but in spite of his wriggling Mr. Bertram held him to the charge of voting in opposition to state aid to religious colleges. Mr. Carnegie's denunciation of higher education was shown to be a bold attempt at class favoritism. Mr. Carnegie took the position that any who wanted a higher education could pay for it, thus keeping the poor man's son from rising in the world. Instead of progressing, Mr. Carnegie was retrograding and trying to re-introduce principles of aristocracy that would advance the rich man's son and keep the poor man's son down.

Mr. Campbell's idea for the improvement of facilities for giving a better technical education to the sons of mechanics was one he highly approved of. There was an Agricultural College for farmers' sons, of which Mr. Carnegie had taken advantage by sending thither his only son to receive the higher education which he wished to deny to the poor man's son. He (Mr. B.) believed in higher education for the mechanic in the branches of his trade, whereby Canadian mechanics would be so schooled that they would be able to fill positions in our manufacturing establishments which were now filled by skilled artizans imported from England and elsewhere. By elevating the position of mechanics, by giving them a higher education in their respective trades, was one sure way to make this a great manufacturing country, and this could be secured by voting for Mr. Campbell, whose scheme this was and which he would heartily support. In a few apt words Mr. Bertram applied the tu quoque argument to Mr. Carnegie's charge of holding the Registry office as a bait to the electors by showing that Sir John made the practice one of the cardinal principles of keeping office. In regard to the complaint of extravagance of the Mowat Administration, it was mere election talk. On the floor of the House they had not made, much less sustained, such a charge. In dealing with the Boundary Award Mr. Bertram showed that the Dominion Government were insincere and that they had no desire to settle the matter, which they could do at once by passing an Act of ratification, which by the solemn agreement between them and the Ontario Government they were in honor bound to do, and the inconsistency of Mr. Meredith's double-dealing was scathingly demonstrated. The disallowance of the Streams Bill was an unrighteous invasion of provincial rights as conferred by Confederation. The Bill was made necessary by the decision of Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot, showing the deficiency of the existing law on the matter. The Dominion Government had no right to disallow an Act that was in the competence of the Local Legislature. The Bill deprived no one of his rights, but the disallowance would work great injustice to those in the lumbering districts, and the principle of disallowance was an act that deprived this Province of home rule. After an amusing contrast of the celebrated cork-screw trip, and the Chicora "Colonization Roads" trip, in which he showed up the hypocrisy of Mr. Carnegie and his party. Mr. Bertram exposed the hollowness of the extravagance cry, which had not been sustained by a single attempt of the Opposition to reduce the expenditure, he again called on the electors, in the name of a complete territory and of the liberty of self-government, to make a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, to secure the election of Mr. Campbell, who would stand up for our territorial and provincial rights. (Cheers.)

Dr. Fife proposed three cheers for Mr. Campbell, which were given with a hearty good will, and after cheers for the Queen the meeting dispersed.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL BOARD TENDERS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR.—I ask the liberty, once more of encroaching upon your valuable space to respond to a communication in your issue of the 8th inst, over the respectable cognomen of Wm. Caldwell. I must say sir, that this matter of the School Supplies, has of late been a very [illegible] one, and therefore I would like to drop it as soon as I can honourably do so. I would here state that it would be highly discourteous and ungentlemanly of me, or any person to attempt to make Dr. Caldwell, or any other member of the School Board, the "Scapegoat" for the misdeeds of the whole body, without some provocation. Now, Sir with regard to the "Quotation" Remarks" which he is said to have made and which he absolutely denies having made, I am severely puzzled to imagine, how he can so soon forget. I am sure that trait in the Dr's. character is not natural nor proverbial of him, but why should he be so forgetful at this particular juncture? I am still convinced they were made notwithstanding his denial, perhaps, not in the same words but in meaning and influence precisely the same, and to show him, that I have some foundation for thinking so, I am permitted to use the name of Messrs. Galvin, Sanders, Dr. Armour and if necessary, two spectators of the meeting to verify my statements in that respect. These gentlemen may appear to be "contemptibly mean individuels" to the Dr. but Sir, to me are considered honourable, and perfectly trustworthy and consequently I have no reason to doubt there veracity. I would like to ask the Dr. if, as he says, my sealed tender was not the lower, quality considered, why was the following proviso in the resolution, admitted, "Provided he furnished paper equal to that quoted by Mr. Birdat $1.50 per ream. I may say here, that the majority of the Board must have known that the paper referred to per sample enclosed in tender, was identically the same in quality and price, as that I furnished the Board for the past year, and also that no complaints have been received by either the Board or myself. I also think the action of the Board itself, in making my tender the standard, in reducing Mr. H's tender, convincing proof that it was the lower. Several proofs could be given to verify the above, if space and time would permit. With reference to the severe "discourtesy" that he says he has withstood at my hands, if there has been any, I apologize, and with regard to the unmerited great "courtesy" (if there has been any) which he says he has shown me, since becoming a member of the School Board, I am truly grateful. But, Sir, I did not expect nor do I consider it right for individual members of the Public School Board to show particular courtesy, to one more than another, in a straight business transaction. All I expected, at the January meeting in particular, was equal justice, nothing else, and that I was not the recipient of. With regard to my criticisms of his report of the Board meeting referred to, I think still that he might have reported the resolution, that referred to the awarding of the contract, (through "courtesy,") as well as other resolutions of same meeting. Hoping, Sir, that this disagreeable matter will drop without causing unpleasantness to parties concerned, and apologizing for occupying so much of your valuable space.

I am Dear Sir,
yours respectfully,
T. J. BIRD.

FLEMMING THE "FLEECER."

New Victims Coming to the Front.

What the Fund W is Who Flemming and "Merriam" are Still in the Toils—No dearth of Warrats.

Since our last issue John Flemming has made a great excitement in Canada. He is a member of the firm of Flemming & Merriam, Chicago, confidence operators on grain margins, who secured a large number of victims in Canada, Belleville flats being particularly susceptible, for in that city the song of the sirens was written in a key of thirteen flats to two sharps. Flemming and Merriam of "Mutual Co-operation, fund W," in Chicago, were the originators of this style of fraud, and their success was so great that they had numerous imitators. At length the victims began to "squeal," and the U.S. post-office authorities forbade the Chicago post office to give the registered letters of victims to the firm, and in a very short time the neat little sum of $60,000 was rescued from the sharpers. Flemming was arrested on a charge of getting money under false pretences, but was released on bail. Scenting further danger, he filled a little hand bag with $100,000 and fled on Feb. 2nd towards Canada, without an overcoat. He reached Toronto and came to Peterborough, but returned to Toronto, where he was arrested by telegram from Constable Pidgeon, who had a warrant for his arrest, issued at the instance of J. E. Smith of Belleville. Constable Pidgeon arrived in town with him on Wednesday night, and after several hearings before Police Magistrate Dumble the four charges against Flemming were dismissed. It is likely that Flemming had compromised by paying back the money taken from his victims, for they paid the cost of their cases with great cheerfulness. On Friday morning Flemming and his sister (who had come from Chicago on hearing of his arrest) went for a sleigh drive into the country just in time to escape Detective Fahey, who arrived from Montreal with a warrant for Flemming's arrest, at the instance of another victim. Flemming did not return to town but went to Toronto, where he was again arrested, on a similar charge, and a Barrie Constable is now in wait with another warrant. Flemming is a Peterborough boy, having kept a grocery store in Peterborough about 25 or 26 years ago. He went from here to Detroit, where he carried on a grocery business. Next he came to prominence in Chicago, where he became a member of the firm of Flemming & Merriam, a concern described in the circular as a "Mutual Cooperative Fund W, for speculating and buying and selling Grain, Provisions and Stocks," and the gullible public. There is no such man as Merriam but he is a fictitious character, standing for Loring, who was an East Peterboro' man. The trouble in Canada is to identify Flemming with the fraud, and for that reason he will likely escape punishment. He is now in jail in Toronto, but will probably be released.

Educational Advancement.

The Opposition are greedy of fault-finding in reference to the educational interests of the province under the Liberal Government. The advances that have been made under the Mowat regime are gratifying to all that recognize education as an important factor in national prosperity. To show that the people appreciate these advantages, they have taxed theuselves liberally, and the poor man's child has had equal advantages, as far as the Government is concerned, with the child of the rich man. The amount paid in 1871 for teachers' salaries in the Public and Separate Schools was $1,191,476; in 1881 it was $2,106,019. The total Public School expenditure in 1871 was $1,803,294, and in 1880 it was $2,844,271. In 1871 there were in operation 102 High Schools, having 7,490 pupils in attendance; in 1881 there were 104, with 13,136 in attendance. The salaries paid to masters in the former year amounted to $113,862; in the latter to $257,218. The total amount paid for schools of all kinds in 1871 was $2,297,694; in 1880 it had risen to $3,351,356. Of that the amount paid by the Legislature in the former year was $351,306; in the latter $502,824. Municipal taxation produced the rest.

Patronage and Centralization.

The Tory journals and stump orators are at present greatly exercised over the immense patronage which they allege is exercised by the Mowat Administration. But the question arises whether they are finding this sort of fault with the Mowat Administration for the sake of merely finding fault, or are they grumbling on principle? That they are grumbling merely for the sake of making a political point against the Mowat Government is sufficiently shown by the fact that the Tory Dominion Government exercise a much greater patronage, and there is not one word of objection made to that. That's all right, because their friends do it; but the same thing on an infinitely smaller scale, is all wrong; when a Reform Government happens to have a few offices at its disposal. It is safe to say that the Dominion Government have five to one more offices to dispose of than the Local Government. For instance, in London, Ontario, the Local Government has less than a dozen local appointments, excluding, of course, the asylum appointments, which are not local in their character, while the Dominion Government has the power of appointing seventy-four persons in the post office alone, a baker's dozen in the customs, fourteen in the Inland Revenue department, besides the different inspectors for fish, steam, weights and measures, etc. Why do not these purists grumble about the dangerous tendencies of the patronage controlled by the Dominion Government? Simply because the appointments by the latter are in a conformity with the Heaven-given right of a Tory to have a fat office, and of the utter criminality of any Grit occupying a soft seat. And then as to centralization; why the Tory Government octopus at Ottawa is stretching its tentacles in every direction. By an arbitrary exercise of power which no argument can prove to be a right, they deprive this Province of home rule and are seeking to carry out a scheme, with aid of Ontario traitors, by which the Local Legislature will be a mere donkey-engine to the Ottawa Government. This is a most vicious sort of centralization, and one that threatens to sap the foundations of confederation. The British North America Act gives the provinces certain subjects over which they are to exercise exclusive jurisdiction. Among them there are enumerated in section 92, sub-section 9, "Shop, Saloon, Tavern, Auctioneer and other licenses, in order to the raising of a revenue for provincial and local or municipal purposes." Yet Sir John has pledged himself in the Speech from the Throne to interefere in the matter of licensing liquor sellers. If this is not centralization it is difficult to define what centralization means. The Confederation gives this right to the Provinces alone, and at the same time gives them the right of exercising the power to raise a revenue either for provincial, local or municipal purposes. and because the Ontario Government has simply exercised the right clearly given it by the Confederation Act, of dividing equitably between the province and the municipalities the revenue derived from licenses, the change of centralization is sought to be fixed on them. If the policy of Sir John is carried out the principles on which the Federal Union was established, will be broken and the gate will be opened to a return to a Legislative Union, which Sir John has always favored as opposed to Confederation, because under it he has a greater opportunity of manupulating matters to his own political advantage, and gratifying his personal ambition.

Editorial Notes.

The Ontario Government's proportion of the liquor license fees last year amounted to $91,948.75; the inspectors and commissioners to $46,706.40: the municipalities to $276,983.79.

In the last year of the Government of the late Sandfield Macdonald, hospitals and charities cost the province $42,510. The same institutions last year cost $68,095.79. Will anybody say the increase was unnecessary?

The probabilities are all in favor of a very short session at Ottawa. The House goes into supply next week, and with the passage of the Estimates the work of the session is practically over. Very little legislation need therefore be looked for.

By the way, where are the several millions that foreign capitalists were aching to invest in Canada as soon as the people of the Dominion sustained the N. P. John A. promised that they would show up right after the election. Two-thirds of a year have passed and they have not yet filed an appearance. Sir John's capitalists are too subsequent.

An exchange thinks the Tory paper must have been laughing in its sleeve when it claimed that surplus of the Dominion Government as a proof of statesmanship. The biggest dunderhead on earth could acquire a surplus if given power to levy unlimited taxes. The surplus of the Mowat Government on the other hand, is the result, not of taxation, but of a wise economy in the expenditures.

Our esteemed local contemporary, remarks the London Advertiser, says that the Dominion authorities possess supervisory powers over the legislation of the provinces, and in proof of it asserts that local legislation was disallowed by the Mackenzie Government. This is the most childish way of begging the question. The Mackenze Government never disallowed one Act within the competence of the Local Legislature.

THE Toronto Tribune (Roman Catholic) puts forth the stinging reminder: "If the Opposition policy is a barren one and retrogade at that, its vocabulary of abuse is copious to profusion and it has dealt it out right and left with an unsparing hand. Though it is over now, the "Marmion" discussion is not forgotten, nor the contemptuous insults offered to every Catholic in the Province by the foul language of the Tory organ.

There is one point says the London Advertiser, that the Tories will find themselves cornered in on the morning of the 28th inst. They now say that the N. P. is the issue to be decided in this contest. The Mowat Government will be sustained, unquestionably. Will the Tories be willing to accept this verdict as a condemnation of the N. P.? They must do so or acknowledge that they endeavoured to carry the election on false pretences.

The Toronto organ says that an easy way to end trouble in the Boundary Award would be to defeat the Mowat Government, which, being interpreted, means that Mr. Meredith would allow the behest of Messrs. Masson and Mousseau to prevail, and the province would be robbed of 97,000 square miles territory. What poltroonery there is in the phrase, an easy way to end trouble. An easy way to end trouble is to give up your pocket book to the garroter who has his hand to your throat; an easy way to end trouble is to cover your head with the bed-clothes and lie still when you hear a burglar enter your house.

Ireland has lost one of its most influential and devoted friends in the death of Cardinal McCabe. He was not only a faithful friend to the Irish people, but a faithful friend to law and order; an enemy to the tyranny of the landlord, to the midnight marauder and the assassin. Cardinal McCabe never ceased to proclaim that honesty must ever remain the standard of utility, and that a just cause did not require the aid of wicked deeds and unhallowed associations. No man of our day has labored more unceasingly to promote freedom and good government, to put an end to oppression by means consistent with justice, mercy and truth, than did Cardinal McCabe. We can wish for the people of Ireland nothing better than that one equally just and enlightened may be found to take his place.

There is hardly an adult person living but is sometimes troubled with kidney difficulty, which is the most prolific and dangerous cause of all disease. There is no sort of need to have any form of kidney or urinary trouble if Hop Bitters is taken occasionally. 8-2t

THE ENGLISH, IRISH AND SCOTCH.

Looking at the population of the three kingdoms, it may easily be perceived that there is a considerable difference amongst them with respect to temperament. The Irish are gay, ardent; the Scotch are comparatively cool, steady and cautious; the English are, perhaps, a fair average between the two. We remember it was not inelegantly observed by a friend, that an Englishman thinks and speaks; a Scotchman thinks twice before he speaks; and an Irishman speaks before he thinks. A lady present added—"A Scotchman thinks with its head, an Irishman with his heart." This allusion to impulse operating more rapidly than deliberation is akin to Miss Edgeworth's remark that an Irishman may err with his head, never with his heart; the truth, however, being that he obeys his heart, not always waiting for the dictates of his head. Some years ago there was caricature very graphically pourtraying these grades of difference in the ardor of the three nations. An Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scotchman were represented as looking through a confectioner's window at a beautiful young lady serving in the shop. "Oh!" exclaims Mr. Patrick, "do let us be after spending a half-crown with the dear crayture, that we may look at her conveniently and have a bit of chat with her." "You extravagant dog!" said Mr. George, "I'm sure one-half the money will do quite as well. But let us go in by all means; she is a charming girl." "Ah! wait a wee!" interposed Mr. Andrew, "dinna ye ken it'll serve oor purpose equally weel just to ask the bonnie lassie to gie us twa sixpences for a shilling, and inquire where's Mr. Thompson's house, and sic like? We're no hungry, and may as weel save the siller."

THE TYRANNY OF PROTECTION.

The people of the United States are becoming dissatisfied with the tariff. The grumbling is increasing from day to day. Those who have to earn their living by labor complain of the oppressive weight of taxation. They say they are paying war taxes in time of peace. Everything the working man consumes is taxed, not to produce taxes for the Public Treasury, but to put money into the pockets of the manufacturing monopolists. When the farmer buys a tool he is paying a heavy tax, but nothing goes to the revenue. The tool when imported in the States from England can be sold for 50 cents, but a duty of twenty five cents is placed on it which practically prohibits its importation, and the American manufacturer of the same tool is unable to sell his inferior home made article for seventy cents. Thus the consumer is taxed twenty cents, but not a fraction of the tax reaches the public treasury. It is all grabbed by the capitalist and the manufacturer. Naturally the people are growing tired of Protection. The same thing will happen in Canada ere long. Labour is always fooled by capital and honest industry is ever the deluded victim of cunning politicians.—Independent.

WEST RIDING

OF THE

County of Peterboro'

GENTLEMEN,—

At the solicitation of many personal and political friends in the Constituency, I offer myself as a Candidate for your suffrages at the coming election for the House of Assemble of Ontario.

The Government of the Hon. Oliver Mowat has my sympathy and support, believing that they have acted fairly by all classes in the community, and that there administration has been characterized by good faith, good judgment and liberality.

If elected, it will be my endeavor to consider fairly and without partizanship all matters brought before the Assembly, and support those measures that in my opinion would be for the welfare of the whole community.

The efforts of the present Government to promote the interests of the agriculturist, and to assist our pioneer settlers, have my full approval.

I would be in favor of promoting and assisting further technical education for our young artisans.

As a citizen of Ontario, I am very desirous of preserving our Provincial rights, and will support every effort of the administration to obtain possession of the valuable territory awarded to us by the eminent and properly appointed arbitrators, and which is now being wrongfully withheld.

Soliciting the favor of your votes and influence,

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JAMES CAMPBELL.

THE STREAMS BILL.

We see no reasons to doubt that the Ontario Legislature has acted in perfect good faith in legislating in regard to the rights of riparian proprietors on all rivers creeks and streams, and in providing, that persons who shall improve the floatability of any river, creek or stream shall not have the exclusive right to the use of such river, creek or stream, but that, subject to the payment of reasonable tolls, all other persons shall have the right to use such improvements. There seems to be a variety of opinions among those who are hostile to the Ontario Act. We have seen it argued that the Act is entirely ultra vires, because the Dominion Parliament alone has the control of all rivers and streams. This pretension is entirely destitute of force, and was not contended for by the Dominion Government itself. It is admitted that the Government might expropriate the property of a riparian proprietor and then exact tolls, as the Dominion Government has done for the use of the slides constructed by means of public funds. This is an unsatisfactory solution of the difficulty. It would be unreasonable that the Provincial Governments should be compelled to acquire the property of all who might choose to make improvement on non-navigable streams chiefly for their own benefit. The only other course is that contemplated by the Ontario Act, which is to permit the public generally to use the improvements on the payment of a fair compensation. We may remark here, that the opponents of the Ontario Act have constantly alleged that the object of the Act was to deprive Mr. McLaren of his property without compensation. We find nothing in the act to lead to such an inference. The intention seems to us to have been to put riparian proprietors, who have made improvements on the same footing as joint stock companies incorporated under a general act for making similar improvements.—Journal of Commerce.

CONSTERNATION IN CINCINNATI.

UNPRECEDENTED RISE OF THE OHIO RIVER.

The city is in consternation on account of the great rise in the river. It reached 61 feet 2½ inches Sunday afternoon and is rising two inches an hour. Desperate efforts to save merchandise in the lower part of the city are being made. Advices from above indicate that a heavy rise is coming. Business men say the damage by the overflow in Cincinnati and city will amount to millions. Thousands of people crowd all the bridges watching the flood. Three feet more water is expected. all the transfer wagons in the city are removing goods, nearly 10 miles of river front in Cincinnati is under water. Along the landing the flood is up to the second and third stories in many buildings. All the railway freight business and nearly all the express business west and north is stopped. In the city from Pearl street to the river the greatest activity and excitment prevails. The fire department is pumping out Pearl street cellars to enable merchats to save goods. The Cincinnati stock yards are flooded. The stock train cannot move in any direction. All business will be suspended until the danger is past. It is expected every minute that the gaslights will be extinguished, It is now believed the rise will reach sixty-three feet the greatest on record.

The water supply is danger. There were no services in some of the churches Sunday night on account of the failure of gaslight.

The city of Lawrenceburg, Indianna, is entirely inundated. No spot of ground will be visible in it to-morrow. The people are isolated and cannot be reached by rail and steamers cannot land. They telegraphed to-night for bread. It will have to be conveyed to them by skiffs.

IN THE history of medicine no preparation has received such universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by John McKee. 3-8t.

GOOD GOVERNMENT VINDICATED.

Hon. Mr. Pardee's Speech at Sarnia.

Well Worth the Electors' Reading.

On his nomination the other day for East Lambton, Hon. Mr. Pardee delivered an exhaustive and stirring address, touching upon and defending from the attacks of its opponents, the course, policy, and administration of the Mowat Government. After a few preliminary remarks he devoted his attention to the subject of

CENTRALIZATION:

Their opponents have also been trying to make people believe that the rights of the municipalities have in some way been improperly interfered with, and in that way they expect to secure the sympathy of the people and their support in opposing the Government. The utterances of Mr. Meredith upon this question had been most inconsistent. Mr. Meredith had introduced a motion and caused it to be added to the law, that municipal councillors should not be commissioners to issue licenses. Now he thinks that licensing power should be given back to the municipal councillors. (Laughter and applause.) These things go to show that the charge of centralization has been raised merely to court popularity and not because the Opposition have any ground for making it. It is invariably the case that where there is no evidence to support a charge, those making it will resort to misrepresentations and even to deliberate untruths. Look at Mr. Meredith's organ the Free Press, and they would find it in its efforts to make good these charges of centralization, stating that the Government want to take upon themselves the power of appointing school teachers and school trustees. (Laughter.) Mr. Meredith himself is reported to have gone so far as to say that the Government contemplated taking this power into their hands, and his organ repeats the statement as if it were an actual fact. It was well known that the Government had no desire nor ambition to do anything of the kind. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Meredith and his friends knew full well that if such charges were brought against the Government on the floor of the House they could be disproved in a very short time, consequently they would not attack them in that way, but resorted to outside and irresponsible methods to deceive the people. (Hear, hear.) Then again there was a charge brought against the Government that they had been guilty of centralization in taking the power from the County Judges of appointing Division Court clerks and bailiffs. Previously, these officers, who were the servants of the Province, were appointed by the County Judges, who were appointed by the Dominion Government. He considered that it was a good and sufficient reason for making this change on the ground that their own officers should be appointed by themselves. (Hear, hear.) The County Judges, who previously made the appointments, were not responsible to the Provincial Government in the matter, and not only were they appointed by the Dominion Government but it must be remembered that it was a life appointment and no one had the power to dismiss them. If any clerk went wrong or any bailiff went wrong you might get redress or you might not under the old system, but now, if any of them went wrong all they had to do was to make complaint to the Provincial Secretary who would send the Inspector at once to investigate it and see that it was put right. There was no man who would say that this had not worked better for the public, so that this was another instance in which a charge of centralization had been made against the Government for which there was not the slightest foundation (hear, hear.) They had only made a change which the public interest demanded, but because it did not please Sir John Macdonald they had been assailed by the Opposition on all sides for it. Because it did not please Sir John they would find opponents eager to denounce it as an act of centralization, as if the Provincial Government were not the proper persons to appoint the officers to the provincial courts. He would again ask if there was any foundation in that case for the charges which had been made.

ALLEGED EXTRAVAGANCE.

Another prominent accusation that their opponents made was that they had been guilty of extravagance because their expenditure in 1882 exceeded that of 1871. They did not care to remember that the country had been progressing during these years and required larger expenditures. In reply to this accusation he would ask where the money had gone that made up this increase! The province had spent it in public improvements, and upon their asylums and other public institutions; they had given much more to the support of municipal institutions in 1881 than they did in 1871; they had built hundreds of miles of railways which were not undertaken in 1871, and in various other ways had spent the public money for the public benefit. There expenditure amounted to something like, in round figures, two and a quarter millions, but they did not get this sum from the House en bloc. Before a dollar could be spent a book of estimates had to be prepared and in this book every single dollar has to be set forth, item by item, and every item has to be considered, discussed and passed through a committee of the whole House. If the items were excessive that was the time for Mr. Meredith and his friends to point out wherein the Government was extravagant. They could say that you are spending too much upon the London Asylum for instance; you have too many officers there and we will strike some of them out. Or they could put their fingers upon another item and say $20,000 is too much for that and we must make a reduction. But in four years how much do you suppose they proposed to strike out of all the items of expenditure for the province? Just $41,000 out of an expenditure in round figures of something like $10,000,000. During the first session they did not propose to strike out anything at all; in 1880 they wanted to strike out $19,000 which had been estimated for immigration. The Government wanted to take $39,000 for this purpose, but the Opposition wanted it reduced to $20,000, which was all that they would allow for the purpose of settling up the waste lands in the Province. The Dominion Government spent about a quarter of a million annually for the same purpose, while the Opposition objected to this province appropriating $39,000. Then the Government wanted to take $5,000 towards the expenses of the agricultural commission, but Mr. White wanted that struck out. This was one of the most useful things that the Government ever took in hand and the only trouble was that they could not print enough of its reports to put one in the hands of every farmer in the province. There could be no doubt that the agricultural commission was a great power for the advancement of the farming interests; it had been noticed favorably by the agricultural papers of Great Britian and the United States which had again and again regretted they had got nothing like it in the old country or in the States, yet Mr. White proposed to strike out the $5,000 appropriated for this work. Objection was also made to the $5,000 that they were taking for the opening up of the territory awarded them in the Northwest and some other little items that made a total of $31,000. In 1882 they did not propose to strike out one item. During the last session of parliament they did not make a single motion to strike out a dollar, though they did ask that some thirty items should be allowed to stand over for further consideration and made a motion of want of confidence in the government on the ground of their extravagant expenditure. It was more than strange that if they wanted to pass a vote of want of confidence in the government for its extravagance that they did not make a motion to strike out some of the items which they claimed were extravagant; but they did not, and he could confidently lay this before them and ask if any case was made out by their opponents on the ground of extravagant expenditure? (Applause). But for all the opposition would continue to get before the people and ask them to believe that the present government had been extravagant. He was not afraid to appeal to the people upon his ground although he did not believe it was the highest duty of a government to save up money in their treasury. The proper duty of the government was to make what expenditure might be necessary to carry on the affairs of the province to the best advantage. They were trustees of the people. What advantage would it be if they had millions in the treasury and expended nothing on public improvements or for the benefit of the people; They had been liberal in their expenditure, but notwithstanding that they had still a good surplus in the treasury. John Sandfield Macdonald left a surplus of $3,000,000, and though there had been a great deal of money spent since his time in building and maintaining asylums, and other public institutions, the government had now in the treasury a surplus of no less than, in round figures, between $4,000,000, and $5,000,000,—$4,800,000. (Cheers.) A pretty nice sum that to have by for a rainy day (laughter). He thought that was a pretty satisfactory provision to make, while at the same time they had not neglected any of the just demands made upon them and if there were any other improvement the people say they want done—any more railways required—the government has the money by to do it with. He thought by this time he had shown them pretty conclusively that the charges of centralization and extravagance which had been made against them were without foundation. They were only put forward like a red herring drawn across the track, about which they had heard so much, to draw the minds of the people away from the issues at stake in this contest. They were trying to turn away the attention of the people by making these charges of extravagance and centralization in order to keep them from talking about those 100,000 square miles territory of which Sir John is trying to deprive them This question had been so thoroughly gone over during the June elections that it was hard to say anything new about it. And so was the question of disallowance. These were two of the issues laid before them during the Dominion elections but the principal issue, of course decided at that election was the National Policy Now that Sir John Macdonald had found out how popular, that was, he and his friends were trying to drag it into the coming contest and get people interested in it. They got up a want of confidence vote upon the question in the House, but Mr. Meredith and his supporters failed to carry it. Of course they would try to raise this issue at the approaching elections, although the Mowat administration had no more to do with the duty on whiskey and sugar than the township councils had. The interference of the ministers of the Dominion Parliament in provincial affairs was centralization of the worst kind. (Hear, hear.) It means, if followed to its logical conclusion, that the local Governments must be in perfect accord with the Dominion Government, or that if there is any difference of opinion between them that the local Government must give way.

THE BOUNDARY AWARD.

Referring to the boundary award Mr. Pardee said that there were involved in this controversy 100,000 square miles of territory extending to a line drawn from the Lake of the Woods to James Bay. This has been declared to be the true boundary of the province on the west, by a tribunal, one of whom was chosen by each Government with a third and independent party selected by the other two. Both Governments agreed to abide by the decision of these arbitrators, but it unfortunately happened that just after the award was made, the Mackenzie Government went out of power. When the Macdonald Government came in it was anticipated that they would ratify the award, because when the elections were held in 1878 something was said by the Conservative candidate in this very county that the Dominion Government would give them this territory. Nothing was done about it and it stood over till 1880, when a resolution was put in the Local House which was strongly supported by Mr. Meredith, who said he would always be found standing by Ontario for the purpose of getting her rights. In 1881 he also declared that the award was a just and good one, but in 1882 another motion was made to condemn the Dominion Government for not proceeding with this matter and then for the first time they found Mr. Meredith jumping Jim Crow, because he found that his previous action had been disapproved by Sir John, who found that he was getting into a difficulty with the Tories from Quebec. Sir John Macdonald had himself claimed that when the Dominion Government was purchasing the land from the Hudson Bay Company, that Ontario extended not only to the Lake of the Woods, but 100 miles beyond that to the Red River. Ontario had been in possession of a great part of this territory for years, and laid out thousands of dollars beyond Prince Arthur's Landing, but now they were threatened with the loss of the territory and unless the people of the province stood by their Government and showed the Dominion Government that they were firm in their demands there was every possibility that we would lose it. (Cheers.) There was no danger to his mind, but if the people of this province spoke out fearlessly and firmly that they would find that Quebec will be obliged to withdraw their interference and allow them to take possession of their rights. Sir John had made a pretence that he wished to have the dispute referred to the Privy Council but if Ontario consented to that and even got a decision in their favor again, he would no doubt find some other excuse for refusing to give the territory up to them. Then again if they went to the Privy Council they would have to leave the land in the hands of the Dominion Government and by the time Ontario got it it would be valueless, for the Dominion Government had already given the Pacific Railway a tract of land twenty miles wide on each side of their line from which they were stripping the timber as fast as they could. The timber on this territory was worth, according to Col. Dennis, $125,000,000, the interest on which would be sufficient to give $2½ per head annually to every man woman and child in the province. Then the mineral resources of this territory were very great, the gold mines being the richest in that part, and silver was also to be found in considerable quantities. It was also in parts very valuable for agricultural purposes, but what would be the good of it if when they got it the timber was all sold and the gold and silver mines had been let to the friends of the Government at the bidding of the Province of Quebec. This was what they were asked to acquiesce in when they were recommended to refer it to the Privy Council for settling. (hear, hear).

HOME RULE DENIED.

Not only were they deprived of their territory but they were also deprived of the right to legislate upon matters which were clearly placed within their jurisdiction by the British North America Act. Previous to Confederation they were not fairly dealt with by the Government, for while they furnished the most of the money they got the least of it expended in this Province. The British North America Act was designed to remedy this and until lately the Province was led to believe that they were masters of their own actions, but now it was found that Sir John A. Macdonald and his Cabinet Ministers claimed to have the right to review their legislation. There was the case of McLaren and Caldwell, which had been brought prominently into notice. The persons engaged in this dispute were of a secondary consideration, it was the principle involved for which they were fighting, and he did not think the people would ever be brought so low as to admit that the Ontario Government had merely the right to pass bills pro forma and that the Dominion Government had the power to review them and disallow such of them as they saw fit. He did not think that any one who knew what his rights were, would submit to have the measures passed by the Local Government laid before a cabinet of thirteen ministers who were to arrogate themselves the right to disallow any measure they did not approve of. It was for the people of the province to say whether they approved or disproved of the action of their ministers, and not for the Dominion Ministers to constitute themselves a second chamber to review their acts. Mr. Pardee briefly reviewed the facts connected with the Caldwell McLaren case, and the action of the Ontario Government on the question. The Provincial Government feeling that it would be monstrous to leave it optional with any individual to deprive his neighbors of the right to float logs down the stream, passed an Act declaring that people owning limits had a right to float their timber down any stream and to use any improvements on paying the proprietor thereof reasonable toll. He could not see how this could be construed into taking a man's property away from him without compensation. It allowed the owner to retain and use his own improvements, but gave the right to others in addition. This Act was disallowed by the Dominion Government, and now anyone who made any improvement at the mouth of a river could prevent those above them from floating their logs down. He hoped that the electors would show the Dominion Government that they were not going to sit quietly by and have their own measures disallowed like this. (Cheers.)

TORY RESPECT FOR FARMERS.

The next point to which he should allude was the allegation that they had not managed their free grant lands in the interest of the farmers. The Tories had great respect for the farmers sometimes. What did the Tory organ say when they went to Toronto to protest against Dominion interference. They were called a lot of semi-civilized barbarians who had been attracted there by the promise of cheap whiskey and that all they wanted to make themselves presentable was a bath and some old clothes. (hisses and laughter).

MANAGEMENT OF CROWN LANDS.

Now they pretend to champion the cause of the farmers in the Free Grant District. How were they answered? Why at the election that was held in Mukoka in October, the Reform candidate was returned by a majority of about 500. (Cheers.) Mr. Meredith had sought to make a point against the Government for selling timber by auction, but he thought he could show that that was the best way to deal with it. Tories who were in power in Canada for a quarter of a century before Confederation sold 13,000 square miles of timber to political friends for $52,000, while he, as Commissioner of Crown Lands, had sold the right to cut timber on 1,800 square miles for over a million of dollars. (Cheers.) Mr. Meredith contended that no sales should be made without first asking the consent of Parliament. This was absurd, for while they were waiting to submit the question to Parliament a fire might go through the district or the market might fall and then the Government would lose the opportunity for sale, and perhaps afterwards would not be able to realize a quarter of the price for it. The idea of waiting for an order of the House was absurd. No such doctrine had ever been preached in Canada or England as that. The Minister was responsible for his actions first to the House and then to the people, and if they were of opinion that his actions were not in accord with the principles of good government they had the power to remove him.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

Before he concluded he would like to say one more word on the issuing of licenses. It was said that the Dominion Government was going to take away from the provinces the right to control the traffic in liquor. He would ask them were they prepared to give up their right to issue licenses and have it given into the hands of the Dominion Government? He did not think a more retrogressive motion could be introduced. when they asked for any change to be made in the law the question with Sir John Macdonald would not be whether it would be an advantage to the Province of Ontario, but will British Columbia, or Quebec on Manitoba submit to it? The temperance Province of Ontario would find itself yoked to other provinces less advanced in temperance principles, and they would have to submit to legislation that would fall far short in its effects of that which they now enjoy; because if it was in the hands of the Dominion Government it would have to be made uniform throughout the Dominion. This he urged would be going back 25 years in the great moral movement which had been inaugurated in this province and which had been carried forward to a point that produced the best results and gave as general satisfaction as could be expected from any licensing system. (Cheers.)

With a few words of caution as to the danger of being over-confident in the forthcoming contest, and with a request for his friends to give him the same valuable assistance as he had received from them in previous contests, the hon. gentleman brought his remarks to a close amid prolonged cheers.

To the Free and Independent Electors of the WEST RIDING OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBORO'.

GENTLEMEN,—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor having seen fit to dissolve the Legislature of this Province and to issue writs for the election of a new Legislature on the shortest possible notice, I beg respectfully to solicit your votes to return me as your representative in the Assembly about to be elected.

In doing so I beg to state:—

That I am opposed to the policy of the Mowat Government whereby we are being kept out of our just territoral rights, and that, if elected, I shall do all in my power to secure for the Province the boundaries assigned to it at Confederation.

I am opposed to all ex post facto legislation and I am convinced that it is contrary to sound policy as well as justice that any man's property should be taken from him without full and adequate compensation to be ascertained by an independent and fairly constituted tribunal.

I believe there is now on the Statute Book of this Province all or nearly all the legislation required to protect the public interests and to provide for the acquisition of non-floatable streams and improvements which may have been made thereon upon terms at once just to the lumbermen and to the owners thereof.

I am opposed to the unnecessary centralization of patronage where it can be used to influence the electorate, believing that such centralization is dangerous to the freedom of the people and calculated to produce the same evils in Canada as it has already produced in the neighboring States.

I am opposed to any Government using the power vested in them for the time being by the people to prevent a free expression of public opinion upon any subject and especially upon a subject with which they as a Government have nothing to do, as was done by the Mowat Government and their officials in the last Dominion election in regard to the tariff policy adopted by the people.

I am opposed to the reckless and unnecessary extravagance of the Mowat Government whereby the capital of the Province is being rapidly dissipated and its ordinary expenditure increased to a point which cannot be maintained without a resort to direct taxation in one form or another.

With a view to bringing the ordinary expenditure within the ordinary income of the Province, without curtailing those expenditures which have a direct bearing upon local taxation I shall advocate a substantial reduction in the number of the representatives of the Assembly, greater economy in the departments and generally such reforms as may be calculated to reduce those expenditures from which the people are deriving no direct advantage believing that they are entitled to and desire the cheapest Government that suffices to regulate their affairs.

I am opposed to making the liquor traffic the shuttlecock of any political party, and will advocate and support every measure calculated to place the issue of licenses and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto in the hands of those least likely to be influenced by political considerations.

I am in favor of such a readjustment of the franchise as will give to all classes of the community that voice in the Government of the country to which they are entitled and of which certain classes are now unjustly deprived by the present Government notwithstanding that they have had ample opportunities of remedying this injustice.

The educational department under a political head not having proved a success I shall favor a return to the non-political position which the department occupied when under the able management of the late Dr. Ryerson.

I believe that too much attention and too much money has been spent on what is called higher education and upon educational theorizing to the neglect of the three R's; that the cost of maintaining public schools—especially in the outlying districts—has been unnecessarily increased thereby, and that the people are not deriving the advantages which they should do from the large amount annually expended nominally for educational purposes, but in too many instances, to little practical advantage.

There are, no donbt, several other questions to which allusion might be made, but this address is already too long, and as my views on the public questions of the day are already pretty well known to most of you, and especially as I hope to have the opportunity, between this and polling day, of discussing the issues of the campaign with my opponent in your presence, I shall conclude by expressing the hope that my long and active connection with the public affairs of the Town and County of Peterborough, my practical knowledge of its agricultural and manufacturing interests and the manner in which I have hitherto discharged the public duties with which I have from time to time been entrusted have been such as to secure for me the hearty and active support of not only those who agree with me, but also of those electors who believe it to be the duty of a representative to try and impress his views upon his party leaders and not simply to vote as directed by them.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN CARNEGIE.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 22, 1883.

Mr. Carnegie's Record.

Mr. Carnegie in making his appeal to the electors of West Peterborough, is not in the position of an untried candidate. He filled for four years, from 1867 to 1871, the position he asks to be again placed in, and by the record he then made for himself he must be judged. He has been weighed in the balance; it is for the electors to say, with his record before them, whether he has been found wanting.

During the time above referred to, Mr. Carnegie was a slavish supporter—using the term in its strongest sense, of the Sanfield Macdonald Government. That administration, with some good points about it, made for itself in some respects a very unenviable record, and whenever a party division was taken, the name of Mr. Carnegie was sure to be found on the Government side, whatever the motion might be. Let us take a few examples:

In the last session of that Parliament, Mr. Blake, as leader of the Opposition, on the 11th of January, 1871, moved a resolution declaring it expedient: (1) to provide that acts of bribery, undue influence, and other illegal practices at elections for the Legislative Assembly, should be prohibited and punishable by imprisonment; (2) to provide for the auditing of election accounts, and that no money should be paid for election purposes (except personal expenses) that did not pass through the auditor's hands; (3) to provide that money paid otherwise should void the election. In amendment it was moved by Mr. Sanfield Macdonald, that in the opinion of the House the provisions in the Election law of 1868, against bribery and undue influence, might be taken as sufficient until tested by experience. Amongst those who helped to vote down Mr. Blake's motion to secure purity at elections, was Mr. Carnegie.

On the same day he voted to squelch Mr. Blake's bill "to further secure the independence of the Legislative Assembly by rendering ineligible therefor, all persons holding employments of profit at the nomination of the crown."

By these two votes in one day, Mr. Carnegie placed himself on record as opposed to a stringent election law such as we have now in force, and to the exclusion of placemen from the House of Assembly. He may plead that it was a party necessity to support his leader; we trust that if Mr. Campbell is elected he will never be found supporting his leader in any piece of wrong doing.

On the 18th of the same month Mr. Carnegie voted to perpetuate the barbarous practice of imprisonment for debt, by voting to give Mr. Blake's bill, abolishing it, the three months hoist.

On the second of February Mr. Blake moved the following resolution.

That the cold-blooded murder, for his outspoken loyalty to the Queen, of Thomas Scott, lately a resident of this Province and an emigrant thence to the North-West, has impressed this house with a deep feeling of sorrow and indignation, and, in the opinion of this House, every effort should be made to bring to trial the perpetrators of this great crime, who, as yet, go unwhipt of justice.

This was eminently a proper expression of opinion at the time, and moderate as well as proper. But Mr. Carnegie could not so see it. He and his associates were too anxious to shield their friends at Ottawa from implied censure and they voted to burk Mr. Blake's motion.

On the 3rd of February the celebrated railway resolutions of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald came before the Assembly. A few days later they were debated and voted on; in connection with Mr. Blake's amendment asking for a distribution of a portion of the surplus to the municipalities according to population with a view to the extinction of Municipal Loan Fund indebtedness. Against this reasonable and statesmanlike proposition of Mr. Blake's we find Mr. Carnegie's vote recorded. Since that time a very large portion of the surplus has been distributed in this very way and not even Mr. Carnegie dares condemn the policy. At that time he either had not intellect enough to percieve what was expedient when it was suggested to him, or he had no mind of his own and allowed himself to be "whipped" into voting against a reasonable and proper resolution merely because it came from the Opposition side of the House. Such a man is not the kind of representative that suits West Peterborough.

In connection with the same railway resolutions, Mr. Blake, on the 3rd of February moved that "the decision of the Government to grant aid to any Railway Company shall be subject to the ratification of the Legislative Assembly." It is a sound principle that in the last resort the appropriation of public money to particular services shall rest with the people's representatives, but Mr. Carnegie preferred leaving that prerogative to the Government of the day; he voted against Mr. Blake's amendment. He even went so far immediately afterwards as to vote against a motion of Mr. Blake's requiring the Orders-in-Council making the appropriations to be published in the Ontario Gazette. We know that Mr. Blake's policy was at the election of 1871 endorsed by the country, but the electors of West Peterborough preferred to leave Mr. Carnegie at home on account of his votes, and he was therefore not in a position to offer any more obstruction.

When the School Bill of 1871 came up for its third reading, Mr. Blake moved to have an independent board created for the examination of teachers. Mr. Carnegie voted to have none. Mr. Blake moved to allow teachers and school boards representation in the Council of Public Instruction. This change was afterwards brought about, but Mr. Carnegie voted against it.

These are a few of his votes during a single session.

In the session of 1869 Mr. Carnegie seconded the motion for the six months' hoist of the bill to confer the franchise on persons paying taxes on their incomes, and this very proper reform was for a time delayed by the adoption of his resolution.

During that same session Mr. Blake moved thirteen resolutions intended to prevent any disturbance of the financial basis of Confederation on account of the payment of Dominion subsidies to any particular province. The first eleven of these were voted down by the help of Mr. Carnegie, and the twelfth was withdrawn. the last resolution was as follows:

That in the opinion of this House the interests of the country require such legislation as may remove all color for the assumption by the Parliament of Canada of the power to disturb financial relations established by the Union Act as between Canada and the several provinces.

The six months' hoist of this resolution was moved, and Mr. Carnegie voted to hoist it. But he and other members of the Government side saw at once that instead of their hoisting it the resolution would speedily hoist them, and within a few minutes afterward, amid the jeers and laughter of their opponents and the scorn and indignation of a few stalwarts on their own side, Mr. Carnegie and a number of others voted for the very same resolution which they had just voted against. No more humiliating scene was ever enacted in a legislative body, and the man who took part in it is not the kind of man to represent West Peterborough.

A few days afterwards Mr. Blake moved an address to Her Majesty, asking for the legislation spoken of in his 13th resolution. An amendment was brought in by the Tory stalwarts, but Mr. Carnegie was not a stalwart. He is not of the stuff out of which stalwarts are made. He voted quietly for Mr. Blake's motion, which was really a pointed rebuke of Sir John's Administration at Ottawa.

On the second of December Mr. Blake moved the second reading of his bill to provide for more effectually preventing improper practices at elections. Mr. Carnegie voted for the six months' hoist. Since that time the principle of Mr. Blake's bill has become the law of the land, and one of the most valuable of our statutory safeguards.

On the 6th of December, 1869, Mr. Blake moved:

"That the participation of members of this House in contracts for supplies to provincial institutions, sustained and controlled through the Executive, will tend to subvert the independence of the House and should be prohibited."

Mr. Carnegie voted against this proposal, by voting for an amendment to evade it.

Mr. Carnegie was always ready to vote down any proposal to make it necessary that details of appropriations should be given to the House before it was asked to vote the money. One of these votes was given on the 21st of December, 1869, in connection with colonization road expenditure.

These few specimens must suffice. They are enough to show the kind of man Mr. Carnegie is. His record from 1867 to 1871 was in these and other respects so bad that at the election in the latter year he was left at home, and if the electors of West Peterborough are wise they will leave him there for four years more.

Electors, one half of the Province, 100,000 square miles of territory, as large as England and Scotland put together, is at stake. Vote for CAMPBELL and BLEZARD.

THE Toronto World says that Dr. Tupper, Chief Justice Macdonald and Hon. Dr. Parker, all professed patriots and supporters of the National Policy, patronise Yankee institutions by sending their sons to Harvard University.

The Review and Mr. Carnegie.

The Review does not believe in losing an election for a half-penny-worth of mud. In Friday's issue of that classic sheet there appears a scrawly address to the electors by Mr. Edward J. Toker, one of the editors of the Review, and an article so ignobly-born that in referring to its authors we hope that, as the man said who was shoeing some geese, we are not mis-spending our time.

In the address above referred to, Mr. Edward J. Toker assumes the responsibility for the many disreputable acts of the Review, and thus childishly and stupidly attempts to free Mr. Carnegie from the disgrace and opprobrium incurred by the latter, but especially from an editorial, hereafter referred to, by the Irish Canadian. Men are never so ridiculous from the qualities which really belong to them as from those which they pretend to have. We all know Mr. Edward J. Toker as a simple, harmless, unoffending gentleman—an individual whom his greatest enemies would never accuse of writing anything sensible or vindictive, or with bitter antagonism so characteristic of his less level-headed confrere, Mr. Carnegie. Most of us have seen the Review, under the control of Mr. Toker, and we can well imagine how Mr. Carnegie must have consumed his heart in impotent rage, while on his trip to the old world, at the ridiculous twaddle and insensate imbecility of the editorial matter which, during that time, was furnished to the readers of that paper by his confrere, who now wishes to bring himself before the public. Mr. Carnegie can "size" his partner better than any of us, and when he departs to far-distant Harvey and Galway, "Don't, my boy," says he to Toker, "give the party away in my absence. I cannot be responsible for your wishy-washy nonsense. Every tub must stand on its own bottom."

Every one knows the mental stature of Mr. Toker, and so we must protest against Mr. Toker being made a scapegoat and against an undue advantage being taken of him by Mr. Carnegie, especially as we think he is without independent advice and under mild duress. We protest against the wolf dressing up a simple-minded sheep in his hide and subjecting the latter to the violence and flagellation of those whom the former has shamefully and disgracefully outraged. We protest against Mr. Carnegie so ungenerously and so unmanlily throwing upon Mr. Toker the whole onus and opprobrium of his shameless abuse, and making the latter gentle man responsible for his barefaced mendacity and unscrupulousness. In order to escape pursuers Mr. Carnegie may try to dress Mr. Toker up as the wolf, but the mutton will still be there. He may try to cast aside, from himself, upon his co-editor the resentment which his acts have incurred, but they will recoil. He will never succeed. Mr. Carnegie's character is too well known.

How does the Irish Canadian—a brother editor of Mr. Carnegie, a bosom friend, a fellow-politician—treat the editorship of that article, the reprinting of which calls forth such a torrent of mendacious insipidity from the Review. In his indignation Mr. Boyle forgot all ties of friendship, party or brotherhood and delivered this scathing rebuke. The Irish Canadian says:

"A number of Irish emigrants, principally from the estates of the late Lord Leitrim, of unsavory memory, recently arrived at Peterborough, and the Review of that town seized the opportunity to assail them coarsely. When it says these poor people, who had fled from the crowbar, were in a "pitable plight," we can well believe it. It is probable, however, that Mr. Carnegie's ancestors were no better off when they made their escape from the terrors of eviction in the Highlands of Scotland. But when the Review says that they were "emigrants of the very lowest class," and adds, that "the very lowest type of people to be met with in Canada are vastly their superior in every respect," the Review should at least except from the comparison its own conductors, for we take it that the meanest type of humanity in Canada or elsewhere is the wretch who can greet a poor emigrant with contumely, and gloat over the misfortunes which have forced him into exile. The good people of Peterborough evidently had a better opinion of these unfortunate newcomers, and a much more exalted idea of the duty men owe to their suffering fellow-men, than the gentlemen of the Review, for they treated them with great kindness, fed them and cared for them in every possible way, and gave them, or most of them, employment. All that the Irish emigrant asks on his arrival in Canada is the chance to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow; but he has the right also to expect that the public press shall treat him fairly. Poverty is no crime, especially in Ireland; but conduct such as that the Review has been guilty of would be considered base and in human, even in an uncivilized land."

Is this the first time that Mr. Carnegie appeared in his insolence and hatred towards Irish Roman Catholics? No! He unrelentingly opposed the election of John O'Donoghue. It is notorious how shameful his tactics were in that contest. His true spirit had then full play and scope. How is Mr. Carnegie acting in this election? Will he disavow that he has in this election the effrontery and shamelessness to circulate throughout the riding, or that there has been circulated with his consent and knowledge, a scurrilous sheet, without date or signature, insulting alike to Irish intelligence and to Irish independence of spirit and action asking and almost demanding the support of those whom he has so harshly and with such unction maligned? Such rare and rank hypocrisy should be stamped out. Such transparent trickery should receive its speedy deserts. Mr. Carnegie is a regular Beotian, far-famed for stupidity, if he imagines that by a sleight-of-hand trick he can disown his acts of commission and omission.

The Review accuses the EXAMINER of disregarding journalistic anonymity and not dealing with the journal itself and but with the individuals who write or assume to write what appears in its columns. While doing so, with unblushing hypocrisy it tramples upon the very rules it had so carefully laid down. In a very small-minded way it compares the editor of the EXAMINER to Tom Thumb, copying almost bodily an old article of the Peterborough Times—not even having the honesty to avow the plagiarism. In the present campaign the EXAMINER has been careful to avoid personalties. True, it has frequently mentioned the name of Mr. Carnegie. That gentleman holds a dual capacity as one of the editors of the Review and as the Conservative candidate in the riding. In becoming a candidate he became public property—within the limits of legitimate criticism. Since he is a joint-editor or the Review and a candidate we shall hold him responsible for every line that appears in the Review unless he publicly disavow the authorship and the sentiments. In this conception of our duty we would be upheld by all shades of journalists and by any jury of our profession.

Mr. Toker may perhaps imagine himself injured, as we have hitherto totally disregarded his claims as a public man in this contest. We hope that he will feel pleased at our public recognition of his merits.

The Review refers to the authorship of articles in the EXAMINER. This does not concern the public. Mr. J. R. Stratton is the sole and bona fide proprietor. He is the responsible editor and will not seek to shirk responsibility as Mr. Carnegie does. He holds himself answerable for every line that appears editorially in the EXAMINER. Not an article is printed therein unless written or indited by himself or by a regularly engaged attache under his approval.

In his miserable address to the electors Mr. Toker says:

"The EXAMINER well knows that it is speaking falsely; that I am at least equally responsible with my partner and co-editor and do even more editorial work upon the Review, especially when as at present other engagements occupy much of Mr. Carnegie's time and even take him to a distance."

What that means we do not pretend to know. In his violent ebullition of wrath Mr. Toker evidently was off his base. Perhaps he means to assert that the EXAMINER falsely said that Mr. Toker is at least equally responsible with his partner, &c. If this is so, we made no such assertion in any articles referred to by him.

Perhaps Mr. Toker wishes to convey the idea that he is equally responsible with Mr. Carnegie as partner and co-editor. Yet this is not his meaning, for in his public notice Mr. Toker thus proclaims:

"Mr. Carnegie being now absent from town holding meetings of the electors of Harvey and Galway, is not personally or morally responsible for anything that appears in this issue of the Review.

We pass the conundrum on.

Go early to the polls on Tuesday morning, and mark your ballots for CAMPBELL and BLEZARD.

The Duty of the Hour.

The present election contest is one in which there is the least excuse for adhering closely to strict party lines. The issue is one deeply affecting the welfare and interests of the province, and the triumph of one party or other, simply as such, is a secondary consideration. It is the duty of the electors to sink political sympathies, and work shoulder to shoulder to assert and maintain the rights of the Province. Mr. Joseph Barnard, ex-Reeve of North Monaghan, has shown an independence of party trammels, and has risen above partisanship in a manner worthy of imitation, and at a time when partisanship, unfortunately, is too much substituted for patriotism. He has so intense an appreciation of the importance of the Province of Ontario securing her territory, and her rights to home rule being preserved, that he has been and is now working zealously in aid of the Mowat Administration, in whose platform, legislative rights and territorial rights are broad planks. We appeal to every elector to cast his ballot for the candidates supporting the Mowat Administration, not only because they have managed provincial matters so wisely and economically for the past eleven years, but also because they have taken a firm stand by our provincial rights.

Down with Centralization at Ottawa. Home Rule for Ontario, is the motto of BLEZARD and CAMPBELL.

THE Tory papers have hopelessly given up the silly cry that Mr. Mowat has no surplus and now blame him for having one. The Tory heart is hard to please; this is the way the London Free Press grumbles: "Mr. Oliver Mowat boasts that he can sit down at any time among the money bags of the Province and count over a surplus of $5,000,000. But, if so, what the people want to know is, when he is going to 'divvy up.' The money is the property of the whole people, and not a matter for mere ministerial gloating. It belongs in equity to the different municipalities. Yet Mr. Mowat hugs it up like any miser, going down every Saturday night to hear it chink, and chuckle over the large amount which he has in keeping."

Vote for CAMPBELL and BLEZARD, and no surrender of Provincial Rights.

Every well wisher of Ontario, whether Grit, Tory or Independent will vote to return the Mowat Government to power to look after the interests of the Province as they have done for eleven years past.

Electors, vote for MOWAT and Home Rule; vote for Meredith and you will have our local laws dictated from Ottawa.

Ontario's Finances.

Turning to the financial position of the province, we find that the expenditure of the Dominion in 1871 was $15,000,000 while last year it was $26,000,000, an increase in eleven years of eleven millions. Since confederation Quebec has run up an indebtedness of $14,000,000, which by selling her railway has been reduced to eleven millions. Ontario, on the other hand, has paid back large sums to the people, and run up a surplus of five millions. Since 1871, 68 new townships have been opened up, and half a million of acres of land have been reclaimed by the drainage policy of the Mowat Government; 1,500 miles of railway have been aided, opening up large sections of the province, and of which the country received the benefit, and had not the greatest economy been exercised, the expenditure would have been much greater. In 1873, Mr. Mowat's first complete year, the expenditure was $2,460,212; in 1882, it was $2,425,896, or $34,315 less than was expended eleven years ago, and last year was an exceptionally high year in comparison with previous ones. For in 1881 there was expended $173,907 less than in 1873—in 1880, $216,548; in 1879, $173,930; in 1878, $51,678; in 1877, $96,406; in 1876, $305,027; in 1875, $396,661, and in 1874, $117,872. It will thus be seen that in no year since has the expenditure been as large as required in 1873, the accounts of which have been twice endorsed at the polls by the electors.

It might well be asked if this is a record of extravagance? And during this period many new institutions to relieve the afflicted, elevate the people and surround them with increasing comforts have sprung into existence. Some nineteen new public institutions required support now which did not then. In 1871 we had:

1. No Asylum at Hamilton.
2. No Provincial Asylum at Kingston.
3. No asylum at Orillia.
4. The asylum at London had but half its present capacity.
5. No Central Prison.
6. No Agricultural College.
7. No Mercer Reformatory.
8. No Refuge for girls.
9. No asylum for the Blind in operation.
10. No Normal School at Ottawa.
11. No County Model Schools.
12. No Bureau of Agricultural Statistics.
13. No Vital Statistics Branch as at present organized.
14. No Provincial Board of Health.
15. No License Branch.
16. No inspection of Division Courts.
17. No inspection of Insurance Companies.
18. No school of Art and Design.
19. The Technological College was in its infancy.

Further in 1871, there were no grants to Dairymen's Associations, no payment to witnesses in criminal cases, no short hand writers in the courts, and the grants to the societies of Agriculture and Arts, to the Fruit Grower's Associations, and to other Associations, as well as to hospitals and charities, were insignificant when compared with those now made from year to year.

Where there has been an increase in expenditure over 1871, it has in many (indeed in most cases) been in connection with works of public utility. For instance the province paid for Administration of Justice:

1871	$ 182,651.71
1882	262,761.46
An increase of	$ 80,109 75

For Education:

1871	351,306.40
1882	511,268.48
An increase of	159,962.08

For the maintenance of public institutions:

1871	$ 171,423.17
1882	608,387.17
An increase of	436,964.00

For the support of charities and hospitals:

1871	$ 40,260.00
1882	78,095.00
An increase of	37,835.00

In aid of Agricultural and Arts, and Literary and Scientific Institutions:

1871	$ 76,381.90
1882	133,182.53
An increase of	56,800.63

Or an increase under these five headings, of great public utility, of no less than $770,671.46.

In the two branches of Civil Government and Legislation, which were directly under Government control, a most rigid economy has been observed. Much of the expenditure has been of a municipal nature, where if the Government had not borne the expenditure the municipalities would have had to put their hands in their pockets to meet it. Thus it will be seen that the Mowat Government did not believe in accumulating a great surplus, but that their policy in the past was to encourage the building of railways, and otherwise develop the resources of the country by a generous expenditure of the surplus revenues.

Electors of East and West Peterborough, vote on Tuesday next for the Government candidates, Messrs. Campbell and Blezard. The Mowat Administration have stood by you and the province. Let your power be felt at the polls in defence of our territorial rights, and constitutional privileges.

Show Up the Proof

The editor of the Review in his dual capacity as editor and Conservative candidate accuses the Mowat Government of "reckless extravagance." We would ask the Review or the candidate to produce the proof for the above statement before the electors. That great chieftain, Sir John, has nearly doubled the expenditure in ten years—from $15,000,000 to $26,000,000; Quebec is wallowing in eleven millions of debt. Yet Mr. Mowat last year was enabled to run the Province of Ontario on $34,000 less than in 1873, notwithstanding all the expenditure on colonization roads complained of by Mr. Carnegie in Lakefield. We venture to say (although not present) that Mr. C. did not complain of this expenditure when speaking in the back townships. Does this look like profuse or reckless extravagance, or doubling the ordinary expenditure. The Mowat administration have performed marvels in the way of management, and Mr. Meredith and his friends in the House have stood mute on the financial question, because they had nothing to criticise. Supposing for the sake of argument that Mr. Carnegie's statements were true, how unfitted Meredith and his friends must be to take Mowat's place, for with all this reckless extravagance going on all this doubling of expenditure, as they falsely allege, the Opposition have only objected to the expenditure of about $41,000 out of the $10,043,720 expended for the last four years, and $5,000 of this was the expenses of the Agricultural Commission. Mr. Carnegie must think the electors of West Peterborough lack ordinary intelligence when he makes use of such glaring misrepresentations, expecting to be believed.

Electors, do you want your laws cut out at Ottawa? If you do, support the Tory candidates; if not, vote for CAMPBELL and BLEZARD.

To the Polls!

Every elector is called on to appear at the polls next Tuesday, and record his vote against the attempts that are being made against the rights of this province. On that day they will be called on to decide these questions:

Shall the independence and rights guaranteed by Confederation to the province be surrendered?

Shall Ontario give up her territory at the nod of Quebec?

Shall the resources of the province, used now for the support of our schools, public and charitable institutions be handed over to be divided among greedy partisans at Ottawa, who are grabbing everything they can from Ontario?

Shall the Ottawa Government be allowed to carry out the vicious system of centralization, which Gladstone declares is the "curse of Ireland," and reduce the people of Ontario to the position of serfs to the Ottawa Government?

Shall the people of Ontario decide what laws Ontario wants, or shall the Ottawa politicians take from us the privilege of making our own laws, the enjoyment of the Home Rule granted by confederation?

These are among a few of the questions that are to be decided next Tuesday. Electors, your duty is plain. Throw party considerations to the winds and come out squarely on the grand principle of country first and party afterwards.

Ontario's foes threaten her on all sides, and now is the time every son of Ontario should stand by his province. Therefore mark your ballots for BLEZARD and CAMPBELL the champions of provincial and territorial rights.

Electors! Let well enough alone. The Mowat government is a good one; keep it by voting for BLEZARD and CAMPBELL.

Beware the Briber.

The edict has gone forth from Ottawa that Mowat must go at any cost. The Ottawa cabal act on the principle of the old adage. They reason thus; if money makes the mare go, money will make Mowat go. Let their little game be defeated; bribery is a dangerous game at best, and will be doubly so when closely watched.

The friends of Reform must be alive and watchful, especially toward and on the last day, when money will be spent to corrupt the electors wherever a chance offers. Don't permit the chance. Detail a trusty man to watch over each elector who is likely to be tempted or tampered with. Sleepless vigilance will be the price of victory.

Electors! 63 million acres of land for this Province are in the balance. BLEZARD and CAMPBELL will stand by the Award. Vote for them.

Work, and work to win, from now until Feb. 27th at 5, p.m.

Trying to kill two birds with one stone—trying to capture two elections with one N.P.

WHICH would be of the most benefit to this county—Messrs. Campbell and Blezard, as supporters of the Mowat Administration, with power to look effectually after the people's interest, or Messrs. Carnegie and Read, as members of Mr. Meredith's little opposition euchre-party? Let the answer be given at the polls—CAMPBELL and BLEZARD.

Electors! CAMPBELL and BLEZARD will stand up for Home Rule; for Ontario's territory.

EAST RIDING NOMINATIONS.

Messrs. Blezard and Read the Candidates.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The nomination of candidates for the Local Legislature for East Peterborough took place in Norwood on Tuesday last. There was a very large assemblage of the electors of the riding present, and apparently considerable interest was manifested in the election. Mr. Blezard, in the Reform interest, and Mr. Geo. Read, in the Conservative interest, were nominated, as were also Mr. John Burnham, M.P., Mr. Edward Meeks, of Toronto, and Dr. Massie, of Norwood; the two former speaking and retiring in favor of Mr. Read, and the latter speaking and retiring in favor of Mr. Blezard.

A full line of the Flexible Hip Corsets to be had at Turnbull's.

MELVILLE MILLAR.

MR. MOWAT AND THE BOUNDARY

Hon. Mr. Mowat in his speech at Belleville put the Boundary matter in a new light. He said this :—

It has been said that Sir John Macdonald was the first to propose that the matter should be sent to the Privy Council. That is not the case. The proposal came from myself; not for months after my despatch did the Dominion Government decide on the subject. We are willing to go to the Privy Council, but in the meantime we stipulate that Ontario shall rule the territory and provide it with laws. we feel that only by this means can order be ensured, settlement promoted and damage prevented. (Cheers.) Unless we make an arrangement of this kind, what good would the territory do us? Not only did this suggestion come from the Provincial Government, but when the Dominion made their offer, it was subsequent to legislation being passed by the Dominion Government, providing that consent to the legislation would have also to be obtained from Manitoba. It has never been asked by the Dominion Government and has never been given. To refer the dispute to the Privy Council was thus entirely out of the power of the Dominion Government unless the consent of Manitoba was also obtained. The Dominion authorities have never said they would try to get that consent. We are told that if we permit the Supreme Court to settle the question, or leave it to a high English legal functionary, we can have Manitoba's consent, but not to take it to the Privy Council. But there is no real, positive desire to settle the question on the part of the Ottawa Government and the proposal is nothing short of a sham. (Hear, hear and applause.) Supposing I had been caught in the trap supposing I had consented to the reference how would the award stand? I cannot go to the Privy Council at once. A statement would have to be prepared setting forth the facts of the case. That case would have to be agreed to by both parties. Either party wishing to delay agreeing could defer its sanction as long as it liked. We easily see how this would work. The award was made in 1878, and while we were constantly sending despatches requesting the Ottawa Government to settle the matter, we never could get an answer of any sort. Further, as I have told you, Sir John Macdonald and some of his colleagues took strong grounds in 1872 that the territory did not belong to us, and they have been standing up for that position ever since. You see what an unpleasant position this puts Sir John Macdonald in. It would show him he was wrong in 1872, and had committed an injury to this Province in 1872. It would show him he had committed a great injustice in keeping us out of the territory for ten years, or for such period as we were deprived of our rights. (Cheers.)

THE GUELPH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

In his address at Belleville, Mr. Mowat spoke as follows respecting the Agricultural College :—

There has been fault found by some of our opponents with this institution, but the cry was a false one. The Agricultural College was clearly a farmer's institution, and as such was a great benefit to the country. (Applause.) The knowledge which one can obtain from this farming school is of invaluable benefit to the yeomanry of this Province. It teaches you how to cultivate your soil and how to improve your stock. (Cheers.) The farmers are said to be "hewers of wood and drawers of water," but he wished to state that it was a noticeable fact that when the farmer was not prosperous there was a depression in other branches of trade. If the Agriculturist flourishes, so also will other people flourish. There was no branch of business which he so enjoyed as farming, and there was no calling more honorable than that of an agriculturist, ("hear, hear, and cheers.") Every person ought to be willing to assist the farmer, for in assisting the farmer, he is assisting himself. The Government have passed an act to establish, three creameries in the Province, and the question now is where will they be located? The matter has been left in the hands of the Presidents of the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Association, who will confer with the Government.

A Female Engineer.

On Monday night a girl 17 years old, dressed in boy's cloths, was picked up on a Sandwich street, Ontario by an officer. She was so drunk as to be unable to take care of herself. While being searched at the lock-up her sex was suspected, and she subsequently admitted to the magistrate that she had worn male attire for the past five years. She said she followed sailing in summer, and went by the name of Frank Chambers, but she positively refused to give information concerning her antecedents. Her general appearance is prepossessing, and there is nothing to indicate that she had subjected herself to dissipation. She was given 21 days at Sandwich goal, where she registered as an engineer, which claimed was her profession.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

TUESDAY.

In the House of Commons to-day Bills were introduced by Mr. Dalton McCarthy respecting procedure in criminal cases and other matters relating to the criminal law and for constituting a Court of Railway Commissioners.

In reply to a question, Sir John replied that the Government was not considering the question of introducing a measure depriving the Supreme Court of all jurisdiction over matters covered by the civil Code of the Province of Quebec.

In introducing a motion for correspondence and relating to the disasters on the great lakes, Mr. Dawson spoke at length, urging the necessity of greater precautions by law against such disasters.

Hon. Mr. McLean, Minister of Marine said the attention of the Government had been called to these matter, and the necessary precautions would be taken.

The House adjourned at 4 : 15.

The Senate.

In the Senate to-day the debate on the Address was resumed by Mr. Kalbach, who was followed by Messrs. Haythorne and Girard (N.S.), Trudel, Masson, and Sir Alexander Campbell after which the Address was passed.

WEDNESDAY.

In the House of Commons to-day among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Robertson (Hamilton) to enable those who have doubts about the existence of a personal God to give evidence in criminal cases; one by Mr. Cameron (Huron) to provide that persons charged with misdemeanors shall be competent as witness; another by Mr. Cameron to make incest a crime; and one by Mr. Casgrain for the prevention of fraud in relation to contracts involving the expenditure of public moneys.

In accordance with previous promise Sir John Macdonald undertook to explain the changes which had taken place in his Cabinet since last session. The result was a lively discussion.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

A COLORED MAN SLAUGHTERS HIS WIFE WITH A HATCHET—JEALOUSY CAUSE OF CRIME.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEB. 14.—A brutal murder was committed at Willow Grove 12 miles from this city last Wednesday. The murderer is William Hughes and his wife was the victim; both colored. It thus appears that about a week ago Mrs. Wm. Hughes arrived in the settlement on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Henry Thompson, declaring that she had been forced to leave the protection of her husband by reason of his repeated acts of cruelty. On Monday Hughes put in an appearance at Mrs. Thompson's, but his presence did not occasion astonishment as he made his mother-in-law s his head quarters on previous occasions when out of work. This time, however, he was moody and vindictive, and evidently suffered with jealousy. On Tuesday he upbraided his wife for leaving him and a heated altercation took place. Words led to blows until Hughes seized a hachet and buried it in the neck of his wife. Four blows in rapid succession followed and almost without a moan the unfortunate creature fell dead at her husband's feet. Mrs. Thompson fled from the spot. The murderer remained in the room with the body of his victim for twelve hours, until the constables arrived and took him into custody. Hughes is about 45 years of age and his wife 21. They been quarrelling for a long time and a serious termination has been looked for. Jealousy is supposed to have been the motive of the crime.

AN EXAMPLE TO BE FOLLOWED.

An old lady who had purchased a new bonnet received it on Saturday. Not long after she was missed and her absence was so protracted that the family became alarmed about her and instituted a search. After looking the premises over her daughter found her sitting in the chamber quietly with the new bonnet on. The daughter exclaimed :

"Why mother, what are you doing here?"

"Go along down," the old lady replied; "I am only getting used to this thing so that I shall not be thinking about it all the time in church tomorrow."

STEAMER FOR GEORGIAN BAY.

Mr. Ed. Wragge, superintendent of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce railway and Mr. R. W. Elliott, one of the directors of the company, were in Montreal the other day and held an important interview with Mr. L. G. Senecal. Negotiations were arrived at for the leasing, by the company, of the steamers Magnet and Passport, which will ply next summer, in connection with the railway, on the Georgian bay and the upper lakes.

THAT'S WHAT IT IS.

An exchange wants to know "What is home without a newspaper?" and the Pittsburg Sentinel replies :

"It is a place where old hats are stuffed into the window-panes; where children are like young pigs; the housewife like a savage, and the husband with a panorama of the dismal swamp painted on his shirt bosom with tobacco juice."

A PRETTY WALL POCKET.

Buy two folding Japanese fans, one two inches smaller than the other, and of the same or a contrasting color. The smaller one to be placed over the larger. Spread out, and close the sides with bows of narrow satin ribbon, and if you please weave the same ribbon through the sticks. Finish at the bottom with a bow and ends of the same color but wider ribbon.

A well-to-do business man died at Athens, Ga., some time since from the bite of a spider. After being buried for three weeks it was decided to remove the body to a new cemetery. When the coffin was taken up the body was found lying face downwards. It decided to say nothing to his young widow about it, but one of the party could not keep it, and she is now a raving maniac with hair as white as snow.

Of the $10,000,000 of the ordinary stock of the Canada Pacific Railway Company for which tenders were asked and received until the 7th inst., upwards of eighty-seven thousand nine hundred shares had been applied for representing $8,790,000. Of this some 34,000 shares were taken for Amsterdam account, and the balance for New York and Montreal.

Skinny Men.

A SPLENDID PILE.

The Hamilton Times contains an elaborate and well written description of the New Building of the Canada Life Assurance Company. We cannot reproduce the the article but it may be said that when Oscar Wilde was in Hamilton he was shown some of the most attractive buildings in the city—among others. the new building which has been erected by the Canada Life Assurance Company for its head offices. The apostle of æstheticism gazed long and earnestly at the splendid pile, and finally passed judgment on it. "I have no hesitation in saying," remarked Oscar, oracularly, "that this building is the purest and most perfect specimen of architecture that I have yet seen in America—and I have had occasion to examine and pass judgment on a great number of buildings." Mr. Wilde's taste and judgment are sometimes at fault, judged by ordinary standards; but few will feel inclined to call them into question in this instance. The noble edifice which stands on the southeast corner of King and James streets, rearing its stately and symmetrical form above all the buildings in the neighborhood, may well be regarded with pride by every Hamiltonian who loves his city, is proud for her progress, and wishes to see her grow in beauty as well as in wealth and population. It is imposing and beauiful externally, but is in the infernal equipments and decorations that the peculiar excellence of the buildings is found. Good judges have pronounced it the most complete and by far the most beautiful building in the Dominion.

THE COST OF NEWSPAPERS.

The following from the Seaforth Expositor will be endorsed by newspaper men generally :—"That the paper upon which both the Mail and Globe are printed costs more than the subscription price nets the proprietors is a fact patent to every person who knows anything of the business. The daily editions of the both papers including the advertising pay well enough, but what is made on these is more than wasted on the weekly editions. Financially the Mail is not in one whit better position than the Globe, if so good. It could not live a year as an independent enterprise and it is now only kept afloat by a few weekly politicians backed up by the Dominion Government. The Weekly Mail is published, not with a view of making it pay its way, but for the express purpose of political influence and the Globe is issued at the same absurdly low price to keep the Mail from getting of it. This is hard on the proprietors and shareholders, but it affords the public cheap reading. But the change we have alluded to above is the beginning of the end of this sort of fun." Not only is this "sort of fun" hard on the proprietors and shareholders of the dailies, but it is hard on the country publishers as well, who have to complete with the cheap weeklies.

MRS. TILTON.

Much to the surprise of a Brooklyn family which needed a nurse the doctor sent a lady who proved to be Mrs. Theodore Tilton. The lady patient had the curiosity to know why she had become a nurse. She said without reserve that the allowance of $1,000 a year, made by her husband was not sufficient. Her eldest daughter had been married against the wishes of her parents, and her husband had been an inmate of an asylum. So she was caring for her daughter and a 15-months old baby. When the daughter married, it made a breach between herself and her father, which it might take a long time to repair. The patient intimated her belief that Mrs. Tilton's confession hed been got from her by threats. "My relations toward Mr. Beecher will never be perhaps understood. He was my spiritual guide and counselor, and my religious belief had been formed under his teaching. There seemed to be nothing wrong in what I did as I viewed it." A fashionably dressed young lady called and said that she was the daughter of Mrs. Tilton. Mrs. Tilton very much agitated had an interview with the young lady. Her daughter was not satisfied that she should continue any longer a nurse, and earnestly requested that there should be an immediate end of the engagement.

THE HOMELY WOMAN.

"What ladies are the easiest to wait upon?"

"The homely ones," replied the clerk, emphatically. Seeing a look of incredulity upon the reporter's face he continued :

"It's so; I am not bracing you a bit. The prettier they are the harder they are to please. A handsome girl has been so flattered and cajoled and petted, from infancy up, that she had lost her head. She enters with a flutter, and must be shown half a hundred different cosmetics. Then she settles to a steady twenty minutes' vibration between them all. She is changeable, fluctuating and peevish, and if you venture to make her a suggestion she skips from the store as though fired from the mouth of a cannon. Now, on the other hand, a homely girl has a mind of her own. She is not constantly cloyed with admiration and petting from her admirers, and has drank but very little from the golden bowl of adulation. But she knows what she wants, asks for it decisivly and leaves you with a smile that would be charming if her mouth was only a yard and a half smaller and her teeth a little less like elephant tusks. God grant us a posterity of homely girls. Life would still endurable without pretty faces, but heaven help us if we lose our homely ones."

The Princess in Bermuda.

The Princess Louise arrived at Hamilton, Bermuda, on Sunday, and was warmly received.

As soon as it became known that she had really sailed for these islands, each member of the community vied with other members in the desire to accord a suitable reception to the daughter of Queen Victoria. In the course of a few hours the tout ensemble of Hamilton was completely changed reminding one of the transformation scenes in a pantomime. Decorations seemed to spring up as if by magic. At the corporation stairs, where it was arranged that the Princess should land, was erected a canopy of blue and white, Borne upon six columns around the capitals of which were entwined heavy wreaths of gorgeous Bougainbilleas. On each side of the landing place were rows of chairs, and behind these stands, one on the western side for the accommodation of the members of the colonial Parliament and their families, and on the eastern side for members of the corporation of Hamilton and St. Georges, and their families and friends. Passing along front street a flag-staff had been erected, and at intervals arches had been built. Never has Hamilton appeared to better advantage than it appeared on Monday, and all this is the result of but a few hours' united effort.

A FIENDISH FEMALE.

If a woman has on the one the embodied capacity of being an angel, she has on the other the potentiality of being a fiend, and it would be hard to find throughout the world anything worse than a bad woman. Near Liverpool Mary Ann Allen was recently arrested, and for what? For inciting Mary Jane Robinson, a girl only fourteen years of age, to rob her uncle, and when the girl was detected and the woman Allen feared that the guilt would be traced home to her, she provided the girl with laudanum and persuaded her to drink it and commit suicide. Fortunately an overdose was taken and the girl recovered, and Mrs. Allen will have to answer for her crimes. It is difficult to imagine a punishment too severe for a woman who would tempt a young girl to commit a robbery and then induce her to destroy her life that her own share in the dishonest action might not be discovered.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. "Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CAMPAIGN LYING EXPOSED

Mr. Fraser's Speech.

REFUTATION OF TORY MISREPRESENTATIONS.

The Catholic Claims and their Recognition.

The following is an extended report of the speech delivered on Friday evening last by the Hon. C. F. Fraser, Commissioner of Public Works, who, on rising to speak, was received with enthusiastic cheers :—

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, it gives me indeed very hearty pleasure and very great satisfaction to meet so vast a gathering of the good people of Hamilton. I do not expect that all those who are here to-night are my political friends or agree with all the acts of my public life during the now nearly ten years that I have been in the Government; but though there may be many such who differ with me, I have the presumption to assume that they will be willing to hear one of their public men defend himself and discuss some of the issues now before the people. (Hear, Hear.) I had hoped to have made you a visit earlier in the campaign than now, and for my own sake I particularly wish I had done so, for I am sorely and terribly fatigued with the work I have done. I cannot hope, therefore, to go over the ground as I might have done had I been with you earlier. The public issues before the electors of this Province are very large; many of them are of vast importance and far-reaching magnitude, involving interests of such great extent, both for our day and for the future, that there is scarcely one of them that ought not to occupy the couple of hours that I have at my disposal; therefore you cannot expect that I do more than touch upon some of them very lightly and some of them not at all. I had hoped that during this campaign we could have risen above all sectional appeals to passion and prejudice. (Hear, Hear.) I had hoped that this contest, involving as it does your right to own half your territory; involving as it does your legislative rights; involving as it does matters of such Provincial magnitude that indeed no Government has ever made an appeal to our people under graver circumstances,—I had hoped, I say, that with questions of this kind before the public, our opponents would have been satisfied to meet us upon these and the other proper issues, and would not have stealthily and clandestinely made their appeals to any special class of element in the Province. (Applause.) There are hundreds of Conservatives here to-night who do not intend to be persuaded by any thing I say, but who will I am sure stand by liberty and freedom of speech so far as to allow me to make personal defence to the accusations levelled against myself in one of the campaign sheets concocted and printed and circulated by our opponents; paid for out of their campaign fund, and undoubtedly published with the connivance and approbation of Mr. Meredith and his lieutenants. (Cheers.) This document challenges me personally to answer its assertions, and though I have personally desired to keep this battle on a higher plane, I meet the challenge here and am prepared to make my answer. (Cheers.) A person in the audience asked what about the Globe?

Mr. FRASER—If you had read the Mail two or three months ago, or reading it had remembered, you would probably have never asked the question. This, Mr. Chairmen, is one of the men who would rather appeal to prejudice than to reason, to passion than to honest conviction, to bigotry than to good sense; with such men I have no hope, either in this contest or any other, of persuading them to walk aright, no matter how straight the path may be, that I, or any other man might mark. (Cheers.) They are beyond the reach of reason. I had hoped, as I said, that this contest would have be raised to a higher plane, but I have found that onr opponents in this campaign are attempting to divert attention from the issues which they and we should set ourselves to discuss, and instead are craftily circulating campaign literature addressed specially to my Roman Catholic friends.

The Tory organized disturbers here endeavoured to raise such a noise as would prevent Mr. Fraser being heard.

Mr. FRASER—I can well understand the uneasiness of those gentleman who have villified me behind my back, and having undertaken to say and assert things which they know to be untrue and without foundation, should be afraid of the answer being heard. I am here to ask from you the liberty that any public man ought to have that when by campaign literature of this character he is particulary marked out for defamation, he should be allowed to reply and defend himself. Those who don't wish to listen to my defence those who set those lying sheets going—those who think that a public man should be gaged and have no opportunity to be heard in reply to his accusers, have no business here to-night. This meeting is far better without any such man without any man who is afraid, when his leaders have made false accusations, to allow the slanders to be met and answered in the glare of the public platform. (Lord applause.) There are some of my friends here whose good wishes I want to retain, and I intend to show that this campaign document issued by the Tory party, paid for out of Tory campaign funds, concocted by the Tory leaders—is untrue, and I intend that its character shall be known all through the country. I am not intending or desiring to make any sectional appeals. My Roman Catholic friends are on both sides of politics; they hold—hundreds of them views vastly different to me on political questions, and to these I make no appeal from any religious or sectional standpoint, but before them I, at least, have the right to put my ten years of public life, and ask for a calm and dispassionate judgment upon it.

Another effort was made to interrupt the proceedings, but the manly remonstrace of Mr. Fraser brought even the hired disturbers to a sense of their conduct, and he was allowed to proceed without further interruption.

In this document circulated with a view of influencing the electors—("No, no.") My demonstrative friend says "No, no." Let me tell him that the heading of it is "Facts for the Irish Electors," and that it contains this postcript :—"A copy of this document has been sent to each member of the Ontario Government in order to challenge any statement it contains, and to give them an opportunity of answering it—if they can." Will you refuse me an opportunity to make the answer it aked for? ("No, no.") Let me, then, begin with saying to my Catholic friends on both sides of politics that we are the only people in the Province who find ourselves from time to time specially marked out to, be worked upon and influenced by methods of this kind—who are appealed to after this fashion and manner. There has been no general election within my memory when some political scavenger has not deemed it fit and proper to go back to the rubbish and garbish heaps of thirty or forty years ago, and dig and delve and burrow for any nasty or insulting thing which may have been published or said against us or against our religion or our institutions, in order to spice and serve the savoury morsels up once more. It is high time that we Catholics of this Provinces give political leaders to understand that we wish to be treated as our fellow-citizens are treated in these contests, and that we are not to be appealed to to decide great questions of the hour upon no better grounds than that thirty or forty years ago somebody or some newspaper said or published something offensive to our people. (Applause.) Since Confederation great issues have arisen for discussion and decision, and we have in these regards our part of the duties of citizenship to perform in the Province, and we must enforce our title to be put on a level with our fellow-citizens, and political leaders must expect to reach us through reason, judgment, and conscience, and not by appeals to our prejudices. (Applause.) Let me appeal to you, my fellow-Catholics, Conservative as well as Liberal, if it is not time that we should stamp this thing out. (Cheers.) Now the first thing in this document, addressed to my Catholic friends, is an attempt to embitter them because of what was said years and years ago through the Toronto Globe. Mark well, the object is to reach and turn you against my colleagues and myself. It asks those of you who have hitherto supported the Government to withhold your confidence and your esteem and your support from us; to condemn us because that nearly a generation ago—before some of us were in public life at all—before we had any of the responsibilities attached to public life—other men who were then engaged in public affairs said things offensive to our people. I ask you to-night if we are to be made responsible for these things? (Applause, and cries of No, no.) If there be any alleged misconduct of my own, for that I should be called to answer, and for that I am prepared to answer, and, I venture to hope, successfully. (Cheers.)

SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

The next feature of this document is the question of Separate Schools: and you are asked to condemn the present Administration on the ground, as it is alleged, that it is to Sir John Macdonald and his friends that we are indebted for our Separate School system and legislation. Now, if that were true in fact, and were it incapable of being contradicted, would it be a justification for you doing as they ask you to do? Have we done anything against the Separate Schools? Have we shown any opposition to Separate Schools? Have we manifested any hostility to Separate Schools? And if we have not, supposing Sir John Macdonald be entitled to the credit of establishing them, I aver that is no reason why you should find any fault with us and that you should be asked to condemn us now. But the Tory party in this Province, and the Tory campaigners in this Province, seeking to take this credit to Sir John Macdonald and themselves, are not entitled to it, and I will tell you the reason why. (What about the Scott law?) I am going to discuss the Scott Bill. I am going to tell you what I believe to be the facts with regard to Separate School legislation. We commenced an agitation as early as 1843 or 1844 in this Province for Separate Schools, and after years of begging we got a measure from the party in power. It was a poor measure, so wretched in its provisions that the Separate School system under it was little better than a sham and a farce. We were seeking thenceforward up to 1863 for amendments. Sir John Macdonald was in power all these years, with large majorities at his back, and yet, though at every election we were told that, once the election was over, we would have all proper amendments, he did nothing for us. Sir John was just as apt then as he is now to have a very short and accommodating memory as to promises he had made, and he invariably neglected to do anything in our behalf in this matter. Well, Sir, in 1863 we did get the Act amended, and who were in power then? Sir John was sitting in the cool shades of Opposition, and it was under the Sandfield Macdonald Government we got the relief asked for. (Cheers.) I venture to say that if Sir John had been in power all the while till now your experience would have been just the same as it was from 1853 to 1863 You who are honest men; you who are anxious to deal fairly with us; you who think we are entitled to merit for at least the good we have done, must, as a matter of honesty and decency, give a Liberal Government credit for these amendments. (Applause.) And therefore I say that if because of the action of the Conservative party with regard to the Separate School system you are asked to refuse your support to the present Administration, you are asked to do that which the record does not justify. If you really should because of any Separate School legislation go one way or the other—and mind you I make no appeal on this ground; you have received simple justice only; there are larger issues upon which you should base your judgment—but if any of you think because of Separate School legislation you should be guided to support one party rather than the other, then I point to the fact that it has been the Liberal party and Liberal Administrations in this Province that have given you as good a Separate system as you have to-day. (Cheers.) It is just twenty years ago, with a Liberal Administration in power, short though its reign was, and with much of perplexity and trouble upon its shoulders—that you got the Act of 1863. (Some one here raised a slight hiss.) Don't hiss at what you think unpalatable history. I did not make it. (Cheers.) It is true that the Separate School Bill of 1863 was introduced by Mr. Scott of Ottawa, who had introduced, but had always failed to carry it during the years Sir John was in power, but Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's Government came generously to his aid and secured the passage of the Bill, and also allowed him to keep what might be called the "fathership" of the measure. (Loud cheers.) Now that Act was not all we wanted. Even it was not found to work out all the reforms we needed. There were inequalities under it and many things which needed remedying. The Tory party could have done this for us. Did you, during all the time the Tories were in power, ever get a single sentence of it amended? No; it was only when the Liberal party once more held the reins in this Province, under the leadership of Oliver Mowat, that needed and useful and largely beneficial amendments were, from time to time, effected in the Separate School law. (Cheers.) Moreover, I point to the further fact, pertinent to this Separate School matter, that the Government of Oliver Mowat placed a Roman Catholic in the post of Superintendent of one of our two Normal Schools, and has given to the Catholic body in Ontario a Catholic Separate School Inspector. (Cheers.) I say again, then, that if it be a question on which an appeal can be made—though again I contend that it should not be brought into this contest—I say if there be any reason why you, my Catholic friends, should go one way rather than the other because of Separate Schools, it would be your duty—your honest and fair duty—a duty of gratitude, that your votes should be cast here in Hamilton for Mr. Gibson rather than his opponent. (Applause.)

CATHOLIC INSTITUTIONS.

In this document it is further said that the Liberal party has made an attempt to extinguish "Popish institutions," as it calls them. There is no endeavour made to substantiate the charge; there is only the simple broad, bold assertion. This is certainly news to me. (Laughter.) I was not aware of the attempt, and no more I think are you. We have our Separate Schools and charitable institutions in this Province. From a Liberal Government these latter are receiving greatly increased aid and assistance. (Cheers.) Does that look like attempting to abolish them? (Cheers.) So far as concerns our record as Liberals on the question of Catholic institutions, you have some evidence in the present financial condition of these charitable institutions. What is our record here? Ask those who maintain them and have to do with their management from year to year? And any one of them will tell you that the dealing of the Liberal Government with them in the distribution of the "charity aid money" has been done more fairly and justly by the Mowat Government than any other preceding it. (Applause.) I repeat that that is no reason why any of my Roman Catholic friends who are Conservatives should come over and follow Mr. Mowat, as in this again you have only got justice. I purpose appealing to you on higher issue. (Cheers.)

ORANGE INCORPORATION.

What is the next thing in respect of which you are asked to turn your back on the present Administration? I am not unaware that I have earned the hostility of the Orange body of this Province. I have thought fit as a public man to take a certain stand as to their demands for special incorporation, and I have thought fit to oppose them. I have now, and I have had for years, the marked political hostility of that organization; and yet you are in effect appealed to in this document, my Roman Catholic friends, that, because of my action with regard to Orange incorporation, you shall no longer support the Mowat Administration or myself. (Laughter.) Well now, I am not going to be crushed by the Orange body on the one hand, and my Catholic friends on the other, without raising some dissent to the process. (Laughter.) If they are going to make a new patent crusher out of those two bodies I decline to—for the present at least—be shoved into the hopper. (great laughter.) I purpose to make some remonstrance, and to show you who have hitherto approved of my action on the Orange matter that there is no reason now, at least, why you should not support me at the ballot boxes again. (Applause.) I oppose the special incorporation of the Orange body, but does it therefore now become your duty to assist the Orange Lodges to their wished for revenge. They desire to get their revenge and to get it your assissance is asked at the ballot boxes. Let us have a little testimony outside this campaign sheet. The Orange Sentinel, the organ of the Orange body, in its issue of the first of this month, had an article on the coming elections, and this is the concluding portion of it, and I want you, my Catholic friends, to listen in order that you may know what it is you are asked to do; that you may know with whom you are asked to join hands, and upon what terms you are to be asked to form this new league against Mr. Mowat's Administration. It says the Reform Government is swayed by whom? By you; and yet you are asked by this campaign sheet to vote against us. The Orange Sentinel of the date I have named says :—

In fact, Mr. Mowat, if permitted, will go on arrogating power to himself and curtailing that of all inferior legislative bodies until he has formed a dictatorship, swayed by the Roman Catholic minority of this Province, which will be anything but in accord with our ideas of democratic Government, and will by no means tend to preserve to the Protestant majority their rights and just privileges. Such a state of affairs should not be permitted to obtain in this province a single day longer than can be helped. The Orangemen of Ontario have special grievances against Mr. Mowat's Administration which they will not be slow to resent. Revenge is within their reach, if they go to the polls as one man."

And you my friends are to join them as the other "one man," go to the polls with them, and help them to their revenge. (Cheers.)

THE "NO IRISH" CHARGE.

Now, the next charge against our Administration is that there is no Irish Catholic in the Cabinet, which put plainly, means that Mr. Fraser is not a fitting representative of the Catholic minority. This is an appeal direct to your nationality. Without desiring to vaunt it, let me tell these political brawlers that I have just as good Irish blood in my veins as the best of them. (Cheers.) This is a matter of no consequence, however; the question that you have to decide so far as I am concerned looking at my career as a public man—is, have I fairly represented you who are the minority or not? If I have, my descent or nationality should be a matter of no consequence and I am entitled to your support. (Cheers.) The question of right-doing should be the only thing to guide your judgment. But, sir, this precious document goes further and attempts to rob me of the confidence of those whose approval I prize very greatly. It is now nearly ten years since—comparatively a young man, having been only a single session in Parliament—that I was privileged to take my seat in the Liberal Cabinet. It had been a conceded right that in all Liberal Governments Catholics should have at least one representative. I was then one of the only two members in the House, the other gentleman being Mr. Dawson, of Kent. Mr. Mowat asked me to join his Government, and I say here, having no claim as I had not then, but only taken into the Government in compliance with the understood rule that one of its members should be a Catholic, if I have failed you in any proper matter, the representation conceded to you would in my hands have proved a sham and a fraud. It is therefore an attempt to injure me with the class with which I specially desire to stand well, and with which for my own sake I ought to stand well. But saying this, I do not wish it to be understood that I wish to shirk or an shirking my duty and responsibility to the whole people. All the citizens of Ontario have a claim on my voice as a public man. (Cheers.) Well then, we have been asking for a representation as a minority, and we have been conceded and granted that by the Liberal party. To the best of my ability I have always diligently aided in this. But this campaign document on this vital question of your representation puts words into my mouth which I never uttered—makes me say that which under no circumstances and at no time have I ever said. My words at the Rossin House banquet must have seem known to those who framed this fly sheet. At that banquet I put the claims of my fellow-Catholics before the people of the Province in the best way that I could, and it is malice in the man who, with deliberate purpose, would thus pervert or conceal the truth. I have taken the trouble to hunt up the Rossin House speech as reported, that I might get a copy of what I then did say. I knew that it was hard to overtake a lie, no matter how fast the truth set out to follow it. And I knew that many an honest Catholic friend of mine into whose hands this sheet has fallen may not see this proof of its falsity. I do not hope to overtake it, but do hope to reach a good number of my fellow-Catholics, and it is for that reason that I claim to be heard to-night. I am charged with having said in a public speech that I hoped to hear no more of Catholic representation. The charge is false, and my utterances at the Rossin House banquet prove this. Here is what I then said only four years ago. This is the way I put it in my "Rossin House" speech :

I wish to touch upon another subject. I have not before had the opportunity since coming into public life of meeting so many of my Roman Catholic friends. I think it is a wise thing to deal frankly when speaking of public affairs, and I wish in that spirit to observe upon one or two matters important to us as members of a religious minority in this Province. I quite realize that my going into the Administration was not a matter of my own deserving, for I then had had but little political experience. But it was a recognition of the justice of the claim which has been made, with more or less urgency, that the religious minority in Ontario should have representation in the Local Government. That demand has always been admitted by the Liberal party, and it was upon the ground mainly that when a vacancy occurred in the Cabinet the position was offered to me. During the past five or six years many have been the attacks made upon me and those who, like myself, took ground on behalf of our fellow-Catholics with regard to this question of their representation. It has been said of us that we made a dishonest compact with the Liberal party. It was called an "unholy alliance," and we were spoken of as men who had not the interests of our people at heart, and in truth were place-hunters. Now I am aware that by very many it is thought a very singular and perhaps an illogical thing that the Catholic minority in Ontario should seek to get representation in the Government and in the Legislature. I don't know that one can answer with strict, cold-blooded reasoning the objection that all representation should be and is for the whole people, that in that sense the "best men," without regard to race or creed, should be chosen, and then if this be done there ought to be no room for complaint. But sentiment and sympathy are factors in the political problem which no party can overlook, and which no statesman can disregard. But upon either ground the complaint of my fellow-Catholics was well grounded, and they had before them, then and now, the example and the position of the religious minority—the Protestant minority of Quebec. Sir John Rose and Sir Alexander Galt, prior to the Confederation, took the opportunity to get categorical answers from the Quebec Catholic leaders, and to make clear and unquestionable that the Protestant minority of Quebec would be protected in their asserted right of representation both at Ottawa and Quebec. The Protestant population of Quebec was then only 170,000 as against 270,000 Catholics in Ontario, and this 170,000 had then not less than fourteen Protestant representatives out of a total of 65 members belonging to their Province, while in the same Parliament we, the minority in Ontario, had only two—our present Lieutenant-Governor and his brother, the late Sandfield Macdonald. But there is this further to be said: What we have here even now we receive as a kind of favour, and by courtesy from our friends of the Protestant majority, and not as a matter of any recognized constitutional right, whilst the minority of Quebec has guaranteed to it by the B. N. A. Act that of twelve constituencies returning Protestant members, not one can be reorganized, or changed, or "gerrymandered" without the consent of the representatives of those twelve constituencies, and not even then can the Bill be assented to unless upon an address to that effect by both the Legislative Council and the Legislative Assembly. Now I say—and I think I am saying what every one here will concede—that if it was a fitting and right thing that there should be such a statutory safeguard for the Quebec minority, my Roman Catholic friends in Ontario may at least be permitted to assert their right to some similar concession—not by Act of Parliament, but from the good will and toleration of their Protestant neighbors. (Cheers). At the same time, I am bound to say that the Liberal party in this Province, the great mass of adherents and those who speak its opinions, and are its leaders, not only admit, but contend for just right to representation at Ottawa and in our Local Assembly. (Cheers). In view of that let me say to my Roman Catholic friends, that they have certain responsibilitites in the same connection which they should not and can not overlook. I suppose a religious minority may not look for more than approximate justice, if the measure of it is to be reckoned by their numbers. But looking at the state of affairs in 1867, and that which obtains now, I am justified in my feeling that our position is vastly improved. Instead of making an advance that might have calculated at hundreds per cent. the strides we have since then made towards getting what I may call "fair play," and the advantages we have gained in that advance, may be reckoned by thousands per cent. In 1867 what we were complaining of was that we had no representation. In the Assembly returned in 1867 we had but two members, Sandfield Macdonald, and Mr. Scott. In the next House that number was increased to three, and in the last House we had nine all told. (Cheers.) Having reached that vantage ground it is fair, it is simple honesty, that my Roman Catholic friends should consider what their own duties are to the party which brought about that measure of justice in their favour. Representation, and representation only, should not be and cannot be "the be all and the end all" for us as a minority. It is the highest duty of every citizen to sustain good government. We have, in common with our neighbors, a vital interest in the honest, fair, and impartial administration of public affairs—nay, our very helplessness as a minority gives us a greater anxiety and a livelier interest in securing that fairness and impartiality. I realize this keenly, and I have the proud satisfaction of knowing that for the past eight years the Liberal Government of Ontario has held its way with careful and honest recognition of every fair and reasonable demand of the minority. So truly has this been the case that I am free to say here, in the presence of my chief, that I would be willing to quit public life to-morrow and confidently leave the interests of my co-religionists in his hands, so certain am I that absolute fair play and justice will be given my people so long as the man who sits there leads the Legislature of Ontario. (Prolonged applause.) I have had no moment of all these years during which I have been under him when I have not found him freely labouring for and generously interested in every reform for which we have sought. Willingly, then, could I leave the interests of the Roman Catholic minority in his keeping, satisfied that truthful, frank, even-handed justice would be done to all, without regard to race or creed. (Applause.) I state this so emphatically because I am quite alive to the effort being made to attract away some of my Catholic friends who have hitherto stood by us. Efforts are being made by the Opposition to make my co-religionists believe that their safety and their advantage lie in attaching themselves to the Conservative party. But I utter a word of warning to my fellow Roman Catholics. I would like them to feel as I do, that there is very grave danger in their taking, in their being tempted to take, a course which may give the Protestant majority to believe that the Catholic minority have no fixed political principals of any kind at all. Nothing more dangerous can, in my opinion, happen to my co-religionists than that they should become shifting and uncertain allies. And why do I say that? As a minority, we are asking the majority that they shall deal fairly with us—that as with them rests the power, they will control the affairs of the country with fairness. They have a majority's power, and anything we secure in our favour must be secured at their hands. It is plain, then, that as political allies we ought to—we must ourselves be loyal and honest. (Cheers.) Apply that rule to the contest upon which we are now entering. A Liberal Government has for eight years so well performed its duty that no just complaint can be made against it by any Catholic who has hitherto given it his support and adherence. What possible justification, then, can there be for any of our Catholic friends refusing to support so good a Government? Will they be mad enough in any constituency to vote for the defeat and destruction of such a Government, because the Tory candidate happens to be a Catholic, and the Tories have been crafty enough to give him nomination. If that is the course to be taken, then we had better proclaim that with us "good government" goes for nothing—that we are ready to desert any Government and any party if the other side but select a Roman Catholic to seek our votes. I appeal to my Roman Catholic friends throughout Ontario, to those who believe that we have done right, that we have administered the affairs of the Province well and fairly, that they be not seduced away anywhere by the fact that a Catholic has been brought forward to oppose the Government candidate. (Cheers.) If I have throughout this Province any friend who feels that during the time I have been in office I have done my duty faithfully, and who would care to see me with the approval of the country continue where I am, I hope that he will give his support, his influence, his vote, and his voice towards those who will come to Toronto, to sustain the Administration of my honourable friend the Attorney-General. I know of no reason in the world why I should be expected not to oppose, as I would that of any other, the candidature of a Roman Catholic who, opposed to me and my colleagues, says that they and I, as a Government have not done right. Why am I to stand quietly by and allow unchallenged my Roman Catholic friends to desert me to vote for such a man? I am not quite bound to tolerate or support any man whose candidature on behalf of the Opposition is my express condemnation. I am justified in saying to him, "You have no confidence in me, and I have no confidence in you."

(Cheers.) You will observe that I then spoke specially of Mr. Mowat. I have had four years' more experience of him. It is ten years since I had the honour of entering the Administration, and I have seen the inside work of the Government, seen its difficulties and known the problems and troubles we have had to solve and overcome; and here now, in the presence of any Catholic friends on both sides of politics, what I said four years ago of Mr. Mowat I am prepared to repeat. (Loud applause.) Let enemies and deserters say what they please, Mr. Mowat is a man who may be trusted. Go back, if you will, to the old days, when he was entering public life as a young Liberal; or judge him by his record to-day. I say again that for fair, even-handed justice, liberal dealing, and large-heartedness there is not his superior in this Province. (Loud applause.) Now I have read to you what I did say at the Rossin House on this question of representation, and therefore you may judge of the motive that led the concoctors of this campaign sheet to put into my month words that my Rossin House speech proves I never could have uttered. But there is further and better proof—that of hard facts. I have told you that when I entered the House I found only two Catholic members there. Mr. O'Donoghue, returned shortly after for Ottawa, made a third. When the general election of 1875 came on my colleagues and myself succeeded in putting a number of Catholic candidates in nomination. We fairly drove our Tory opponents into doing the same thing—and with what result? Instead of three Catholic representatives as in the second parliament there were returned three times three (loud cheers) five on the Liberal side and four on the Conservative side of the House. I am not saying that the Liberals did more than their duty in this matter: I am only answering the accusation made against me by which they have tried to falsify my record. In the elections of 1879 we repeated our efforts, and there was four Liberals and four Conservatives then returned. During the first session Dr. Harkin died, and his place was taken by Mr. Hagar, a Protestant gentleman so that for the remaining time we had a representation of three Conservatives and four Liberals: and again, to-day, we are making the same fair, honest effort to secure representation for my fellow-Catholics; for, notwithstanding the deliberate attempt to lead you astray by the statement already put abroad that we have but two, we have eight Catholic candidates now in the field, against precisely the same number on the other side. I don't claim any special credit on behalf of the Liberal party for this measure of justice, but they are entitled to all the credit their action deserves. (Cheers.) That there may be no denial of this I will give you the names. To start with, we have myself—I suppose I should stand as at least one. (Applause.) Possibly they counted me out when they were making up this campaign fraud. (Laughter.) We have Thomas McDonald in the county Dundas, with an excellent chance of taking the position lately occupied by Mr. Broder. Thomas Murray, running for North Renfrew. He represented that riding during three sessions of the late Parliament, but resigned for the purpose of running for the House of Commons, and it is said that it cost the people a cool $60,000 or $70,000 by way of bonus from the Dominion Government to the town of Pembroke to defeat him. The people of this Dominion scarcely suspected that they paid so snugly to defeat Thomas Murray for the House of Commons. (Laughter.) Well, he is running there again, and I am glad to say that there is no doubt of his success. Then we have Mr. Robillard in the county of Russell, Mr. Morin, for Welland, Mr. Dooling, for South Renfrew, which was the riding represented by the late Mr. Bonfield, and we have Mr. O'Keefe contesting the city of Ottawa and Dr. McMahon one of the Wentworths. If they spread any more lies on the subject, do not forget that I have given you the names of eight candidates put in nomination for places fairly safe and reasonably likely to return eight Catholics. (Cheers.) If that be not a fair acknowledgement of the rights of the Catholic minority to representation, I ask what would be considered fair? You have a vast advance upon what you had before, and though it may not bear an exact proportion to the population, you may always rest assured that so long as you have eight or nine Catholics in the Local House your interests will not be likely to be endangered or suffer from the want of fair, free and full discussion, whether Tories or Reformers are in office. (Applause.) Now, there is one thing more, that I wish to draw your attention to.

WHERE THE PLUMS GO.

This document, of course, follows up the implied charge that we have not had sufficient Catholic representation by stating that the Liberals have done as little towards acting fairly in the matter of patronage. Indeed, I have been the special sinner in this respect. Now we are, as nearly as may be, one sixth of the population of Ontario. If you take us in order of denominations, so to speak, the Catholic minority will stand fourth. The Methodists, I think, stand first, the Presbyterian second, the Church of England third, Catholics fourth and Baptists fifth. How then do we really stand on the question of the distribution of patronage? I am free to admit that after ten years of administration of affairs it would only be right for the Catholic minority to expect the Government, so long in power, would have taken the opportunity to equalize matters in this respect. It is said in this document that Mr. Fraser, your own special representative, has only appointed two Catholics ever since he went into his department. Well, now, I had been in nearly eight years before I got an opportunity to appoint one. They wouldn't resign, they wouldn't die, and they wouldn't go out—(great laughter)—so all I had to do was to sit patiently and wait my chance. After eight years, or nearly so, there fell in five vacancies in the inside service of department. Remember, you are not one-sixth of the population, and accordingly to this rule your just share would be one-sixth of five. Even if this document were true, don't you think that two would make a very fair proportion out of five—(Cheers)—but it is not true, for I actually dared to give three of the appointments to Roman Catholics. I can claim fair play to have been done there. (Cheers.)

WHO ARE THE AUTHORS?

I happen to know something of the concoction of this burlesque of truth. I knew that it was being prepared, and that some of Mr. Meredith's lieutenants were in close confabulation with a certain well-known journalist making up this precious bouquet of electioneering falsehoods. Now, these truth (?) seekers knew that there was a printed return circulated throughout this Province about a year since, giving full and exact information upon this subject of Provincial appointments, and they had this return, and therefore the truth before them. And yet with the exact truth in their hands they deliberately ignore it in connection with my department. They say, too, that Mr. Crooks has not since he went into office appointed a single Catholic. Mr. Crooks has only been in the Department of Education a very few years. Dr. Ryerson had a long lease of position, and he was responsible for all the old staff. Dr. Ryerson's regime was so long and the offices so well filled that about all Mr. Crooks has had to do in the way of dealing with patronage there is to make dismissals in order to bring the staff down to what it ought to be. If they had wished to deal justly with him—if they had wanted to give a large-hearted, and liberal-minded man fair play, they would not have omitted to tell you that this return to which I have referred shows that Adam Crooks had appointed a Catholic Principal of the Normal School at Ottawa, and a Catholic Inspector of Separate Schools. Now what, in a nut shell, I have to say with regard to this whole matter is what the return shows, and I need not go over the various departments. I need not take them one by one. You might go into any department and take branches of it in which you would find that there was not a Roman Catholic. And so with them all; but take the departments all through and you will find them. There are for example, twelve public institutions in the Province, made up of the Asylums, the Reformatories, the Central Prison, the Brantford and Belleville institutions, and the two Normal Schools. Fashioned upon exact proportion to our numbers, we would be entitled to two of the principal posts in these. The fact is we have three. (Cheers.) Mr. McCrossin is Superintendent of the Reformatory at Penetanguishene; Mrs. O'Reilly, widow of the late James O'Reilly, is chief of the Mercer Reformatory; and Mr. McCabe is Principal at the Normal school at Ottawa and all appointed by the Mowat Administration. (Cheers.) One-sixth of twelve would be two, but you see we have a quarter of them. (Cheers.) But let us go further. This return shows conclusively, and beyond all dispute, what is the true state of affairs with respect to the question of offices and patronage. It covers all the appointments within the institutions I have been speaking of, and also within all the departments of Civil Government, and it demonstrates that at least we have got reasonably fair-play. Now I don't ask a single Catholic to vote against his political convictions because the Liberals have given us fair play. (Cheers.) Our people in this respect have only got what they are entitled to. My purpose now is but to prove that the accusations made against the Government are false. You are entitled to fair play whatever your political convictions are, and if you don't agree with us politically, vote against us like men. (Cheers.) Proceeding with this return, it shows that the total salaries or wages paid in 1881 for all the services which it covers, and of which I am now speaking, amounts to $426,654, and out of this total the Catholics in the service received $69,526. (Cheers.) This is within $500 of $70,000. These are facts and figures, and I pledge you that they are correct. (Cheers.) If then we divide the total of $426,000 by 6, we have as nearly as may be $70,000, and this is what we get. (Cheers.) That is as nearly absolute fair play in the matter of money as reasonable men may ask for. (Cheers.) Yet these facts are deliberately suppressed in this honest document that has been so freely circulated. (Cheers.) You would have thought that we had neglected you entirely; you would have thought that I had gone into the Administration only to turn my back upon you. (Cheers.) But, fortunately we have the truth in this return moved for by the Grand Master of the Orange body, in the hope, no doubt, of establishing that we had received more than justice. (Cheers.) If that had been really the case I have no doubt a different appeal—but to another quarter of the political compass—would have been made. (Hear, hear.) I want to go on a little and deal somewhat more with this return. I have told you that the Methodist body stands first with respect to numbers, the Presbyterians next, the Church of England third, and the Roman Catholics fourth. This return shows a very curious state of affairs in this respect. We have been accustomed to be told that the Scotch "Grits" have been carrying away all the plums. (Laughter.) That they had stripped the tree year by year. (Renewed laughter.) It has been the hue and cry that those canny Scotch Presbyterians have taken all that is worth having. What does this return show? It shows that the Church of England has carried off prizes to the greatest number. There are 304 superior offices—when I say superior offices I mean what are not included among the messengers, night watchmen, attendants in asylums, and other subordinate positions. Out of that 304 our Church of England friends get 114, or more than an entire third. I don't make any complaint of this, but it is a strange answer to the accusations made against the Scotch Grits, who only get 67. (Hear, hear.) We get 42, and the largest body, the Methodists, 46 of these superior positions. Now I say in all frankness if there is any complaint of plums being carried away it must come from our Methodist friends. (Laughter.) If you take the total you find that we get as nearly as may be one-seventh of the number, and we are as I have said one-sixth of the population. Coming to the inferior offices, I find that the Methodists get 86; Presbyterians, 118; Church of England, 147; and Roman Catholics, 163, or about one-fourth, and when you take the money value of superior and inferior posts together we have, as I have stated, one-sixth. (Cheers.) I say money value, because that, in my opinion, is a fair, if not indeed the best, test, having regard to all the circumstances. I think, Sir, I have answered to the satisfaction of every reasonable mind these electioneering falsehoods. (Cheers.) I don't propose to deal with this any further: I leave it with the remark that those of my Catholic friends who have hitherto given the Administration their support because they thought they were getting fair dealing at our hands have no need to desert us because of anything this campaign document has alleged. I ask them for a renewed confidence and a renewed support. Much more I might have said, but less than that I could not say. (Hear, hear.) In this contest I would have been willing to leave these discussions about place and patronage out of sight, and have our political battle carried on without appeals to mercenery motives or religious prejudices—(Cheers)—but our opponents have forced this explanation upon me.

THE PUZZLED VOTER.

It puzzles my head completely,
I hardly know what to say,
I read both sides of politics,
Two papers every day;
And the more I read my papers,
The less I know what to do;
How shall I vote is the question,
I hardly know how, do you?

It puzzles my head completely,
Again and again I have tried
To believe that all men are honest,
That no politicians have lied:
I'm not a very apt scholar,
My mind is very obtuse,
I cannot see how for the dollar,
Men can give so much abuse.

"G" is a very fine fellow,
"M" is just no man at all;
That is what one paper tells me,
The other reverses the whole.
"M" has been caught stealing chickens,
"G" is a saint every day,
Please tell me how in the dickens
A man can vote right either way.

It puzzles my head completely,
Beats all I ever did see;
One paper says "vote Mr. M.,"
The other says "vote Mr. G."
Each party offers an "office,"
They're anxious the fair thing to do,
And that makes the thing more perplexing
I wish I knew "which"—don't you?

I'll take my slate and pencil
And cipher the whole thing out;
Whew! the more I add and subtract,
The more my mind is in doubt;
Politicians have got things mixed,
Beats all how the fellows do act
I'd like that office, but don't know how
To get it, and that is a fact.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Asparagus.

Uncle Waldo tells the Ohio Farmer that he believes that the best way to manage an asparagus bed is to make plank edges and raise the bed a few inches each year till it is a foot higher than the level of the garden. The best yielding he ever saw was managed in this way. It is surprising through what a mass of manure and earth asparagus will force its way.

Spring Wheat Flour.

The strength of spring wheat, owing to its large percentage of gluten, cannot be gainsaid, and hence it will always be a favorite with bakers, says the Northwestern Miller. On the other hand, the excellent color (surpassing in some cases the best samples of Spring wheat) possessed by the flour made from Winter wheat, its excellent qualities as a pastry flour, and its adaptability for general family use will always render it popular among a large class of buyers.

Keeping Money Safe.

A "Stockman" writing in the Rural New Yorker, gives the following sensible advice to farmers:—"The best way to make one's money safe is to wrap it up in a hide of your own, and not give it to another man to take care of it for you. Never mind the kind of hide—cow-hide, sheep-skin or pig-skin, all are good and safe to put money in. Farmers have been doing well and many have some money to spare. If they want a safe investment let them add some more to their live stock, and then by a little extra work of the head, get enough more feed out of their land to keep these additional animals. It can be done every time.

Pringle's Surprise Wheat.

A report from the Rural New Yorker's experimental farm says:—"A few heads of this wheat was sent to us several years ago by Professor Blount, of Colorado, he having received his seed from Mr. Pringle. In 1881 we drilled in 13 rows, Sept. 20. About 75 per cent. was winter-killed. The grain is hard and half-translucent. The heads averaged 3½ inches long, though many were six inches long, as shown in the engraving, which is true to life. The breasts average eight to a side—three kernels to the breast. The straw grows to the height of four feet.

Hints to Farmers.

Examine into your accounts. Ascertain exactly what you owe. It is not so important that you should know what is owed to you. Oil the harness, arrange the harness room so that every piece of harness has its place; paint the wagons, the implements; clean out and whitewash the nests in the hen-house; sprinkle kerosene everywhere, but especially in the nests and upon the perches and in the cracks; feed the poultry and, in fact, all farm stock regularly. What fruit trees, small fruit, ornamental plants do you need? Be careful as to this. Some kinds will just suit your soil and climate—others will prove worthless, so that you will lose your money, time and temper. Do not order of irresponsible or unknown persons. It is maddening to find next year or years hence we have ordered, paid and cared for kinds not true to name. Put all things in order for the busy season which will come upon us ere we know it—to the end that we may make the most of our time when time is money.

Stable Suggestions.

Whip and Spur advises that the stable be well drained and sufficiently lighted. The vapors from a damp, putrid floor, and the sudden change from darkness to light are almost sure to cause blindness. The floor of the stalls should be quite flat and level. Standing on a sloping place is very painful, and causes lameness by straining the ligaments and membranes. It also produces grease and sore heels. Every stall should be at least six feet wide and nine feet long. This will enable the horse to turn round without bruising himself, and stretch himself with comfort. The stalls should be separated by partitions, not bars. They prevent horses from kicking each other. Hot, close, or foul stables, will cause inflammation, or bring on glanders, while a very cold or damp one, may cause an incurable cough or disease of the lungs. Do not keep the hay over the manger. The steam and breath of the animal make it both unpleasant and unwholesome. Have no opening into the manger from the hay loft. Dust is very often thrown into the horse's eyes when fed in this way, and thus blindness is began.

Making Cuttings.

Cuttings of various kinds of trees and shrubs, which are always readily propagated, should be made before they have been many times frozen. Early in winter is the best season, and the longer it is delayed the more danger of the wood being injured by freezing. Currant, gooseberry, grape, quince, and similar hardy shrubs and vines may be rooted very readily from cuttings taken off early in winter and packed away in damp sand or moss until spring. The cuttings should be made from six to ten inches long, and principally from the one-year-old shoots, but wood of two or three years of the quince will grow as readily as that of one year. The agricultural editor of the Sun reminds its readers of the fact that cions of fruit trees should also be cut before very cold weather, or at least before the severest cold of winter had passed, because frequent freezing and thawing are very likely to weaken the vitality of the buds. The shoots taken for the cions should be of the past season's growth, and may be left their full length, as taken from the tree or cut up into sections of a foot or more. The twigs to be used for grafting in spring may be preserved in moss, sawdust or sand.

Beware of Speculators.

"There is something rotten in the state of Denmark"—as Mr. Hamlet is reported to have observed—when we see so much speculation going on. People are "making haste to be rich" to much, and speculation is entering into the most conservative branches of live stock business. Just now farmers, and in fact any man with only a $10 bill in his pocket, are asked and enticed to put that small sum, or from that to a thousand, into joint stock ranching or any other stock concern on the promise of 50 per cent. profit. A man who goes into the live stock business anywhere, with knowledge or judgment, can be sure of 50 per cent. profit no doubt; but no joint stock enterprise in farming or stock keeping ever made a cent for the stock—I would rather say the share-holders; the stock-holders may make the money, but the others never—but loss and disappointment have always resulted. Our advice to readers of the EXAMINER is keep out of such enterprises and have no stock—either paper or alive—in them if you want to be safe.

The Hog.

At the late convention of the American Agricultural Association the editor of the Live Stock Indicator read an amusing paper upon this interesting quadruped of which he said in his earlier days he is strikingly playful, frisky, cunning, and graceful—as much more interesting than a human infant of the same age as the latter is more interesting than so much putty. In adult pighood he is omniverous and self-reliant, bold, and expeditionary; and he breeds faster, grows faster and keeps cheaper than any other domestic animal. America is pre-eminently the home of the hog—he is a logical deduction from Indian corn. He eats what is placed before him and never complains of the cooking, nor grumbles if his sleeping-room is not dusted. He never gossips, nor uses tobacco in any form. He puts up with the worst accommodations, and behaves best when well corned. His habits are natural, though he never runs in debt to the tailor, and though he knows nothing of mathematics he has no superior in square root. He belongs to a litter-ary family, and though he never writes, is the acknowledged knight of the pen.

Crops in England.

A DECIDEDLY GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR EUROPE GENERALLY.

The London Times bewails the farming prospects in England. It says a crisis in field work exists. It is water everywhere, and a good sowing time is wanted. It is surmised that much autumn sowing in England is rotten, and throughout the whole of Europe a similar condition prevails.

There is hardly a town in England untouched by the effects of the storm, either by flood or wind. The sodden land prevents farmers sowing, while others have had their seed completely spoiled.

The Bad and Worthless

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word 'Hop' or 'Hops' were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 6-4t

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Mr. H. McCaw, Custom House, Toronto, writes: "My wife was troubled with Dyspepsia and Rheumatism for a long time; she tried many different medicines, but did not get any relief until she tried Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. She has taken two bottles of it, and now finds herself in better health than she has been for years."

FASHION NOTES.

Corsage bouquets grow larger and larger.

Ball dresses are again trimmed with flowers.

Robes of sateen appear among the new goods.

Checks and plaids are the features of spring silks.

There is a return to demitrains for dinner toilettes.

The new muslins are soft finished, without any starch or size.

French crepe, white and in colours, makes exquisite ball dresses.

Very large silk painted or feather fans are only for ball and opera use.

Ashes of roses has made its appearance among the æsthetic colours.

Robe dresses with embroidered flounces appear among spring importations.

Birds and fruits form a part of the design of many of the dressiest sateens.

The draperies are much bunched around the hips, and even below that point, by some dressmakers.

The feature in new polka-dotted cotton dress goods is the large size and close proximity of the dots.

Druggists and physicians recommend and prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all female complaints.

Visiting and reception dresses grow more simple, dinner toilets more elaborate, as the season advances.

THEY ALL DO IT.—Everybody uses "TEABERRY" for the teeth and breath, the newest, brightest, cosiest little toilet gem extant. Try a 5 cent sample. 52

A dinner dress, whether simple and inexpensive, or excessively costly and elegant, should never be made in a style that would render it mistakable for a ball toilet.

For tying down the turban, hat, or bonnet when out sleighing, scarfs of Spanish lace, clouds of zephyr, and ice wools, white or in gay colours, are used when the Russian hood is not worn.

 "Test a man's profession by his practice. Physician, heal thyself!" Physicians not only heal themselves with Kidney-Wort, but prescribe it for others for the worst cases of biliousness and constipation, as well as for kidney complaints. If you feel out of sorts and don't know why, try a package of Kidney-Wort and you will feel like a new creature.

Worth and Pingot, the two leading French modistes, are making the sleeves of new costumes a prominent feature. A charm sleeve that sets off a pretty arm to perfection is one that buttons from shoulder to wrist with small buttons matching the color of the costume. No sham button-holes will do; the sleeve must actually button.

An all-wool suit has a short walking-skirt, trimmed with a kilt pleating, which extends up on one side and from which the draperied over-skirt is drawn away with thick cords, which are used as festooning and to edge the sides and the battlements at the bottom of the overskirt. The basque is half double-breasted, has a postillion back, and is cut away from the lower part of the front. A very jaunty suit is made after this model in plain and plaided all-wool goods, and the style is also suitable for silken fabrics.

SEE TO IT.—ZOPESA will cure the worst case of Dyspepsia. A single dose will relieve in a degree that shows its wonderful curative powers, and its peculiar action upon the stomach and digestive organs. It is a positive and absolute cure for costiveness and constipation, acting in a remarkable way upon the system, carrying off impurities. As a liver regulater its actions are remarkable. It tones and stimulates the Liver to action, it corrects the acide and regulates the bowels. A few doses will surprise you. Sample bottles 10 cents. 52

A very pretty dress for evening wear is made of heliotrope silk brocaded in a black lace pattern, and made in a full, long polonaise over a black silk skirt covered with netted lace, a flounce of the same lacing finishing the skirt. A cape of black lace is also worn with this dress, and the sleeves are finished with a fall of the same. A cluster of violets or heliotrope is very suitable for this costume. For widows it will be found a handsome toilette on many occasions, and a little hat of violets with black lace would be a charming addition, or a jet hat trimmed with those flowers.

DIPHTHERIA AND COUGH.—Mr. C. M. Adair, of Gladstone, Ont., had an attack of diphtheria which was succeeded by a cough. This cough which is described as "dreadful," settled on his lungs. For months his sufferings from it were intense, in fact, until he began using Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. The Balsam calmed his nerves, put an end to his cough, and restored him to perfect health. The action of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam on the nerves is very remarkable. The consumptive is calmed and strengthened by it and put on a fair way to recovery.

Thousands bear witness to the positive curative powers of the GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR, the only remedy that has proved itself a specific for general debility, seminal weakness, impotency, etc., and all diseases that arise from self-abuse or overtaxed brain, finally ending in consumption, insanity and a premature grave. Sold by all druggists, or will be sent free on receipt of $1,00 per box, or six boxes for $2.00. Address F. J. CHENEY. Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. GRIST MILLS,

NORWOOD.

The subscriber having succeeded in the above Mills beyond his expectations, has been compelled to make large additions to his premises to meet the increasing demand of his numerous customers in Norwood and surrounding Townships, and would now respectfully intimate that he has completed arrangements to further increase the capacity of the mill, as well as to keep in supply all kinds of superior Baking Flour, Chop, and every description of Mill Feed, usually found in a well kept Gristing Mill.

Having engaged a miller of extensive practical experience in some of the best mills in the country, to manage the gristing department of his mill, he will now be in a position to give greater attention to the wants of his customers in all lines of his business.

Special attention will be given to every description of Gristing, and customers will not only be guaranteed the utmost satisfaction in all kinds of Gristing, but will be assured that all orders will be attended to with the utmost promptness, and farmers residing at a distance can have their Gristing done for them so as to be able to take it home with them.

Spacious Storehouses are now being constructed in connection with the mill for the storing of grain to accommodate all classes of his customers, and nothing will be left undone by him to secure a continuance of the extensive patronage he has received in the past, and hopes by strict attention to business, guaranteeing a superior class of Gristing and charging low rates commensurate with good work, to merit in the future confidence in the public generally.

Remember the Mills, opposite the Union School Buildings, Colborne St., Norwood.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞ For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞ But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞ And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞ If you cannot get the "Improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (26)

PLAINVILLE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Two grand concerts have been held during the past month which were a success in every respect. The singing was of a very high order exhibiting a great deal of natural ability, and culture. The songs sung by Miss Nettie Martyn of Peterborough fairly charmed the audience and it is no wonder for they were rendered in a manner which surpassed anything ever heard here before. Miss Lily Lamb's Scotch Songs were very popular and won loud applause. Mr. Spence's recitation "The Eagle's Rock" was given in good style and was appreciated by all. The audience retired feeling satisfied that they had enjoyed a rare intellectural feast.

THE LAW OF LIBEL.

A Montreal merchant the other day entered a libel suit against the proprietor of the Post of that city claiming $5,000 damages. The Post had referred to the plaintiff as an absconding debtor, when he had, it appears, just gone off on "a little trip." If this suit is regarded by the courts as were those recently brought against the Toronto Globe and Hamilton Times, the Post people will be mulcted in probably pretty heavy damages. There is something very unjust about this law of libel. In the cases of the Globe and Times both papers were willing to make retractions of their statements as plainly and publicly as the original news items on which the suits were based; but this would not do. The libel may soon become a profitable one for people with bad reputations to go into. All they have to do is to throw about their actions the appearance of evil, and when a newspaper in the public interest refers to these appearances, to bring a suit and collect damages. A change is needed here.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

A COLLISION ON THE GRAND TRUNK —TWO PASSENGERS KILLED.

A terrible collision occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway, Great Western division, near Hamilton last Thursday evening. The Pacific express, which is due there at 2.40, was two hours late leaving about five o'clock. It is reached a point about two miles east of Dundas and three miles west of this city when it came into collision with the day express going east. The Pacific express was drawn by two locomotives to help it up the heavy grade beteen this city and Copetown, and these, with the engine on the day express, were smashed to splinters. The engineer on the pilot of the Pacific express, Edward Mason, a resident of Hamilton, was killed instantly. Fireman Stephens, of the day express, was severely if not fatally injured. Two passengers were killed, and several injured. The despatcher at London gave orders for the day express to pass the Pacific express at Hamilton and this order not being fulfilled resulted with the above fatal effect. Traffic was blocked completely. A gang of men with an auxiliary train was sent up from here and will have the line clear before morning. The miraculous escape of the majority of the passengers is marvellous, and every coach was well filled, the two trains comprising some twenty cars. Superintendent Stiff is doing all in his power to accommodate the detained travellers and relieve the sufferers.

The Coraline Corset which has become so popular, are to be had at Turnbull's in all sizes.

A Voice from the Press.

I take this opportunity to bear testimony to the efficacy of your "Hop Bitters." Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whiskey, we were greatly surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, have likewise tried, and pronounce them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning up the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are now all gone. I have a yearly contract with a doctor to look after the health of myself and family, but I need him not now. S. GILLILAND.

People's Advocate, Pittsb'g, Pa.

THE CRYSTALIZED EXPERIENCE of twenty years has proved the best treatment of consumption to be the prolonged use of Dr. Wheeler's Phosphates and Calisaya, which restores nutrition by augmenting nerve force and securing the digestion and assimilation of food. As soon as the stomach will manage it, the form of energy next in value to Phosphates is pure Norway Cod Liver Oil, of which take a teaspoonful in the morning just before eating, and gradually increase to a tablespoonful twice daily. Continue these constructive agents for an indefinite period, and do not let every new remedy sensation switch you off the course.

A. Chard, of Sterling, in a recent letter, states that he met with an accident some time ago, by which one of his knees was severely injured. A few applications of Hagyard's Yellow Oil afforded immediate and complete relief. 15. 8-2t

The Calcutta papers are urging the establishment of crocodile farms in India in view of the demand in Europe and America for the skins for various uses. It is proposed that regular breeding establishments should be started in those localities most frequented by "muggers," so as to develop a new branch of industry and at the same time turn a national nuisance into a source of prosperity.

Undoubtedly the best medicine to keep on hand for Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Pulmonary troubles generally, is Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It will not cure consumption, but it will cure these troublesome conditions leading thereto. 16. 8-2t

Nettie oldest daughter of John Collins, who lives near the village of North Branch Michigan, was burned in such a frightful manner that she died twelve hours after. An Austin lady was in the act of taking a drink of water, when a spider sprang out of the dipper and fastened on her upper lip. So tenaciously did the venomous insect cling that she had to pull it until she mashed it before its fangs pulled out. In less than fifteen minutes the lady was unconscious, and the physicians express doubts of her recovery.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

An English sparrow and a mouse fell out about some crumbs thrown from a kitchen in Hamilton, Ont. last Sunday, which resulted in a fight. The sparrow apparently, buried its bill in the back of the mouse's head every time it swooped down. Finally the mouse started to its hole, but died before getting there. One of its eyes was gouged out and its skull was badly fractured.

"Twenty-four years experienc," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magetic Medicine is the best. A decrepid old mule at Fort Missoula Montana, U.S was condemned to death, and the crack shots of the garrison were detailed as excutioners. At a distance of 60 yards 13 shots were fired successively and the mule was only scratched on the ear. The guard, being afraid of his life, knocked the mule on the head with a pick, and the sharpshooters bribed him with a canteen of beer not to tell it.

W. W. McLellan, Lyn, N. S., writes: "I was afflicted with rheumatism, and had given up all hopes of a cure. By chance I saw Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil recommended. I immediately sent (fifty miles) and purchased four bottles, and with only two applications I was able to get around, and although I have not used one bottle, I am nearly well. The other three bottles I gave around to my neighbors, and I have had so many calls for more, that I feel bound to relieve the afflicted by writing to you for a supply."

THE MEDICAL FACULTY were among the first to recognise the value of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphities of Lime and Soda as a remedy for throat and lung affections premature decline and general debility. Physicians not only recommend it for incipient consumption, bronchitis, asthma and minor pulmonary and bronchial troubles, but speak in the highest terms of it as a means of enriching the blood and counteracting a hereditary tendency to consumption. In every part of the Dominion and throughout the United States it has attained, a popularity as wide-spread as it is deserved, and the evidence attesting its efficacy is voluminous and convincing. The Cod Liver Oil, which is its pulmonic constituent, is absolutely pure and does not nauseate the stomach; while the Hypophosphites, superadded to and chemically blended with this ingredient, possess invigorating properties which render it most desirable in diseases involving such a tremendous waste of tissue and loss of bodily substance as incipient consumption which it checks with a promptitude truly marvellous. In addition to its pulmonic effects, it imparts tone to the whole system, and being a fine blood depurent counteracts a tendency to scrofula. Moreover, it is sold at reasonable price, the cost of the smaller bottles (the contents of one often sufficing to break up a bad cold) being 50 cents, and of the larger, $1.00 Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

The Real Swede Mousquetaire undressed Kid, popular shades direct importations, at Turnbull's.

Professor Hotchkin.

The celebrated Springless Truss man will be at the Caisse House March 3 4 & 5. Go and see him, he defies the hernia he cannot hold with ease and comfort. 4.

A Brightening Star.

The Hastings Star is falling in line in the march of journalistic improvement, having been enlarged to the popular eight page form. The managers of the Star deserve all the success which we heartily wish their enterprise may bring.

Norwood.

Mr. J. Raddon, writes requesting us to say that the mention of the name of Raddon, in last week's issue of the EXAMINER, in connection with a pugilistic encounter, was without foundation. We are sure our correspondent did not use the name through malice, but perhaps through an error in information.

Sooner or Later.

Last Thursday morning death nailed the unfortunate Joseph Nailer, at the residence of Mr. Whitehall, Ashburnham, where the unfortunate victim to strong drink was staying. He came to the house on Wednesday night, intoxicated, and never got sober, for death seized him during the night, no inquest.

Women's Foreign Mission Work.

On Thursday afternoon last, the lecture room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, at 3 p.m., was pretty well filled with ladies who listened with great interest to an address from Mrs. Harvie, the Foreign Secretary of the Society. The address was delivered in the interests of the Auxiliary Society.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada, for the week ending February 10th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and Mails, $4,123.84; freight, $7,065.67; total, $11,189.51, as compared with $14,459.49 for the corresponding week of 1882, being a decrease of $3,279.98; and the aggregate traffic to date is $79,486.13 being an increase of $3,833.36 over 1882.

The Reason Why.

The Toronto World complains of the secretiveness of Constable Pidgeon on the occasion of his visit to Toronto to bring down Flemming the bucket-shop sharper. When its reporter approached Constable Pidgeon with the blunt question: "What's your business in Toronto?" what could it expect but the natural reply from the reticent Richard: "It's not your business." If news-finders fail to combine civility with cheek, they must not feel hurt if they are snubbed.

"The French Spy."

The gallant members of the battery have in rehearsal the grand military drama "The French Spy," to be put on the boards of Bradburn's Opera House to-night, Thursday. The play, in matters of costume, mountin_, etc., is receiving great attention and local dramatic talent will assist the military element in presenting the play in first-class style. We hope the initial effort of the boys will receive hearty encouragement from the public

Mr. Miller's Mishap.

In our last issue was an item stating that Mr. John Miller of this town had started for Nebraska. It appears that our wishes for a pleasant journey did not amount to much, for Mr. Miller was caught in the collision and smash-up on the Grand Trunk near Flint, Michigan. He was injured in the hand, but it seems that the hurt was slight, as his friends here have heard nothing from him, and therefore the mishap is not serious enough to make a fuss over. In the same catastrophe, Mr. Thomas Peal, of Lindsay, says the despatch, was fatally injured.

PERSONAL

Rev. Mr. Boville, M.A., of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church, morning and evening, last Sunday.

Rev. E. J. Stobo, new pastor of the Baptist Church Belleville, began his work last Sunday, preaching morning and evening.

Rev. Alexander Young of Napanee, Moderator of the Presbytery of Kingston, was in Peterborough a few days the last week and this, in the interest of the endowment fund of Queen's College.

At the recent semi-annual examinations of the Normal School, Messrs. L. W. Allingham, W. M. Wood, and E. Stuart Wood of Otonabee, and Joseph McCarthy of Norwood, passed the examination for second-class provincial certificates with marked success, the two former at the Toronto Normal School, and the two latter at the Ottawa Normal School.

Ladies' Take Notice

That this is the last week of Giroux & Sullivan's great clearing out sale, and greater bargains than ever will be offered.

More Incendiarism.

On Saturday night an attempt was made to fire the vacant factory of Mr. Toole, Bethune Street, corner of Murray. The miscreant used coal oil to facilitate the success of his evil designs.

Mr. Campbell's Meeting.

Mr. Campbell will address the electors in Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening, Feb. 23rd. A full attendance is requested. Mr. Carnegie is invited to be present. The gallery is reserved for ladies.

Luck and Liberality.

Mr. David Porter of Ballyduff the young gentleman that realized $15,000 on an investment of $2—in the London Lottery visited his brothers, here, on Saturday and "on the head of it" entertained them and their fellow work-men, in Mr. Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage works, at a supper at D'Arcy's Restaurant.

Real Estate Purchase.

Mr. G. A. Cox has purchased the property of the Dixon estate, extending from Routley's, on George street, to Simcoe street, and on that street as far as the lane at Bell's hotel, for the sum of $7,000. This sum represents a five-seventh interest, the balance being subject to the interest of minor heirs in the estate.

A Heartless Act.

A few days ago some heartless wretches poured coal oil on the head of a poor natural who was sleeping in a stable, and then set it on fire. Before the blaze could be extinguished the poor harmless imbecile was painfully burned. The guilty parties may escape from the law of the land, but without pretty vigorous repentence they will not escape a future complicated with bon-fires of brimstone.

Hymeneal.

On Tuesday last, on the the return of Rev. I. Campbell of Richmond Hill, from his wedding trip, a large number of the members of his Church-Congregation, and friends had assembled in the lecture room of his church to welcome him and his bride. After partaking of a very sumptuous tea prepared by the ladies of his church Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were presented with a very beautiful silver tea service, a flattering address, with many congratulations and inummerable good wishes, to which the EXAMINER would add its best wishes for the happiness and long life of the reverend gentleman and his young bride.

C. M. Social.

A delightful social was held at Moira Hall, the C. M. Parsonage, and residence of Rev. Mr. Shaw, on Friday evening last. In spite of the sloppy weather there was a good attendance. The following ladies and gentlemen contributed the programme: Miss Sanderson, reading; Miss Cox and Mrs Davis, instrumental duet; Messrs. H. Cox, R. Cox, R. Shaw and E. Whitcher, vocal trio; Messrs. Heathfield and Snider, instrumental duet; Misses Davis and Shaw, vocal duet; Miss Ellsworth, reading; Mrs. T. Bradburn, Misses Whitcher, Cox, and Shaw, each also gave solo selections.

St Peter's Cathedral.

At the adjourned meeting of the congregation of St. Peter's Church on Sunday the following committee was appointed to take measures for the erection or purchase of an episcopal palace, and to consider the re-building of the cathedral:—Messrs. R. H. Pope, T. Dolan, Thos. Cahill, James Duffis, J. C. Sullivan, Louis Leplante and Cornelius Halpin. At a meeting of the committee held on Tuesday night the committee organized and appointed Rt. Rev. Bishop Jamot chairman, and Rev. Father Conway secretary-treasurer. No course of action was decided on, but the committee are actively prosecuting the duties for which they were appointed.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Electors of the East Riding of the County of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN,—I cannot resist the feeling of duty that impels me to publish this card, for the purpose of thanking the electors whose votes secured my return, and especially thanking those, whose valued personal services, and those whose teams, placed at my disposal, contributed so greatly to the favorable result of the contest, upon which I beg to congratulate the electors, for my success as your representative is your victory. My thanks are also due to those gentlemen who spoke and worked so efficiently in my interest; in fact, I desire to hereby acknowledge the kindness and assistance of all who have, in any way, however humble, promoted my return, and heartily assure them that their good services shall ever be gratefully remembered, and reciprocated, by the only means in my power, that is by a watchful guardianship in my legislative capacity, of the interests of those who have done me the honor to select me as their representative.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,

THOMAS BLEZARD.

Otonabee, March 5th, 1883.

were read: From Mr. Carnegie, Secretary of the Town Trust, asking the Council to pay over the amount of the requisition made by the Commissioners. Referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication from the same, asking the Council to issue $2,000 in debentures to retire debentures coming due. Request was granted on motion of Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Hartley.

The petitions of M. Halpin, John Newton, H. T. Strickland, A. D. McIntyre S. Deutcher, and Mrs. Strain, asking relief in respect of taxes, were referred to the Court of Revision.

In reference to the communication of Thos. Parrington, in the matter of Connors, who is sick at his place, it was ordered that Mr. Parrington be allowed $4.00 per week till such time as the Council should come to a decision in the matter.

LENGTH OF WALKS.

Street Inspector Johnson presented the return ordered by the Council of the length of sidewalks in town, stating that the total length of the walks of all widths, was 32½ miles and 42 rods.

BUTCHER'S LICENSE.

A license for a butcher shop at Auburn Mills was granted Wm. Trotter.

Accounts were received and paid from O. Giles, drawing engine, $1.50; and W. Swinton, drawing cedar, $9.50. An account of R. Pidgeon, conveying two prisoners to jail, $1.00; and one of T. Cavanagh, damage to sleigh, $20.00, were referred to the Finance Committee.

The question of extending the time for the return of the collector's roll was also referred to the Finance Committee, and also the application of the executors of late Police Magistrate Hatton, in reference to the arrears of salary.

REPORTS—COURT OF REVISION.

Mr. Sawers, chairman, presented the report of the Court of Revision, recommending that the petitions of Mary Brown and Mary Collins be referred to the Charity Committee, and that those of Mary Whelan, Geo. W. Hall, J. T. Brown, A. P. Morgan, Geo. Brownlee, Edward Connor and Mary Wood be not granted.

Report adopted.

FINANCE.

Mr. Paterson, chairman, presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of the following accounts:

B. Morrow	$38 50
H. Best	4 85
Ormond & Walsh	7.5
T. Montgomery	5 27
Gas Company	20 40
Do.	24 60
Adam Hall	1 78
J. W. Flavelle	7 25

Report adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Mr. Rutherford, chairman, presented the report of the committee, recommending to the Council the advisability of at once taking proper steps to erect in rear of the Fire Hall a suitable place to keep a team of horses, and bed-room for a man. In order to carry out the above recommendations the committee ask for tenders in connection therewith, the cost not to exceed $10. The committee also recommended that the committee be empowered to ascertain, by tender or otherwise, the cost of a man and team suitable for drawing fire engine, watering streets, etc., to be kept employed, and report to the Council before taking further action.

SNOW—TAXES.

A communication from Mr. T. D. Belcher in reference to accumulations of snow placed on Water street was referred to the Street Inspector.

Mr. Denne submitted a receipt showing that Mr. Clotworthy had paid six months taxes on which he was entitled to a rebate.

TELEPHONIC COMMUNICATION.

Mr. Paterson brought up the question of establishing two or more telephones between the centre and outskirts of the town, for use for police or fire purposes, and it was on motion referred to the Finance Committee.

MARKET FEES.

Mr. Paterson also brought up a motion that the Market Committee advertise for tenders for market fees and award the same, which was, after explanations by Mr. Doherty, referred to the Market Committee with power to act.

PLANS OF PARK LOTS.

Mr. Rutherford called attention to the necessity of securing and having registered plans of the several park lots in the town, to facilitate the labors of assessors, and in some cases, in fact, to make it possible for the assessors to satisfactorily perform their duties. He felt sure the cost of procuring the plans would be returned in a more accurate assessment and additional taxes.

On motion of Mr. Denne, seconded by Mr. Sawers, the Clerk was authorized to procure and have registered the required plans of park lots, not to exceed twenty-six.

HIS WORSHIP'S AUDITOR.

Mr. Denne brought up the question of Mr. Stratton, the town auditor appointed by the Mayor, being legally qualified. He directed attention to a clause of the Municipal Act in support of his question, and suggested that being Inspector of Schools he was indirectly under contract to the corporation, and thereby disqualified from acting as auditor, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the question be referred to the town solicitor for his opinion.

Mr. Sawers considered that Mr. Stratton was in no way disqualified from acting as an auditor.

Mr. Rutherford said the motion was too late, as the auditors had nearly completed their labours and would be done before the Council could see the solicitor's opinion.

Mr. Cahill said the Town and School Board were distinct corporations, and had no connection as far as auditors were concerned.

The motion on being put was declared lost, only three voting for it.

On motion the Council adjourned for three weeks.

THE FEAST OF THE FORESTERS.

Court Peterborough Congregates for its Fourth Annual Supper.

A Most Enjoyable Gathering Mine Host Morgan's Splendid Spread The Toasts Songs and Speeches.

On Tuesday evening, March 6th, 1883, Court Peterborough, of the Canadian Order of Foresters, met at Morgan's hotel to discuss their fourth annual supper. The tables were laid in the large new dining hall of the Morgan House, and about 70, including brethren and guests, sat down to the best spread table, both in taste and variety, as well as abundance and quality, that ever gave delectation to the palate of the local Foresters.

THE TOASTS, ETC.

Brother F. J. Jameson, W. C. R., occupied the chair, and Bro. J. Byrne, R. W. H. J. W., filled the vice chair. Apologies were read from Mayor Smith, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, Edg. Pearce, Esq., and others, whose duties prevented them being present. The following programme of toasts was duly gone through with, and speeches in response made as indicated below. We have not space to give a synopsis of the speeches, some of which were well worthy of preservation.

"The Queen,"—Song, "God Save the Queen," Bro. J. Byrne.

"Army, Navy and Volunteers," responded to by Messrs. H. W. Watson and J. Fraser.

"High Court of Canadian Order of Foresters," responded to by Bro. J. Byrne.

"Town Council," responded to by Councillors McNaughton and Rutherford.

"Our Sister Societies," was responded to on behalf of the Oddfellows by Messrs. S. Clegg, Foote and Gunn, and by Mr. T. Hooper on behalf of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

"Canada our Home," was enthusiastically honored, and brought out Messrs. R. C. Wright and J. Fanning.

"Our Mercantile and Manufacturing Industries," brought replies from Messrs. J. Kendry, R. McWhinnie, Harry Long, Geo. Kingdon and A. Comstock.

"The Ladies," brought up several susceptible bachelors in pathetically eloquent speeches, namely: Messrs. Byrne, Clegg, S. Jameson, and S. R. Armstrong, of the Review.

"The Press," was responded to by Messrs. F. J. Jameson, S. R. Armstrong, Review, and the representative of THE EXAMINER.

"Our Host and Hostess," was drunk with great enthusiasm, and acknowledged in a neat speech by Mr. Morgan, this being the third consecutive time he has been required to respond to this toast proposed by the Foresters.

The volunteer toast, "The officers and members of Court Peterborough," was responded to by Messrs. F. J. Jameson, W.C.R., J. Byrne, P.C.R., and R. C. Wright, Secretary.

During the evening songs were given by Messrs. Smith, Gunn, Sabine, Evans, Byrne and T. Hooper, jr.

After singing "God Save the Queen" the company separated, all well pleased with the success of the gathering, which was characterized as the most successful of the series of annual suppers of the Foresters of Peterborough.

PERSONAL.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 8, 1883.

Unhappy Ireland.

The latest advices from this unfortunate country confirm previous reports of the distressed condition of the inhabitants of some of the districts of that distracted land. Owing to the recent storms and heavy rains, out-door labour is brought to a dead-lock. The small farmers have consumed all their crops, with no resources to pay the unrelenting demands of rent, much less to give their families a meal a day of corn meal; and a local authority asserts that unless some kind of relief is started, deaths from famine and destitution will be the result. While their pitiable condition appeals strongly to all classes of Christians in all lands, it is to be regretted that the professed friends of Ireland are setting to work the wrong way to relieve the unjust and grievous system of landlordism, which seems to be so directly responsible for the suffering to which Ireland is chronically subject. For years the world has been accustomed to look upon the Land League as an organization having in view, by legitimate agitation and exertion, the object of a radical change in the system of land tenure and thereby a permanent amelioration of the condition of the Irish people, which would ultimately result in national prosperity for all classes and make a recurrence of the sad starvation eras in the island's history an impossibility. So strongly did the objects of the Land League appeal to the friends of Ireland that liberal donations of funds were forthcoming to assist the League in securing the objects of its organization and existence. Recently, however, the confidence of the friends of the League has received a severe shock. It appears that a discrepancy of something like $500,000 exists in the Land League accounts. That this money should be embezzled or squandered would be no new experience to the friends of Irish liberty, but that the funds should have gone to aid in assassination, as the developments in the trials of the assassins of Lord Cavendish seem to indicate a suspicion of, is indeed a dark spot in the history of Erin's struggle for liberty. If such suspicions are correct, and the funds of the League have furnished comfort and aid to a band of assassins, then has Ireland been again betrayed in the house of her friends. There is little question that Ireland has suffered oppression and injustice from outward foes, but it is almost certain that her worst enemies have been those of her own household. Ireland has suffered no end of wrong and misery from the indiscreet impetuosity of her own sons. At every point the informer and traitor has turned up, and he has proven to be no foreign hireling, but some degenerate son of Ireland. The revelations of treachery of the last two or three years must bring forcibly to the mind of the Irish people the conclusion that until Irishmen become united, and with a common mind and common aim seek the attainment of the desired end, their efforts will be in vain. As it is, their spasmodic and ill-judged attempts at seeking justice are only the conflict of cross purposes. Gladstone is the statesman of the century that would give real redress of Irish grievances, but the very people for whom he is using his efforts, thwart his aims, and by some ill-judged outbreak, like the Phœnix Park horror, force the British Government to lend its attention to the punishment of crime instead of the removal of grievance and the redress of wrong.

At present there are five judges in England over 70—Vice-Chancellor Bacon, 84; Mr. Justice Manisty, 74; Mr. Justice Phillimore, 73; Mr. Justice Grove, 71; and Lord Chancellor Selborne, a little over 70. The late Lord Chancellors St. Leonards and Campbell presided over the Courts of Chancery in admirable mental vigor at the ages respectively of 80 and 79, and the Irish Lord Chancellor Plunkett at 74, and Lord Chief Justice Lefroy at 91. The two youngest judges in England now are Judges Cave and Bowen, 48 and 47 respectively.

Notes of the Day.

The United States census returns give some curious facts. For instance, in the matter of ages there are 1,240,000 under the age of 1 year, while of those of the age of 21 years there are less than a million, and there are nearly three times as many persons over 80 years of age as there are of 70 years of age.

The statement of expenditure on account of the Canadian Pacific Railway from July 1st, 1882, to the present time, as laid on the table of the House last Wednesday, shows a total of $20,486.12. Many items in the list are, to say the least, very extravagant, and such contracts were, of course, awarded to Government favorites.

Oscar Wilde may be erratic and "queer" but there is a good deal of solid stuff in his composition. While he was in America he made a large amount of money, by playing the fool to a nation of fools, but it may be put down greatly to his credit that on his return to England his first act was to place half the money he had made on this side of the Atlantic into his mother's hands. If Oscar was or is a fool, there is a noble method in his madness.

The present time finds the Queen of Great Britain sovereign over a continent, one hundred peninsulas, five hundred promontories, one thousand lakes, one thousand islands, and two thousand rivers. There are at her command if required, an army of five hundred thousand, and at her orders one thousand ships of war, manned by a hundred thousand sailors, plough the waves of of every sea. Two hundred and forty millions of people own her sovereignity, and no nation was ever equal in any respect to the empire which owns her mistress.

The works at Sangatte, near Calais, in connection with the channel tunnel heading continue to make very satisfactory progress. There was a breakdown with the machinery recently, which caused a delay for a few days, but the average daily advance of about eleven yards is being again maintained. The total length of the heading is now understood to be rather more than three quarters of a mile. The strata through which the boring is passing continues favorable to work, and but little water is encountered. A considerable number of Italian workmen are employed.

The proposed enlargement of the Suez Canal now occupies the attention of English speculators, and there are many large schemes proposed upon the calculation that the interests of British enterprise will in the end be promoted. The general width of the waterway is a little over 300 feet, and one suggestion is that another hundred feet should be added But against this it is reasoned that the heaps of sand formerly taken out would have to be removed, and it is a debatable question whether it would not be a less expensive design to dig another and independent ditch. It is pointed out that the present canal would greatly facilitate the introduction of another, reducing the outlay in a number of ways.

It is common to give the Yankees the reputation of being a beer drinking people, yet it would appear that they haven't a bad mouth for whiskey, for they make a pretty fair showing of their ability as consumers of the more potent beverage. During the last fiscal year they disposed of 44,131,622 gallons of that fluid, in addition to 2,796,483 gallons of imported spirits. The country likewise swallowed without a wink 25,628,071 gallons of wine; and as for beer it took 527,051,236 gallons to satisfy their thirst. The amount of water consumed is not mentioned, the amount being probably to small to be worth mentioning. That the Yankees should swallow so many millions of gallons of whiskey of the average villainous quality of the American article, speaks volumes in favor of their intemperance principles.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

In the annual report of the Minister of Railways and Canals for 1882 we find in reference to the above projected enterprise the following report of Mr. T. S. Rubidge, Engineer-in-charge:—

"This work, as originally projected in 1835, extends from the Bay of Quinte on Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay, Lake Huron; and in its course of over 200 miles skirts or intersects portions of the counties of Hastings, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria, Ontario, Simcoe and Muskoka.

A preliminary survey and examination of the rivers and lakes lying along the main line of water communication as recommended by Mr. N. H. Baird, C. E., in 1833-35, was commenced last year, under the appropriation voted by Parliament in the session of 1881, and definite information obtained as to the alleged advantages which the new lines from time suggested would present over the original scheme of Mr. Baird, vide my Progress Report to the Honorable the Minister, which I beg to append hereto.

Location surveys were commenced in the month of August last at Lakefield, and they are now being continued south towards Percy Landing via Hastings, and location surveys were at the same time commenced at Balsam Lake, the summit, and continued north by the valley of the Talbot River to Lake Simcoe, and from thence via Lake Couchiching a survey is now in progress to Matchidash Bay on the overland route examined in 1881. An exploratory survey of the northern lakes and tributaries, as connected with the question of future water supply, has been commenced.

TRENT NAVIGATION.

During the last session of Parliament it was decided by the Government that, pending the completion of the surveys, an early commencement of the work of construction would be desirable; and, inasmuch as the information obtained during the preliminary examinations of last season was considered sufficiently comprehensive and accurate to warrant the opinion that the main line of water communication recommended by Mr. Baird was the most practicable, an appropriation was accordingly voted during the session towards the construction of the Burleigh, the Buckhorn, and the Fenelon Falls Canals, all of which works are situated on the main line above mentioned, and are also links in the chain of lakes (known as the Back Lakes) and necessary to render their navigation continuous. The preliminary surveys at these points were only commenced in May last, and although rapidly completed the various works were with much difficulty located by the 10th August, the time named in the advertisement for exhibiting the plans, &c.

The tenders were received by the Department up to the 24th August, and the contracts were subsequently awarded as under, viz:

Burleigh Canal—George Goodwin, contractor, of Grenville, P.Q., 27th September, 1882; to be completed 1st of July, 1885.

Buckhorn Canal—George Goodwin, contractor, of Grenville, P.Q., 27th September, 1882; to be completed 1st September, 1884.

Fenelon Falls Canal—A. F. Manning & Co., contractors, Toronto, 14th October, 1882; to be completed 1st July, 1885.

The land valuators were appointed 7th October, and have since fully entered upon their duties.

Work was commenced at Fenelon Falls on the 16th October.

In connection with the canalization of the back lakes the department has taken preliminary steps to expropriate the Lakefield dam, situated at the head of the Otonabee river, and by means of which the level of Lake Katchiwannoe, or the reach next below Youngs' Point lock, is regulated and the navigation to Lakefield maintained.

The works of construction (on the back lakes) now under contract may be thus briefly described.

BURLEIGH CANAL.

This canal, the first in the new series, is situated in the county of Peterborough, on the southern limits of the Laurentian formation, and in a comparatively unsettled part of the country. The works extend over a distance of about two and a quarter miles, i.e., from Deer Bay to Stony Lake, including the Burleigh River and Lovesick Lake and Rapids, and are designed by means of locks and dams to create slack water between those points, and thereby complete the navigation downwards via the existing lock at Young's Point to the village of Lakefield, and upward through Deer Bay Lake to Buckhorn Rapids, the site of the next works in ascending order.

BUCKHORN CANAL.

As at Burleigh, these works are also situated in the county of Peterborough, on the southern limits of the Laurentian formation, and on the north side of Buckhorn Rapids, in the settlement known as Hall's Mills, and extend over a distance of about a quarter of a mile, connecting Deer Bay with the waters of Buckhorn, Pigeon and Mud Lakes, and by means of the locks at Bobcaygeon and Lindsay with Sturgeon and Scugog lakes, and the proposed works at Fenelon Falls, the last in ascending order.

FENELON FALLS CANAL.

This canal, the last in the new series, is located on the north side of the Fenelon river, near the centre of the village of Fenelon Falls, in the county of Victoria, and extends over a distance of about one-third of a mile, connecting Sturgeon Lake with Cameron's Lake, and by means of the existing lock at Rosedale with Balsam Lake and the village of Coboconk, on Gull River.

The works consist of the excavation of the lock pits and canal, chiefly through stratified limestone rock, the masonry and foundations of two locks, the formation of approaches thereto, the construction of landing piers at the lower, and of a rock wing dam at the upper, entrances; widening and strengthening the existing mill dams with rock from the excavation, and building the requisite piers, &c., for swing bridges at the central span of the Victoria Railway Bridge, and also at the upper lock on line of Colborne street.

The general dimension of the new lock are: length between hollow quoins, 134 feet; width between chamber walls on floor, 33 feet; depth on mitre sills—lowest water, 5 feet.

The existing structures to be utilized hereafter in completing the Back Lake navigation, comprise:—

1. The Lakefield dam.
2. A lock and dam at Young's Point.
3. The Buckhorn dam.
4. A lock and two dams at Bobcaygeon.
5. A lock and dam at Lindsay.
6. The Fenelon Falls dam.
7. A lock and dam at Rosedale (Balsam River).

The general dimensions of the locks approximate closely to those adopted for the new works.

The locks at Young's Point, Lindsay and Rosedale were constructed by, and are under the control of, the Provincial Government."

The following remarks from the report of Mr. T. D. Belcher, superintending engineer, will also be read with interest:—

"The water on the several navigable stretches composing this inland navigation from July 1st to close of navigation, could not be maintained at its standard level, viz: 5 feet on the lock sills, owing in a great measure to the irregular manner in which the supply on the main feeder was regulated. The reservoir dams, (which are of too limited dimensions) of these feeders were erected partly by the lumberers of the district and partly by the Ontario Government, and are therefore chiefly used to facilitate the descent of timber, and consequently the water is run off the reservoirs at a period not in accord with the requirements of the demand on the main line of navigation. This I venture to bring to the notice of the Hon. the Minister, especially at this time, when the improvements of this inland navigation are being prosecuted:

Navigation closed on November 25th and opened March 15th.

The traffic through the locks was carried on unceasingly. The total number lockages was 1,819, the greatest at a single lock being 1,427."

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. Thery did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. McCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any persons in the country. We have a large sale, and they are making remarkable cures. W. H. BISHOP & CO. 10-2t

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

ORR, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth,—the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

THE FLOWER CITY EURORE.

THE COMMOTION CAUSED BY THE STATEMENT OF A PHYSICIAN.

An unusual article from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, was published in this paper recently and has been the subject of much conversation both in professional circles and on the street. Apparently it caused more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows :

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well known not only in Rochester, but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper, a few days since which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal enquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed an editorial necessity.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion, at his residence on St. Paul street, when the following interview occurred : "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued such as you can sustain ?"

"Every one of them and many additional ones. Few people ever get so near the grave as I did and then return, and I am not surprised that the public think it marvellous. It was marvellous."

"How in the world did you, a physician, to be brought so low ?"

"By neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches ; felt tired most of the time ; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next ; felt dull indefinite pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious."

"But have these common ailments anything to do with the fearful Bright's disease which took so firm a hold on you ?"

"Anything ? Why, they are the sure indications of the first stages of that dreadful malady. The fact is, few people know or realize what ails them, and I am sorry to say that too few physicians do either."

"That is a strange statement, Doctor."

"But it is a true one. The medical profession have been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time to cease. We doctors have been clipping off the twigs when we should strike at the root. The symptions I have just mentioned or any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of Bright's disease even more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not treat the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, stomach, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of the most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it doctor ?"

"Precisely. Thousands of so-called diseases are torturing people to-day, when in reality it is Bright's disease in some one of its many forms. It is a Hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first."

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy—Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also. Why there are no end to truths bearing on this subject. If you want to know more about it go and see Mr. Warner himself. He was sick the same as I, and is the healthiest man in Rochester to-day. He has made a study of this subject and can give you more facts than I can. Go, too, and see Dr. Lattimore, the chemist, at the University. If you want facts there are any quantity of them showing the alarming increase of Bright's disease, its simple and deceptive symptoms, and that there is but one way by which it can be escaped."

Fully satisfied of the truth and force of the Doctor's words, the reporter bade him good day and called on Mr. Warner at his establishment on Exchange street. At first Mr. Warner was inclined to be reticent, but learned that the information desired was about the alarming increase of Bright's disease, his manner changed instantly and he spoke very earnestly :

"It is true that Bright's disease has increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable satistics, that in the past ten years its growth has been 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men if has carried off : Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Carpenter, Bishop Haven and others This is terrible, and shows a greater growth than that of any other known complaint. It should be plain to every one that something must be done to check this increase or there is no knowing where it may end."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it. Mr. Warner ?'

"Hundreds of thousands. I have a striking example of this truth which has just come to my notice. A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis, and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. In order to show the contrast between healthy and unhealthy fluids, he had provided a vial the contents of which were drawn from his own person. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unhealthy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed his color and command both left him, and in a trembling voice he said : 'Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery ; I have Bright's disease of the kidneys,' and in less than a year he was dead."

"You believe then that it has no symptoms of its own and is frequently unknown even by the person who is afflicted with it ?"

"It has no symptoms of its own and very often none at all. Usually no two people have the same symptoms, and frequently death is the first symptom. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one. I know what I am talking about for I have been through all the stages of kidney disease."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case ?"

"Yes, I have both read and heard of it."

"It is very wonderful, is it not ?"

"A very prominent case but no more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured ?"

"I known it can. I know it from the experience of hundreds of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience, what was it ?"

"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saying : 'there goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have true if I had not fortunately secured and used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure."

"And this caused you to manufacture it ?"

"No it caused me to investigate. I went to the principal cities, saw physicians prescribing and using it and I therefore determiad, as a duty I owed humanity and the sufferinv, to bring it within their reach and now it is known in every part of America, is sold in every drug store and has become a household necessity."

The reporter left Mr. Warner, much impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of his statements and next paid a visit to Dr. S. A. Lattimore at his residence on Prince street. Dr Lattimo e, although engaged upon some matters connected with the State Board of health, of which he is one of the analysts, courteously answered the questions that were propounded him :

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor ?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did this analysis show you ?"

"The presence of albumen and tube casts in great abundance."

"And what did the symptoms indicate ?"

"A serious disease of the kidneys."

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover ?"

"No ,sir, I did not think it possible. It was seldom, indeed, that so pronounced a case had, up to that time, ever been cured."

"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him ?"

"Yes, I have chemically analyzed it and upon critical examination, find it entirely free from any poisonous or deleterious substances."

We publish foregoing statements in view of the commotion which the publicity of Dr. Henion's article has caused and to meet the protestations which have been made. The standing of Mr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question and the statements they make, cannot for a moment be doubted. They conclusively show that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, alarmingly increasing and that it can be cured.

JIM ELLIOTT MURDERED.

THE NOTORIOUS PUGILIST KILLED IN A CHICAGO BAR-ROOM.

Last Thursday night James Elliott, the pugilist, who fought Johnny Dwyer at Long Point, Ontario, and Jere Dunn, a well known sporting man, met at Wm. Langdan's saloon, and began shooting. Elliott being killed. Dunn was wounded in two places. The accounts of the meeting vary. One account says Elliott attacked Dunn with a chair, Dunn meantime using a revolver. Dunn and his friends say he was not aware of Elliott's presence in the saloon till Elliott fired a shot, passing under the scalp of another and through the left forearm of Dunn, who then drew a revolver and joined in the fusilade. A crowd of twenty-five persons were in the place and made a hasty exit. Dunn has been arrested. Elliott died en route to the hospital, the fatal shot being in the stomach. Dunn is a partner of McKee Rankin in a breeding farm on an island in the Detroit river.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

FEBRUARY 27th, 1883.

The Speaker took the chair at three o'clock.

THE NEW LOAN.

On motion of Sir Leonard Tilley, the bill to authorize the raising by way of loan of certain sums of money required for the public service was read the second time and passed through committee.

FISHERY CLAUSES OF THE WASHINGTON TREATY.

Mr. Mitchell asked whether any correspondence had passed of which the Government have any intimation between the Government of the United States and the British Minister at Washington, or between the Government of the United States and the British Government, in relation to a notice of termination of the fishery clauses of the Washington Treaty or having any bearing thereon ?

Mr. McLelan said the British Minister at Washington had from time to time forwarded to the Government copies of any resolutions or proceedings in Congress respecting the fishery clauses of the Washington Treaty.

HYDROGRAPHICAL SURVEY.

Mr. Fortin moved for correspondence in relation to the hydrographical survey of the Great Lakes, the River and Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the other maritime coasts of Canada.

Mr. Dawson said it was very necessary that a new hydrographical survey should be made of the great lakes as many shoals had been discovered within some years past.

Mr. McClelan admitted the great importance of making the charts perfect. The mover of this resolution had made many important suggestions to the Government, which they had carried out. They were in communication with a hydrographical officer in relation to the subject.

The motion was carried.

The House adjourned at 4.15 p. m.

February 28th, 1883.

The Speaker took the chair at three o'clock.

The Speaker announced that he had received the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada in the Queen's, P. E. I., contested election, awarding the seat to Mr. Breckin.

Mr. Breckin took his seat.

Several returns were ordered.

Mr. Cameron, (Huron) moved the second reading of the bill to provide that persons charged with misdemeanour shall be competent as witnesses, explaining that it was a copy of his bill of last year.

The bill was read the second time and referred to a committee.

Sir John Macdonald moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Act respecting procedure in criminal cases, and other matters relating to criminal law.

The bill was read the second time and referred to the same Committee.

Mr. Cameron (Huron) moved the second reading of the bill to amend the criminal law and to extend the provisions of the Act respecting offences against the person.

The bill was read the second time.

The following private bills were read the second time :

Mr. Wells To amend an Act to incorporate the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company.

Mr. Dawson —To incorporate the Bank of London in Canada.

The House adjourned at 4.30 p.m.

Thursday.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Cameron submitted his motion, of which he had given notice, regarding the double return for King's county, Prince Edward Island. He made a lond speech in support of his motion, which was to amend the return by deblaring Mr. Robertson elected.

Sir John Macdonald moved the adjournment of the debate. There was no objection to the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Casgrain's bill directed against frauds in contracts and contract-broking then came up. No objection was raised to the bill by Sir John Macdonald, but he let it pass only on the understanding that it should be referred to a special committee. The bill was passed a second reading.

Mr. Royal in moving for papers relating to the duties on lumber into Manitoba, called attention to the duty of 20 per cent. an rough and 25 per cent. on dressed lumber which, he claimed amounted to $8 per thousand. He believed in protection, but so far as the North West lumber trade was concerned there was nothing to protect. The tax on cord wood having been removed, he thought the tax on lumber should follow.

The Minister of Customs, while not opposing the return, thought the question of removing the duties could be much better discussed after the papers were brought down. He pointed out that the logs were admitted free, and, as a matter of fact, he understood that a large quantity of logs were floated down the Red River from Minnesota and manufactured in Winnipeg. The country through which the C. P. R. would pass east of Prince Arthur's Landing would afford a large quantity of lumber, and there might soon be enough to supply the demand.

A good deal of discussion was aroused on the subject of Ger. man immigration by two motions of Mr. Kranz, Waterloo. He wanted returns, 1st, regarding direct steamship communication between Canada and Germany, and, 2nd, the naturalization of aliens.

The house was adjourned.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 8, 1883.

East Peterborough.

The result of the recent contest in East Peterborough and the triumphant re-election of Mr. Blezard by such a magnificent majority is a most pleasing surprise. Of his re-election there was at no time the least doubt, but it was not expected that his majority would actually, exactly treble his majority in 1879, and that, too, in face of a majority of over 250 for Mr. Burnham. No stronger nor more emphatic endorsation of Mr. Blezard's course could have been given. The result is due to Mr. Blezard's excellent record as a representative and to the excellent organization of forces that prevailed amongst the Reformers of the East Riding. Every part of the Riding did well, some particularly so. We congratulate Mr. Blezard, congratulate the electors, and in fact congratulate everybody concerned, for "twas a glorious victory." The West Riding also made a most creditable fight. If Mr. Campbell had come into the field earlier his chances of success would have been much greater. As it was his opponent had the important advantage of a long period of personal canvassing, carried on with such energy that the distinctions of color were forgotten in the ardor of its pursuit. Mr. Campbell under the circumstances made a most successful run, and though he comes out of the contest unsuccessful, he comes out of it with on unblemished reputation in his maiden venture in the field of politics.

Shameless Interference.

That the army of Government officials throughout the province were arrayed against the people of Ontario goes without saying. It was a shameful abuse of power and patronage. But the culminating outrage is the open manner in which Ministers entered the lists against Ontario. The campaign was directed from Ottawa by Sir John in person, and the Ottawa district was under his personal oversight, and the district this side of that, the eastern central, was in charge of the Minister of Customs. Hon. John Costigan had charge of the west central division, and we all know what was the result of his little Sunday incursion in West Peterborough, with his little hand bag, that was not warranted to hold only a couple of clean collars; and Hon. John Carling undertook the bull-dozing of the western part of the Province. Besides individual members of Parliament swarmed down upon the ridings in such numbers, that there were hardly enough left to form a quorum in the House. Such shameless prostitution and abuse of power to secure a party triumph and to rivet more closely the chains of centralization at Ottawa, deserves the rebuke of every right thinking and honest elector of Ontario. If this thing is allowed to go on, home rule in Ontario will not be worth a straw. Sir John has tried to destroy its effect by disallowing our legislation, but this glaring interference in our election contest is an attempt to rob the electors of the exercise of their voice in the election of their representatives. During the past month the Dominion Government has inflicted the severest blow upon Confederation it has ever experienced.

THOSE Tory organs who insisted that the N. P, was an issue in the provincial elections must now admit that they were talking mere nonsense, or that Ontario has condemned the N.P. They may take their choice.

EAST PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. Blezard's Majority 390.

The following are the official returns of the ballots cast in the election in East Peterborough. The delay is owing to a Deputy Returning officer in Douro not having sent in his returns promptly:—

Majority for Blezard, 390.

For a low priced Tweed double and twisted warp, suitable for boy's wear, try Turnbull's.

The Mowat Government.

Mail and other Opposition organs have been making desperate and somewhat dishonest attempts to show that Mr. Mowat was defeated. The first day after the elections the organ generously conceded a majority of five. The next issue it was increased to nine, but the day following it dropped to seven, and the latest advices fail to show what majority the generosity of the Mail intends allowing Mr. Mowat. Let us examine the returns for ourselves. In 86 constituencies (leaving out Algoma and Muskoka and Parry Sound, where elections have not yet been held) there have been returned 48 Ministerialists, 35 Oppositionists—leaving a clear majority for the Mowat Government of 13 and two independents, Lees and Hart. The former is pledged to support Mr. Mowat on the Boundary Award and Streams Bill questions, and the latter is pledged not to oppose the Administration. The two ridings above referred to both returned Reformers to the last legislature Muskoka at the by-election in October by a majority of 500. If both of them return Reformers at the pending elections, Mr. Mowat will have a certain majority of 15. If they both go Tory and both independents go into Opposition—a most improbable supposition—the Government will have a majority of 9. If both ridings go Reform his majority will be 15, and if the independents remain true to their promises the Government will have a majority support of 17. In any event the Government is sustained, and our Tory friends, who have yearned for the soft retreat of the Treasury benches, are doomed to disappointment.

Taxing Knowledge.

The Senate of Queen's College have petitioned the Dominion Parliament to remove the tax on books. That such a petition should be necessary in an enlightened and progressive country like Canada is not only an anomoly, but little short of a disgrace. But the Dominion Government are under the fell influence of the taxing mania, and very little escapes. In the interests of gossips the tax has been removed from tea, presumably on the ground that as tea is not a product of this country and it is unjust to increase the burden of the consumer by a tax that cannot be protective. On the same principle the tax should be removed from books, the Copyright Act affording sufficient protection. The population of Canada is too small to attempt by taxation to make Canada publish her own books, and by the same means to make the people buy them. The attempts at publication in this country have hitherto been of the most modest character, and even these have not been sufficiently successful to make the business encouraging. Beyond the most rudimentary of our educational books and these are protected by Departmental authorization all are of necessity imported, and under the most favorable conditions these are dear, and their possession means a burden to every student and literary man. But, when the cost is added to by a tax of fifteen per cent, the last straw is strongly suggested. The addition to the revenue of the country from the tax on knowledge is so insignificant that there is no reason why the duty should not be abolished. The revenue derived from the impost on books in 1882 (and they included blank books, periodicals, etc., was only the paltry sum of about ninety thousand dollars—a sum which, however, represents many a pinch and economy by hundreds of poor students. On every ground the impost is indefensible. The addition to the revenue is trifling; the difficulties of the struggling student and literary man are immensely augmented. The duty has not even the excuse of being protective, for from the nature of things, the books Canadians most need to import, cannot be produced in this country at present, and not for many years to come. The duty should be abolished.

Editorial Notes.

IN the provincial elections the Reformers nominated eight Roman Catholic candidates, and of these five are now members elect.

MR. BLEZARD'S total majority in the East Riding mounts up to the magnificent figures of 390. If Mr. Meredith had made another visit it would have been 400.

NOW that the Ontario elections are over an application appears among the papers presented to the Dominion Parliament for the incorporation of the Loyal Orange Association of British America.

MR. CARNEGIE'S official majority in West Peterborough is, as our returns stated, 86. If it hadn't been for Lakefield and Hon. John Costigan's little Sunday trip, he would surely have been left.

AFTER the desperate but futile struggle that has just closed, the Conservatives may conclude that they cannot capture Ontario. Never in the political history of any country was there such a determined, united, unscrupulous attempt to secure a political verdict as the joint struggle of the Dominion Government and local Opposition made during the late elections, to oust the Mowat Administration.

THE Mail and other organs may attempt to tickle the Conservatives with howling heroics about the great "moral victory" of the recent provincial elections. But they will not be comforted. The Tory politicians don't care a cent for moral victories. They expected to get office and spoils, and so long as the "usurping Grit's" enjoy the grip of office, "moral victories" lose all their sweetness.

THE redemption of the riding of Welland by Col. Morin is one of the greatest victories in the elections. He carried the constituency against the immense Government influence exercised by an army of canal officials, and the cordon of customs officials along the international boundary line. The Colonel gave the command, "Right, wheel into line!" and the electors performed the movement splendidly, and now Welland is solid, and has good reason to be proud of its capable, respected and honourable and honoured representative.

Races.

As we go to press the ice races on Little Lake are going on. In spite of the bitter cold there is great interest manifested. Sporting men and trotting horses from the neighbouring towns are present at the meeting.

Wednesday's Storm.

One of the severest snow storms of the season took place on Wednesday. The country roads are blocked so as to be almost impassable. On Wednesday no trains on the Midland except one due the day before, have arrived. The Grand Junction train put out in the morning but became snow-bound three miles east of town.

Episcopal Fraternizing.

On Tuesday an episcopal party, composed of Rt. Rev. Bishop Cleary, Kingston; Bishop Mahoney, Toronto; and Vicars-General Laurent and Rooney, Toronto, arrived in town and were the guests of His Lordship, Rt. Rev. Bishop Jamot. The occasion is one of those frequently recurring occasions on which the church dignitaries meet to consider matters of ecclesiastical polity, and the present occasion was rendered doubly interesting by its being the tenth anniversary of the consecration to the episcopal office of Rt. Rev. Bishop Jamot.

Inhospitably Received.

Mr. H. Calcutt complains to us, and not without reason, respecting his inhospitable reception near town on his return from Manitoba. He had come the 1,500 miles between here and Manitoba as smoothly as possible, but when almost in sight of town he was stopped by a drift on the Midland on Tuesday night. Being too old a mariner to be stuck by trifles, the commodore rigged a jury train in the form of a wood sleigh and arrived safely in port at home. Peterborough, according to his experience, in the way of blizzards out-Manitobas Manitoba.

Amos Hudgin, Toronto, writes: "I have been a sufferer from Dyspepsia for the past six years. All the remedies I tried proved useless, until Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery was brought under my notice. I have used two bottles with the best results, and can with confidence recommend it to those afflicted in like manner."

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Regular Monthly Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Board was held on Tuesday night. Present—Messrs. Stevenson, chairman, Stratton, Burnham, Kendry, Robinson, Denne, Rutherford and Dumble. Messrs. the Inspector, Headmaster, Braden, Campbell, and other educationists were present.

EXPLANATORY.

After routine,

Mr. Stevenson, chairman, stated that he and Mr. Dumble had waited on Mr. Dixon, headmaster of the Collegiate Institute, and in conformity with his wishes they had employed another teacher, Mr. O'Connor, of Owen Sound, who was highly recommended, and he (Mr. S.) believed that he was a capable and competent teacher and a worthy successor to Mr. Dixon.

Mr. Stevenson said that the town already owed the Board $4,500, on which the Board were paying interest at considerable loss.

In answer to Mr. Rutherford, the chairman stated that Mr. O'Connor was engaged at the same salary as Mr. Dixon, Mr. O'Connor had refused to make a shorter engagement than six months.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the trustees of school section No. 11 Douro, enclosing a bill of $10.75, fees for town pupils attending that school.

The report of the attendance for February at the different schools was read as follows:

	On Roll.	Av. Attend.
Central School	598	501
South Ward School	215	183
West Ward School	149	120
Total	962	804

Mr. J. Braden, Headmaster of the Public School, sent in a communication complaining of the insubordination of a teacher of one of the schools, which led to serious trouble and derangement, and asked the Board to appoint a committee to consider the matter.

BOOKS AND BOOKSELLERS.

Mr. Rutherford called attention to the changes in text books in the Public and High Schools. He said the changes were legion and vexatious to parents as well as booksellers.

SCHOOL SUPERVISION.

Mr. Burnham, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on School Supervision, which reported that they had considered tenders for school supplies, and recommended that the tender of A. L. Davis & Co. be accepted, their tender being the most favorable, and recommending that the chairman buy the ink, and that the application for a change of copy books be granted.

[The sample of the copy books submitted were a vast improvement over anything of the kind now in use.]—Reporter.

Report adopted.

FEES.

Mr. Rutherford asked why the committee in reference to the matter of fees had not reported, and Mr. Dumble replied that there was certain information required which the committee had not come into possession of till to-night.

MR. BRADEN'S COMMUNICATION.

On motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Burnham, the communication of Mr. Braden was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Dumble, Sproule, Rutherford, Denne, Cox and Stevenson, to examine into and report to the Board as soon as convenient.

ENDORSATION.

On motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Dr. Burnham, the action of the chairman of the Board and Mr. Dumble in procuring a Principal for the Collegiate Institute in place of Mr. Dixon, who has resigned owing to ill health, was approved.

For Ducks, Denims, and Cottinades a good selection of patterns, go to Turnbull's.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual Missionary meeting of the Presbyterian Church was held on Tuesday 27th of last month. Stirring addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Andrews and Tozeland of Keene, and Rev. Mr. Torrance of Peterborough. A collection was taken up at the close of the meeting amounting to $42.

The Presbyterian congregation are agitating the building of a new church, on account of the old one being too small.

On Thursday evening of last week the Keene Brass Band and a number of others went to the residence of Thomas Blezard, M. P. P., and serenaded him, the band thus at once auspiciously making its debut and honoring Mr. Blezard. After they had rendered a piece or two, Mr. Blezard came to the door and told them to come in, for they were all welcome. After they had played a few more pieces Mr. Blezard delivered a few remarks, as follows: He said he was taken completely by surprise, as he did not expect anything to to take place like the present on account of being isolated from town or village. He said that although there were those present who took a different view from what he did in regard to politics, still he did not think he had any enemies. He thanked them for the honor they had conferred upon him, and a few other well timed remarks. The company separated after having done full justice to the exellent and abundant refreshment provided and having spent a pleasant evening together.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES. Although February did not average so low as January, less 3½ degrees, still on the whole it has kept up the good old proverb of Febuary, fill the dike either with black or white. Only 8 times did the thermometer drop below zero, the lowest of which was on the morning of the 10th when it stood 24 degrees below zero: 45 was the highest reached on the evening of the 16th, making a total average for the month of 14 degrees above; while Febuary of 1882 averaged 21½ degrees. Snow fell on 16 days, to the depth of 13 inches, and rain fell on 3 days to the depth of 1 46-100 of an inch. Although comparitively speaking, it fell a good deal for what is always considered our hardest month, still, owing to the depth of snow and quick change to cold, the rain made little change on our water supply. In Feb. of 1882, snow fell on 7 days to the depth of 7 inches and rain on 6 days to the depth 2 75-100 inches, being about half the snow and double the quantity of rain of 1883 but if Wiggins' and Vennor's foreshadowing come come true, our next report will be wind and water instead of snow and frost.

M. Sheehan, of Oscoda, Mich., writes; I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil on horses for different diseases, and found it to be just as you recommend. It has done justice to me every time, and it is the best oil for horses I ever used.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

FIRE.

About 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon some of those living in the neighborhood noticed a blaze in the roof of a house in Regent Street, belonging to Mr. P. Baptie and occupied by Mr. F. Tait, and sounded the fire alarm of the St. John's Church bell. Before the villagers arrived the roof was in flames and it was thought by some that it would be impossible to save the building, therefore the furniture was removed as quickly as possible. During this time a large number were at work carrying water from the adjoining wells and dashing it on the flames. By this means and by the assistance rendered by two small hand engines the fire was extinguished before the building was completely destroyed. It is supposed to have originated from a defective chimney. On going through the building it was found that the floor and walls of the upper story as well as the roof were almost completely destroyed. The building was partially insured. Mr. Tait's loss is covered by insurance.

ACCIDENT.

A short time since Mr. John Leinster of the Township of Smith had his leg broken while working at one of Ulyott and Saddlers shanties. While crossing a marsh his horses became mired and in trying to get them out the accident occurred. He managed to get on one of the horses and rode to the shanty from which he was removed to his home as quickly as possible and a surgeon called who attended to the fractured limb.

CORRECTION.

An error crept unto the communication of Mr. Andrew Wilson in last week's EXAMINER, in reference to "Lakefield School supplies". In the second sentence the reading should be "no stipulation" instead a "stipulation." It will be noted that the error which was not in the manuscript changes the sense completely.—ED. EXAMINER.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, consumption, Weak Kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or who ever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald's

The central idea in treating disease is to maintain the nutrition of the body. When the balance of gain and loss is preserved, the machinery of the organism runs until worn out by time. Impairment of health, no matter what the cause, results from failure of the source of vital force, the food supdly. What we are after, to get well, is to make up the deficiency and fill the gaps made by disease. It is obvious, then, that you want WHEELER'S PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA in all forms of debility, to supply elements embodying the potential energy of the nervous system, and essential agents of the gastric juice.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

THE DARLING LITTLE DEVOTEE.

Her gaudy little hat perched high
Above her bangs and frizzes;
There was a sparkle in her eye
Like champagne when it fizzes.

Her ribbons gayly fluttered while
Her silks made a loud rustle.
Her fur-lined cloak was in the style
As also was her bustle.

Her dainty kids were buttoned tight.
E'en to her elbows dimpled;
Her perfumed 'kerchief snowy white.
All lace, was sweetly crimpled.

And, oh, her tiny feet peeped out
Like timid mice enhancing
The charm that circled her about
With splendour too entrancing.

"Where are you going, pretty maid?"
I spoke as she wrs fleeting;
"Oh, I am going, sir," she said,
"Unto our prayer meeting."

Farm, Garden and Household.

Getting Ready for Eggs.

Now is the time to begin to feed the hens to get eggs. They want to be fed grain of some sort early in the morning, and also a mess of carrots and beets cut fine, and plenty of water. Keep coal ashes and cinders, charred oyster shells and gravel on hand for them. Give them a second feeding of grain in the afternoon.

Hot Water and the Complexion.

A lady writes: "You say the girls who want to have good complexions should wash their faces with almost boiling water. Not only girls should do this but women who do not want to have wrinkles. I am above fifty and I have not a wrinkle. This is due to my having washed my face night and morning with very hot water. The water tightens the skin and prevents it from wrinkling."

Salting Pork Without Brine.

There is not the least difficulty in salting hams and shoulders without putting them in brine, excepting that it is more laborious. The meat is well rubbed with a mixture of 10 pounds of salt, four pounds of brown sugar and four ounces of saltpetre, well mixed. The rubbing should be done every second day and the meat should be kept with the flesh side upwards. It may be kept in tubs or on a bench for three weeks when it will be ready for smoking. The above quantities are only for the proportions of the various ingredients. Enough should be used to thoroughly salt the meat. The above would be sufficient for 100 pounds of meat. More salt is required for dry salting than for pickling in brine.

Drainage.

A writer on drainage says: In a porous soil, the deeper the drain is laid, the farther it will draw; but clay soils cannot be thoroughly drained unless the drains are within twenty or thirty feet of each other, however deep they may be laid; and in any case, the further the water has to pass through the soil to reach the drain, the longer will it be in doing so. In regard to the depth of drains, three feet is the least that should ever be admitted, and no man that has ever tried three and a half or four feet will ever stop at less without a feeling of self-reproach. But in some cases the depth must necessarily be governed by the amount of fall. The first point to ascertian is the lowest point at which an outlet can be secured without risk of backwater by the rising of the stream or pond into which it empties, for it is obvious that the grade of all the drains must be dependent on this, and the folly of attempting to arrange any portion till this is established is plain.

Feeding Hens in Winter.

In feeding hens for eggs I have come to use only butchers' bones for a meat diet. I have learned from experience that they are far superior to clear meat for making eggs. I break them on a rock and pound the meat so the hens can pull pieces. I give for green food Russia turnips chopped fine. For warm feed in the morning, I give meal and middlings in equal parts, wet up with boiling wacr For dry feed I keep corn and wheat in their rack all the time. I keep water by them constantly, and also oyster shells and gravel. Once a week I mix fine salt in the meal before wetting. Twice a week I sift in a little cayenne pepper. Last year I wintered seventy-two hens, and they paid me $225 more than the cost of their food, counting the pullets I now have at 50 cents each. I have built a new hennery and am keeping 150 hens. I did not begin to feed for eggs till late, as I did not get the hennery done until December, but I am getting five dozen eggs daily, worth two dollars, while feed costs about 50 cents. My hens are leghorns, crossed with different sorts, and they are of all colors.

Starting Small and Delicate Seeds

The following is the best method that I have ever tried for germinating small and delicate plants: Fill a common flower pot with fine loam. By jarring the pot, set the soil moderately firm, leaving the surface finely pulverized. On this scatter the seeds and jar the pot again to settle them into the crevices of the soil. Then place the pot in shallow water in a warm sunny window or plant-house, and see that sufficient water is kept in the saucer or basin in which the pot rests to keep the surface of the soil sufficiently wet. Any fancy pot with saucer attached will answer equally well if the drainage hole is sufficiently low

Treated as here suggested nearly, if not quite, all good seeds will grow, even those which happen to remain in full view on the surface of the soil. The plan is easily adopted and necessitates no troublesome expedients to prevent the washing out of the seeds or the packing of the soil as when water is applied directly to the surface as is usually done; and no glass need be placed on the top of the pot, for by capillary attraction the surface of the soil will keep sufficiently wet if enough water lis kept at the base of the pot. Seeds needing little moisture for germination should be treated accordingly. Only a little water should be applied to the base of the pot. The above may prove instructive to younger readers.

Household Recipes.

A little borax in the water cleanses ivory and celluloid hair brushes.

In washing muslins and lawns, put a little pulverized borax in the water, and use a little soap.

The quality and juices of meats are far better preserved if the meat is wiped with a towel instead of washed.

In purchasing honey, avoid that which has dark specks, as they destroy the flavor of any comb in which they are found.

For beef tea, cut a pound of lean beef in small pieces, and one and one-half tumblers of cold water; cover and let it boil slowly for ten minutes, and then add a little salt.

For cream sponge cake, which is easily made, take two eggs and beat in a cup, and fill with cream, add one teacupful of sugar, one and a half of flour, and one spoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt.

Apple pan-cokes are delicious, and are made of three pints of milk, six well-beaten eggs, and flour enough to make a thick batter, then add salt and six large apples choppey very fine, and fry in hot lard.

An excellent shampoo is made of salts of tartar, white castile soap, bay rum and lukewarm water. The salts will remove all dandruff, the soap will soften the hair, and the bay rum will prevent taking a cold.

A nice cake is made of two cups of white sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of milk, three eggs and three cups of flour. After stirring the butter and sugar together, add the beaten yolks of the eggs, and then the beaten whites, and one teaspoonful of baking powder.

To wash white flannels without shrinking them, make a good suds of boiling water and add a tablespoonful of aqua ammonia, and when scalding hot pour over the flannel. Do not rub on a board, but if convenient use a pounder. Rinse in hot water and wring as dry as possible and hang in the hot sun to dry.

For a palatable dish for luncheon, take cold roast beef, or steak, and chop very fine, leaving out all the fat; season with salt, pepper, thyme, and put it into the centre of a pudding-dish nearly filled with cold boiled macaroni. Over all pour stock or gravy, cover with bread-crumbs and two tablespoonsful of melted butter, and bake half an hour.

The Fashions.

Collars of chenille marabout are worn with street suits.

Long gloves and looose wrists remain favorites among fashionable women.

The newest brocaded Ottoman silks are in designs of fruits and flowers.

Robe dresses with embroidred flowers are among the spring importations.

Myrtle, Nephetos roses, lilies, and lilacs divide favor with orange blossoms as bridal flowers.

Elaborately braided Jerseys will be very much worn this sprnig with skirts of tweed or cheviot.

The principal colors in spring woolen materials are dahlia, Russian green, fawn, dark blue and golden brown.

☞ Every color of the Diamond Dyes is perfect. See the samples of the colored cloth at the druggists. Unequalled for brilliancy.

A new and novel dress fabric is known as radamis, a material slightly figured on one side and plain on the other.

Lace fichus are fastened low on the neck in a V-shape; thus revealing a bit of the throat, which is ornamented with a velvet ribbon and a jeweled slide.

For visiting, short dresses may be worn, though small trains are considered more elegant. For the street short skirts are universally worn.

The man who knows nothing of Mrs. Lyda E. Pinkham and her sovereign remedy for women is wanted for a juryman. The fact clearly proves that he does not read the papers.—N. H. Register.

Belts, to which are attached dainty bags of velvet, plush or satin, vinaigrettes, and chains, or chatelaine watches, will be much worn with spring costumes, especially after outside wraps are dispensed with.

White pearl beads of a good size are used to finish the crenelated edges of bridal corsages, the standing fraise and ends of the half long sleeves being trimmed to correspond.

"What is bred in the bone, will never out of the flesh." But rheumatism, piles, malaria, constipation and all other confluents from derangéments of the functions of the liver, kidneys and bowels will "out of the flesh" without fail after the through use of Kidney-Wort, the cure for all such diseases.

Blouse waists will be worn with the wash dresses of next season. They may be plain on the shoulders, with their only fullness that which is gathered into the belt, while for very slender figures the shoulders may be shirred slightly, and the fronts lapped in surplice fashion, leaving the neck slightly open and pointed.

Remember This.

If you are sick Hop Bitters will surely aid Nature in making you well when all else fails.

If you are costive or dyspeptic, or are suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill, for Hop Bitters are a sovereign remedy in all such complaints.

If you are wasting away with any form of Kidney disease, stop tempting Death this moment, and turn for a cure of Hop Bitters.

If you are sick with that terrible sickness Nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in the use of Hop Bitters.

If you are a frequenter, or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries—malarial, epidemic, bilious, and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

If you have rough, pimply, or sallow skin, bad breath, pains and aches, and feel miserable generally, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, and sweetest breath, health and comfort.

In short they cure all Diseases of the stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Nerves, Kidneys, Bright's Disease. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

That poor, bedridden, invalid wife, sister mother, or daughter, can be made the picture of health, by a few bottles of Hop Bitters, costing but a trifle. Will you let them suffer? 10-4t

DREADFUL DYNAMITE DISASTER.

DETAILS OF THE MARMORA EXPLOSION.

(From Our Norwood Correspondent.)

The details of a shocking catastrophe, caused by the explosion of a number of dynamite cartridges, reached Norwood about noon on Monday. The scene of the occurrence was at Mumford & McMahon's shanty, at Catahan's Rapids, on a section of the Ontario and Quebec railway, and the victims are Wm. King, bookkeeper of the above firm, instantly killed; John G. Buckly, considerably bruised along the whole of the left side; and — Leahy, struck on the back of the head, slightly injured. Several female cooks, also in the shanty at the time, fortunately escaped without any injuries. It appears that Buckly managed the dynamite operations at the quarries near the rapids, and had placed a number of cartridges under the stove, the dynamite having become wet and frosted. King, finding some loose cartridge on a bench near the stove, placed a cap upon one and held it near the heat, when the cartridge at once exploded, and also caused the explosion of those under the stove. The shock was a tremendous one. The stove and poor King were instantly thrown upwards, the latter flying through the parted roof of the building and coming down a horrible mutilated mass of flesh. Parts of his body were torn asunder, flesh blown off parts of the face, arms and legs, hair cleanly taken off the scalp, bones protruding from different parts of the body and limbs, and the right arm, from the elbow, blown clean away beyond recovery. Death in his case must have been instantaneous. Buckly was only saved from a torturous death by the giving away of the partition before he came into contact with it, as both parties were near the stove at the time of the explosion. Both Buckly and Leahy are recovering from their injuries. The body of King, who was only 32 years of age, was brought to Norwood on Monday, and left in charge of Mr. Minaker, undertaker, and after being prepared and coffined, was forwarded to Peterborough on its way to St. Cathrines, where the friends of the unfortunate deceased resides. Buckly loses about $200 in cash, deposited in his coat pocket, and destroyed with the other contents of the shanty, every particle of which was consumed; while many other men working on that section of the road lose also by the accident.

EUREKA!

READ AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

As a general rule we do not pin our faith to specific remedies; but there is no excuse for skepticism in well developed and authenticated facts. Since its introduction to the American public, the great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, has advanced with more rapid strides in the estimation of the public than any thing of a similar character ever brought into notice by the aid of extensive advertising. We write this for the benefit of those who may be afflicted with the divers ailments for which the oil is announced as a specific remedy, and we are induced to do this in consequence of the proof of its curative power brought to our notice; proof voluntarily and gratefully brought by people who have tested its merit and are anxious to acknowledge the great benefit derived. In the enumeration of such people it is necessary to be specific, and to this end we have obtained their permission to give their names and addresses, in order that the afflicted may have the advantage of a personal interview or postal correspondence, and in evidence that what we write is a candid statement and not a mere puffing advertisement. Mr. Frank Letcher, of No. 432½ West Fifth street, assures us that for a series of years he was prostrated with rheumatism until life became emphatically a burden. He had exhausted the advestised remedies, and had lost all faith in the efficacy of any thing to afford relief when a friend, who had tested the virtue of the oil, made him a present of a bottle, and, to Frank's wonder and delight, the first application afforded sensible relief; while before the bottle, was exhausted the pains and aches had disappeared. He is a new man, and a walking advertisement of the infallibility of St. Jacobs Oil. Aloyus Reidy, on the corner of Eastern avenue and Lewis street, was afflicted for three years in a similar manner, and is now hale and hearty, although he still continues the use of the Oil.

C. O'Callahan, of 171 Sycamore street, is another grateful witness of the infallible power of the remedy, which, he says, has made a new man of him.

Thomas Lewis of 62 Butler street, was for seven years afflicted with that dreadful malady, Sciatica, and being induced to try St. Jacobs Oil, found almost immediate relief therefrom, and is now perfectly cured. He is prepared to substantiate this statement under oath.

John Miller, of 54 West Fifth street, was cured of a complicated case of rheumatism of ten years' standing, and George Hollinger, who lives on the corner of Torrence and Columbia avenues, adds his testimony to its efficacy, and has assured us that his pains were relieved as if by magic.

The above statements are by well known and respectable citizens of Cincinnatti, and with all who know them will carry conviction upon the face. Hence it is we deem it a matter of duty to suffering humanity to give them all the publicity in our power.

A VERY NICE FATHER.

HE SECONDS HIS SON IN A PRIZE FIGHT AND SEES HIM WELL POUNDED.

Early Thursday morning Charles McDonald and William Mitchell fought a desperate battle on the flats, Port Richmond near Philadelphia. Both are very young. Twenty rounds were fought, in all of which McDonald came out second best. McDonald's father acted as his second, and although his son could scarcely keep his feet after the tenth round, the old man kept him in the ring until he could fight no longer. The principals with the elder McDonald have been arrested.

A LOVING IF NOT WISE PAIR.

An extremely affectionate husband and wife, of Larrabee, Georgia, do not mean to be separated in death. They have had a coffin made wide enough for two, and a grave dug to hold it. Their plan is that when one dies the other shall immediately commit suicide, so that their bodies may be buried at the same time, while their souls simultaneously enter eternity.

A FAMILY MEDICINE. Fountain of Health is a wonderful tonic invigorator and blood cleanser. It regulates to healthy action the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, and Kidneys. One bottle contains sufficient for one month's medication, and costs one dollar. 10-2t

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

GEO. MITCHELL.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is accurately devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞If you cannot get the "Improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

A POSTAL CARD.

Since the introduction into our service of that convenient little missive—the postal card—millions have been utilized in forwarding messages of all descriptions. The Boston Journal gives an example of one of the most unique. It was written on a postal card by a distinguished clergyman and sent to his mother:

From sweet Isaiah's sacred song.
Ninth chapter and verse six.
First thirteen words please take and then
The following affix:—
From Genesis the thirty-fifth
Verse seventeen, no more—
Then add verse twenty-six of Kings.
Book second, chapter four:
The last two verses, chapter first
First book of Samuel.
And you will learn what on that day.
Your loving son befell.

SOME CURIOUS THINGS.

Victor Hugo will not keep a plant or bird as prisoner in his house.

A family of white negroes with yellow, kinky hair lives in Oconee county, Ga.

A live baby with four arms and four legs is being exhibited in Abbeville county, South Carolina, where it was born.

Mrs. Mary Austin, of Washington, Ga., died recently. She had been the mother of forty-four children, including six sets of triplets.

A young girl, 13 years old, of Bayou Terrebonne, La., has a light brown beard two inches long and very heavy except on the upper lip.

A spring in St. Tammany parish, Louisiana, pours forth clear cold water all day, but at sunset it suddenly goes dry, discharging no water until the sun rises.

Thousands are being cured of Catarrh every year with Hall's Catarrh Cure, that the doctors had given up and said could not be cured. 75 cents a bottle. Sold by John McKee, Drug store Peterborough. 10-2t

A French newspaper records the case of a lady whose hair turned from black to gray between the hours of 2 and 7 a.m., during a very severe attack of neuralgia.

F. J. Cheney & Co., proprietors Hall's Catarrh Cure offer $100 reward for any case of Catarrh that can't be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by John McKee Drugist, Peterborough. 10-2t

A twelve year-old girl in Holmes county, Mississippi, whose parents are as black as native Africans, has white ears, cheeks and nose, and the color is spreading over her whole body.

Mrs. Gray, 69 Muter Steet, Toronto, says: "My trouble was Inflammation Rheumatism and Nasal Catarrh of long standing. I'm cured of both, and have only used two bottles of Fountain and Health. 10-2t

The difference between a long and short yarn is very well illustrated by the difference of one's feelings in holding a skein for one's grandmother or one's sweetheart,

Keep it in your family. The best remedy for accidents and emergencies, for Cuts, Scalds, Bruises, Soreness, Sore Throat, Croup, Rheumatism, Chilblains, and Pain or Soreness of all kinds, is that marvellous healing remedy. Hagyard's Yellow Oil. 10-2t

The price of a wife in Siberia is eight dogs; but what worries the Lowell Courier is that, not knowing the market price of dogs in Siberia, it can't tell whether this is cheap for a wife or not.

Natural Remedies for diseases, is, and has been, the faith of the people in all ages and countries. A potent combination of herbs, roots and barks, called fountain of Health, but up in dollar bottles, by cleansing the blood, cures almost all disease. 10-2t

Aunt (to small girl)—"What are you always thinking about, Ida?" Ida—"I'm always thinking about nothing, auntie. I never think about anything unless I happen to think of something to think about."

Daughters, Wives, Mothers, look to your health! The many painful and weakening diseases from which you suffer, despairing of a cure, can be remedied by that unfailing regulator and purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. Ask your Druggist for proof. 10-2t

A Pennsylvania inventor has evolved a new rat trap, in one end of which is a mirror. This may do for the female rats, but when the male rat notices that the bait looks double he will think he has had enough and go home.

What Everyone Needs—A Blood cleansing Medicine in the spring of the year. If one bottle of that great Herbal Tonic, Fountain of Health is taken at this season, danger of Inflammation of the Bowels, Stomach or Kidneys may be entirely avoided. 10-2t

Women are called "the weaker sex," and yet up to the hour of going to press not one of her sex in this country has shown enough intellectual weakness to embark in the weather prophet business or attempt to eat 60 quail in 30 days.

W. T. Bray, Pharmacist, Wingham, Ont., writes that the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters has very largely increase in that locality, and adds that he hears very favorable opinions expressed regarding it, and, if time permitted, could send many names of benefited parties. 10-2t

The analeps, a viviparous fish of eastern Asia, has a singular eye. It is divided horizontally into two hemispheres by a membraneous band. Each half is a perfect organ of vision. The two upper halves are long-sighted, and the two lower ones near sighted.

A Vital Office. The vast amount of fluid taken into the human organism must all be strained and purged of all matter not needed to supply the growth and wastes of the body. If the Kidneys fail in their office, there is nothing like Fountain of Health to restore them. Cost $1.00. 10-2t

In Spottsylvania county, Virginia, Mrs. Ann Tolley, aged 70 years, and apparently in robust health informed her friends that her time had come. So impressed was she with the idea that she arose one morning at an early hour, washed, dressed and prepared herself for the anticipated event. She began to cook her breakfast and dropped dead.

A Wise Maxim.—"A stitch in time saves nine," not only in making garments, but also in mending health. If Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam were used in the earlier stages of Colds and Coughs, many a "stitch in the side" and many a case of torn lungs might be avoided, that, neglected, rapidly develop into irreparable Consumption. 10-2t

Aaron Willis, alias Clinthy Curtis, colored, a terrible deformed and helpless creature, died at the almshouse in Staunton, Va., recently. He was 49 years old. He was dumb and powerless to move himself. While seeming to comprehend much that was said to him he was incapable of making known his slightest want. Just before his death he created much astonishment by speaking for the first time in his life when he uttered the words: "Mother! Oh, mother! Oh, mother!"

"Why should a man whose blood is warm within Sit like his grandsire cut in alabaster?"
Or let the hair grow rusty, scant and thin
When "Cingalese Renewer" will make
It grow the faster.
For sale by J. D. Tully. 3-8t.

A Cure for Croup. There is no better remedy for Croup than Hagyard's Yellow Oil taken internally and applied according to special directions; this is the great household panacea for Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Pain Inflammation &c. 10-2t

A Sure Thing.—In the treatment of Chronic Disease with that great system renovator and restorative, Burdock Blood Bitters, there is no uncertainty as to it, action, its curative powers are speedily manifest by its marked effect upon the Liver, the Bowels and the Kidneys, every dose performing its work in a perceptable manner. 10-2t

Cure for Rheumatism. The acrid poisons of impure blood, resulting from Torpid Liver, Bowels or Kidneys, is deposited, by circulation, in the muscles and joints. This causes inflammation and intense suffering. We guarantee four bottles of Fountain of Health to cure the the worst case in existence. 10-2t

G. W. Mingay, Parkdale, Toronto, writes: "My wife had several very severe attacks of cramps in the stomach. Hearing of Dr. Austin's Phosphatine, and its pleasantness to take, I gave her two bottles, and she has not had an attack since, and her health is much improved." For sale by all druggists. 3-8t.

In the history of medicine no preparation has received such universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by John McKee. 3-8t.

Buckler's Arnica Salve.—The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter Chapped Hands Chilblains, Corns, and all skin Eruptions, and Positively cures Piles. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Sale By Taylor & McDonald. 44 tf

Now that there is a reliable remedy for kidney troubles, half the terrors attached to these complaints have been removed. For this let all be thankful, and to Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure award all praise for having thus removed a hitherto considered fatal disease from our path. It was never known to fail. Sold by John McKee. 3-8t.

Comely; Attractive Winning!—These expressive words are often and properly applied to the fair ladies of our favored land, who keep their hair abundant and natural in color and lustre by the timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor; it is safe and agreeable, and its effects are very lasting, making it the most economical, and at the same time the most beneficial and elegant of toilet preparations.

A hen in Chicago, Ill., refused to provide for a brood of ten chickens. They gave her great trouble. She flew to the top of a fence one day, put her head between the pickets, and dropped off, thereby committing suicide. The ten orphans were adopted by a pullet only a few months old, which had never laid an egg. She is taking care of the family with as much skill as a tough old hen could display.

Do Not be Deceived. In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

Coquetting with Consumption. Some people troubled with coughs seem absolutely to coquet with consumption—now encouraging it by a total neglect of medicine, and again attempting to stave it off with ill-chosen cough remedies. How much wiser to eradicate it at the outset by using Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and soda. Promptitude in the use of thi smedicine cannot be to strongly urged upon those consumptively inclined, in a climate so severe during the winter as our own. The public generally as well as the medical fraternity, is acquainted with the value, as a remedy for lung and throat troubles, of the purified oil of the Cod's liver. United with it in this standard Emulsion are the finest tonics in existence, namely, lime and soda hypophosphites, of with the chief component, phosphorus, is an incomparable nutrient of the blood and invigorant of the system. Nothing builds up a broken-down system and enables it to resist the inroads of pulmonary disease like this leading preparation. Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, soreness and weakness of the chest, are among the bodily troubles which it overcomes, and in scrofulous affections it has been used with great success as a remedy. Sold by all druggists, at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Prepard only by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Canada.

TAKEN AT THE RIGHT END.

Mr. F. M. Pavely, of East River, N.S., had a cold which he did'nt like. It was'nt so very bad, but it hung on him a long time and was getting seated. The usual medical remedies did no good. He tried Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. The first dose benefited him, and in as short time he was perfectly well. It it not necessary for any cold to obtain a foothold in any constitution as long as Dr Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam is at hand. What Quinine is to fever, Dr Wilson's Pulmonory Cherry Balsam is to throat and Lung diseases.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. Kang's New Discovery for consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, has startled them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery; resulting in hundreds of our best physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,

The Culverwell Medical Co.,
41 Ann St., New York

Exports and Imports of Peterborough.

During the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1882, the exports from the port of Peterborough were of the value of $241,995, and the imports for the corresponding period amounted to $154,420, on which was paid duty to the amount of $18,759.31.

Mr. Blezard, M. P. P., Serenaded.

Last Thursday night the Keene band, assisted by their teacher, Mr. Miller, and several members of the Fire Brigade band, serenaded Thos. Blezard, Esq., M. P. P., at his residence. Several Peterborough people also joined the complimentary company. They received a warm welcome, and were the recipients of the hearty hospitality which their host is noted for. Mr. Blezard made a neat and brief speech, acknowledging the courtesy which was so totally unexpected. An evening of great enjoyment was spent.

For Ulster Cloths, new shades plain and fancy checks try Turnbull's.

Important Sale.

Mr. J. B. Nicholls who in a short time removes to Nebraska, will sell by public auction on Friday, March 16th, on his premises, Lot 1, East of Communication Road, the whole of his farm stock, implements, &c. At the same time and place previous to the sale of stock, that valuable property in Lakefield, at present occupied by G. Tanner. Also Lot No. 16 in the 7th concession of Douro, near Lakefield, containing 150 acres. This farm is well improved 2 frame barns, frame dwelling, and good outbuildings. Terms made known at time of sale. For particulars see posters. This will be a sale worthy of attention. 9-2ins.

Curling.

The last number of the Queen's College Journal has the following in reference to the curling exploits of Mr. R. N. Dennistoun, a resident of this town and a student at Queen's College, and one of the editorial staff of the Journal.

"The pen is mightier than the sword. The final ties in competition for the Caruthers' gold medal were played off this week. The play had narrowed down to a traingular contest, the participants being Major Short, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Dennistoun, '86, of the Journal staff. The two first were drawn against each other, and their game was somewhat remarkable. The score stood 13 to 5 in favor of Stewart, and that gentlemen was "lying shot." Not content with this he threw another stone for 14. This shot knocked all his stones out of court, leaving 3 or 4 of the Major's in the circle. Mr. Stewart never made that fourteenth point, and the gallant Major passed him. The Journal man now came upon the scene, and as a result has brought glory upon himself and the editorial circle of which he is a member. We congratulate our brother editor.

For good Ticking, none better, try Turnbull's.

Is Lottery Luck Bad Luck?

The authorities are making it sultry for the ostensibly lucky holders of London lottery tickets. On Thursday last Mr. William Waites, of Toronto, served a summons on Gamble, of Gananoque, the $5,000 man, and attempted to serve one on Porter, the fortunate fifteen thousand young farmer, but he was conveniently absent. In proof of the evil effect of lotteries, and in justification of the course of the Toronto Society for the Suppression of Vice, at whose instance the prosecutions are going on, it is asserted by Mr. Waites that Gananoque and Ballyduff are wild with excitement, steeped to the lips with the gambling furore, so much so that there are some of the Ballyduffers who would go without a meal in order to procure a lottery ticket. There is a possibility of the Toronto constable, Mr. William Waites, coming to Peterborough, but if William Waites here till he gets back any large amount of prize money he will stand a good chance of ranking as the "oldest inhabitant." The boys don't believe in ex post facto "ponying up."

WIGGINS' GREAT STORM.

THE WEATHER WISEACRE'S WARNINGS.

As the date fixed by Mr. E. Storm Wiggins for his greatest of all storms approaches, it will be of interest to publish what he says about it, as found in his Storm Herald. On page twelve he thus describes what he calls his "First Class or Great Storm":

This will originate in the Northern Pacific on the morning of the 9th, will strike this continent from the south-east all along the Atlantic coast on the afternoon of the 10th, and will travel westward south of the 45th parallel, and returning from the Rocky Mountain range, will cross the Meridian of Ottawa, over the great Canadian lakes at noon on the 11th.

No vessel, whatever her seaworthiness, should be out of harbor in any part of the world. The navies of all nations should be in safe harbors not later than the fifth. Danger from lightning everywhere within the tropics.

The Ottawa seer, not only puts down the great storm as a positive event but also indulges in the following "probabilities," and the fact that the thermometer part of his probabilities has begun to come true, may entitle the rest to be received with greater respect. The following are the "probabilities":

Great tidal wave in the Gulf of Mexico, the Bay of Bengal and the China Sea.

The thermometer will range at 5 degrees below zero all over Canada, from the 5th to 11th.

The storm will continue with varying intensity to the 16th, when a general rain will begin, and continue for 48 hours.

Unusual floods in the Maritime Provinces.

Whether or not there is anything in the predictions of the philosopher of the Finance Department, it is certain that he has a great many trembling believers. The Ottawa man who is digging a cave to escape the storm has the most faith, but there are thousands of others, less practical, who believe as firmly in Mr. Wiggins, and it is probable, if the storm does not come too early next Sunday, there will be an inconveniently large attendance at the various churches. Nothing less than a "first-class storm" can make some persons pious, and if the predictions of the storm calamity will make delinquents pious enough to pay up their subscriptions, Mr. Wiggins will be made a life member of the Press Association, and will go on his journey through life loaded down with journalistic benedictions.

Orange Grand Lodge.

The R. W. Grand Lodge of the Orange order for Eastern Ontario went into session at Lindsay on Tuesday, and Messrs. T. M. D. Croley, J. G. Brown, G. W. Hall, S. Johnson, John Smith and R. Weir, of Peterborough, are in attendance.

Women's Foreign Missions.

Rev. J. M. Douglas, a retired Missionary of the Presbyterian Church, will deliver a lecture on Mission Work in India, in St. Paul's Church, next Wednesday evening 14th inst., under the auspices of the St. Paul's auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending February 24th, 1883, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $4,726.01; freight, $11,091.77; total, $15,817.78, as compared with $13,365.95 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $2,451.83; and the aggregate traffic to date is $111,414.52, being an increase of $7,919.58 over 1882.

Peterborough Planing Mills.

This establishment, owned by Mr. J. D. Baptie, which has been shut down for some weeks for repairs, additions and improvements, is again in full working order. During the "recess" there has been added a new boiler and engine and new and improved machinery. He has now improved facilities, backed by greater power, and the public will find Baptie's planing mills up to the standard of any similar mills in the country.

Pulp Mills Purchase.

On Friday last at the sheriff's sale, Mr. J. R. Scott, Napanee, representing the Napanee Mills paper company, purchased the pulp mills, securing the building plant and machinery for $575, subject to the liens on the property which amounted to about $6,500 making the total cost $7,075. The property is worth about $15,000, although owing to some defective management is cost nearly $20,000. The general creditors, it is understood, lose nothing on very little, the chief loss falling on Messrs. Usborne & Co.

The Caisse House Complimented.

The Port Hope Times, though a good Tory sheet, gets at the truth of the matter when it pays the following compliment to a well managed hotel:

The Caisse House, Peterborough, since the present proprietor, Mr. Thos. G. Choate, assumed the management of it, has regained a great deal of its old-time popularity with the travelling public, and is doing today a splendid business. The rooms are comfortable in all parts of the house, well furnished clean and warm, while the commercial rooms are also first-class. The table is well supplied with everything the most fastidious could desire, and the attendance is prompt. Mr. Choate and his sons evidently have mastered the difficult problem of "how to run an hotel," and many of the owners of larger and more pretentious houses in the cities could learn something from them.

Mechanic's Institute Lectures.

The persevering lecture committee of the Mechanic's Institute are bound to do their share towards the enlightenment, amusement and entertainment of our citizens. They have made an an engagement with a Mr. Ragan, to deliver a course of two lectures in the Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 20th and 21st. The subject of the first evening's lecture will be "Paris, the Magnificent," and the second "London from the top of an Omnibus." The lectures will be illustrated by means of pictures projected on an immense screen, by aid of the oxy-hydrogen light. Whatever may be the attendance the first night, the house will be crowded the second. Mr. Ragan's polished and cultured style, heightened in effect by the illustrations afforded by artistic pictures, have been most favorably received everywhere. Admission 25 and 50 cents. For the two lectures, tickets 75 cents for reserved seats, and 40 cents for general admission.

O. E. Comstock, Caledonia, Minn. writes: I was suffering the most excruciating pains from inflammatory rheumatism. One application of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil afforded almost instant relief, and two bottles effected a permanent cure.

Dramatic.

The company composed of the Battery boys and others started on a short starring tour on Monday. They presented the French Spy in Cobourg on Monday night, in Port Hope on Tuesday night, in Lindsay on Wednesday night, and on Thursday night they will, by special request, present the play again in Bradburn's Opera House here. The boys made a good hit their first night, and will no doubt have a bumper house this time.

The Emerald Club.

On St. Patrick's eve, Friday, March 16th, Rev. L. Keating will deliver an address in St. Peter's Cathedral for the benefit of the Emerald Club of Peterborough, under the patronage of His Lordship, Rt. Rev. J. F. Jamot, Bishop of Peterborough. Doors open at 7 o'clock p.m. Address begins at 7.30. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 50 cents. The choir will render special selections during the evening.

Tired of Life.

Last Saturday evening Benjamin Reynolds made a determined attempt to reach the next world by the chilly medium of the Otonabee. Two ice cutters returning from work noticed Reynolds approach an opening from which ice had been removed, and deliberately plunge in. The two men at once pulled him out, and after being warmed up, Constable Craig lodged him in jail. On Monday morning he was brought before Messrs. Mills and Bennet, Justices of the Peace, Ashburnham, who committed him to jail for 30 days, as a vagrant, which seems rather hard, as the poor man was doing his best to keep out of the way of the world. Reynolds has been a long resident of the town, and has never had a very brilliant reputation for hard work or sobriety. About 25 years ago he had an arm taken off in Dickson's saw mill.

THE HORSE AND HIS DRIVERS.

Peterborough Winter Meeting.

Wednesday's Work—Thursday's Trotting Friday's Fun The Best Winter Meeting ever held in the Town—Well Managed all Around and Satisfactory to Everybody.

The Peterborough ice races have come and gone. They brought some good sport and passed off so successfully from start to finish that every one is unanimous in saying that they were the most successful in every respect ever held here.

The first day of the races opened out most discouragingly. A terrible storm, a veritable blizzard, raged all the afternoon. But the love of sport was stronger than the storm and there was a fair attendance of spectators, and the steppers were on hand ready for the races.

WEDNESDAY'S WORK.

The Green Race was the first called and the following drawn up in front of the judges' stand were registered: A. P. Morgan's "Brown Jack," A. Sawers' "M. A. S," J. Byrne's "Polly," and H. C. Winch's "Tommy." The four heats were without particular mention. The figures following the horses' titles indicate the order in which they came in in the four different heats that were necessary to decide the contest:—

A. P. Morgan's Brown Jack	1	4	1	1
A. Sawers' M. A. S	2	1	4	4
J. Byrne's Polly	4	3	2	2
H. C. Winch's Little Tommy	3	2	3	3

THURSDAY'S TROTTING.

The weather to-day was a vast improvement over the day before. The day was bright but cold; the track was in better condition, and the crowd was larger and the interest in the sports greater. About two o'clock the bell called the steppers to the stand, when the entries for the were made: R. Lundy's "Maid," R. Croft's "Jim White," and Read's "Canada Girl."

COUNTY RACE

In the first heat the trio got off well together, and kept up this neighbourly condition for the first quarter. Jim White then made enough by a break to place him well in front, a position he kept with good square trotting. Canada Girl broke badly on the second quarter, and the Maid lost her feet frequently. They came under the wire in the order named in the clipping time of 2-34.

In the second heat Jim White lost first place to Canada Girl, which she gallantly held during the next two heats. The following are the returns:

Jim White	1	2	2	2
Canada Girl	2	1	1	1
The Maid	3	3	3	3

The time in the first and third heats was 2.34, and in the second and fourth 2.44 and 2.38 respectively.

FARMERS' RACE.

This event was well contested, but some of the interest was destroyed by the first heat showing what each horse could do. The horses that started were Wm. Moher's "King," and king he proved himself to be—J. Montgomery's "Honest John," and R. Montgomery's "Honest Annie." The time made was nearly three minutes, and every heat was the same. Mr. Moher's "King," driven by his owner, developed some excellent stepping qualities, and won without trouble as the following score will show:

King	1	1	1
Honest John	2	2	2
Honest Annie	3	3	3

THE COLT RACE.

The following is the result of the colt contest:

J. D. Baptie's "Minnie Gray"	2	1	1
J. Irwin's "Unknown"	1	2	2
D. Tully's "Minnie S."	3	3	3

FRIDAY'S FUN.

The weather on Friday was even more pleasant than the day before and there was a very large attendance of spectators. The ice was black with them, and the banks of the lake had a deep fringe of interested onlookers. The speeding of the steeds furnished the only excitement, if one might except the persistent efforts of the improvised special constables to keep the track clear of spectators. In this they were assisted by an occasional eager spectator being "thumped" by some passing trotter, but no one was hurt, and the whole afternoon passed off as orderly and decorously as a Sunday school pic-nic.

Only two races required to be disposed of to exhaust the programme. Of these the first called was for which the entries were: J. Simpson, "Lapidist Chief;" J. Byrne, "Polly;" H. C. Winch, "Tommy;" and A. P. Morgan, "Little Rock."

THE NAME RACE,

In the first heat Polly got the start and kept it for the first half mile, when Lapidist Chief ungallantly passed her. She, however, though breaking badly, came in second, but she was punished by being put back to fourth place, for running. Little Rock took second place and Tommy third.

In the second heat Polly was "up to snuff" and secured a good lead from the score, which she kept till the middle of the second quarter, when Lapidist Chief headed her, owing to Polly leaving her feet. At one time she looked like winning back her place, but though she broke badly she crowded Lapidist Chief pretty neatly on the home turn, coming in a good second, with Little Rock third and Tommy fourth.

In the third heat Polly insisted on leading the procession for the first half mile, but the Chief displaced her and came in first under the wire, winning the race in three straight heats, Polly second. Tommy and Little Rock made the home stretch lively by changing the pace to a lively gallop. The following is the summary of heats:

Polly	4	2	2
Little Rock	2	3	3
Tommy	3	4	4

Now came the event of the meeting,

THE DOMINION TROT.

At the ring of the bell, there showed up at the judges' stand, J. Martin's "Uncle Joe," the favorite in the betting books, R. Read's "Canada Girl," and R. Croft's "Jim White." The trio got off in the order named above by a splendid start, and for the first furlong the three could have been covered by a blanket, but towards the end of the first quarter the flyers were going tandem, "Joe" first, the "Girl" second next, and "Jim" close at hand. At the half-mile the "Girl" collared "Uncle Joe" and made it hot for him for a few minutes; she lost her even on the home turn and fell to the rear, but came in a close second, with "Jim White" a good third.—Time 2-40.

The second heat was a mere procession, "Uncle Joe" in the van, the "Girl" in the middle, and "Jim White" bringing up the rear, in which order they passed under the string.—Time 2-39.

The third heat was a repetition of the other heats as far as results. "Jim White," however, pluckily disputed the "Girl's" title to second place, but without success. Time 2-36. The following is a bird's-eye view of the three heats:

Uncle Joe	1	1	1
Canada Girl	2	2	2
Jim White	3	3	3

There was a peculiarity in the events of this trot, not at all common. The horses were entered in the order in which they won, they drew for places in the same order, and kept their respective places throughout the three heats.

This closed the advertised events; but the spirit of sporting was not yet satisfied, and a dog race was improvised by the judges, to the great delight of the juvenile sports. In this thrilling contest W. Watson's "Black Sam," a grand goer, took first money, T. Robinson's "Jumbo" second, and John Bogan's "Rover" third.

Taking it all around the winter meeting of 1883 was

A GRAND SUCCESS.

Everything passed off smoothly and without dispute, thus showing how fairly and squarely the judges dealt with the different interests involved. Everybody was satisfied, except, of course, the man who "backed the wrong horse." The judges, Messrs. Charles Stapleton, John Glendenning, of Newcastle, a former resident, and John Taylor, by their tact, discretion and good judgment contributed largely to the pleasure and success of the meeting. The committee, Messrs. Harry LeBrun, James English, D. Lundy and H. B. Merrick, were also very assiduous in the discharge of their several duties, and the Secretary, Mr. J. E. McIntyre, of the Oriental, is entitled to a large share of the good work done and the excellent success achieved. The entire meeting was a genuine sporting event; everything was done on the square, and there was an utter absence of the "hippodrome" element that has done so much to bring discredit on the noble sport of horse racing. There is no one to dispute the verdict that the ice trot, that ended last Friday, was the most successful ever held in town.

THE LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLY QUESTION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—Allow me, in answer to the letters which appeared in your issue of March 1st, simply to summarize, what I have already said and proved. This will be sufficient answer to Dr. Caldwell's long-winded nonsense.

1st, As to Dr. Caldwell's remarks:

He denies making the remarks referred to, and in his last letter reiterates his denial.

I have proved that they were made by the testimony of Messrs. Galvin, Sanders, and Dr. Armour. (Mr. Galvin in his letter, seems rather annoyed, that I used his name, still he does not, nor can he deny stating, to me, that the remarks were made.)

2nd, As to the proviso:

Dr. Caldwell says in his last letter;—"Mr. Wilson, in his motion, moved, that Mr. H's tender be accepted, without any such proviso." Now here is the motion according to the minutes of the meeting:

Moved by Mr. Wilson, and seconded by Mr. Gordon, that Mr. Henderson's tender be accepted, providing he furnish Foolscap Paper equal to that quoted by T. J. Bird at $1.50; viz. Ink, 25 cents per gallon; paper, $1.50 per ream; Crayons, 14 cents per box.

That settles the proviso question.

3rd, As to the tenders:

It will be seen, that the Board asked for sealed tenders. Mr. H. and myself responded. Mr. H's tender was considerably higher in the article of paper. It was then that Dr. C. made the following remarks:—"He knew his brother Mr. H. had cheaper paper than that quoted by him, and if he (Mr. H.) had consulted him, he would have told him to send in cheaper, than what he did." "That, his brother, could furnish same if desired to do so, by the Board," etc.

The result of all this has been the awarding of the contract to Mr. H. I might have had it if I had been favored with a "particular friend" on that School Board, who would take upon himself the responsibility, of saying, "I know Mr. Bird has Ink at 25 cents per gallon, Crayons at 14 cents per box, and he can furnish the same if desired to do so, etc."

Now Sir, I maintain, that I have been done an injustice, mainly through the officious partiality and underhand manœuvring of of Dr. C.

He seems to be seriously aggrieved, at the fact, that there is just sufficient "Grit" in me, to resent an injustice, no matter how small or large, derived, either directly or indirectly, through his unscrupulous efforts.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your forbearance,

I am, yours, etc.,
T. J. BIRD.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

TRUSTEE MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Norwood board of School Trustees was held here on Friday evening last. There was a full attendance of the members. Dr. Ford was elected chairman of the board, W. H. Stephenson re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Isaac Powell re-appointed caretaker of school property, at an increased salary of $20 over last year's stipend. There was some talk of the advisability of asking the ratepayers for a grant of money to erect new school buildings, and it is likely a public meeting will be called to submit this question to them for settlement. A requisition was received from a number of the pupils of the school, asking for four additional holidays at Easter, which was granted. The following interesting report was received from the Principal, Mr. Davidson:

"There are at present 40 pupils in attendance at the High School, and the number on the roll 46. The work that is being done is with a view to fit pupils for obtaining the various grades of certificates, and for passing the intermediate examination. To such pupils as are not needing intermediate work special attention is paid to history, commercial arithmetic and book-keeping. The subjects taught by the Principal are French, senior mathematics, geography and botany. By the assistant, English, science and book-keeping. As to chemical apparatus, etc., there is a sufficient supply on hand.

"In the senior department of the Public School there are 54 pupils in attendance, and 60 on the roll. The classes taught by Mr. Lyons in the various subjects prescribed for passing the entrance are the junior and senior 3rd class and the 4th class. Each lady teacher has about fifty pupils in attendance, and 58 on the roll. The classes taught by each teacher are doing the same work, the limits of which are from the alphabet through the second reader. The basis of promotion from their rooms to that of Mr. Lyons is the fitness of the pupils for entering the junior third class. The pupils in the three rooms have been carefully classified according to the School Act, by the Inspector and myself. The actual aggregate attendance for High and Public Schools is about 200. Seating room at present is sufficient. Arrangements for heating and cleaning rooms are satisfactory."

The report was received with highly complimentary remarks from several members of the board, showing, as it does, a very satisfactory record of the condition of the Norwood High and Public Schools, and evincing the deep interest Mr. Davidson, the highly esteemed and popular Principal, and his efficient staff of teachers take in their respective departments.

SNOW BLOCKADE.

With other parts of the Dominion, this section is feeling the effects of the disturbance in the elements foreshadowed by those pests, Vennor and Wiggins, and it was thought by many here that there would be "wigs" on the snow ere this, as not a few of our people were sure that the first-class storm of the latter gentlemen would have swept things generally before this. As it is we have had a severe spell of weather. The wind sped along with terrible velocity, the snow falling to an unusual depth and drifting mountains high in some places, and filling up travelled roads as fast as they were opened. For days traffic was closed altogether, while many of our villagers were crying for wood without avail. The wind is still howling, and at present the prospect is not over cheerful; but then if Mr. Wiggins had proved a true prophet matters might be much worse.

RAILROAD TIES.

A very large number of railway ties are now being delivered at Norwood and at other places in this vicinity along the line of the Ontario and Quebec railway. Those at Norwood have been supplied by Messrs. George Kirk, Wm. Kellenbeck and R. Ferguson. All are of first-class material and likely to pass the required inspection of the cullers, who will commence their work as soon as the weather moderates.

RAILWAY WORK.

Next week it is expected that work will be commenced on the railway bridges to be erected near the grist mill here. The work of dressing and preparing the stones for the bridges has been steadily going on, and sufficient has been drawn here from the quarries in our vicinity to complete the bridges. Mr. S. H. Brown, of the saw mill here, has secured the contract to furnish lumber and other supplies for several sections of this line. Railway work generally is being steadily pushed forward, and it is contemplated that, as soon as the fine weather opens, the force of hands along the whole line in this county will be largely increased.

A GOOD SALE.

The auction sale at Mr. Robt. Elliott's, in Asphodel, on Tuesday of last week, was the most remunerative one that has ever taken place in this neighborhood. Every article put up realized its highest value, and sold much better than if offered at private sale. Mr. Anderson, the auctioneer, who has the knack of knowing how to draw the bids from his assemblages, certainly deserves a good deal of praise for the financial success of this sale. Mr. Elliott, accompanied by his family and Mr. J. Brown, of Asphodel, left for Oregon on Monday last.

A YOUNG MURDERESS.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—Catharine Metzger this morning struck her employer, Mrs. May while the latter was in bed, several blows on the head a with hatchet, and then fractured the skull of Mrs. May's child, aged eight months, with a bottle. It is believed that Mrs. May will recover, but the child will die. The girl who is aged 18, came from Germany three months ago, and had only been a week in the employ of the May family. She gives no reason for the assault, except that she was prompted for several days to do it. She rose in the middle of the night and went to the cellar for the hatchet.

Immigration Interests.

Under favorable circumstances there is almost sure to be a large immigration to Canada the coming season. The Dominion Government have just issued a new hand book of information in regard to Canada. It is said to be one of the most complete and satisfactory pamphlets yet issued. After a short general description of the country, of its internal economy and administration, and of its varied and in some cases boundless resources, are hints as to the class of persons required. An encouraging sign is the increasing interest taken in this country, and especially the North-west, as a field of emigration as shown by the publication of accurate maps of the country.

Go-ahead Ontario

THE post office returns show that more than one-half the entire postal business of the Dominion is done within the Province of Ontario. In Ontario the revenue and expenditure are nearly equal, the difference being about $31,000; in Quebec the expenditure exceeded the revenue by $150,000; in Nova Scotia by $93,000; in New Brunswick by $74,000. In Prince Edward Island the expenditure exceeded the revenue by $25,000, being double the amount of revenue received. In British Columbia the expenditure exceeded the revenue by $38,000, the expenditure being nearly three times greater than revenue. In Manitoba and the Northwest Territories the expenditure was $22,000 in excess of of revenue. The post office indicates not only the growth of the business of the country but its progress in intelligence.

Ottawa Interference.

It is certain that Ontario will never know to the full extent the amount of influence exercised by the Dominion Government in the recent elections. We do know that ministers and Tory members did swarm like locusts upon the constituencies of Ontario. Take South Renfrew as an example, upon which operated Hon. John Costigan, Hon. J. Burr Plumb, John Haggart, M.P., Mr. J. Wills, Immigration Agent, and a host of minor corruptionists. So great was the exodus that Parliamentary business came to a standstill. In fact, for the sake of striking a blow at this province the business of the Dominion Parliament was greatly neglected, and work is now already far in arrears. One month after the opening of the session the Budget was not presented and the Government were not ready with their pieces de resistance, the Franchise and the and license bills. On the other hand the Ontario Provincial Treasurer made his budget speech fourteen working days after the opening of the Legislature. The policy of the Dominion Government is so exigeant in its nature that not only must the rights of Ontario be assailed by the combined forces of the Dominion Government and the Local Opposition, but to do this another evil is perpetrated and the interests of the Dominion are neglected under the circumstances. In the face of the "dead set" made by the Dominion Government against Mr. Mowat it is a wonder that he survived at all. But the strong common-sense of the electors told them that they could carry party allegiance too far, and that at a certain point resistance to the behests of their party leaders and fidelity to their province became a paramount duty.

The annual report of the Dominion Department of Indian affairs shows an Indian population of a little more than 110,000. Rather more than one third are in Manitoba and the Northwest, while Ontario and Quebec have nearly 30,000. The Indians about Fort Walsh are the most troublesome, but the only chief in that region who has no treaty with the Government promises to go on a reservation in the spring with his 500 followers. More than $1,000,000 was spent during the past year on the Indians of the North West. Agents report that many tribes are gradually giving up their heathenish rites, while there is a steady advancement toward a higher degree of civilization.

Notes of the Day.

THE Congress which ended on Saturday afternoon was the 47th since the establishment of the United States.

MR. D. SINCLAIR, ex-M.P.P. for North Bruce, has been appointed Registrar of the county. He has a sixteen years record in the local legislature.

THE Dominion Government last year paid a large sum for the circulation of the speeches of Sir Charles Tupper. They were made to do duty as campaign documents.

A RETURN presented to the Dominion Parliament shows that at the June elections the Dominion Government superseded the sheriffs and registrars as returning officers in no less than 45 Ontario constituencies.

A HARRISBURG, Pennsylvania, despatch says it is evident that fifty millions of capital have been driven out of the State in consequence of the operations of the law taxing foreign companies a quarter of mill on each dollar of capital.

THE precious Railway Commission of of the Dominion Government has cost the tidy sum of $11,774.85, and the chief result is a lot of printed matter, that is practically valueless unless Sir Tilley gives it a factitious value by placing a prohibitory duty on waste paper.

From a return brought down in the Dominion House on Monday it appears that there are six licensed tobacco manufacturers in Canada, who used last year 194,529 pounds of Canadian leaf, the quantity of tobacco produced being 122,-898 lbs., and of cigars, 14,181 lbs.

THE case of Poulin v. The Corporation of Quebec, which involves the question of the right of Provincial Legislatures to prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors on Sundays and other days, was argued before the Supreme Court on Monday, judgment being reserved. During the argument Chief Justice Ritchie expressed a decided opinion that though the power of prohibition rested with the Federal Parliament, the power of restricting or restraining the sale of liquor was within the Province of the Provincial Legislature.

In 1872 enough spirits was consumed in the Dominion of Canada to make the tipple of each man, woman and child amount to 1 and 7-10th gallons; of beer, 2 and 7-10th gallons. In 1882 the consumption of whiskey per head was 1 and 3-10th gallons, and of beer 2 and 5-10th gallons per head. In 1872 there was used tobacco enough to give every man, woman and child 2 and 4-10th lbs.; and in 1882, 2 lbs. Of the provinces, Ontario uses most beer per head, Quebec the most whiskey per head, and British Columbia the most tobacco per head.

THERE is considerable newspaper talk about the status of the indepenpent members of the new Legislature. Mr. Neelon, of St. Catharines, is set down by the Mail as an Oppositionist; but Mr. Mowat has not a stauncher supporter of his provincial policy than Sylvester Neelon, a life-long Reformer, and only agreeing with the Dominion Government on the question of the N. P. Mr. Lees, of South Lanark, received the support of the Liberals of that riding on the well-defined understanding that he would support Mr. Mowat on the Boundary Award and Rivers and Streams Bill. Mr. Hart, of Prince Edward, was elected on the plain understanding that he would not go into Opposition of Mr. Mowat in the House. For all practical purposes the independent members elect may be set down as supporters of Mr. Mowat, and the Opposition can suck small comfort from the hope of these gentlemen proving false to their pledges.

Cuts Both Ways.

In speaking of the relations of the labor market and the profits of the manufacturer under the N. P. the Hamilton Times repeats:

"Let us examine this matter from several points of view. The manufacturer in Ontario finds himself protected from foreign competition. An article he can produce for $1.00 he is obliged to sell for $1, or otherwise permit the United States manufacturer to serve his customer; the tariff brings the price of the American article up to $1.25, and the Canadian manufacturer holds the home market. So goes the theory, but some foreign goods are still imported, and the duties collected on these imports make surplus revenue. The surplus revenues are sent to the Northwest (to build the Pacific Railway)—spent on public works which draw labor from Ontario, making labor scarce and dear here. The manufacturer will therefore find himself obliged to pay higher wages. He can no longer produce the article for $1, and the margin between his cost and selling price must be reduced. The mode of expending the surplus revenue produced by the tariff offsets the higher price received from consumers by reason of the tariff. If, as some contend, the manufacturer does not increase his selling price under shelter of the tariff, the increased price of labor must be a heavy burden upon him, and may wipe out his profits altogether."

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTIONS.

What the Journals have to say about it.

Mr. Mowat's majority is greatly reduced, but is still large enough. Overwhelming majorities are not in the interest of good government.—Montreal Star, (Independent.)

The good sense of the people have narrowed Mr. Mowat and his following down so fine that Ontario can now depend her interests will be properly looked after.—Port Hope Times. (Tory)

Suffice it to say now that the whole vote polled and the members elected are such as to show that this Province is not wedded to Mr. Mowat, but may ask for a divorce at any time.—Irish Canadian, (Tory.)

'It must be acknowledged that the Reform party organization has not been as efficient as that of its opponents—a feeling of over-confidence has prevailed in the ranks, and the awakening shock has been a pretty severe one.—St. Thomas Evening Journal.

The onslaught upon the Government by men worked up to the extreme of desperation, and bound to get the patronage and place Ontario under Ottawa control, was the most determined ever known in the country. Everywhere the use of money is apparent; its influence being exerted in the close ridings esspecially.—Toronto World, (Independent.)

The general result of the elections throughout the Province has not been altogether what we were led to expect, but enough has been shown to give Mr. Mowat a very plain warning of what is to follow unless he makes a considerable change in his present mode of managing the affairs of the province.—Lindsay Warder, (Tory.)

The contest in this riding (North Lanark, where Caldwell,) the "old original" Rivers and Streams man, was elected) was attended with an interest peculiar to itself. As the county in which the cause of action arose as regards the Streams Bill, it was felt by each side to be invested with more than usual importance, and to capture it for the Opposition almost superhuman efforts were put forth.—Almonte Gazette.

But the magnitude of yesterday's victory can only be measured when we contemplate the enormous influence of patronage and money brought to bear by the Federal Government. Mr. Mowat backed by the Liberals of Ontario, stood solidly against the encroachments of Sir John Macdonald, urged us he was by the public plunderers from the other provinces who having ruined their own people were hungering after the wealth of Ontario. Ottawa Free Press.

To defeat the Mowat Government has been the object of the Dominion Premier for months, we may say years. Lately it has been the subject of his thoughts by day and his dreams by night. To accomthe desired end no stone has been left unturned, and in the use of the means to the end no scruples have stood in the way. Impassioned appeals to religious opinions, nationalities, selfishness and spite have been made. With one hand the Catholic body has been petted, and with the other the Orangemen have been kindly stroked down.—Almonte Gazette.

The significance of the contest lies in the fact that it was really a struggle between Mr. Mowat on one hand and Sir John Macdonald on the other, as was indeed the recent contest in Manitoba. In Manitoba the Federal power was strong enough to keep Mr. Norquay at the head of affairs; in Ontario it has not been strong enough to turn Mr. Mowat out. The party at Ottawa furnished every assistance, including, it is said, thr sinews of war, to the Conservatives who were fighting the battle in this province, so that from a provincial point of view it is well that those who are standing up for provincial rights against the Federal power have been sustained. The people of Ontario may make up their minds that if they do not look after their own interests nobody else will look after them for them. We may be quite sure that the people of Quebec will not.—Toronto Telegram, (Independent.)

But in spite of the hostility of the Federal Government, in spite of the Federal patronage and Federal money, in spite of the dissatisfaction of dissatisfied friends, Mr. Mowat has a majority of ten or twelve in the new Legislature. The electors have given him an another lease of power for four years, and with sufficient strength to enable him to resist successfully the enemies of the Federal system. The friends of good government may well rejoice that the Province of Ontario will not be called upon to bear the misfortune of being governed by a lieutenant of Sir John Macdonald, who would be compelled to obay his master, as his master obeys his Quebec colleagues. Ontario has guaranteed to Mr. Mowat an additional four years of Reform rule. Let us hope that before those four years are ended the shadows which overhang the Dominion will have disappeared, and the prospect of a wiser, a more honest, a more friendly Government at Ottawa will have greatly brightened.—London Advertiser.

The reasons why Mr. Mowat, with so good a cause, lost a portion of his former strength in the contest yesterday are not far to seek. The Reform Government had been in office for many years, and in such cases there are always some disappointed office-seekers and sore-heads who either work against their party or "damn it with faint praise." In some of the rural constituencies, where Reform votes preponderate, men who had held seats for 8, 12 or more years had become unpopular, or they had to endure the rivalry of new aspirants who considered themselves entitled to a turn. These things cause lukewarmness, and Reform lukewarmness in in presence of Tory activity is a dangerous attribute. Last, but by no means least, the Mowat Government was fighting the Dominion Government, with Sir John Macdonald as the general in command. That astute politician took control of the Tory forces; he sent his emissaries into doubtful constituencies; he wrote letters by the basketful: he turned the machinery of the Public Works Department to good account, and he used every other agency at his command to secure for his lieutenant, Mr. Meredith, the Premiership of Ontario, and for himself the actual control over this fair Province. A Goverament so powerful and so unscrupulous as that of the Dominion could do effective work. The House of Commons and the Senate have been as good as idle while this Ontario contest was in progress. Sir John had staked a great deal on the victory, which he predicted for the Conservative side, and it is a matter for congratulation that Mr. Mowat's majority was not entirely wiped out.—Hamilton Times.

DIRECT IMPORTATION

—OF—

Hamburg Edgings and Insertions!

THOMAS KELLY

Is offering at present to the Ladies, 14,500 yards, comprising the finest variety of carefully selected, new and exquisite patterns, in Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, ever imported. This stock is of this season's production, of the best St. Gall (Switzerland) manufacture, and was contracted for nine months ago, which enables me to offer the entire lot at fully 25 per cent less than manufacturer's quotations to-day. I invite comparison and criticism of the stock with the fullest assurance that it will be pronounced superior and cheaper to any in the market.

The prices range from 3c. to $1.50 per yard. I call special attention to a job lot of 100 pieces in short lengths and no two pieces alike.

This lot has been collected from different Swiss Manufacturers, being odd strips remaining after orders had been filled for the different European, American and Canadian markets, and purchased for me at a great sacrifice.

Ladies will therefore be enabled to make a selection from a collection of Embroideries, I might state, from the combined tastes of every country in the world. This lot will be sold only by the piece and will be offered at fully 40 per cent below regular prices.

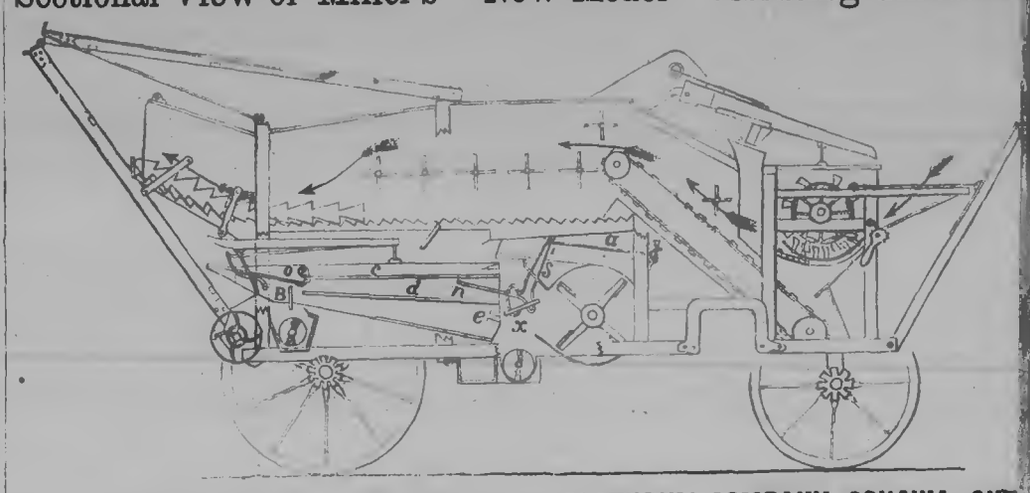
Sectional View of Miller's "New Model" Vibrating Thresher



MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced, in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly
JOHN McDONALD.

ORR, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP.

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR, I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth. the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they have ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

THE FINANCIAL POSITION.

The Journal of Commerce has more than once drawn attention to the increasing expenditure of the Dominion Government, and the rapid rate at which it is multiplying the engagements of the Dominion. The Journal is not a political organ, and as a monetary journal of authority its opinion is worth serious consideration. In its last issue it says: "Although the financial statement of receipts and payments for the last year shows a large surplus of revenue, chiefly owing to enormous customs receipts, which have exceeded those of 1881 by over three millions of dollars, there is at least some cause for anxiety owing to the rapid increase of expenditure, which it will be found difficult to reduce, even if circumstances should render such a course expedient. It must be borne in mind that the National Policy has not yet been tested by a period of depression. It has been repeatedly pointed out that the high protective duties, long in the United States, did not prevent that country from experiencing the effect of the severe depression which was felt throughout the world during fully five years of the last decade The avowed object of protective duties is to discourage importation, and yet since their establishment, Canadian imports have largely increased, so much so that the principal advocates of protection have been uttering warnings without end against over-importation. The truth is that there has been an abnormal expenditure on public works and new factories which is still going on, and which will most assuredly be followed by a period of depression. In the meantime if we compare the expenditure of 1882 with that of 1879 it will be found over $2,500,000 in excess and it may be feared that such excess will not be susceptible of reduction. Two of the principal items of increase, each over $600,000, cannot be reduced. They are the charges for the debt and for Indian annuities. The charges on revenue have increased nearly as much, and can hardly be reduced. We were disappointed at the result of the operation of the Intercolonial, as we had seen flourishing statements of its improved position. In 1879 the charges were $2,010,183.22, and in 1882 $2,069,657.48, but in the former year there was an expenditure of $2,010,674.91 for renewals of permanent way. The revenue in 1879 was $1,294,099.69, while in 1882 it was $2,079,262 with an expenditure of about the same. The Prince Edward Island Railway requires an outlay of about $90,000 in excess of its receipts. It would surely be desirable if possible to get these works into private hands. The Post Office deficiency is rather less, and it may be hoped will soon disappear. The tea duties have been abolished and likewise the stamp duties, and it is not improbable that it will be found necessary to abolish the canal tolls. There is, of course, no ground for alarm at present, but when we find Quebec politicians demanding an increased subsidy of $400,000 for one Province, which means something like $1,250,000 for the whole, it is time to remind them that the public treasury is far from inexhaustible, and that a revenue which depends altogether on large imports is necessarily unreliable There is a tendency to embark in new undertakings which every one must be aware will not only be unproductive but will require to be maintained at a considerable cost. We may on a future occasion notice the items in which there has been an increase of revenue in 1881-2. One of the principal is iron and steel manufacturers. The sugar duties being collected almost exclusivaly in the Province of Quebec and in the Maritime Provinces, have tended to swell the revenue obtained in Quebec, but there is no doubt that the consumption in Ontario is far in excess of that in any other part of the Dominion."

Protecting Canadian Immigrants.

For a few years back the attention of the Dominion Government has been drawn to the necessity of appointing agents to protect immigrants coming to Canada through American territory, as it was well known that they were tampered with by American agents and induced to remain on the other side. Mr. W. A. Shepard, who has been a resident of Winnipeg for the last thirteen years, has been appointed travelling agent for this purpose between Montreal, New York and Winnipeg, and he has been the first to be able to establish an agency in Castle Garden, New York, his partner, Mr. F. H. Scobell, having left Toronto a few days ago to open an agency there, as also in Montreal, New York, and Winnipeg. The headquarters of the firm are in this city at 112½ King street west.—Toronto Mail. Mr. F. H. A Baseless Charge.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD'S cowardly attack on Mr. Blake in the House on Friday was as uncalled-for as it was contemptible. The accusation that Mr. Blake some years ago shammed sickness as an excuse to remain away from an Election Committee is the mere echo of an ancient newspaper slander, of a class frequently employed by the Tory journals to do duty in place of argument. The slander for which Sir John Macdonald assumed the responsibility is one to which Mr. Blake's entire career gives the lie. On the whole, however, it is just as well that the Premier's unscrupulous malevolence inspired its repetition on the floor of the House, as he thereby afforded Mr. Blake the opportunity of promptly and finally nailing the falsehood by the emphatic denial which he has placed on record.

A HASTINGS OYSTER EVENT.

SETTLING A BET ON THE EAST PETERBOROUGH ELECTION.

The Hastings Star, March 7th, says.—An oyster supper—the result of a couple of bets on the election in East Peterborough—came off in the Coughlin House last Friday night. A stranger would have no difficulty in distinguishing the winners from the losers, the jubilant air of the former being in marked contrast with the lugubrious appearance of the latter, who, notwithstanding the assumed condoling expressions, toed the mark with a grim no-surrender looking countenance. Amongst the guests were Thos. Blezard, Esq., the member-elect, Messrs. Wm. Fowlds, Robt. Steele, and others. Covers were well laid for twelve, and after the bi-valves were disposed of, the Reformers, confident of their invincibility, challenged the Conservatives at the board, to a bout on the "light fantastic." The challenge, however, though backed by the ravishing strains of Prof. Dodd's violin—the Tories declined. Speeches were then called for—Mr. Blezard in a neat pithy address "defininghis position." Mr. Steele followed and explained the policy of our city fathers, on the factory question. Mr. Peters pointed out the glorious uncertainties attending an election contest. Equally interesting were the speeches of other members of the party, which being interspersed with songs and toasts rendering it one of the most sociable affairs it has ever been our good fortune to take part in.

"The Only one in America."

The International Throat and Lung institute, Toronto and Montreal, is positively the only one in America where diseases of the air passages alone are treated. Cold inhalations are used through the Spirometer, an instrument or inhaler invented by Dr. M. Souvielle of Paris, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, with proper dietetic, hygienic and constitutional treatment suitable to each case. Thousands of cases of Catarrh, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrhal Deafness and Consumption have been cured at this institute during the last few years. A BAD MAN LYNCHED.

CLEARPORT, Ohio, March 9.—A well-known citizen here has been accused of keeping a disreputable woman in the same house with his wife and family and also with breaking up two families in the neighborhood through disconduct, besides misleading several young women. On Wednesday night a dozen masked men took him from bed, blindfolded, gagged, bound him, and carried him to a ravine a mile from the house and mutilated him shockingly. He was then tied to a tree and left until morning. When discovered he was conveyed home He cannot recover.

Scarcely any disease to which human beings are subjected, is so thoroughly discouraging as Fever and Ague. The periodicial return of alteanate chills, fever and sweating, is terribly depressing. Ayer's Ague cure is the only remedy known, which is certain to cure permanently, by expelling the malarial poison which produces the disease. It does this surely, and leaves no ill effects upon the system.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is paid to the manufacture of COLLARS, no gall shoulders from a misfit guaranteed.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 15, 1883.

Consistency.

The Review and Mr. Carnegie have a unique way of fighting a political contest. Ensconced within their editorial mud tower they confront their opponents, not with recognized political weapons, not with argumentative shot and shell, but with those means of offence and defence which the respectable and fair-minded portion of the electorate abhor. By means of the Review's columns they pour upon those who contend against them politically the refuse of a disordered mind and use that style of warfare which their political antagonists disdainfully contemn.

After a contest characterized by reckless charges and unlawful and unscrupulous conduct on their part and on the part of some of their friends, they impudently and falsely cast upon the Reformers of this Riding, charges ich are unsupported and of which they are themselves guilty. The majority of the electorate understand the peculiar failing so characteristic of the Review and its unworthy editor, and wild startling reflection on the Reform party from such an unjust and unveracious source fast sink into the oblivion that their author will soon share. Although during the late election the Review kept up its old-time reputation for wild and disgraceful assertion and for imputing to their opponents the most perverse and unworthy motives in their most regular and legal acts, and although, since the election it has continued in the same rough course, repeating and re-repeating the silly vagaries of their imagination, like a parrot which has been taught a few bad words yet on Monday last it has an hypocritical editorial with a moral lesson which for inconsistency and pure audacity, is unrivalled. By what chain can we bind such a Proteus who changes his appearance at will and unabashed?

In last Friday's Review, in a card of thanks, with Mr. Carnegie's name at the foot, the following sentence occurs:

"The undersigned desires to return his "most sincere thanks to the electors who "marked their ballots for him last Tuesday, despite the villification, the misrepresentations and the coercion of unscrupulous opponents."

On Monday last the Review has an editorial of which the following is an extract:

"Charges of corruption—and all kinds "of influences used to induce a man to "vote contrary to the dictates of his own "judgment, is corruption in the sense in "which we are now using the word—"should never be made unless those mak-"ing them are not only prepared, but "propose to prove them, because an in-"discriminate flinging about of such "charges is calculated to, and does, weaken "public sentiment with regard to the em-"ployment of such agencies in such con-"tests. They in fact weaken the moral "tone of the community indulging in them."

Without consistency there is no moral strength, and we imagine that from the high moral atmosphere of this riding the Review has no influence. If the Review had any influence—which is a mere supposition—the "moral tone of the community" would be slightly lower than "Pluto's gloomy realms."

In the Friday's issue of that paper we find the following:—

"We must however do our duty by "plainly condemning the corruption and "coercion that was employed to thwart "the will of the great majority of the "free and independent."

In Monday's issue appears the following denunciation of the above:—

"Vague charges * * * can "accomplish nothing, but lower the tone "of the electorate, and lead those dis-"posed to barter their franchise for a "consideration."

After a storm comes a calm, and time for thought. Open confession is good for the soul, and we consider our contemporary must be inexpressibly happy in his repentance.

In his speech in the Opera House, on the night of the election, after the returns had come in, Mr. Carnegie used the following words, as reported by the Review. They were, in fact, much more cowardly and untruthful:

"Undue influences had been used "against him. An unscrupulous Govern-"ment and their officials had done all "they could to defeat him, and attempts "had been made to coerce the electors by "every possible means."

From Monday's issue of the Review we extract the following criticism:—

"No man should make a charge against "another of the kind to which we are refer-"ring except upon such evidence as he be-"lieves will substantiate it in a court of "law, and if he has such evidence, only "one of two courses is open to any honor-"able man, namely, either to bring the "matter before the courts or hold his "tongue about it. Which of these two "courses it is his or their duty to pursue is "a question which he or they can alone "decide. But to talk about it without sub-"mitting their charges to a legal test is at "once cowardly and calculated to degrade "public life."

From the direct antagonism between these two extracts we surmise there is a petty jealousy between the two editors of the Review, and that when one is absent the other seeks a miserable revenge.

In the Review of March 9th there is an editorial entitled "Prostituting their Patronage," in which the words "flagrantly dishonest and corrupt," "immoral," and such elegant adjectives are as thick as the united heads of our contemporary. Yet, he who makes and acknowledges and ratifies these assertions is he who secretly smuggled the Hon. Mr. Costigan a Minister of the Crown into Peterborough, late on Saturday night before the election, as if he were a fugitive from justice, who all day Sunday plied those immense resources at his command, and who was hurried out of Peterborough as if a price was on his head. Did Mr. Costigan prostitute his patronage, his office, or his influence?

But to quote again from the Review:—

"We hold that it is the duty of any "political party who has reason to believe "that it has been worsted by the use of "undue influence of any kind to probe the "matter to the bottom. But that will be "best and most efficiently done, not by "making loose and general charges, but by "bringing the matter before the courts."

Mr. Mowat's Position.

Our esteemed local contemporary shows a deep concern in Mr. Mowat's welfare, and is greatly exercised through the fear that he will not be able to retain power by his present following. It is impossible to conceal the chagrin felt by the local organ at the result of the Ontario elections. It is, indeed, exasperating that after the expenditure of such immense sums of money and the exercise of such tremendous exertions, the "little tyrant" didn't "go." We don't share the Review's solicitude in regard to the permanency of Mr. Mowat's Government. He has as much of a following as any honest government needs, and no doubt will get along nicely. His majority in the House is indeed reduced; but he has the grand reflection that his majority, small as his enemies affect to make it, was honestly earned. No premier of this or any other province has ever had to resist the attacks of such a band of political banditti as charged on Mr. Mowat, and though in the assault he may have lost a few of his forces, he still retains the flower of his army, strengthened with many promising recruits. If Mr. Mowat had chosen to fight the devil with his own weapons—if he had chosen to yield himself to the supreme infamy of enacting a parallel to the gerrymander bill of Sir John, his following would have been more numerous, if less honestly gained; and, besides, Mr. John Carnegie, lacking the aid of Lakefield and Harvey, and with Otonabee thrown against him, would have been left in the seclusion of private life, to cultivate his amateur farm or share the brain-racking "responsibility" of concocting the editorial thunders of our contempory. The treasury benches will not need to be upholstered for the occupation of our Tory friends for some time to come.

Buy your Curtain Net and Lambrequins at Turnbull's where you will find a good selection of patterns.

Nearly Two to One.

Immediately after the late election the Toronto Organ of the Conservative party boastingly claimed, and its echoes in the country remade the assertion, that although the Mowat Government was sustained the Opposition had a majority of the whole total vote cast. How far this is from the truth may be seen from the following figures taken from the official returns so far as received.

LIBERALS.
Total majorities	8,509
Elected by acclamation (4)	1,767
Total	10,267
CONSERVATIVES.
Total majorities	5,414
Elected by acclamation (1)	467
Total	5,881

Nearly two to one for the Goverament.

The Premier's Shuffling.

The Dominion Premier has made terribly brave threats as to how he would show "Mr. Mowat, that little tyrant, that he (Sir John) would get a bill passed at Ottawa returning to the municipalities the power taken away from them by the License Act." He also inserted in the Speech from the Throne a clause promising the introduction of a Government measure to prevent the "unrestrained sale of intoxicating liquors." While the doughty Premier was making political capital and buncombe out of the matter he retained his wonted jauntiness, but when it came to committing himself seriously by introducing a bill on the subject, his braggadocio evaporated, and he had recourse to one of the shuffles that he has found so convenient in the course of his political adventures. Instead of introducing a measure covering the ground, as he is eminently able to do, he betrays the insincerity of his Yorkville utterances and confesses to have put words without meaning, except in the way of influencing political sentiment, into His Excellency's mouth, and shirks all responsibility in the matter, seeking to hide the great I he has kept so prominently before the country since last June by referring the matter of a bill to a Committee of the House! Thus "Canada's greatest statesman" shows his statesmanship by shrinking from bringing in a Government measure he has personally promised on the platform and solemnly pledged himself in the Speech from the Throne to do, and asking a committee, composed of Opposition members to a large extent, to frame a bill on the subject. This action is either a confession of incompetence or cowardice. None will accuse the "statesman" of incompetence.

His boasted assurance of action, his promises did not exercise the political influence hoped for, and therefore, fearful of committing himself by action instead of brag, he seeks to throw the responsibility on a Committee of the House. This is the style of trickery, which, practised for thirty years, has won from his not over-scrupulous admirers the mock heroic title of "Canada's greatest statesman." This last shuffle is only another proof o the self-evident fact that Sir John Macdonald, although a public man with very few equals in point of ability, is essentially destitute of political morality and has done more to corrupt and debase the tone of public morality in Canada than any other politician in this or any other civilized country.

Sir John Responsible.

For whatever evil results follow the delay of the settlement of the question of the northren boundary of the province Sir John Macdonald is clearly and solely responsible. It is through his subservient yielding to the dictation of the Bleu politicians of Quebec that the matter was not long since placed beyond dispute. With the following in the House which he commands he should, if he were so disposed, have no trouble in passing an Act ratifying the award. As the matter now stands the delay in the settlement of the question retards the developement of the disputed tereitory, whose importance is daily made more apparent. If the people of Ontario had more fully appreciated the value of the territory a greater interest would have been taken in the question at the election contest just closed. The mining interests alone are of unquestionable magnitude, for there are alaeady twenty mining companies established, but in their operations they are handicapped by the doubt as to what Government they owe allegiance. The fame of the mines has reached England, and numerous applications for stock in organized companies are being made. Professor Walbridge, of the British Museum, has made an exceedingly favorable report of the richness of the quartz of those regious. But in spite of all these facts, the development of this vast wealth will be seriously retarded by the insecurity of title to property. If the territory belongs to Ontario the Dominion cannot give good title, and vice versa if it belongs to the Dominion, Ontario cannot give a title.

Besides, the interests of justice will be sacrificed. Two alleged murderers are now ready for trial in Winnipeg. Both crimes were committed in the territory awarded Ontario, but now claimed by Manitoba. Instead of these cases being tried on their merits Sir John has made it inevitable, by ceding territory awarded to Ontario to Manitoba, that the question of jurisdiction will be raised, and thus two murderers may be acquitted, or in any event a failure of justice will ensue. Thus Sir John is not only responsible for making the tenure of lands uncertain, but for placing the lives of settlers in the disputed territory at the mercy of lawless ruffians, who may indulge their brutal instincts, feeling that the uncertainty in respect of jurisdiction will promote their chances for escaping from the hands of justice. The evils that will result from the delay in the settlement of the question will show every day more clearly, that Mr. Mowat in standing up for the rights of Ontario, was acting a patriotic and unselfish part.

There now sit in the House of Commons two members returned, not by a majority of votes, but by the fiat of two of Sir John's subservient returning officers. Mr. J. J. Hawkins sits in the House though he received a minority of the votes of the electors of Bothwell, and the representative of King's county, P. E. I., though elected by the people is kept out of the House by a partizan returning officer, whose unwarranted and unlawful action was endorsed by the mechanical majority in the House last Monday.

Editorial Notes.

The new Legislature will have nine members of the Catholic faith—five Liberals and four Tories, viz: Hon C. F. Fraser, Thomas Murray, Dr Dowling, Dr McMahon, Col Morin (Liberals), S. White, P. Baskerville, J. Clancy, H. Robillard (Conservaties.)

Each vote of Denison's majority of 183 over Deroche in Addington cost the Dominion Government (with the people's money, of course) $600. Mr. Deroche was defeated, not on a question of provincial policy, but on a purely local question—the refusal of the Government to give a subsidy to the Napanee, Tamworth & Quebec railway. Taking advantage of this the Dominion Government promised a grant of $4,000 per mile there are twenty-eight miles, not for any road of great public utility, but for a little pig-tail line twisting from point to point in same county.

Wise & Otherwise.

A LITTLE ROGUE.

Grandma was nodding, I rather think;
Harry was sly and quick as a wink;
He climbed on the back of her great arm-chair,
And nestled himself very snugly there.
Grandma's dark locks were mingled with white,
And quick this little fact came to his sight:
A sharp twinge soon she felt at her hair.
And woke with a start to find Harry there.
"Why, what are you doing, my child?" she said.
He answered: "I'se pulling a hasting fread!"

Ladies who want Stylish patterns in Prints, should pay Munro & Alexander a visit. They are now showing the newest things in "Floral Effects," &c. Sateen Cloths in every desirable shade.

There is a strong feeling in favor of wool fabrics for spring wear, and nuns' veilings and vermicelli cloths are the most popular materials. Pink and blue are popular colours in prints, and some exceedingly pretty floral effects have been produced in this article. In cretonnes some exceptionally fine patterns are being shown this season, and these goods, on account of their extreme prettiness, are interfering with the sale of wool damasks and reps.

Housekeepers who intend purchasing Cretonnes would do well to examine the stock of those goods at Munro & Alexanders'. Their assortment of patterns is acknowledged to be the best in Peterborough.

The favourite shades during the coming summer will be frais ecroisais, acajou, terre cuite, mordore, and electric. There may be a few whom these terms will fail to enlighten as to the popular hues, and they will be pleased to learn that frais ecroisais is another name for crushed strawberries, that acajou is literally mahogony, and terre cuite is French for terra cotta. Crushed gooseberries or bruised lemons have not yet been heard of from Paris, but certainly crushed strawberries is a very pretty idea, and suggests something exceedingly sweet in the way of trimmings.

Munro & Alexander have several very desirable lines of Union and all Wool Dress Goods to hand. They will open out in a day or two a direct importation of Nun's Veilings, in all the newest shades including "Crushed Strawberries" and "Cream." Prices right.

Though not in these days generally cultivated, at least in Europe, the despised nettle was at one time, and that for several centuries, held in high honour and esteem throughout the world. In Kamschatka the fibres have long been used for fishing-lines; in France they have been made into paper; in Hindustan and China, woven into so-called "grass cloth;" and in Scotland and some parts of England the stalks have been dressed, spun, and woven into linen as good as that made from flax; while the old German name for muslin, "nettle-cloth," shows that it must have been at one time extensively used for weaving purposes on the Continent.

A full assortment of the celebrated Crompton Corset at Munro & Alexander's. They are selling a very good Spoon Busk Corset at 50 cents a pair. Ladies Collars and neck-wear in a variety of styles.

RUINING THE REVENUE.—"Come on, Jamie, an' I'se stan' ye a gill." Jamie: "Na, man; I've joined the Blue Ribbon." "Man, what gar'd ye dae that, Jamie?" Jamie: "I did it tae spite aul' Gledstane. There'll be an awfu' hole in the revenue this year."

A POLITICAL CONUNDRUM.—Why was the late affair in Egypt like a game of whist? Because Turkey shuffled Arabi cut—Britain led and played the deuce—France played the knave and wanted honours.

Munro & Alexander are now showing a large stock of New Ducks and Denims. Strong Tweeds, Cotton Shirtings, Grey and White Cottons. Tickings and Table Linens.

At a recent card party at the house of a popular London dentist, the counters used were false teeth. At first the ladies present seemed very sensitive about touching the little white heaps, but as the evening wore on the more false teeth each fair dame possessed the happier she seemed. When the counters were totalled up at the end of the game there were only three more than had been originally given out.

For handsome patterns in Embroideries and Lace goods try Munro & Alexander's. Lace Scarfs and Fichus in all Styles, Cream and Black. Millinery and Mantle goods arriving daily.

"Is your ma sick again?" "O, no, ma is healthy enough now she has got a new fur-lined cloak. She played consumption on pa, and coughed, and made pa believe she couldn't live, and got the doctor to prescribe a fur-lined circular, and pa went and got one, and ma has improved awfully. Her cough has allgone, and she can now walk ten miles."

If you want excellent value in Black Dress and Mantle Cashmeres buy from Munro & Alexander.

Beautiful heavy Mantle Cashmeres just to hand, also full lines of Black Silks and Ottoman Cloths.

Mantles, Circulars, and Ulsters, made to order and perfect fit and finish guaranteed.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—First Session.

WEDNESDAY.

In the Commons to-day the first readings were given to several bills, to incorporate and amend the charters of Railway Companies and Mr. Wells introduced his bill to facilitate the naturalization of aliens. Mr. Blake moved for papers in reference to the claims of Prince Albert and neighboring towns in the Northwest in respect of lands they occupy, in fact respecting the rights squatters, and the motion was agreed to. A Committeee was appointed to consider the subject of inter-provincial trade. Mr. Cameron, (Huron) moved for copies of correspondance respecting the Charybdis, which he said could be shown from public documents to be a "rotten old tub."

A number of private bills were read a second time.

THURSDAY.

In the Senate Hon. Senator Campbell moved the second reading of the Loan Bill, which was agreed to.

In the Commons, several petitions were presented for the incorporation of the "Loyal Orange Association of British North America."

Several bills were read to incorporate railway and other companies.

Mr. White (Renfrew) introduced a bill further to amend the Consolidated Railway Act, 1879, explaining that the object was to make railway companies responsible for damages to horses and cattle caused by the absence of fences, whether notice had been given to them to erect the fences by adjoining proprietors or not, which was read the first time.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

Mr. McCarthy moved the second reading of a bill to constitute a railway commissioners' court, which, after an animated discussion, was allowed to be read a second time and then strangled by reference to the Committee on Railways.

FRIDAY.

The most animated discussion of the session so far took place in the Commons this afternoon on the question of the double return in King's county, P. E. I. The opposing candidates were Robertson (Liberal), and McDonald (Conservative). The former received a majority of the votes, but the returning officer, instead of declaring him elected, reported that he was ineligible because, at the time of the election he was a member of the Local Legislature of Prince Edward Island. About two weeks ago Mr. Cameron, of Huron, brought the matter up as a question of privilege, and moved a resolution declaring the duty of the Returning Officer was simply to declare elected, candidate receiving the majority of votes.

Sir John Macdonald resumed the debate to-day, arguing that some doubt existed as to whether under the law any judicial functions were left with the returning officers, and moved the reference of the question to the committee on privileges and elections on the ground that it was purely a legal question, with which the committee could better deal than the House.

Mr. Davies, from P. E. I., took the strong ground that our election law prescribed the specific duty of the returning officer after receiving the nominations of two or more candidates to be to declare elected the one obtaining a majority of the votes.

Mr. Brecken, another P. E. Islander, undertook to defend the returning officer's action, but gave the whole case away by admitting that he would have been more in the line of his duty if he had merely returned the result of the voting and left the question of qualification to be decided by the courts.

Mr. Blake made a telling speech, showing conclusively that our election law carefully withheld all judicial functions from the returning officers. This man had not undertaken to exercise judicial functions. He had simply refrained from performing the plain duties which the law prescribed. This was one result of the premier's audacious measure, by which he took the appointment of returning officers into his own hands, and was then able to control the elections throughout the whole dominion, as in Carleton and Lennox. This remark was the occasion of quite a little scene.

At the close of Mr. Blake's speech Sir John Macdonald rose with an air of injured and indignant innocence, and twisting Mr. Blake's reference to his constituencies into a personal attack upon himself, retorted by accusing Mr. Blake of having been conveniently absent through supposed illness from the election committee in 1877 during the whole time of the enquiry into the charges against the late Speaker Anglin.

Mr. Blake jumped up, hot with anger, and defiantly hurled back Sir John's insinuation, saying that he wondered the honorable gentleman dared to say such a thing.

Sir John's clever bit of acting succeeded for a moment in turning attention away from the subject of discussion, and in partially breaking the effect of Mr. Blake's speech. Mr. McCarthy, however, again took up the thread of discussion, arguing for a reference to the committee.

Mr. Hector Cameron moved the adjournment of the debate in order to enable members to go to the Nilsson concert.

The only other business worthy of note to-day was the introduction of a bill by a French member, Mr. Catudal, to limit the rate of interest to six per cent, and a bill by Mr. Weldon to declare valid without double stamping promissory notes otherwise valid.

The select committee in charge of Mr. Charlton's adultery and seduction bill to-day agreed to recommend it with the elimination of the clause relating to adultery.

MONDAY.

The first hour in the commons to-day was devoted to private bills, no less than fourteen out of the thirty no the paper dealing with railways. Mr. Hector Cameron has so many of these on hand that he confessed to not having read some of them, when asked for an explanation by the opposition leader.

On the second reading of the bill affecting the temporalities fund of the Auld Kirk, Mr. Charlton explained that on account of the shrinkage in the fund, it was deemed advisable to reduce by 25 per cent. the amount of the allowance to all beneficiaries except those known as commutary beneficiaries, who would continue to receive $450 per annum.

Several members read letters from beneficiaries protesting against the bill, and Mr. Cameron (Victoria) denounced it as adding robbery to robbery.

KINGS COUNTY ELECTION RETURN.

The debate on the Kings county, P. E. I, election case was resumed, Mr. Hector Cameron having the floor. He contended that the proper step to take was to refer the case to the committee on elections as moved in the amendment by the premier. Like other ministerialists, who have spoken on the subject, he said the returning officer's duty was partly judicial, and that, therefore, the action of the officer who officiated in King's was justifiable.

Mr. Mackenzie, who followed, argued in favor of the return of Dr. Robertson solely on the basis of the election act of 1874, which he had a hand in framing. The duty of a returning officer was plain and simple. He had to sum up the votes and declare elected the candidate who received the highest number of votes four days after the polling. The returning officer in question had violated his duty in not declaring Mr. Robertson, who had a majority of 60 over Mr. Macdonald, elected. The act gave the officer no judicial power whatever, his duties were solely mandatory. He submitted an amendement condemning the action of the returning officer and declaring Dr. Robertson duly elected for Kings.

The result of the division on Mr. Mackenzie's amendment was yeas 61, nays 119. Sir John's amendment that the case go to the committee was carried on the same division. This is the first division of the session, and, it is by no means creditable to the government. The opposition undoubtedly had law and right on their side, and Sir John Macdonald has countenanced a breach of the statute disregarded the wishes of the majority of the people of King's simply to add one to a majority that is already too large.

The house adjourned at 10.55.

Particular attention paid to ordered work in Mantles and Ulsters, at Turnbull's.

THE MUSKOKA ELECTION.

Never since the election in which the Pacific Scandal money was distributed has the Conservative party fought one in Muskoka on the lines they are now pursuing; and never have these been more disgraceful. Had the constituency been left to itself the Conservatives there conceded a majority of four hundred to Mr. Bettis; our friends claimed one of six hundred. But it was not left to itself. A week ago last Friday night John Shields, of Section B notoriety, appeared on the scene. The next day witnessed the arrival of Anderson, the defeated of North York, how like Shields of Manitoba, together with his "gum swamp" friends, and a dozen others of the like intellectual and moral calibre. Like the famous locusts of Egypt, the "operators" from almost every doubtful constituency during the late contest swarmed into Muskoka and Parry Sound districts, until in a week they have formed a brigade sufficient to cover, on their own boasting, every one of the sixty-four polling places in the two districts. They have not gone there to address the electors. That has been left to Deacon, Madill, and "Big Push" Wilkinson. Quin, the defeated of East Simcoe; McKindsey, the defeated of Halton; H. H. Smith, of Peterboro'; R. R. Pringle, of Cobourg, and men of that class are not famous as orators, but they are known to possess other peculian qualifications—qualifications that have been exercised in more contests than one.

Such an army of cattle buyers as has invaded the constituency for the last ten days under the leaders mentioned has not been seen for ten years before. Every trick that experience could dictate or unscrupulous ingenuity devise is being played. Sleigh-loads of loafers and non-voters are being arranged to be taken from the organized to vote in the unorganized townships. Millers are offering barrels of flour on extemely long credit—eternity, in fact. Taxes unpaid are to be wiped out. In thorough despair, unblushing bribery has been resorted to during the last few days. In many cases, money has been left with our friends, as was done extensively as a last resort in West Wellington. Depending on this, Toronto and other cities, and towns have been ransacked for law students, who yesterday poured into the constituency to act as scrutineers to-day and swear our voters.

Great efforts are being made to induce the employees of the Canada Pacific to vote at Nipissing. Indian agents have gone in, followed by the Indian Commissioner himself. Every nonr esident Conservative voter has been sent for, and his expenses liberally paid.

The usual crop of lying circulars have been distributed. The first was a card stating that the Mowat Government was defeated by four. At its heels was distributed some thousands of another fly-sheet containing a copy of an Order in Council reserving cedar under the Public Lands Act, falsely asserted to apply to the lands under the Free Grants Act. Then in quick succession came half a dozen others. Lies, misstatements, tricks, dodges, and unlimited money are the arguments used to convince the free and intelligent electors of the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts.

But whether successful or unsuccessful we hope every respectable man in the Province, irrespective of party, will join with us in expressing his hearty condemnation of the tactics and policy pursued by the Conservative party in this contest in Muskoka. Not only are they disgraceful, but they are illegal. It is not only that all the influence of the Dominion Government has been used, but that the means employed have been degrading in themselves to the electoral morality of the country, and to the good name and fame of our Province. And it is to be hoped that public condemnation will not only be meted out to the miserable instruments who are striving to debauch a constituency, but will also fall upon the party which could stoop so low as to authorise and use them.—Globe.

VISIT TO PETERBOROWGH.

SPECIALISTS

From the International Throat & Lung Institute, 173 Church St. Toronto, will be at the Oriental House, Peterborough, three days, March 19, 20 and 21.

The Surgeons will have with them a supply of Spirometers, the invention of M. Souvielle, of Paris, ex-aide Surgeon of the French Army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and a trial of the Spirometer free. Don't fail to see the Surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by doctors in general practice.

Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. As proof of our wonderful cures, we would refer you to Mrs. Spike, Harrowsmith P. O., near here, Consumption; H. Milne, Kingston, Asthma; Mr. DeBoucherville, Ottawa, Catarrh; Eli Caverly, Aylmer, Ont., Consumption; J. D. Armstrong, Toronto Catarrhal deafness; Geo. Avar, New Edinburgh, Bronchitis and Lung disease: and thousands of just as wonderful cures which we could refer to. For information write to 173 Church St. Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

Paris despatches announce a most unsettled condition of affairs there. The Socialists, undaunted by their fiasco of Friday, arranged for another demonstration on Sunday, but this prompt measures taken by the Government prevented its culmination. In the Chamber of Deputies M. Paul de Cassagnac attacked the Government, and the Minister of the Interior charged the Monarchists with encouraging the disorderly meetings. Louise Michel is hiding to escape arrest of her treasonable address at the fiasco on Friday.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

SANDERSON'S

FOR FINEST JEWELRY, WATCHES, CLOCKS, PLATED WARE AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Feeding Sheep.

Throwing fodder on the ground for sheep is a wasteful practice. Racks will more than pay for themselves in a single winter, and any handy farmer can make his own. Ewes that are to drop lambs need warm and separate pens.

Marketing Grain.

The farmer who holds his grain keeps back just so much money from circulation, while the grain itself shrinks in weight and furnishes a ready store of food for rats. It is not the best economy to keep one's granary full, even though prices are low.

Linseed Meal.

A little linseed meal is excellent for horses and colts, and any team will do better with a sprinkling of it in their oats every day. Sheep will fatten faster with a mixture of it, and their wool will be brighter and better. Linseed improves the look of the coat, whether it be hair or wool.

Advertising Ontario.

Thanks to the statistics of grain productions collected by the Bureau of Industries, Ontario is now being thoroughly advertised throughout Great Britain. Agricultural and other journals are now giving those statistics a wide publicity, and our Province is likely to be a large gainer in consequence.

A Great Mistake.

It is a mistake to suppose that exposure to severe weather makes animals hardy. They are far better off under cover during storms, but the buildings in which they are housed should be provided with thorough means of ventilation. Wholesome air is a prime requisite of health.

Care of Stock.

Anything which increases the comfort of an animal is likely to be of permanent benefit to it, and also to the owner. For this reason, warmth in winter and coolness in hot weather are always important, in addition to all the good food needed. The question should always be, not how little can be fed, but how much at a profit; and, also, how much less food, when the animal can be made thoroughly comfortable, by proper shelter and care, aside from food.

Training a Colt.

Bad horses are more frequently made than born. It is very much in the bringing up, in the way a colt is cared for, and the manner in which it is broken. Firmness, with kindness, goes very far in making a valuable horse. The colt should early learn that it is never to be deceived; that it is to be encouraged and rewarded when obedient, and punished by the withholding of caresses when disobedient. The same natural qualities that make a horse vicious, will, with proper treatment, make one of those intelligent and spirited horses that all desire to possess. The true trainer of colts is gentle, loving, firm and thoughtful, and the young animals of his charge partake of the same qualities.

Handy Home Hints.

If you put soda in the water with which you are to wash windows you will find that finger-marks, putty stains, etc., will be much more easily removed than if clear water alone is used.

PALMETTO FLANNEL CAKES. One pint of buttermilk, two well-beaten eggs, flour enough to make a stiff batter. The flour to be mixed, half wheat and half corn flour. Put a spoonful of sea-foam into the flour, and cook on a griddle.

BREAKFAST WAFFLES. After breakfast stir into the hominy that is left one teaspoonful of butter and a little salt. Set it aside. The next morning thin it with milk and add two eggs, beaten well. Stir in flour enough to make the right consistency, and bake in waffle-irons.

WARMED-OVER POTATOES. Treat these in the same way as the scolloped, leaving out the flour and using less milk. It is a much nicer way than slicing them into an old tin basin and giving a stir now and then with an iron spoon while part of the potato and all the butter burns on and flavours the mass.

RICE CHICKEN PIE.—Line a pudding dish with slices of broiled ham, cut up a boiled chicken and nearly fill the dish, filling in with gravy or melted butter; add minced onions if you like, or a little curry powder; then pile boiled rice to fill insterstices, and cover the top quite thick. Bake it for a half or three-quarters of an hour.

In these days when eggs are so expensive, it is worth something to know that one egg will settle a pound of coffee. Warm it in the oven, break in the egg and stir two or three minutes. Every kernel will be glazed and the coffee clear as wine. Ground coffee can be treated in the same way. It must not get so hot as to cook the egg.

A CHILD'S STOMACH. A good way to regulate a child's stomach is to give him milk every day for breakfast or dinner; see that it is well salted, as salt promotes digestion. The ailments of a child who is in a normal condition almost always proceed from the stomach, and much may be done for our children by paying some attention to their diet, and so avoid giving medicine as much as possible.

WATERMELON CAKE.—White part: One and a half cups of sugar, one half cup of sweet milk milk, whites of three eggs, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, two rounding cups of flour. Red part: One cup red sugar sand, one-half cup of milk, one-fourth cup of butter, yolks of three eggs, one cup of raisins chopped not too fine, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, two cups of flour, to be baked in a large dish: put the red in the centre and the white around it.

[Seward (Neb.) Reporter.]

REMARKABLE DISCLOSURES.

Mr. B. S. Crane, manager and treasurer of the Alvin Joslin Comedy Campany, struck Cheyenne the other day upon business connected with the appearance of that splendid company in this city at an early day. A reporter called upon Mr. Crane at his rooms at the Inter-ocean and spent a few pleasant minutes in conversation about the coming attraction. Mr. Crane assured the writer that the personnel of the company is all that could be desired and that the public may look for even better performances this season than last. Noticing that the manager looked a little pale the writer remarks upon the fact, but received the reply that he was in good health.

"But," "continued Mr. Crane," "I did have a pretty serious time of it last summer in New York."

"What was the trouble?"

"I had a very sharp attack of rheumatism. The disease attacked my left leg and left arm, and for a time I could neither walk upon the one nor raise the other to my head. I suffered horribly. Did you ever have the rheumatism, sir?" addressing the reporter. "If ever you are stricken with it there is one thing which I can recommend as a pretty sure cure, and one which will probably give you quicker relief than anything else you can employ. I refer to the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. I am aware of the prejudice which many entertain against advertised medicines. I felt thus about the St. Jacobs Oil and thought my aversion was too deeply rooted to be dissipated. But a man will sometimes catch at a hope as it flies. I purchased a bottle of it, when I found nothing else I applied would give relief and commenced applying it. It proved a most effectual remedy, and the use of three bottles cured me."

"And, you are now quite a devotee of St. Jacobs Oil?"

"That is, perhaps, drawing it too strongly. I certainly do believe it a fine specific for rheumatism, and, as my belief is based upon personal experience, I don't mind recommending its use to others."

In the office of the hotel, the reporter met Mr. Geo. A. Dunlap, who is the popular and efficient representative in Cheyenne of the Chicago firm of Wood Bros., live stock commission merchants. Happening to mention the interview with the manager of the Alvin Joslin company and what he said about St. Jacobs Oil, Mr. Dunlap replied that he was not surprised at the narration of the circumstances, for the Great German Remedy was a good medicine and he could also commend its virtues.

"Are you struck on Oil, too, Mr. Dunlap?"

"Well I don't exactly put it that way, but I believe it a good remedy all the same. My experience with it is somewhat limited, but of sufficiently recent date to make me vividly remember what it has done for me. While superintending the loading of cattle this Autumn, I fell from a car and seriously hurt my left knee. I believe a blood vessel was ruptured and the muscles severly strained. I could not walk for several days, and do not know that I would be capable of active locomotion now, were it not for the kindly offices of St. Jacobs Oil. Its powerful healing and stimulating properties put me right on my feet. It did, for a fact, and you can use the information if you so please."

"Almost everybody," remarked Mr. A. C. Stayart, representing Weber, Howland & Co., wholesale dealers in hats and caps at Denver, "uses St. Jacobs Oil where I came from. I once had a very sore foot and very naturally employed the Great German Remedy. It cured my foot in a very short time. I also can commend it."

"Are there there any other gentleman present, who would like to endorse this wonderful specific?" said the reporter.

"It has assumed the importance of a public question, and I intend to write it up for the benefit of others who may need the offices of this medicine."

"Yes," replied Mr. Wm. H. Dunlap, representing the great coffee house of Jewett, Sherman & Co., Milwaukee, "put me down as another believer in St. Jacobs Oil. I had rheumatism and St. Jacobs Oil cured me. You can just bet on it every time."

"Gentlemen," remarked the reporter, "this is a remarkable coincidence. Two Mr. Dunlaps, each of whom never met the other, both endorsing St. Jacobs Oil, followed by another gentleman in the room. It is a regular experience meeting. It will not be paralleled soon in Cheyenne."

The reporter was subsequently informed by one of the prominent druggists in the city that Father Hays had also used the Great German Remedy for rheumatism, and, having been cured, commended its employ to his people.

The above is a true bill, and may be relied upon.

LADIES.

STORY OF A BOY WHO THOUGHT THERE WERE TWO KINDS.

As a young lady walked hurriedly down King street upon a bleak November day, her attention was attracted to a deformed boy coming toward her carrying several bundles. He was thinly clad, twisted his limbs most strangely as he walked, and looked before him with a vacant stare. Just before the cripple reached the brisk pedestrian he stumbled, thus dropping one bundle, which broke and emptied a string of sausages on the sidewalk. The richly-dressed ladies(?) near by, held back their silken skirts and whispered quite audibly, "How horrid!" while several who passed by, amused by the boy's look of blank dismay, gave vent to their feelings in a half-suppressed laugh, and then went on without taking further interest.

All this increased the boy's embarrassment. He stooped to pick up the sausages only to let fall another parcel, when in despair, he stood and looked at the lost spoils. In an instant the bright-faced stranger stepped to the boy's side and said in a tone of thorough kindness.

"Let me hold those other bundles while you pick up what you have lost."

In dumbastonishment the cripple handed all he held to the young Samaritan, and devoted himself to securing his cherished sausages. When these were again strongly tied in the coarse torn paper, her daft hands replaced the parcels on his scrawny arms, as she bestowed on him a smile of encouragement and said, "I hope you haven't far to go.' The poor fellow seemed scarcely to hear the girl's pleasant words; but looking at her with the same vacant stare he asked:

"Be you a lady?"

"I hope so; I try to be," was the surprised response.

"I was kind of hoping you wasn't."

"Why?" asked the listener, with curiosity quite aroused.

"'Cause I've seen such as called themselves ladies, but they never spoke kind and pleasant like, 'cepting to to grand uns. I guess there's two kinds—them as thinks they's ladies and isn't, and them as what tries to be and is."

WEDDING FESTIVITIES.

Grand Pageantry at the Berlin Court.

Magnificence and Splendor The Time of "Good Queen Bess" Typified.

The pageantry in honor of the silver wedding festivities of the Crown Prince and Princess of Germany at the Berlin Court is thus described:

The White Saloon was lighted with 10,000 wax candles and 160 electric lights, the combination producing a remarkably lustrous effect and enhancing the brilliant richness of the magnificent costumes and jewels of those present. At nine o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" burst forth and the royal personages entered the saloon, the Emperor escorting the Queen of Saxony, and the Crown Prince, dressed in the white uniform of a Pomeranian cuirassier, escorting the Crown Princess. She wore a magnificent dress of white damask, a coronet of diamonds, and a ribbon across the breast, woven with the colors of the eight orders she holds, including the English order of the Star of India. The Prince of Wales was in the crimson uniform of the Blucher Hussars, of which regiment he has been recently appointed colonel. After them followed the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, the King of Saxony, Prince Rudolph of Austria, and other princely and noble guests. The Emperor, Crown Prince and Crown Princess took their seats upon the throne, the other personages being ranged according to rank with punctilious care. While the illustrious spectators were taking their places the picture galleries and other saloons adjacent to the White Saloon were thronged by a brilliant crowd of nearly six hundred nobles, ladies and gentlemen, attired in the costumes of past ages, and awaiting the signal for the entrance of the pageant. After an ode to the flower of England, which had embraced the Hohenzollern stem, invoking eternal bloom and prosperity on the spreading Hohenzollern tree, the music again sounded as the stately procession representing the time of Emperor Frederick, who ruled the holy Roman Empire from 1440 to 1493, entered the White Saloon. Then followed the pageant of the Mienesingers. Princess Wilhelmina, the Crown Prince's daughter-in-law, represented the Queen of Love, and was borne into the saloon in a triumphant chariot radiant with flowers and attended by 60 minstrels, pages, and ladies.

PAGEANT OF QUEEN ELIZABETH.

The trumpets again sounded and two heralds appeared their tabards quartered with the ancient arms of England, the lions, and the lilies of France. They heralded the advance of the English. Then came six yeomen of the guard, whose costumes are still preserved in the quaint dress of the "Beefeaters" of the Tower of London. After them followed pages and gentlemen in waiting. After them came the Court Chamberlain, and then Queen Elizabeth, whose entrance caused a sensation, so startling was the resemblance of Countess Ode zu Stolberg Wernigerode in face and dress to the traditional idea of the greatest of English monarchs. Her dress was of velvet, ermine, and silver brocade, with a high ruff all profusely studded with jewels and accurately copied from the pictures of the period. Following Her Majesty came the Prince and Princess of Navarre, who were supposed to be on a visit to the English Court. They were represented by Prince Frederick of Hohenzollern and Princess Charlotte of Saxe-Meiningen, after them came a brilliant crowd of courtiers and ladies, represented by most of the foreign and diplomatic society of Berlin, in splendid costumes, presenting a marvellous picture of the stirring times of the great Elizabeth, the golden age of English literature, and the age of Shakespeare, Spenser, Sidney, Leicester, and Raleigh.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY.

The portion of the pageant, typifying the greatest period in English history, was specially dedicated to the Crown Princess of Prussia, the eldest daughter of Queen Victoria and the future Empress of Germany as the preceding procession, represented Germany's golden age, was intended as a compliment to the Crown Prince.

ANCIENT QUADRILLES.

Following the pageant, of Queen Elizabeth came an ancient English quadrille, organized by Lady Ampthill, wife of the British Ambassador Sixteen couples, led by Prince William of Prussia and Princess Victoria, went through the quaint, sodate, and graceful motions, an invisible orchestra and chorus playing and chanting the melody of the time said to have been composed by Queen Elizabeth herself. The manuscript was found in Windsor Castle.

THE AGONY OF A COUGH.

Let any person with a fresh cough imagine it gaining on him day after day and year after year. Let him couple with it the dread of consumption, the long years of weakness, the months of acute suffering, the agonies of death. He will then not hesitate to obtain the best cough remedies at the first appearance of this evidence of disease. Mr. H. G. Mann of Kingsly, P.Q., says, "I have been for several years alarmed by an affection of the lungs. After a time I obtained and used several bottles of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. Before the first was finished I raised a number of hard gluey globules and my troubles left me entirely."

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

Kahoka, Mo., Feb. 9, 1881.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. Thery did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. WM. T. McCLURE.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any persons in the country. We have a large sale, and they are making remarkable cures. W. H. BISHOP & CO. 10-2t

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Low-tied shoes are the best for seabathing wear.

Mrs. Gray, 69 Muter Steet, Toronto, says: "My trouble was Inflammation Rheumatism and Nasal Catarrh of long standing. I'm cured of both, and have only used two bottles of Fountain and Health. 10-2t

The seashore is a place where you can always find Sabbath breakers.

Keep it in your family. The best remedy for accidents and emergencies, for Cuts, Scalds, Bruises, Soreness, Sore Throat, Croup, Rheumatism, Chilblains, and Pain or Soreness of all kinds, is that marvellous healing remedy, Hagyard's Yellow Oil. 10-2t

No one wishes the baby stolen, still it is a relief when the nurse cribs it at night.

DON'T YOU FORGET IT—that on feeling an aching pain in the hollow of your back to go to your Druggist and get DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. It will remove the trouble in a few doses. Sold by J. McKee Peterborough. 11-t.

"Gracious, wife," said a father, as he looked at his son William's torn trousers, "get that little Bill resoaled.

NATURAL REMEDIES for diseases, is, and has been, the faith of the people in all ages and countries. A potent combination of herbs, roots and barks, called fountain of Health, but up in dollar bottles, by cleansing the blood, cures almost all disease. 10-2t

A man who had seven buckshot taken from his head remarked that quite a load was taken off his mind.

AN OUNCE of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and a few doses of DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE taken on the first sensation of pain in the region of the kidneys, will effectually ward off Bright's Disease and Stone in the Kidneys and Bladder. All Druggises keep it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

A man when asked why he wore a nightcap, replied that he loved to invest himself with knighthood.

Daughters, Wives, Mothers, look to your health! The many painful and weakening diseases from which you suffer, desparing of a cure, can be remedied by that unfailing regulator and purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. Ask your Druggist for proof. 10-2t

When a bald headed man catches cold by taking off his hat he may be expected to recover.

DON'T SUFFER with kidney disease when you can buy at your Druggist's a positive cure. DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE is the only scientific remedial agent for these distressing complaints ever introduced. All Druggits keep it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

The two-quail-per-day man has had his wood-cut published. The artist forgot to put an idiot asylum in the background.

WHAT EVERYONE NEEDS—A Blood cleansing Medicine in the spring of the year. If one bottle of that great Herbal Tonic, Fountain of Health is taken at this season, danger of Inflammation of the Bowels, Stomach or Kidneys may be entirely avoided. 10-2t

Mrs. Langtry was brought up on a dairy farm at Jersey, and she knows all about the calves who follow her in this country.

W. T. Bray, Pharmacist, Wingham, Ont., writes that the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters has very largely increase in that locality, and adds that he hears very favorable opinions expressed regarding it, and, if time permitted, could send many names of benefited parties. 10-2t

A Philadelphia man who wants to die, but doesn't want to disgrace his friends by committing suicide, has engaged a fifth story room in a hotel, and he is awaiting his fate.

A FAMILY MEDICINE. Fountain of Health is a wonderful tonic invigorator and blood cleanser. It regulates to healthy action the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, and Kidneys. One bottle contains sufficient for one month's medication, and costs one dollar. 10-2t

A Philadelphia youth begged a West End belle to give him something he could wear next his heart. She sent him next day a flannel chest protector.

THOUSANDS have used DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE and willingly have testified to the immediate relief it gives after a few doses in Kidney troubles, and how a few bottles always effect a permanent cure. No one can afford to be without it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

A French writer says there was once in the environs of Rouen a miller's laughter so pretty and so cruel that the sighs of her lovers alone served to turn the sails of her father's mill.

 "Fools take to themselves the respect given to their office." But Kidney-Wort commands respect for its solid merits, tested, tried and found not wanting in any essential principle required fo the cure of dyspepsia, piles, malaria, and all diseases of the kidneys, bowels and liver. Prepared in dry and liquid form.

Brigham Young's grave is utterly neglected, and his widows never visit it. They went there once to cry over his remains, but it made the ground so muddy that they all caught cold.

Nothing can supply the place of a beautiful silky head of natural hair. It a infinitely more comfortable than switches and other preparations of the hair of unknown foreigners Hair may be retained beautified, and actually restored by the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all Druggists. 11-8t.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM. The acrid poisons of impure blood, resulting from Torpid Liver, Bowels or Kidneys, is deposited, by circulation, in the muscles and joints. This causes inflammation and intense suffering. We guarantee four bottles of Fountain of Health to cure the worst case in existence. 10-2t

Skippy Man.

"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility. $1.

A despatch from Baden-Baden announces the death of Prince Gortschakoff, ex-chancellor of Russia.

"What's the matter, John? You look very much depressed. Has your bank burst?" "No; but my sweetheart and I have had a quarrel, and I'm so afraid that she'll make up with me that I don't know what to do."

Mr. T. C. Wells, chemist and Druggist, Port Colborne, Ont., writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery sells well, and gives the best of satisfaction in all diseases of the blood."

A VITAL OFFICE. The vast amount of fluid taken into the human organism must all be strained and purged of all matter not needed to supply the growth and wastes of the body. If the Kidneys fail in their office, there is nothing like Fountain of Health to restore them. Cost $1.00. 10-2t

A commercial marriage: Father—"I congratulate you, Bertha; I have just arranged for your betrothal." Bertha—"To whom, papa?" "Hush, child, how can you be so inquisitive. It is as yet a business secret."

A Cure for Croup. There is no better remedy for Croup than Hagyard's Yellow Oil taken internally and applied according to special directions; this is the great household panacea for Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Pain Inflammation &c. 10-2t

"Prisoner, how old are you?" "Twenty-two, your honor." "Twenty-two? Your papers make out you were born twenty-three years ago." "So I was, but I spent one year in prison, and I don't count that it was lost time."

A WISE MAXIM.—"A stitch in time saves nine," not only in making garments, but also in mending health. If Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam were used in the earlier stages of Colds and Coughs, many a "stitch in the side" and many a case of torn lungs might be avoided, that, neglected, rapidly develop into irreparable Consumption. 10-2t

The Decorative Rage.—Amateur artist (painting a bunch of apple-blossoms, to small boy looking on): "Well, Tommy, do you know what they are?" "Small boy (with absolute certainty in his tones): "Yes, marm; hens."

Joseph Rusan, Percy, writes: I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and found it the best artcle I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

A SURE THING.—In the treatment of Chronic Disease with that great system renovator and restorative, Burdock Blood Bitters, there is no uncertainty as to it, action, its curative powers are speedily manifest by its marked effect upon the Liver, the Bowels and the Kidneys, every dose performing its work in a perceptable manner. 10-2t

A Bad Ending: "Well, William, what's become of Robert?" "What, 'aven't you 'eard, sir?" "No! Not defunct, I hope?" "That's just exactly what's he 'as done, sir, and walked off with heverything he could lay his 'ands on."

THE USE OF FALSE HAIR by ladies is a most disagreeable practice, for not only is it impossible to trace its origin, but also the natural hair is constantly changing while the dead hair retains its color. By the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer on the contrary, the color of the hair is rendered natural and always beautifully glossy and venerable crown of glory, every lady should use it, and to gentlemen whose hair is growing thin, it is a necessity. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all druggists. 11-8t

A Christian: "What are you doibg there?" asked an elder and pious-looking skater of a young man who had fallen on the ice and was rubbing his thigh with considerable energy. "Doing?" he exclaimed, pressing his jaws together to keep back a volume of profanity, "Why I'm trying to be a Christian."

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

When a consciousness comes of premature ageing or extreme lassitude and debility without apparent cause, the questions should be entertained and answered—What is the damage? What are the weak points in the system? Special investigation will show signs of feebleness, disorder, or lesion of the brain, lungs, heart, stomach, liver or Kidneys, and immediate attention should be given to restoring the vigor of the nervous system and digestive apparatus by the use of Wheeler's Phosphates and Calisaya, in order that the work of repair may be accelerated.

Mrs. W.J. Lang Bethany, Ont, writes: I was one of the greatest sufferers for about fifteen months with a disease of my ear similar to ulcers, causing entire deafness. I tried everything that could be done though medical skill, but without relief. As a last resort, I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and in ten minutes found relief. I continued using it, and in a short time my ear was cured and hearing completely restored, I have used this wonderful healer successfully in cases of inflammation of the lungs, sore throat, coughs and colds, cuts and bruises, &c., in fact it is our family medicine.

THE ELEMENTS OF BONE, BRAIN AND MUSCLE, are derived from the blood, which is the grand natural source of vital energy, the motor of the bodily organs. When the circulation becomes impoverished in consequence of weak digestion and imperfect assimilation of the food, which should enrich it, every bodily function flags and the system grows feeble and disordered. When the blood becomes impure either from the development of inherited seeds of disease, its contamination by bile, or other causes, serious maladies surely follow. A highly accredited remedy for these evils is NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which eradicates impurities of the blood and fertilizes it by promoting digestion and assimilation. Moreover, this fine alterative and stomachic exerts a specific action upon the liver, healthfully stimulating that organ to a performance of its secretive duty when inactive, and expelling bile from the blood. It likewise possesses diuretic and depurent properties of high order, rendering the kidneys active and healthy, and expelling from the system the acrid elements which produce rheumatic pain. Price, $100. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETALBE Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. the wrapper bears a facsimile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.
☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.
The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Local News Record.

Wiggins' Big Storm.

It struck us rather mildly last Sunday, but in some places it was extremely severe, and Wiggins was a success. In Quebec it was accompanied by an earthquake, which some in town claim to have heard the rumble of.

Parlour Social.

A Parlour Social in aid of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church, will be held at the residence of Mrs. William Mercer, Hunter street, on this (Thursday) evening, at eight o'clock. Refreshments, readings, recitations, music, &c. The public cordially invited.

Fire.

On Monday night the stable attached to Sheriff Hall's residence, Hunter street, took fire, from, it is supposed, the stable boy's lantern, and the building was gutted and the roof destroyed. The stables standing on the same site were burnt about ten years ago. The engine was out promptly and did good work. Insurance to cover the loss.

The Ragan Lectures.

The reader is particularly requested to remember the Ragan lectures, which take place in Bradburn's Opera House, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 21st and 22nd. The Toronto press speak in the highest terms of the entertainment. Mr. Ragan is a gentleman of education and culture, and the whole lecture and illustrations are such as to "secre a brilliant success" for the lectures wherever they are presented. Plan of seats at Mr. Menzies' bookstore.

A Ripe Old Age.

The village of Tamworth, Lennox Co., is boasting of a man 103 years of age, but the township of Cavan is proud of an elderly lady, who has passed the century by four years, and has lived 34 years beyond the Psalmist's limit. Mrs. Gibson, (mother of James Gibson) of the second concession of Cavan, will be 104 years of age next April. She is still in good health, and has as much promise of ten years more of life, as she had ten years ago.

Traffic Returns.

The Traffic returns of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending March 3rd, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $4,397.53; freight, $10,779.38; total, $15,176.91, as compared with $13,517.28 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $1,659.63; and the aggregate traffic to date is $126,591.43, being an increase of $9,579.21 over 1882.

A New Departure.

The Fire, Water and Gas Committee of the Town Council advertise in our columns for tenders for the erection of stables in the rear of the fire hall, for the purpose of stabling horses to draw the apparatus to fires. This seems to be a move in the right direction, and if the details of the plan are carefully carried out it will likely result in more prompt service in connection with our fire department. It may be regarded as a sign of prosperity when the town "sets up its carriage." Of course it is but an experiment, and unless managed with great prudence and economy may prove an expensive failure.

Worth Remembering.

Housekeepers and close cash buyers generally, should remember, before making their purchases, that Messrs. Fairweather & Co. are now offering special bargains in house furnishings, carpets, bed and table linens, sheetings, towellings, grey and white cottons, table covers, cretonnes, window lace curtains, piano covers, bronze and oil cloths, etc., etc. In other lines the best possible value is always given, and genuine bargains can be had for cash at all times. Bring your cash along and see what they can do for you.

Another Sign of Spring.

Even the prolific sparrow is prophesying an early spring. All along George street the plucky birds who have stood four months of solid winter weather without a grumble, are gathering straw and beginning the erection of their summer residences, and in a very short time every coign of vantage will be occupied with the nests of these busy birds. Nature seldom makes mistakes, and the instinct that bids the sparrow begin building so early must know that the weather will be favorable for the young birds at the early date at which they must appear.

A Hearty Welcome.

An entertainment, to welcome Rev. J. H. Best, to his new pastorate, was held in the Baptist Church, on Thursday night. Abundance of excellent refreshments was served, and brief addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Shaw, Torrance, Joliffe, Butcher, and Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe delivered a feeling address of welcome on behalf of the congregation, to which Rev. Mr. Best replied eloquently. There was a very large attendance, and the new pastor was deeply impressed with the warmth of his welcome. The choir of the church furnished excellent music throughout.

A Valuable Property.

Mr. John Ludgate will offer for sale by public auction, at Cavanagh's hotel, on Thursday, March 29th, valuable property in Otonabee, part of lot 31, in the 12th concession, adjoining the village of Ashburnham. This is a good chance for a paying investment in real estate. Parcel No. 1 contains 14½ acres, adjoining the residence of Mr. Ludgate. On the lot are a cottage, stable and garden, and the lot is ready for a spring crop. Parcel No. 2 contains 57 acres, lying east of Mr. Ludgate's house. The land is excellent, in a good state of cultivation with a spring of water. This lot contains a splendid building site, and the whole property is well adapted for building lots, market garden, or gentleman's amateur farm and residence. Terms easy. Sale to begin at two o'clock.

Always Take Receipts.

An exchange says:—At this time of the year all persons are making more or less payment of moneys. In many cases the amounts are small, and they consider it derogatory to their dignity or honestly to take a receipt. This is a wrong principle, and only recently we have observed several disputes over settlements which might have been avoided if all transactions, however small, had been conducted on a proper buisness basis. The more intimate you are with one another, the more reason is there to have every transaction thoroughly understood. Nothing preserves friendship better than correct settlements. It is very little trouble for any one receiving money to give a receipt for it. So far as we are concerned we shall only be to glad to elucidate our theory by writing as a many receipts as possible in return for the amounts handed us in liquidation of bills for subscription or otherwise.

LITTLE TOWN TOPICS.

The "French Spy" on last Thursday night had a small audience.

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in Cobourg on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The south end of Rubidge street is so badly blocked with snow that the children cannot get to school.

A very pleasant Sunday School social was held in the Baptist Church on Friday night.

Through the efforts of the landlord, a disreputable house has been broken up in a lane off Simcoe street.

Mr. Adam Hudspeth is temporarily appointed Deputy County Judge of Victoria during the absence of Judge Dean.

Mr. H. C. Winch's trotter, "Tommy," got into a drift in a country road on Tuesday and had one of his legs deeply, but not seriously, cut.

I ROBINSON & Co. have still on hand a few excellent Buffalo Robes and Coats, which they offer at less than cost. Who wants them? 6

On Saturday the snow plough caught on the planks of the station platform and tore up about thirty feet of them as though they had been shingles.

Its acts directly upon the stomach, liver and kidneys in a remarkable manner. ZOPESA is only appreciated by those who have tried it. Every bottle warranted to cure Dyspepsia. 9-tf

In the point game of Curling, for the Club Medal, on Saturday, 23 "scoops," played. Mr. Melville Millar takes the Medal this year by a score of 11 two higher than the next lowest. Mr. W. G. Ferguson held it last year.

Mr. A. D. Faucher beat R. C. Gardner of Syracuse, at fifteen ball pool at Faucher's Billiard Parlours, on Thursday night, by a score of 11 to 7 in 18 games. The man to beat Mr. Faucher "don't grow on every bush."

Mr. A. Clegg's mill and store are now connected by telephone. All orders for flour or mill feed are sent to the mill immediately, thus securing prompt delivery. Remember Clegg's improved flour is still unequalled. The improved flour, strong Bakers' and Pastry flour always in stock. Also Cracked Wheat, Graham Flour, Bran, Pollards, Henfeed, Pea Chop, Barley Chop, Rye Chop, &c. 10-2ins.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Dixon, Inspector of Division Courts, paid the town a visit the past week.

Mr. P. McNaughton of South Dummer, has returned home after spending the winter term at the Ontario Business College, Belleville.

Councillor H. H. Burnham, of Port Hope was in town this week picking up "wrinkles" regarding Police and Fire Departments, for the benefit of Port Hope.

Mr. G. Calbeck, now of Woodstock, and formerly with W. J. Thomson, has been spending a few days in town. He favoured us with a call, and we are pleased to notice that his Western Ontario abode and business agree with him.

Mr. John Glendenning, of Newcastle, a former resident of Peterborough, who came to act as judge at the Winter Ice Races last week, improved the occasion by spending a few days in town renewing old associations.

MURDERED BY A POLICEMAN.

HE COOLY SHOOTS A BROTHER OFFICER DEAD

HUNTERSPOINT, L. I., March 11.—At 11:30 to-day Policeman Casey shot and killed Roundsman Comiskey. The roundsman was sitting at his desk in the first precinct conversing with two officers, when suddenly Casey entered from the rear of the room intoxicated, and called the two officers to help him fix his pistol. They did so, when Casey walked up to Comiskey, saying, "What do you follow me so for?" Comiskey replied that it was to make him do his duty. Casey immediately shot Comiskey under the eye and he fell dead. Casey was arrested. A thousand persons gathered and would have lynched him had he not been jailed before the news of the affair spread.

Cobourg.

This enterprising town is already taking steps to celebrate the Queen's Birthday.

Fred. W. Beebe is re-elected foreman of the Fountain Hose Company.

The "French Spy" had a thin house in Cobourg.

There is talk of extensive building operations in Cobourg as soon as spring opens.

The residence known as "Mount Fortune," on Tremaine street, has been sold. The price realized is said to have been $2,200.

Omemee.

The Northwest exodus has already begun.

A large number of Orangemen attended the funeral of the late Mr. Robert Ford. He was one of the first settlers in Emily.

Port Hope.

Mr. Shepherd, leader of St. John's choir, is preparing some choice selections for Easter.

The Erie Queen left Port Hope on Saturday, 3rd March. This is the first vessel reported this spring.

The old Port Hope Dramatic Club has revived, and will put a play on the boards in about a month.

Port Hope stands one-sixth in the Dominion in the matter of exports.

A movement is on foot to organize a new band. The old members of the 46th are nearly all in favor of it.

Last Monday evening Mr. D. Marshall tendered his resignation of the position of Chief Constable, which he has held for so many years. Mr. John Gamble temporarily fills the breach.

Hastings.

Mr. David Nelson, of this village, has been awarded the contract for the erection of a town hall in Westwood, for the municipality of Asphodel.

Mr. Hayward is paying $3.25 per thousand, for teams to draw lumber from his mill in Dummer to Hastings.

It was definitely settled at the meeting held in the council chamber, last Friday, to offer a bonus of $5,000 to any person or firm who would erect a factory which would employ from forty to sixty operatives. The offer was immediately taken up by Mr. Peters, who will, in the event of a by-law being passed to that effect, undertake to erect and operate a three set mill.

Bobcaygeon.

Mr. Wm. Kennedy, foreman of the Government Works, is busily engaged in preparing the locks for extensive repairs.

The Independent says: Taffy pull socials are popular at present. They are said to be the greatest fun out. There was one in the country that was sweetness itself. All the pretty girls were there, and all the nicest of the boys. The treacle was furnished by the boys, and one of the girls boosed the taffy making in a manner that was grand to see. A young gentleman, who had gazed upon the taffy divinity for some time, fell into raptures of admiration and a dish of treacle that had been left on the rocking chair, when his affection and pants were simultaneously nipped in the bud. It was unkind of the divinity to laugh, but she really could not help it. After the pulling, then the violin was produced, and the young folks enjoyed a few hours of unalloyed happiness.

Campbellford.

The Campbellford Herald man's wood pile must be getting low. He prophesies an early spring.

Mr. James Whyte, proprietor of the foundry, purchased the old Presbyterian church, which was sold by auction on Friday last. He paid $100 for it.

Messrs. J. Whyte & Co. are getting things into shape in their foundry here, and will soon be in the midst of a sprightly business. The first casting in the new premises was made on Tuesday.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

The council board met in their chamber on Monday evening: Present; his worship, the reeve; councillors McWilliams, Cox, Nelson, and Urquhart. Minutes of the last meeting, read and confirmed. A communication from the Times Printing Office was received reprinting and advertising. Laid over for consideration. Several small accounts were ordered to be paid, also Mr. Chopin's salary as Village constable, $25; a pair of handcuffs are to be procured for the benefit of those who are pugilistically inclined. The council resolved itself into a committee of the whole with power to act, to see after a suitable place for a lock-up, so that offenders may be dealt with in a proper manner. Mr. Isaac Garbutt addressed the council regarding the appointment of assessor. Mr. Griffin was acting though he had not been reappointed by the present council; he did consider it legal, nor usual, the new council should appoint their assessor on coming into office. The Reeve thought it both proper and legal; as no one else had applied for the position, a new by-law was quite unnecessary. Mr. Galvin addressing the council, said he considered it a perversion of the statute not to make the appointment each year. Councillor Nelson said if they were wrong they should be put right but thought the reappointment not necessary. Mr. Griffin addressing the council stated that if a new appointment must be made that he would not accept the office: part of the work was done and he would not do it over again. Legal advice was suggested. Councillor Urquhart thought they should be competent to appoint an assessor without advice. The matter dropped. It was resolved to repair the old hose belonging to the village and purchase fifty feet of new for the hand engines. Council adjourned.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr. Easton of Apsley is opening a new grocery in the store formerly occupied by Mr. Dompier. We understand that after a time the Apsley stage will start from here instead of Peterborough.

CARNIVAL.

The fancy dress carnival takes place this evening; the Peterborough Brass Band is to be in attendance.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

On next Thursday, the 22nd inst there will be an examination held in Mr. Shearer's room commencing at one o'clock. As this will close Mr. Shearer's term after occupying the position of head master for over 8 years, no doubt the parents and others will visit the school on this occasion.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Regular Alleged Meeting.

A Warm and Wordy Pow-wow—A Long and Unimportant Session—The Town Fathers Set Up their Carriage.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday night. Present,—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Paterson, Yelland, Douglass, Rutherford, Menzies and Denne.

On motion, Mr. Menzies, in the absence of the Mayor, took the chair.

A motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes was carried, and Mr. McNaughton demanding the yeas and nays, they were taken as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, Paterson, Douglass—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Rutherford, Denne and McNaughton—3.

COMMUNICATIONS

were read:

From Jos. Valois, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to Charity Committee.

From James Johnson, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to Finance Committee.

From J. Fraser, asking for the usual grant to the Band.—Referred to Finance Committee.

From D. Turcotte, asking remission of statute labor tax.—Granted.

From Mrs. McCabe, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to Charity Committee.

An account of T. McGrath, $7.12, repairs to old town hall, was referred to the Town Trust Commissioners.

FINANCE COMMITTE.

Mr. Paterson, chairman, reported, recommending the payment of the following accounts:—R. Fidgeon, $1.00; Geo. Stethem, $9.30; J. Whyte & Co., $2.10. Report adopted.

MARKET COMMITTEE.

Mr. Denne, in absence of the chairman, read the report of the Market Committee, which stated that the tender of Mr. John Doherty for the lease of the market tolls had been accepted, at the same terms as last year.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Mr. Rutherford, chairman, reported:

That, in accordance with instructions received, the committee had taken steps to get at the amount required for the erection of stable, loft, and bedroom for man; and also, tenders for furnishing team and driver for drawing engine to fires, team also to be kept otherwise employed, for the term of one year.

That the committee, therefore, recommend that the tender of Patrick McNamara, the less amount, in all amounting to $590, be accepted for the erection of the buildings.

That for furnishing team and driver for one year, the tender of Terence Smith be accepted at the full sum of $775, the contract to specify all his duties.

Mr. Rutherford in moving the adoption of the report, seconded by Mr. Denne, made some explanations respecting the course of the negotiations.

Mr. Paterson asked what had been the expense of corporation teaming heretofore?

The Clerk replied that it cost $1,400 last year.

Mr. Rutherford continued, stating that the team could be used on streets in summer and clearing snow in winter.

Mr. McNaughton was in favor of having the team used for drawing the engine alone. He objected to local work, such as watering George street, being done by a general tax.

Mr. Hartley thought we couldn't afford to keep a team for fire purposes alone.

Mr. Cahill enquired if the Council had power to put a building on the site proposed.

Mr. McNaughton said that Mr. Stevenson, one of the Town Trust Commissioners, said that the Council should build no stable on the lot.

Mr. Douglass favored the town purchasing a team of its own.

Mr. Cahill urged the importance of considering the matter of building the the much needed lock-up, at the same time. He favored the securing of the Ontario Bank property and building a woman's market and these buildings together.

Mr. Douglass pointed out that the team could always be depended on at night when it was most required.

Mr. Yelland favored hiring a team the first year at least.

Mr. Kelly thought it better for the town to buy a team.

Mr. Cahill said the question of providing premises for a Council Chamber should be considered along with the present question.

Mr. Rutherford said it had been in contemplation to consider the purchase of the lot now occupied by the old Ontario Bank buildings as a site for Council Chamber and other necessary offices.

Mr. Denne supported the project and held that it would be a wise economy, and one that the condition of the town demanded.

Mr. Cahill moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, that the matter be left over till the next meeting of the Council. He thought no interest would suffer by the delay, while valuable information might be elicited.

The motion to adopt the report was declared carried, and the yeas and nays, demanded by Mr. McNaughton, were taken as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Kelly, Yelland, Douglass and Denne—6.

NAYS.—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Hartley—3.

CHARITY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Kelly, in the absence of the chairman, presented the report of the Charity Committee, which recommended that the petitions of Mary Brown and Mary Collins, for remission of taxes be granted, and that the accounts of E. McKiever, $6.34, and R Wainwright, $3.10, be paid.

Report, except the item referring to Mary Collins, adopted on the following division:

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Douglass, Hartley—5.

NAYS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Denne and Yelland—4.

TREE PLANTING.

A communication was read from Mr. E. B. Edwards, respecting the Act for planting trees, and suggesting that the Council advertise by tender for trees to be used by the citizens, who could thus secure cheaper trees. It was important that immediate action be taken, so that the drawback provided by the Act could be sooner received.

An account of J. Brook's, $2.20, was ordered to be paid.

A communication of Dr. Fife, recommending J. Campbell for charity was referred to the Charity Committee.

STREET LUMBER.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Hartley, the Street Committee was authorized to advertise for tenders for the supply of lumber required for the streets.

TAX LEGISLATION.

A by-law was passed authorizing the addition of 5 per cent. to the 5 per cent. imposed by the former by-law to all taxes not paid by the 31st of March, and directing the Collector to return his roll by the 14th of April.

There was a great deal of "talk" in the Committee of the Whole, relevant and irrelevant, and an amendment by Mr. Cahill to extend the time so as to make March 31st the 14th of April, and the latter date May 1st, was lost on the following division:

YEAS.—Messrs. Cahill, Kelley, McNaughton, Douglas—4.

NAYS.—Messrs. Paterson, Rutherford, Yelland, Denne and Hartley—5.

The by-law was read a third time and passed.

PRINTING.

Mr. Rutherford, in moving a resolution authorizing the advertising for tenders for doing the printing required by the town, said it was the only fair way, and the Council should adopt it. They were not afraid of the newspapers.

Mr. Cahill, in moving an amendment, said the printing be given out on the same plan as last year; it had been satisfactory, and no one could say that an exorbitant price was paid. He believed in the printer, as well as the printer's devil, getting a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. He said the newspapers sent their reporters here and printed the proceedings free of charge, and some consideration should be felt under the circumstances, and the printers should not be cut down to non-paying prices. He thought it would be in the interest of the town to adhere to the old plan.

Mr. Douglass thought that the prices were more likely to be "cut up" than "cut down" by the plan proposed.

There was considerable discussion on the matter, the speaking being on the co-operative plan—several talking at once—and the amendment was declared carried.

After some talk about street repairs, the Council adjourned amidst great disorder. The adjournment as, nearly as could, in the confusion, be arrived at, was for one month.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

Campbellford.

The Board of Education have chosen Mr. Ludlow, of Paris, as the headmaster in the place of Mr. Campbell, resigned.

The "Mum" social given by the young men of the C. M. Church, last Friday night, stands without a parallel in the history of socials in Campbellford. There were 900 persons present, and the total receipts amounted to $135.

Omemee.

The Northwest exodus has set in.

Several of the business men have been complaining lately over the want of a bank in Omemee.

The usual annual missionary meeting, in connection with the Presbyterian church in this place, was dispensed with and a collection was taken up for that purpose on Sunday, March 4th. The collection in the three appointments amounted to over $100.

Norwood.

The Register says that Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh and Thos. Rork, who have the contract for suplying twenty-five miles of the Ontario and Quebec railway with ties, report 50,000, out of 70,000 required, as having been delivered along their section.

They have appropriate names for the officers of the Norwood band. The president is a Harper, and the secretary another Harper—J. W.

Millbrook.

It is expected that 400 will start on the Millbrook excursion train to the Northwest next Tuesday.

A fire at Millbrook on Wednesday morning destroyed the premises occupied by the Misses Johnston as a toy store, with the entire contents. No insurance. The building was owned by Mr. Thomas Medd.

Messrs. W. M. Fair, W.H. Armstrong and Mr. J. Porter, have purchased some improved thoroughbred horses, a Stallion, Enterprise, for $2,700; two mares, for $1,000 and $600. Mr. Fair purposes turning his farm into a Stock Raising Farm.

Cobourg.

A meterological station has been established at Victoria Uuniversity.

One of the hotel keepers, in taking up the old netting behind the bar recently, found enough money underneath it to buy a new one.

A grand ball was given under the auspices of the Catholic Association of Cobourg, in the Phœnix Hall, on Easter Monday evening, March 26th.

The reading room of the Cobourg Y. M.C.A. is nearly completed, and will be one of the neatest and most comfortable in the province.

The Sentinel-Star understands Mr. Crossen has received an order from the Credit Valley Railway Co. to build a number of passenger coaches, which for elegance and handsome finish will compare with anything that has been accomplished in car building in this or any other country.

Hastings.

The Star says that a meeting of the ratepayers of the village was held on Friday night to confer with Mr. W. Perry, representing Messrs. R. H. Buchanan & Co., of Montreal, in reference to suitable fire appliances for the village. Mr. Perry's proposal was, that the corporation should purchase a site, with the necessary hydraulic power, for the pump house, erect the building and put in a forty-horse power turbine wheel. This being done, Mr. Perry, for the sum of $3,100 would put in a No. 3 rotary pump—making connection with the wheel—lay 600 feet of 4½ inch cast iron pipe in the bed of the race, and extending westward, erect and connect with the main, four hydrants, provide 2,000 feet of 2½ inch canvas hose, two hose carts, the necessary couplings, wrenches, nozzles, &c., and do all the excavating required. Mr. Perry guarantees to throw an 1½ stream over any building in the village, distant 2,000 feet from either hydraut. Considerable interest was manifest at the meeting, and Messrs. John Peters, J. H. Scriver, T. Hurley, R. Steele, John Walsh and John Coughlin were appointed a committee to select a site, and learn from the Messrs. Fowlds the probable cost of the land and the power required, and report to the Reeve, who will call another meeting to consider the matter.

Port Hope.

Tenders are invited for the Port Hope post office.

The Council has wisely decided to consolidate the town by-laws.

The rite of confirmation was administered by Bishop Sweatman in the local Anglican churches on Sunday.

The choice of chief constable seems to be between applicants from Ottawa and Hamilton. There is every indication of the assistant being a local man.

Two new cars are in process of construction at the railway shops. One is a baggage car, and the other a combination baggage and smoking car.

Mr. Jno. Knowlson, of Lindsay, the owner of the Knowlson Block, Walton street, has taken unto himself another partner for life, although he has passed the age of three-score-and-ten.

A young swell who stood high in the confidence of a respectable family in town, was entrusted with three thousand dollars by the mother to deposit in a bank to her credit. Instead of doing so he pocketed the money. Word has lately been received that he has absconded with his booty, and has escaped the penitentiary for the nonce, on account of other delinquincies as well.

The Trinity College School cricket club held its annual meeting last Friday. The club has been re-inforced this year by a first-class cricketer, so that the prospects for this year are bright. The "Eton of Canada" is what the Mail dubs the school.

Bobcaygeon.

Dr. Bonnell has now passed all danger, and is steadily gaining strength. His hearing is still defective, but hopes are entertained of its ultimate recovery.

Mr. Clarke and his surveying party made a thorough survey of the old dam, and it is understood that on the instructions of the department, made the necessary plans for the new dam. This work is much needed and will give employment to a number of hands.

For some time a party of surveyors under the charge of Mr. Clarke have been engaged in surveying and chaining and sounding and thodoliting and trigonometring and generally going on all along the shores of the lakes from Fenelon to Buckhorn. It was in connection with the Trent Valley Canal improvements, and a very fine map of this section of the waters will be the result of their labours.

The Independent thus cheerfully meanders over the subject of measles:—"Since last week the measles has spread to that extent that the village is now one large measle. The streets, which under ordinary circumstances are almost alive with children, are almost desolate. The children are certeinly a great trouble, an awful worry, a dreadful annoyance; but, heavens! what a barren waste is life without them. They catch on the sleighs, and almost curdle one's blood by the happy, joyous way they play near the horses' hoofs, and the brink of eternity. They change signs, and all manner of devilry is fun to them. But what of it? life without the youngsters is an aimless existence, is useless, is a story untold, is a blank. Ah, by the way, our sign still gives the lustre of its name to the barber shop. Drat the young imps. What a blessing the measles have got a good hold of them."

Lindsay.

In spite of the unfavorable weather building operations are going on, and a large number of jobs are awaiting favorable weather.

The Post asserts that the matter of forming a canoe club is again talked of. Possibly it may end in talk, but it hopes not. There is material enough in town among our young men to form a good active club. And the boys, too. The boys would be among the most active men in the lot.

A little less of the country store style would make the following item and warning found in the Post unnecessary:—"Drivers of horses should understand that awning posts are not hitching posts, nor to be used as such. A team tied to the awning in front of Mr. J. Kennedy's shop backed out and took the supports of the awning with them. The operation will be repeated at the expense of plate-glass before the lesson is thoroughly learned.

About the heaviest express parcel yet handled in this section, says the Post, was that received on Monday consigned to the paper mill company. It was a new wrought iron shaft to replace one broken in the mill a short time ago. The shaft weighed 900 lbs., and was made at New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, it being impossible to get the forging at a nearer point unless ordered from the Buffalo shops, and that would, of course, have been a violation of the ethics of the immortal N. P.

The Warder:—Willie, a young son, aged 14 years, of Mr. D. S. Carmichael, of the Lindsay paper mill, has been missing since the 9th inst., and so far his parents have been unable to obtain any information of his whereabouts. He is described as being of a light complexion, bright and intelligent, and a boy who is likely to be able to make his way in the world. The latest information that could be obtained of him was that on the morning of the day referred to he was noticed at the Midland depot a few minutes before the Midland train left for Port Hope, but whether he left on the train or not, cannot be determined. Any one who can give any information concerning his whereabouts will confer a favor by leaving it at this office or writing to Mr. Carmichael to the Lindsay post office. Any of our exchanges who can also give any information regarding him will also confer a favor. A description of the lad will be found in our advertising columns. It is very probable he has gone east to Valleyfield or Kingston, where his parents resided, and will either seek work in the cotton mills or on some of the St. Lawrence steamers.

An accident took place lately on one of the railways by the axle of the tender giving way and obstrurting the road for some hours. A lady inquired of a fellow passenger the cause of the delay. He gravely replied, 'Madam, it was occasioned by what is often attended by dangerous consequences—the sudden breaking of a tender attatchment.' The lady looked serious, and was silent.

An account of W. H. Down for wood $21, and of W. H. Casement for one cord of wood $3.75, was ordered to be paid. The Board adjourned.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

School closes to-day for Easter and an examination will be held in Mr. Shearer's division. Mr. August assumes the Headmastership on Tuesday next.

RINK.

The prospects of a general break up last week induced the managers to close the rink for this season. From change of weather this seems to have been premature.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The directors of Smith, Ennismore, North Monaghan, and Lakefield Agricultural Society, meet in the council chamber to-day at two o'clock.

CORRECTION.

My attention has been called to the fact that some time ago I reported the council as paying an account to the clerk of $43, for extra services. The clerk informs me, a number of the items were not properly included under that title. The error was as unintentional on my part as I believe it to have been on the part of the one who gave the information, and I take the first opportunity of making the correction, though somewhat late.

FORESTRY.

The court meets this evening in Union Hall.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—Though another letter in your issue of the 15th instant has appeared re tenders for school supplies, I do not feel that so far as argument, fair play, or the interests of justice are concerned there is any necessity for reply. Should I answer it on its merits I would fling back the dirty abuse given, and which seems to invite retaliation.

If my moral depravity places me so far beneath Mr. Bird that my word goes for nothing, that the word of any one who speaks in my favor is simply unworthy of his notice, it is surprising that he should have considered it in keeping with his dignity to have provoked this discussion; nor is it less surprising that he should, as he tells us, be "severely puzzled to imagine" how I could so soon forget my words. The puzzle does not trouble him the least in letter No. 3. As he makes use of strong language in reference to my actions I may, perhaps, be pardoned if I again show how utterly inconsistent Mr. Bird is, from his own communications.

1st. He takes up the remarks and again says he has proved they were made, by the testimony of Messrs. Galvin, Sanders and Dr. Armour.

Mr. Bird, in his letter of the 22nd of February, states in an unqualified way that Mr. Galvin "permitted" him to use his name to verify his statements. Mr. Galvin in his letter states as distinctly that he did not give him that permission. Since Mr. B. can afford to throw so much dirty water why does he not show clean hands? Why no explanation? If he made such a mistake as the above, himself, in justice will he allow that some one else made a mistake with regard to me; if not, why does he not show his "grit" to Mr. Galvin and clear himself? And will Mr. B. venture the assertion that the word of Mr. Gordon and Mr. Wilson is not just as reliable as that of Mr. Sanders and Dr. Armour?

2nd. He takes up the proviso, gives Mr. Wilson's motion as in the minutes, and "settles the question." Mr. Bird mentioned in his letter No. 2 that this proviso was proof that his tender was considered the lower by the Board. If Mr. Bird was fighting the board and not me, perhaps he might make a point out of this; but as against me it is impossible. Mr. Wilson, if his word is to be taken, has said that he made no such stipulation; the motion was verbal. I explained that when Mr. Sanders and Dr. Armour withdrew their amendment in favor of Mr. Bird, they did so with the understanding contained in the proviso, and the Secretary added this to the original motion, hence it appears in the minutes as given. But to remove all doubt about this I may add that at the last meeting of the School Board (13th March) Mr. Sanders claimed that it was he (Mr. Sanders, who had this proviso inserted in Mr. Wilson's motion, with his consent of course. I had nothing whatever to say about the arrangement, and if Mr. Bird was consistent and not anxious to have a fling at me, he would have attacked the Board or those members who considered his tender the lower and then compromised; or, if he likes it better, gerrymandered. Is this common sense or nonsense?

3rd. He takes up the tenders again, repeating two of the statements I am said to have made. I have not criticised these before and will do so now: He drops the first as against himself if anything, for, to say that a business man did not know how to put in a tender for some chalk, ink and paper would not be saying very much in his favor; of the two remaining the latter has nothing different in it from the former, so that, in fact, we may deal with the one, viz: That I knew my brother (Mr. H.) had a cheaper paper than that quoted by him, &c. The above contains the whole of his accusation, and in the statement that produced the influence complained of. You will see by Mr. Wilson's letter of the 1st instant that in answer to his question, asking if Mr. H. had the cheaper paper, my reply was that I did not know; but as Mr. W. is not worthy of his notice I must give him proof that he cannot, or rather, will not dispute. Mr. Sanders and Dr. Armour both admitted at the School Board meeting on the 13th instant that I gave that answer to Mr. Wilson's question; the former, however, stating the remarks as given by Mr. B. were correct "in the main"; the latter gentleman admitted that I did give that answer "at the last," but asserted that I had said the other, too. So that now the most that is to be made out of all that I said is that I first said I knew and then that I didn't know. Can any one think it possible or even probable that any member of the Board could be influenced for one moment by such conflicting statements? Again, if I had said I knew, why should I be asked for the information already given?

He generously accuses me of "officious partiality," though on one occasion I refrained from voting and thus gave him another chance for securing the tender. His own charge would show that what I did or said was above-board and before the public, and yet he is honorable enough to call it "underhand manœuvering." My efforts seem to have consisted in making a single statement and then contradicting it; of taking so little interest in the matter that the chairman concluded that I would not even vote, and did not vote—this is what Mr. B. gentlemanly styles "unscrupulous efforts."

In conclusion I notice a few points, as follows:

1st.—I have answered every question asked, and every point brought forward. Mr. B. has not done so.

2nd.—A majority of the members of the Board assert that they were not influenced by me.

3rd.—That he deliberately misrepresents what I have said in my second communication, even quotes words that are not to be found in it, and gives no explanation for making such a mistake.

4th.—Though resenting what he considers an injustice, on my part, about a small tender, he does not resent when his honor is called into question by Mr. Galvin.

5th. That, if Mr. B. compares the two tenders by last year's supply, with any reference to value of paper, he will find Mr. H's. the lower; but if he compares his cheaper and inferior paper with the better he will not be able to make it 12½ cents in his own favor.

Lastly, in looking over the school account for the past year I find the whole amount is $7.76. Allowing 25 per cent. profit this would clear $1.55. This shows the importance of the tender. I also find a rather singular error in the accounts which I did not notice till after I had written the above. Mr. Bird for the last year has charged the Board for seven and a half gallons of ink; and at the same rate for the last two and a half years it would be 18 gallons, while, as a matter of fact, the Board only received nine gallons. If this is not so, then for thirty-six times he has succeeded in putting half a gallon into a quart bottle. The proof is the bottle that holds the ink, and his accounts are in my hand. Will he be "severely puzzled" to solve this for the public, and will he kindly show the Board at its next regular meeting how a half gallon of ink can be put into a one quart bottle?

I would not require to be so very "unscrupulous" should I feel like making some very unpleasant "remarks" about this "straight business transaction," or throwing numerous obstacles in the way of Mr. B. clearing his reputation in this matter; but, as I have some regard for my own, I have no desire to do so at the present; and, should his good character be of more service to himself than any explanation he can make, perhaps he may better appreciate the care with which I have guarded mine against his uncaused and unmerited attack.

Regretting that there should be so much about so little, I am, dear Sir,

Yours truly,
WM. CALDWELL.

RECEPTION OF DR. AND MRS. HUNTER IN MINNEDOSA.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENT.

We clip the following from the Minnedosa Star: On Tuesday evening last a reception was tendered to Dr. J. B. Hunter and his bride at the Hotel Brunswick. The whole affair was a grand success, and reflects much credit on the bachelors of Minnedosa to be able to carry through such a grand social entertainment as that was, and if the Knights intend to favor us with such a treat upon the marriage of each member, we hope the desertions will be regular and often. At 9:30 p.m. dinner was announced, and the guests repaired to the dining room, and seated themselves to a repast prepared in the known style of the Brunswick. There were 58 guests present. After this part of the entertainment was creditably performed, an adjournment was made to the parlour, where for about half an hour some excellent music, both vocal and instrumental, was listened to, the performers being Mrs. Dr. Hunter, Mrs. Denison, Mrs. Beynon, and Mr. Beynon. Then the large doors of the dining hall were again thrown open, and dancing commenced. The music furnished by Mr. J. Potts was fine, and the floor, waxed for the occasion, being in excellent condition, everyone who could indulge in "tripping the light fantastic toe" showed themselves on the floor and enjoyed a whirl. 3 a.m. the party dispersed a weary but happy crowd, each one expressing a wish for a biweekly repetition of the same performance. THE Star offers its congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. Hunter, and welcomes to our town this worthy lady, who, we are sure, will be a valuable addition, and particularly so as a musician.

Those present were:—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Armitage, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Armitage Mr. and Mrs. Armour, Mr. Aysarst. Mr. and Mrs. Beynon, Mr F. and Miss Boyd, Mr. A. Bishop. Mr. and Miss Crear, Mr. Caddy, Mr. Carse Mr. Carter. Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Denison. Mr. George S. Easton. Mr J. A. and Mrs. Griffith, Mr. T. R. Griffith. Dr. and Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs Humber, Mr. D. and Miss Harrison, Miss O. Harrison, Mr. Hawkesworth. Mr. James Jermyn. Mr. and Mrs. H. McDonald, Mr. T. McNutt, Mr. F. Morphy, Mr. R.H. Meyers. Mr. John K. Patten. Mr. and Mrs. J. Robertson, the Misses Rhodes, Judge Ryan, Mr A. Ramsay. Mr. and Mrs. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. H. and the Misses Sanderson, Mr. A. Stewart. LITTLE TOWN TOPICS.

Hot X buns!

Spring ought to be ashamed of herself. The way she allows winter to linger in her lap, before the whole world, is shameful.

Lent draws to a close to-day Good Friday comes after and Easter Sunday next, when the sun rises on the anniversary of the risen Saviour of mankind.

Mr. T. P. Atrill, won the club silver medal at the "spoil" on the rink on Friday night against fourteen competitors. Score 10—next highest 9.

The Market Committee have let the contract of farming the market fees for 1883 to the tender of Mr. John. Doherty, on the same terms as last year—$750.

The Annual general meeting of the Midland R. R. Company is advertised to be held in the Company's office Peterborough, on Tuesday, April 17th.

The farmers' horses are being fed for the spring's work, and as they "feel their oats" we may expect runaways to be more frequent from this till seeding time.

Recent experimental borings show that the snow on George street has been tramped by traffic into a solid stratum of of ice, two feet thick—more or less.

Some ambitious members of the local Lacrosse Club are preparing their muscle for the coming season by taking exercise in the drill shed.

"Crushed strawberries" is the name of a colour that "is all the rage" this season. There are noses around that don't require painting to be in the fashion.

Mr. J. B. Nicholls disposed of at private sale on Saturday last, the store and dwelling, Queen street, Lakefield, occupied by Mr. Geo. Tanner. The figure was $1,175 cash.

The Fire Brigade Band will give its usual annual open air serenade on Good Friday, in front of the post office building, about 2 p.m. A choice selection of new airs will be rendered.

St. Patrick's day passed quietly in town. The shamrock was generally sported, and there were a few attempts at drowning it, but Celtic enthusiasm was kept well within bounds.

A local engineer predicts that the Locks dam will not survive the spring freshets, in which case the bridge enjoys the proverbially coveted companionship of misery.

The snow storm has prevented the Muskoka cattle buyers from having their stock on hand for Easter. It will, however, if the snow leaves early, be along in time for the election court.

A foal, sired by "Statesman", ten months old, bred by Mr. John Bothwell, Jr., of Cavan, and which won the first prize at the Cobourg Central Exhibition, was, sold recently to Mr. John. Williamson, Ops, for the handsome sum of $125.

Farmers contract to supply the consumers of the city of New York with milk at 3½ cents per quart. We in Peterborough dont seem to have cut even our "milk teeth," for we pay 6 cents for a quart.

Simpson's "Lapidist Chief," the horse that won the name race at the late races here in three straight heats, took first money at the Cameron Lake races, Fenelon Falls, last Thursday, in all the four races in which he entered.

Vennor has met with a terrible accident. He predicted a snow storm beginning on the 18th, and by some mysterious concatenation of circumstances his prophecy has been fulfilled, and roads and railway cuttings filled full.

Pending the arrival of warm weather the honest tramp pretty numerously seek the shelter of the police cells. The avernumber of lodgers is about three per night. Last Saturday night there were five, and on Sunday night three, who enjoyed the hospitality of the town.

The "oldest inhabitant" comes up smiling with the cheering information that this is the hardest winter since '32. In that year there were six months continuous sleighing, while this year there has been, up to date four and a half months of solid winter, during which time the ground has been invisible except to those attending a funeral.

The Lindsay Post says:—"A large number of carriages, buckboards and wagons are now being got ready for shipment to the Northwest by James Hamilton. The work is all first-class, and the brand of wheeled goods turned out by our Lindsay factory is a great favorite, the Manitobans relying on the strength and finish and lasting qualities of the vehicles." Peterborough, of which Mr. Hamilton is a former resident, is the place where men learn to do things well.

On Saturday afternoon a runaway horse safely ran the gauntlet of George street, thickly dotted with equipages and people. The horse picked his way with great dexterity and safely ended his little spree at the head of the street, where he was caught, in spite of the vigorous attempts of onlookers to get him into trouble. About every ten paces some one would rush out from the walk and shriek out a quavering "whoa," thus unintentionally attempting to drive beast and cutter against a lamp post, and it is a mercy they did not succeed, for at times they came very near it. Under such circumstances it is unsafe to meddle with a horse or a woman having her way, especially when they seem to know their business. Interference only complicates the trouble.

PETEBBOROUGH, MARCH 22, 1883.

Hasten Gently.

The past commercial year has been marked by an excessively large importing business, and to so great length has the future been drawn on in this respect that warnings of the danger of over-importation have not been few. Either this fact or some instinctive feeling seems to have caused a sense of distrust to come over the commercial community. The period of exceptional business prosperity through which the country is passing—or as some fear, through which it has about passed cannot last. Dull times will in their time arrive, and the effects may be greatly mitigated by a prudent preparation. The business man who stands best at a time of commercial depression is that one who has least liability to carry, that one who has been careful in his purchases and has taken care not to cripple himself by carrying too much stock or too much liability. Retail merchants will have to be on their guard, for wholesale men have made very large importations, and they will likely offer such inducements to local traders as will tempt them to order more largely than circumstances, other than the temptations offered, would warrant. Much harm comes by the spirit of reckless prodigality engendered by a period of commercial prosperity. "Good times" seem to be a valid excuse to some persons to involve themselves in expenditure and to commit themselves to liabilities which they could easily manage if "good times" should indefinitely continue. But the man who has been reckless in this respect will find himself, when the crash comes, so burdened that he will be forced to the wall; and the man who wisely exercises, during a period of commercial prosperity, the same economy, both in expenditure and investment, that "hard times" compelled him to exercise, will be in a position to successfully tide over a period of depression.

A Step in the Right Direction.

Mr. Wood, the Dominion member for Brockville, has struck the right key-note in introducing his bill to empower the courts to punish wife-beaters by flogging. Any brute, passing under the name of a man, who will beat or abuse his wife by physical violence deserves the lash if any criminal does. Such a man is only distinguished from the brute by his power of going on two legs and the faculty of speech; in reality, he is worse than a brute, for even amongst the lowest types of the brute creation, the male observes a sort of rude gallantry towards his mate, and is never known to treat her as a wife-beater treats the tender and sensitive being whom he has sworn to protect. Therefore, the wife-beater having reduced himself to the level of the brute creation, is clearly a fitting subject for the lash, the only means that can appeal feelingly to his degraded nature. Shameless, imprisonment through fear of the disgrace it brings, has no terror for him. The practice is, fortunately, not common in Canada; but it occasionally disgraces the community, and the bill of Mr. Wood will, it is to be hoped, become law, so that the barbarous practice may be only a tradition. The lash, laid soundly on, is the only punishment fit for the degraded wretch who so far forgets his humanity as to strike any woman, let alone that woman whom the marriage vow and relation specially commend to his tenderness and care.

Methodist Union.

Up to the present time 188 Boards in the Toronto Conference have voted in favor of the basis of union; 13 voting against it, and two ties. London Conference, 200 in favor of, 21 against, and one tie. In the Montreal Conference 101 of the Boards voted for, 24 against, and three ties. Nova Scotia Conference ten Boards voted for and two against. New Brunswick Conference, eighteen for and one against; and in the Newfoundland Conference one Board adopted the basis of union. The Eastern Conferences have only commenced to report, and it will be some weeks before all the returns will be in; but so far as these have been heard from there is the necessary two-thirds of the Boards committed to the basis of union. The unification of Methodism seems to be a probable consummation, but the accomplishment of such a grand result, involving so many necessarily conflicting interests, and the settlement of a multitude of minor details, will of course be a somewhat tedious process; but it is now apparent that the prospects of a united Methodism are stronger now than ever before.

Editorial Notes.

THE first division in the Dominion Parliament, (on Mr. Mackenzie's amendment in reference to the King's county election return,) gave the Government a majority of 58.

IN spite of all the figuring by the disgusted Oppositionists who staked all their hopes on Mowat's going, there is no way of evading the conclusion that he will have a majority in the House ranging from twelve to sixteen.

THE most recently nominated successor to the Marquis of Lorne as Governor-General of Canada is Rt. Hon. W. E. Forster, whom the Parnellites have dubbed "Buckshot Forster." This is likely only another of the wild rumours that are as abundant these days as weather prophets.

THE Carleton Place Central Canadian, a through and through Tory sheet published in Lanark, which Mr. Lees has been elected to represent, asserts that Mr. Lees is pledged in writing to support Mr. Mowat. The Mail will kindly note this, and add another to Mr. Mowat's majority.

THE House of Commons met on Feb. 8th. From that to the 20th of March is five and a half weeks. The rate of cost of legislation is $28 per minute, or $1,663 of actual working time—per hour, and as yet there has been absolutely nothing done—not even the budget ready to be brought down.

THE Mail, in obedience to its usual gentlemanly instincts, refers to Mr. Blake as a "most precious hypocrite, most consummate imposter, most thoroughly exploded partizan." There is not an honest, thinking Conservative in Canada but will indignantly repudiate this coarse, low-minded picture, born of a vulgar soul, and blush that he is compelled to accept and read, as the organ of his party, a journal so utterly lost to sense and decency.

IT may be suggested that Sir Leonard Tilley may have a good excuse for not bringing down the budget—that Mr. Wiggins has been too busy raising the wind over the world to assist Sir Leonard in raising the wind for the budget speech. The Government can find time to interfere in Ontario matters, buy bulls and pigs in Muskoka, let their officials gallop about looking after wind storms; in fact do everything but attend to their duties, while the cost of legislation is going on at the rate of nearly half a dollar a second!

The Buffalo Evening News of the 9th inst., says referring to the placing of the duty on malt by Congress says:—"Of course Canada's loss is our gain in this particular, and we ought therefor to rejoice; bnt Canada is mainly responsible for the change in the tariff from 20 per cent. ad valorem to 20 cents a bushel, for it tried to shut our maltsters from Canadian markets by placing a duty of 78 cents a bushel on barley imported by its people. The little hog games our neighbours have been playing on the United States for years have opened the eyes of our people, and Canadians should not complain if we give them a Roland or their Oliver."

A TRIBUTE TO BEAUTY.

SCENE AT THE SALE OF LANGTRY TICKETS AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE TORONTO.

Saturday morning the sale of tickets for the Langry entertainment began at Grand Opera House, Toronto. Long before the appointed hour the grand entrance was packed with a dense crowd all eager to get the first choice, and when the box door was opened there was a frantic rush for the front. In that eager rush many a plug hat was knocked off, and in every instance a shiny bald head was revealed. It was amusing to watch the crush in the grand entrance, ministers of the gospel, blacklegs, merchants, auctioneers, young men about town, sporting men, Sunday school teachers, country gentlemen, etc., were wedged in together so tightly that it was almost impossible to move.

PROFESSOR CROFT DEAD.

AN OLD TORONTONIAN PASSES AWAY IN TEXAS—SHORT SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Information has been received here of the death of Professor Henry Holmes Croft, lately of Toronto. Dr. Croft was for years professor of chemistry at University college, Toronto. On Feb. 28 last he died at the residence of his son, William Croft, at the ranche, Las Hermanilas, San Diego, Texas, after a short illness, from an affection of the heart at the age of 64 years. The death of Prof. Croft will be received with feeling of regret among his many old pupils and acquaintances in this city. For many years connected with University college he was long a well-known figure in educational and scientific circles, and his many students will all have a kindly remembrance of his genial good-natured disposition. In the younger days the the professor was connected with Queen's Own rifles, and for many years was captain of the university corps, retiring with the rank of major.—Toronto World.

POST OFFICE STATISTICS.

The report of the Postmaster-General for the year ending June 30th, 1882, shows that the number of post offices in the Dominion is 6,171, the number of miles of post route is 43,697, and the annual rate of travel is 18,091,996 miles. The number of letters carried was 56,-200,000; post cards 11,900,000; registered letters 2,450,000. The number of newspapers and periodicals transmitted were over twelve millions. In these totals Ontario owned more than double that of any other province. Ontario sent more letters, more registered letters, more newspapers than all the rest of the provinces put together. These simple facts show that this province in business enterprise, in commercial prosperity, in intelligence, in social culture, and in every way, in fact, characteristic of a higher civilization, is immeasurably in advance of any other province, and that too, out of proportion to her population and extent of territory.

The total expenditure on account of public service in 1882 was $2,459,356.48, and the total revenue was $2,022,098.44, leaving a balance of expenditure over revenue of $437,258.04.

The following details of payments for salaries, revenue of post offices, etc., in this county for the year 1882, ending June, will be of interest:—

With regard to the town, cost of advertising the time tables, post office notices, etc., was $50. The cost of advertising for mail tenders, $64.50; divided as follows: Review, $15.90; Times, $48.60.

The number of post office orders issued at the Peterborough post office in 1882 was 2,119, representing over $31,000. The fees on money orders were $305.

FIVE AND A-HALF CENTS A WEEK

PITIFUL STATE OF GIRL SHIRTMAKER'S IN TORONTO.

Last night a heartrending story of extortion, tyranny and outrage was poured into the ear of a Telegram reporter by a girl shirtmaker who works in a factory in this city. Her story would be almost inconceivable were it not corroborated by reliable witnesses and by parties who know the whole facts. Last evening a lady who keeps a boarding house in this city sent for a reporter, and on his arrival she stated that she had something to tell that the whole world ought to know. A story of suffering, misery, and wretchedness that is perfectly

HORRIBLE WITH UGLY FACTS.

"There is a young woman boarding with me," she said, "who is upstairs in her bed sick with downright misery. She came home from the shirt factory crying in her wretchedness and was so heart-broken and hopeless that she could not eat her supper, tho' she has been working all day at a sewing machine and had only one sandwich and a glass of water for her lunch. Oh, I wish I was a man so that I could take her part, sound the wrongs of these unhappy girls all over the country. I want you to see this girl and hear her story from her own lips;" come with me," and the lady led the way to a little attic at the top of the house where a thin overworked, half-starved looking girl ways lying on her bed. Her eyes were red and swollen with weeping, and there was on her face. Her story was simply this: She with a large number of other girls is employed in a shirt factory, all working by the piece. They get 85 cents a dozen for making shirts, or a fraction over seven cents for each shirt. The smartest girls in the shop can make on an average six shirts a day, thus getting thirty-six cents for a long, laborious, wearing day's work. But here's where the unrighteous extortion comes in. The girls have to buy all the thread that's used, out of their slender earnings, and have to procure all the needles used in the sewing machines If they break a needle they have to buy another, and sometimes if there is anything wrong with the machines they break a great number of needles, thus reducing their slender pay. Besides this they are fined five cents for every they are late. The proprietors collected $5 45 in fines last week, and with the money they intend to buy a stove to keep the girls warm. Some girls can only make two or three shirts a day, thus earning a miserable twenty-one cents from which must be deducted the price of the thread and the needles used. One poor girl, a stranger in the city, worked for two weeks and all that was coming to her was the sum of eleven cents. The poor creature burst into tears, and the rest of the girls, though nearly starved themselves, had to take up a subscription to pay her lodgings. The girls barely make enough to pay their board—and how are they to get clothing, and those little nick-nacks so dear and so necessary to the female heart. What horrible temptations must arise before these over-worked, thinly clothed, starved girls? There is a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, another for the prevention of cruelty to children, it is time something were done to prevent cruelty to work girls.

A LOOK OF UTTER DESPAIR

DESTITUTION IN IRELAND.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING IN THE COUNTY OF MAYO

At a meeting of the local board of Swineford, county Mayo, it was reported that great distress prevailed in the district. Over 130 persons were in the poor-house suffering from famine and ever, and 700 names are on the list of persons needing relief. The distress is the greatest since 1874, and people are refusing to enter the workhouse, and are dying for want of food.

Catarrh is the seed of Consumption and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. Sold by John McKee, Drug store, Peterborough. 12-2t

DIRECT IMPORTATION

—OF—

Hamburg Edgings and Insertions!

THOMAS KELLY

Is offering at present to the Ladies, 14,500 yards, comprising the finest variety of carefully selected, new and exquisite patterns, in Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, ever imported. This stock is of this season's production, of the best St. Gall (Switzerland) manufacture, and was contracted for nine months ago, which enables me to offer the entire lot at fully 25 per cent less than manufacturer's quotations to-day. I invite comparison and criticism of the stock with the fullest assurance that it will be pronounced superior and cheaper to any in the market.

The prices range from 3c. to $1.50 per yard. I call special attention to a job lot of 100 pieces in short lengths and no two pieces alike.

This lot has been collected from different Swiss Manufacturers, being odd strips remaining after orders had been filled for the different European, American and Canadian markets, and purchased for me at a great sacrifice.

Ladies will therefore be enabled to make a selection from a collection of Embroideries, I might state, from the combined tastes of every country in the world. This lot will be sold only by the piece and will be offered at fully 40 per cent below regular prices.

MANUFACTURED BY THE JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, OSHAWA, ONT.

The Most Perfect Thresher! The Most Perfect Separator! The Most Perfect Cleaner ever offered to the public! The only True Grain Saver!

BLACK CREEK, Sept. 17th, 1882.

F. W. Glen, Esq., Oshawa.

DEAR SIR,—Talk about threshing! I have threshed and been around threshing machines the last fifteen years, and I have seen some good machines, but this "New Model" I got of you is ahead of any I ever saw in Canada. It is perfect in every respect. I never was as well satisfied with a machine as I am with this. I could say more, but think that this is sufficient.

Yours very truly,
HENRY M. WEAVER.

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard:

SIR,—I desire to call the attention of the farmers of this vicinity to a new threshing machine made by the Jos. Hall Manufacturing Co., of Oshawa, called the New Model Vibrator. Mr. Jos. Vickery bought one of these machines, and threshed for me four days this winter, and gave me entire satisfaction. With the construction of the screens, vibrating motions and other attachments, I think it utterly impossible for any grain to be wasted, and am fully convinced in my own mind, that it has saved me double the price of threshing in the saving of grain this season. It cleans the grain perfectly and threshes very rapidly. It is the most perfect thresher I have ever seen or used. It is a real grain saver.

Yours truly,
JOHN McDONALD.

ORO, January 9th, 1883.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post:

SIR,—A short time ago I purchased a new threshing machine called the New Model Vibrator, made at the Joseph Hall Works, in Oshawa, of their agent, Jas. Fleury. It is the only machine of the kind in this vicinity. I bought it upon a guarantee given me by the company that it would give me entire satisfaction. I have now thoroughly tested the machine, and am entirely satisfied with it as a thresher, a separator and a cleaner. It is easy on the team, threshes rapidly, not liable to choke in any kind of grain, separates the grain thoroughly from the straw and cleans it better than any other machine I have ever seen. I have seen all kinds of machines, and have been threshing myself for the past eighteen years, and the "New Model is the best one I have ever seen or used.

Yours truly,
THOMAS WETHERUP

BLACK CREEK, Nov. 13th, 1882.

Mr. F. W. Glen:

DEAR SIR,—I thought I would write to you and tell you how I got along with the "New Model" Thresher I got of you last summer. I will tell you the truth, and nothing but the truth, the machine has given me perfect satisfaction wherever I have threshed. I could not begin to thresh for all who wanted me, and could have had jobs enough for two machines if I had had them. The farmers whom I have threshed for say that the "New Model" is the only perfect machine they had ever had thresh for them.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH SHERK.

Be sure and examine the "New Model" before you purchase.

EASTER.

Like a meteor, large and bright,
Fell a golden seed of light
On the field of Christmas night
When the babe was born.

Then 'twas sepulchred in gloom
Till above his Holy tomb
Flashed its everlasting bloom
Flower of Easter morn!

SOLITUDE.

Laugh, and the world laughs with you:
Weep, and you weep alone
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,
But has trouble enough of its own.
Sing, and the hill will answer:
Sigh, it is lost on the air.
The echoes bound to a joyful sound.
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go.
They want full measure of all your pleasure,
But they do not need your woe.
Be glad and your friends are many;
Be sad and you lose them all.
There are none to decline your nectared wine.
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your hall's are crowded:
Fast and the world goes by.
Succeed and give, and it helps you live.
But no man can help you die.
There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a great and lordly train,
But one by one we must all file on
Through the narrow aisles of pain.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Dairy Farming.

Dairy farming is naturally divided into three great classes—butter making, cheese making, and milk selling. Probably the order of development, in time, is as given. Butter making is one of the oldest of arts, and is practised in almost every country in which the cow is domesticated. Cheese making is also ancient and widespread. Milk selling, as a prominent feature, is found only in countries with comparatively densely populated towns and cities. In the last twenty years this branch of dairying has not only grown enormously with the growth of our cities, but its methods have greatly changed. Instead of reliance on dairies kept in or near the cities, the great mass of milk now supplied to our great cities is carried by steam cars from farms in the surrounding country, some of them fifty or sixty miles distant. This change is almost as striking as is that from the manufacture of cheese and butter exclusively at the farms, to their manufacture in large establishments handling the milk from a score or more of farms.

If we seek reasons for the good profits which dairy farming, wisely pursued, has generally given, we will find that dairy products are not only in constant demand, but that the demand is increasing; that there is a great difference in the quality of these products, with corresponding difference in price, and consequently even greater difference in the profits; that cheese is well adapted for export, and it and butter, from their small bulk in proportion to value, are well fitted for comparatively long shipments. Perhaps more important than any of these reasons is the fact that the dairy farmer must necessarily give constant, daily attention to his work, and that this work gives room for as much skill as does any branch of farming; more than most other varieties.

Making Butter.

Uncle Waldo tries to make it appear, in the Ohio Farmer, that from a considerable experience here and there he knows something about making butter. He finds two things indispensable to the making of good butter, and they are—that the milk is kept pure from surrounding influences and that the temperature be under control. He is taking for granted that one has good cows and good food in abundance. Now to secure the two points which he speaks of, he finds covered cans, and either a supply of ice or plenty of cold water, indispensable. He knows that good butter can be made from setting the milk in open, shallow pans, in a good cellar, but he also knows that it can be done much easily with deep, covered cans and ice or cold water. He used four-gallon cans, ten inches in diameter and 20 inches deep, and placed them in an ice chest, which was made with doors at the side which he could open, and slide in the cans under a slatted floor. On this slatted floor, through a lid at the top of the chest, he placed ice, and as it melted the water dripped over the cans. He did not wait for the milk to cool or the animal odor (?) to pass off, but strained it at once, covered it tight, and put into the ice chest. When the cream had risen on one of these cans the aroma from it was as delicate as from a clover field, and in the hottest weather his butter was as sweet and fragant as that made in May. If one has a cold spring and can submerge the cans, it is as good, and more convenient than the ice.

In the Right Direction.

Here is a step in the right direction! The trustees of the public school of Ghent, N. Y., has organized a course of brief Friday afternoon lectures to the pupils of the school on botany, fruit-culture, vegetable physiology and various kindred topics. Prominent townsmen who have given these subjects attention are invited to address the pupils. Is there any better way to awaken an interest among young people in agriculture and horticulture than this?

Flourishing.

Horticultural interests in Michigan are in a very flourishing condition, as we have reason to believe. Twenty-eight societies for the advancement of the interests of horticulture are now in active operation and are doing a grand work, meetings being held by each either monthly or quarterly. On the approaching Arbor Day the societies of the state will make a combined effort for the planting of trees about the school-houses—a matter worthy the attention of every similar organization in the land. Success to the horticultural societies of the Wolverine State.

THE TORONTO MAIL

On Wednesday, immediately after the Ontario elections, the acrobatic antics and the hysterical ululations of the Toronto Mail were of a novel and amusing character. As soon as the material success of the Conservative party was ascertained the Mail broke forth into a series of frantic cachinnations, which, to say the least of it, was not very flattering to its mental stability. Take the following example:—"But the Grit ministers have no self-respect, and will probably cling to office in the face not only of public contempt, but, perhaps, also of self-contempt as well." Now, I think it will be conceded at once by every fair-minded man that the language just quoted is not reasonable, that it is not the language of common sense, and that it is only the ecstatic utterance of political fanaticism. For instance, it is admitted on all hands that Mr. Mowat has a certain majority, and yet according to the Mail it is disgraceful in Mr. Mowat to retain office and to rule the country with this majority. Now, if the Mail is correct in this view, then it follows that it would be quite honorable in Mr. Meredith to take office and to rule the country with a minority, just corresponding to Mr. Mowat's majority. This is the absurd and idiotic position of the Toronto Mail, and this is the kind of slap-jacks it feeds out to its innocent and hungry followers.—[Com.

SOUTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

The council met at Centerville, March 12.

Present,—the Reeve, Mr. Rutherford. Councillors Lightfoot, Riddell, Perrin and Byers.

The minutes of the last regular meeting of the Council were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from R. Fair tendering his resignation as clerk of this municipality.

A petition was read from J. D. Perrin, Henry Perrin and 40 others, praying the council to grant a sum of money sufficient to put the sidewalks in the village of Bailieboro in a proper state of repair.

On motion of Mr. Byers, seconded by Mr. Perrin, a grant of 2,000 feet of cedar was given for the purpose mentioned in the petition.

A committee consisting of the Reeve and Mr. Perrin were appointed to inspect the cedar now being supplied by Messrs. Dodds and Creba.

A by-law to define the limits of the road divisions was introduced by Mr. Riddell and was finally passed, signed and sealed.

A by-law to appoint pathmasters for the year 1883 was introduced by Mr. Perrin, and was finally passed, signed and sealed.

A by-law appointed E. B. Graham clerk of the municipality was introduced by Mr. Lightfoot. The by-law received a first second and third reading and was signed and sealed.

The retiring Clerk was allowed the sum of $12 for extra services rendered in preparing by-laws in lieu of those destroyed by fire in his office.

The Reeve was instructed to take legal advice as to the proper course of procedure in stopping up and selling the original road allowance between lots 18 and 19, concession 4, and opening up in lieu thereof a new road across the south east corner of lot No. 19 to lot No. 20 on said concession.

An account was received and ordered to be paid, from L. Byers half price of keeping open the road on west boundary opposite con. 1 during recent storm, amounting to $3.70.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Lightfoot, and resolved, That the thanks of this council be tendered to R. Fair, the retiring clerk for the very satisfactory manner in which he had discharged the duties pertaining to his office, and do take this opportunity of placing on record their high appreciations of his services during his connection with this corporation. Carried.

On Motion of Mr. Lightfoot, seconded by Mr. Byers, the Council adjourned subject to the call of the Reeve.

FASHION CHIT CHAT.

Flower decorations for dinner tables are made very low.

Very pretty curtain lambrequins are made of a net-work of gold ropes, terminating at the bottom in heavy tassels.

Fancy handkerchiefs for sporting gentlemen are of white linen cambric, ornamented with colored figures of jockey or horses' heads in bright colors, as much as six inches long.

A pretty design for lace-pins is a begonia leaf in colored silver.

Dog collars, in either silver or gold, are to be very much worn this summer. They come in a number of designs, those of filigree and those made to represent antique coins being among the prettiest.

Some very effective satines have the plain colors combined with the same shade ornamented with large hoops. Hoops are to be a favorite design in all sorts of wash-goods.

Dresses are now cut oval shape at the neck, in preference to V-shape.

The new buttons are to be of metal, and are flat and of medium size.

Among the new spring materials is a fine wool and silk stuff called dream fabric, in which the figures are woven in such a manner as to produce a vanishing effect, something like that of the cat in "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."

The new French blue is a clear, bright blue called the Royal French blue.

"Bengaline" is a woollen goods very like nuns'-veiling, but somewhat more expensive.

Among the colors to be used for spring bonnets are "canaque" shade, crushed strawberry and "bleu Meduse." These shades are combined, without regard to the effect they produce.

Old parchment letter paper is the newest. It has the date printed in old-fashioned letters of gold. The edges have a ragged effect.

The small poke-shape is to be most worn next summer.

The Jacobin collar is to be much worn this season.

Vests of tan-colored kid are to be much worn with dark colored walking dresses this spring.

Parasols are to be much more simple than last year and are to be made to correspond with the dress.

Remember This.

Parties having Hogs to Sell can ascertain Prices from MR. GEORGE WEBBER, or at the Packing House.

"Great Excitement on Hunter Street."

A great crowd of people were noticed on Hunter Street, west of Cavanagh's, and something serious was thought to be taking place. The excitement grew worse, when some raised a cry for the police. At length a great calamity was averted by the appearance of an officer, who ascertained that the people were not there to take a look at Charlie Butler, but to see who would get served first, by W. J. Devlin, who, being compelled to enlarge his business, to meet the increased demand of his customers, begs to announce to the public that he has extensively enlarged and refitted his already commodious shop, so as to employ a greater number of journeymen. Having secured the services of the best workmen in the four counties, he is able to defy competition in CHEAPNESS OF HIS GOODS AND EXCELLENCE OF QUALITY IN

Light and Heavy Harness.

He would like to inform his patrons and the public generally, that he has departed from the general rule of keeping boys around, to operate on repair jobs. This branch of the business is promptly attended to, and neatly done by his first-class hands. He also keeps on hand a large assortment of Horse Clothing, Rugs, Buffaloes, Trunks, Valises, &c.

AT ONE PRICE ONLY!

As there is no Jew about Devlin, and don't you forget it. No shoddy goods palmed on the unsuspecting public for good material, as his desire is rather to please his customers and keep up his reputation as the best shop in the county, than to make money by dishonest means.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 22, 1883.

The Muskoka Election.

Since our last issue the result of the Muskoka election—outrage would be a better term, as far as one interest in the contest was represented—and the Reform candidate is defeated by a large—sum. The exact amount that represents the majority of the Tory candidate is, of course, a state secret. But some extraordinary means must have been employed to convert, in a few months, a majority of nearly five hundred into a minority of nearly three hundred. It could hardly be a change in public sentiment. Since the by-election last October the Mowat Government have done nothing that could account for—nothing that was even urged by their opponents, as a reason for the change. The candidates were on the same grounds of both personal and political recommendations. In considering the change of over 700 votes in the 3,000, some significant suggestions present themselves. In polling sub-divisions where the Tories could count on a pretty sure majority there is little or no change in the result, but where the divisions were doubtful or decidedly hostile, there's where the favorite "arguments"—ad crumenam—of the Tories were used; there's where the Government contractors' coin counted; there's where the fancy prices ruled steady for cattle and stock—the most beastly bribery. There is not the least moral doubt that the constituency was deplorably debauched by the corrupt influences set to work from Ottawa. The whole force of the rank and of the file were hurled against the riding, directed by General Sir John, aided by his lieutenants, consisting of Dominion officials, political adventurers and political confidence men. The woods were full of them. They were well provided with the "sinews of war," the commissariat department being particularly strong. Witness the fancy and fabulous prices paid for cattle, sheep, swine and chickens. The deeds done must have been indeed dark when one of the emissaries from Peterborough was ashamed to have his name connected with these iniquitous transactions, and went under an assumed one. In fact a thousand things go to show that the constituency was captured by the enemy by the exercise of the most nefariously corrupt influences that ever polluted the mechanism of representative institutions. The result is only an instance of the too-common triumph of wrong over right, but like all such triumphs, it will shivel like an evil thing in the searching light of an election court, where tales more harrowing than Hamlet's father kept in his ghostly repertoire will be unfolded. He laughs best who laughs last.

Buy your Curtain Net and Lambrequins, at Turnbull's where you will find a good selection of patterns.

Wiggins' Lost Chance.

Why didn't Mr. Stone Wiggins snap at the chance of foretelling the cattle-buyers blizzard that struck Muskoka? Being an ornamental, yet trusted appendage of Sir John's "Finance" Department, he could have played the seer "on a sure thing."

The Streams Bill.

The last number of the Canada Gazette announces the third disallowance of the Rivers and Streams Bill. The announcement appears without note or comment. And no wonder; the outrage admits of no excuse.

Trying to Let Him Down.

In spite of the fish-nurtured "culchaw" of the erudite editor of the Mail the printer does the most to express the ideas of the scribe. His moods are manifest in the type. When he has something particularly scurrilous to say, and words fail to give adequate expression to his venom, he expands himself in double leaded type, and when he wishes to excuse some crooked course of action the printer has another "fat take"—the weakness of the argument is compensated for by the spread of the matter. In a late issue the Mail comes to the rescue of Sir John Macdonald in respect of his position on the License legislation question, and attenuates its brains over a column and a half of double shotted stuff, to try to show the necessity of Sir John's sending a government measure or matter, the license legislation, to a committee, and the argument—no, excuse—used, is that the legislation should be "non-partizan!" Why "non-partizan" more than any other legislation? The bill for the redistribution of seats should have been just as much non-partizan, yet we don't find that Sir John yearned to refer the Gerrymander Bill to a committee composed principally of "Grits" as he did his license legislation. It was a government measure; so is the temperance legislation; foreshadowed by Sir John at Yorkville, at the Convention last September, and promised in the speech from the Throne, and the Premier should have the courage of—not his convictions, for a policy of expediency leaves no room for convictions,—he should have the courage of his public threats and promises; the courage of the pledge he caused Lord Lorne to make in the name of the Government. The Premier's course in the matter is characteristic. He makes promises for political purposes and when he sees that he is out in his reckoning, he trusts to his wits to get him out of the trouble, his promises lead to. In this case the parliamentary committee was the plan proposed, and, because Mr. Blake baulked him in the cowardly subterfuge, the Mail denounces Mr. Blake as the leader in a "contemptible dodge." The "dodge," if the title be admitted, is not half as contemptible as the political trickery of Sir John, who sought to shift the responsibility of the action necessary to the fulfilment of his promises, upon the shoulders of his political opponents. He would have been well pleased if the blame of his "temperance legislation," which may be displeasing to both licensed victuallers and the temperance party, could be fixed on somebody's else shoulders. He wanted to be able to say, "O, I'm not to blame; Blake was on the committee that reported the bill and I could not oppose it, it wouldn't be policy to do so. You must look to him and his party." And because Mr. Blake and his friends declined to lend themselves to such transparent political leger-de-main, the Mail accuses him of "the crime" of refusing to connect himself with, and promote the success of Sir John's scheme for depriving this province of the right to legislate, on a subject delegated to it by the Confederation Act, a scheme for showing "Mowat that little tyrant" that "I" (Sir John, not Mr. Blake on a parliamentary committee) will take away from Ontario the licensing power. The claim made by the Mail in its double leaded diatribe is preposterously laughable. The idea of Sir John wanting to make the temperance question "non-partizan!" His Yorkville menaces and his Convention resolution are the most glaring instances on record of prostituting the temperance question to political purposes. The water, which Sir John's unwonted familiarity with, has tempted him to wade in, is a little too deep, and the parliamentary committee is the handiest straw.

ST. PATRICK'S EVE.

Father Keating's Sermon.

Last Friday evening Rev. Father Keating preached a sermon in St. Peter's Cathedral for the benefit of the Emerald Club. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The Rev. Father's text was "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, etc." These words were possessed of peculiar interest from being spoken during Christ's forty days' sojourn on earth after his resurrection. The law then delivered was to be presented unchanged to all the world. Allusion was made to the holy zeal of St. Patrick, his remarkable success, and to the wonderful fidelity with which the Irish people adhered to the true faith. The speaker sketched the history of St. Patrick from the cradle to the grave. He also showed that the Irish were an intelligent and moral race. They promptly heeded the appeals of St. Patrick, and had the moral strength to resist the temptations that had often assailed them. He pointed out how grievously Ireland had been persecuted and oppressed for centuries, and how slow the concession of her rights had been. The purity of the Irish women was eloquently dwelt upon, a moral feature that pre-eminently marked the Irish people. The rev. father closed with an eloquent appeal to his hearers to live worthy of the memory of their patron saint, that their children and children's children might remain firm in the purity of the faith.

The choral services and singing were done exceptional justice to by the choir.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Jamot and Fathers Conway and La Plante brought the evening's services to a close by the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The Emerald Club are to be congratulated on the success of the celebration of the eve of their Patron Saint.

THE ASTONISHINGLY short time it takes ZOPESA to act upon the Digestive organs and the Liver, proves its wonderful affinity to the stomach. The first dose relieves. A sample bottle convinces. 9-tf

H. C. WINCH

Begs to advise the public that they will find his Stall in the Market House lusciously stocked for the Easter Market with the choicest meats, from the slaughter of the very Best Stock procurable in the Midland District.

His supply is derived from the following list of

SUPERB STOCK:

One prime steer, fed purposely for Mr. Winch for Easter by Mr. Wm. Graham, Smith.

One first-class steer, fed for Mr. Winch for Easter by Mr. James Campbell, of Walkerfield, North Monaghan.

Three prime steers and one fine heifer, fed for the Easter market by Capt. Wallace, of Merino Farm, North Monaghan. These animals are not large, but their meat is of the primest, juiciest quality.

Two thoroughbred Durham steers and one heifer, bred and fed by Mr. R. Dundas, Cavan. These animals are the best beasts of their age in the county.

One grade heifer, white as a snowdrop, fed for Easter and H. C. Winch by Mr. Geo. McKee, Smith, and she does great credit to the feeder.

One heifer, called the "Muskoka Heifer," fed for the occasion by Mr. Niel McDonald.

Two prime heifers, fed for the occasion by Mr. A. Nelson, Otonabee.

Two grade Devon steers of first-class quality, bred by Mr. H. Moore, Otonabee.

CALVES.

One calf—something specially fine—bred by Mr. Edward Sutton, whose reputation as calf breeder puts the sterling stamp on his stock.

One calf, fed by Mr. H. Staples, of Cavan, and a credit to the breeder.

One calf, fed by D. Cameron, of Otonabee, specially for H. C. Winch, and for the Easter of 1883.

One fine calf, fed by Mr. J. W. Lowes, of Manvers, for the occasion.

LAMBS.

A superb spring lamb, bred by Mr. Joseph Foster. The splendid appearance of the animal bears witness to the foster-ing care of its breeder.

Wise & Otherwise.

A LITTLE ROGUE.

Grandma was nodding, I rather think;
Harry was sly and quick as a wink;
He climbed on the back of her great arm-chair,
And nestled himself very snugly there.
Grandma's dark locks were mingled with white,
And quick this little fact came to his sight;
A sharp twinge soon she felt at her hair.
And woke with a start to find Harry there.
"Why, what are you doing, my child?" she said,
He answered: "I'se pulling a beating fread!"

Ladies who want Stylish patterns in Prints, should pay Munro & Alexander a visit. They are now showing the newest things in "Floral Effects," &c. Sateen Cloths in every desirable shade.

There is a strong feeling in favor of wool fabrics for spring wear, and nuns' veilings and vermicelli cloths are the most popular materials. Pink and blue are popular colours in prints, and some exceedingly pretty floral effects have been produced in this article. In cretonnes some exceptionally fine patterns are being shown this season, and these goods, on account of their extreme prettiness, are interfering with the sale of wool damasks and reps.

Housekeepers who intend purchasing Cretonnes would do well to examine the stock of those goods at Munro & Alexanders'. Their assortment of patterns is acknowledged to be the best in Peterborough.

The favourite shades during the coming summer will be frais ecroissais, acajou, terre cuite, mordore, and electric. There may be a few whom these terms will fail to enlighten as to the popular hues, and they will be pleased to learn that frais ecroissais is another name for crushed strawberries, that acajou is literally mahogony, and terre cuite is French for terra cotta. Crushed gooseberries or bruised lemons have not yet been heard of from Paris, but certainly crushed strawberries is a very pretty idea, and suggests something exceedingly sweet in the way of trimmings.

Munro & Alexander have several very desirable lines of Union and all Wool Dress Goods to hand. They will open out in a day or two a direct importation of Nun's Veilings, in all the newest shades including "Crushed Strawberries" and "Cream." Prices right.

Though not in these days generally cultivated, at least in Europe, the despised nettle was at one time, and that for several centuries, held in high honour and esteem throughout the world. In Kamschatka the fibres have long been used for fishing-lines; in France they have been made into paper; in Hindustan and China, woven into so-called "grass cloth;" and in Scotland and some parts of England the stalks have been dressed, spun, and woven into linen as good as that made from flax; while the old German name for muslin, "nettle-cloth," shows that it must have been at one time extensively used for weaving purposes on the Continent.

A full assortment of the celebrated Crompton Corset at Munro & Alexander's. They are selling a very good Spoon Busk Corset at 50 cents a pair. Ladies Collars and neck-wear in a variety of styles.

RUINING THE REVENUE.—"Come on, Jamie, an' I'se stan' ye a gill." Jamie: "Na, man; I've joined the Blue Ribbon." "Man, what gar'd ye dae that, Jamie?" Jamie: "I did it tae spite aul' Gledstane. There 'ill be an awfu' hole in the revenue this year."

A POLITICAL CONUNDRUM.—Why was the late affair in Egypt like a game of whist? Because Turkey shuffled—Arabi cut—Britain led and played the deuce—France played the knave and wanted honours.

Munro & Alexander are now showing a large stock of New Ducks and Denims. Strong Tweeds, Cotton Shirtings, Grey and White Cottons, Tickings and Table Linens.

At a recent card party at the house of a popular London dentist, the counters used were false teeth. At first the ladies present seemed very sensitive about touching the little white heaps, but as the evening wore on the more false teeth each fair dame possessed the happier she seemed. When the counters were totalled up at the end of the game there were only three more than had been originally given out.

For handsome patterns in Embroideries and Lace goods try Munro & Alexander's. Lace Scarfs and Fichus in all Styles, Cream and Black. Millinery and Mantle goods arriving daily.

"Is your ma sick again?" "O, no, she is healthy enough now she has got a new fur-lined cloak. She played consumption on pa, and coughed, and made him believe she couldn't live, and got the doctor to prescribe a fur-lined circular, and pa went and got one, and ma has improved awfully. Her cough has all gone, and she can now walk ten miles."

If you want excellent value in Black Dress and Mantle Cashmeres buy from Munro & Alexander.

Beautiful heavy Mantle Cashmeres just to hand, also full lines of Black Silks and Ottoman Cloths.

Mantles, Circulars, and Ulsters, made to order and perfect fit and finish guaranteed.

The Success of the Season—Extra Excellence of the Costumes—A Poetry-Compelling Scene—List of Characters—The Prize Winners.

Last Friday night the last fancy dress skating carnival of the season took place at the Peterborough Skating Rink. It was a splendid success and in that respect took the lead of all its predecessors, so to speak. The attendance was large, the ice keen, the temperature was just right, and the costumes were not only numerous but generally excellent. Many of the costumes were most artistically gotten up, and were very true representations of the proper attire of the character assumed. It is impossible to particularize extensively, but the costume of the Zulu Chief by Master Herbert Haultain was worthy of note on account of its fidelity and completeness in every detail. The costume was not a bare representation, so much as a literal reproduction of the costume of a genuine Zulu chief. Many of the costumes were decidedly original, and there was an agreeable absence of the many hackneyed figures one almost always sees at masquerades. The Fire Brigade Band was present to add the charm of music to the gayety of the motley panorama of beauty that swept around the rink. The scene in its dazzling brilliancy appealed so strongly to the latent poetic instincts of the soul of our "sporting editor" that he was unable to resist the divine afflatus, and broke forth into the subjoined

VERSIFIED VERSION OF THE SCENE.

The "poetry" is not claimed to be of classic merit; but it is a flattering testimony to the success of the carnival, that its splendors should pierce through the prosaic crust overlying a reporter's heart and reach the Pierian spring that nestles in some corner of every human breast; besides, it may be hoped that some delinquent subscriber may be visited with condign punishment by being led to read the verses, which are, without further preface, given as follows:

Around the rink the gay throng whirls,
A very 'rosebud garden of girls,'
With masquers of every model and mein.
From lowly peasant to stately queen.
Chill 'Winter' and 'Summer,' side by side,
With steel-shod steps serenely glide;
The 'Comet' and the 'Evening Star'
Now gleam at hand, now shine afar;
The lady of the Queen Bess age,
Attended by her sprightly 'Page,'
Buys bouquets from the 'Flower Girl,'
Whose buds the 'Dewdrops' gleams impearl;
The 'Sailor' special charms can see
In the bright 'Genius of the Sea;'
The turbaned 'Turk' and 'Arab Prince'
Their love for steel-clad 'D'Arc' evince;
The 'Zulu Chief' in brave array
Of skins, with shield and assegai,
Ruffles with 'Red Cross,' 'Armored Knights'
As brave in wer, as fierce in fight;
Limp 'Oscar' and the fair 'Æsthete'
Pledge vows in words 'too all but 'sweet;
The 'Student' hails, as charming mate,
The bookish, 'Sweet Girl Graduate';
Though 'Hamlet' braved the 'Queen of Hearts,'
Nor yielded to her witching arts,
He could not help but think how pleasant
To win 'Swiss Girl' or 'Polish Peasant;'
The bright, tho' blanketed 'Snowshoers'
Had charms that lured e'en 'Unknown' wooers;
The 'Highland Lass' collapsed with her
Heart's wickets, bowled by 'Cricketer;'
The 'White Cat' and the 'Daisy Queen'
Were brightest features of the scene;
To crown complete the gay collection,
All roseate smiled the 'Pink of Perfection.'

There were 'Soldiers, 'Sailors,' 'Princes, 'Peers,'
With 'Fishermen,' 'Clowns' and 'Volunteers.'
Who did not deem it infra dig.
To hob-a-nob with 'Little Nigs,'
And 'Mowat's Blizard,' comic storm—
The sweeping victory of Reform
In the East Riding typified.
While, with it to compete there vied
A grinning masker to portray
How Mowat looked 'after the fray'—
After he'd squelched the bandit horde
From Sir John's citadel which poured,
Between the shafts of streaming light
The 'Snowflake' flashed its crystals bright;
And music, with its silver tongue,
Laid witchery on the glittering throng;
While laughter scarce less musical,
From ladies' rosebud lips which fall,
Complete the splendor of a scene
Fairer than which is seldom seen.

Below we give in list prosaic
The members of the live mosaic:

THE PRIZES.

The judges, Messrs. J. J. Lundy, R. Hall, Alex. Elliott and A. McNiel, experienced considerable difficulty in selecting the "bright particular stars" from such a galaxy of beauty and variety. The prize for the lady in "comic costume" was a puzzler. None of the fair sex had frivolity enough to attempt that style, and the judges showed themselves equal to the occasion by making the comicality consist in the award. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Lady in Costume, a silver jewel case, "Joan of Arc," Miss Minnie Fawcett.

Gentleman in Costume, calendar alarm clock, "Knight in Armor," William Turner.

Lady in Comic Costume, silver-card receiver, "Lady of 17th Century," Miss Hall.

Gentleman in Comic Costume, silver napkin ring, "Star Clown," Mr. G. H. Kirby.

Boy's quarter mile race, hunting case watch, "American Gent," Master Edwy Stratton.

This closed the competition for prizes, but the competition for enjoyment continued till ten o'clock. Everything in connection with the carnival passed off smoothly, and the success of the entertainment is a credit to the enterprising young managers.

Lace Curtains, good quality handsome patterns at $1.50 a pair to be had at Turnbull's.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 45-13t-eow

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

FREE TICKETS TO QU'APPELLE!

The Ontario and Qu'Appelle Land Company (Limited,) Head Office, 18 King Street, West, Toronto, will issue Rebate Coupon Tickets from and after this date to parties going to the North-West, so that purchasers thereof subsequently buying at least one-quarter section of land in Qu'Appelle District from the lands owned by the Ontario and Qu'Appelle Land Company will be allowed the face value of said ticket on account of first payment of purchase money.

This is quite an inducement to farmers and others going West, as by securing one of these Tickets and purchasing at least one-quarter section of land from the Ontario and Qu'Appelle Land Company the railway fare actually costs them nothing.

The Ontario and Qu'Appelle Land Company have for sale 250,000 acres of choice rich fertile land in Qu'Appelle District. No conditions of settlement required. Pay cash down and get deed, or, at option, pay one-fifth cash and balance in instalments, with interest at six per cent. Good water in abundance, and the Canadian Pacific Railway is running trains daily through Company's lands.

Belleville.

The Ontario says the erection of the Midland railway elevator in that city will be begun as soon as spring makes it possible.

Rev. Mr. Jeffrey, of Port Hope, has signified his willingness to accept a call to the Bridge-street Methodist church here.

There is an outbreak of typhoid fever in the Deaf and Dumb Institute. It is said to be of a mild type.

It is reported that a brigade camp is to be established in Belleville next year.

Bobcaygeon.

For some time measles have been prevalent in the south part of Verulam, and have lately appeared in the village. Several cases are reported, but are of a mild character.

We have only received daily papers twice since last issue, on Friday last and on Wednesday. Our articles this week are therefore evolved from our inner consciousness and the blue books, and are consequently long, dreary and dry.—Independent

Campbellford.

Mr. Campbell, public school teacher, recently engaged, is to retire on account of ill health.

A number of new dwellings and buildings for business will be put up here this summer.

Mr. George Innis is president of the Myersburgh cheese factory this year.

Mr. W. M. Turney disposes of his business to Mr. Timothy Driscoll, and goes on the road as a traveller for a wholesale firm.

For the first time in many years the Brighton and Campbellford stage route was, on Wednesday night, impassable.

There is a great deal of sickness in Campbellford and vicinity.

A dog, smitten with a spasm of Lenten piety, was rewarded by being shut in the English Church from Sunday to Wednesday. In the interval the animal had devoured or nibbled the prayer books and Bibles in a ruinous manner.

Cobourg.

Mr Wm. Burnham sold his young trotter, "Tippo," last week, to a gentleman from the United States, for $287.

A horse show will be held in Cobourg this spring

The Norval woollen mills turned out during the past year goods to the value of $50,168.58, and paid out in wages $8,913.68. The Sentinel-Star gives all the glory to "Protection."

Hastings.

St. Patrick's day was celebrated here by high mass in St. Mary's church.

The Hastings Star is one of the neatest looking sheets, both as to typography and composition, amongst our rural exchanges.

Lindsay.

A Mr Myers, from Manvers, says the Post, had his shoulder dislocated by being thrown out of his cutter near the Riverside cemetery. The cutter was upset while being dragged over one of the worst pitch-holes on the road. The sufferer was brought to Bannan's hotel and surgical aid called in to re-set the injured limb.

Work on the piers and abutments of the new bridge for the Midland through line has, the Post reports, been going on, despite the severe weather, for the last three weeks. The contractors, McNeely & Walters, have taken advantage of the ice on the river to push forward the putting in of the coffer-dams. Channels were cut in the ice of sufficient width and the foundation for the coffer-dams dredged out. The structures were then sunk down to the bed rock and the spaces between the inner and outer frames of the coffer-dams puddled with clay. As soon as the weather moderates the dams will be pumped out, and when stone can be brought from the quarries the work of building the piers will commence.

Omemee.

The Herald comes out in a new dress, but overskirt. When the outfit of new type is complete the editor gives notice that he'll crow—that's the kind of a rooster he is.

The members of the English churches in Omemee and Emily are taking steps for the repair of Christ church, Omemee, and St. John's and St. James', Emily.

The Herald says that the Downeyville cheese factory distributed among its patrons, $10,500, the price of milk supplied, in 1882. The cheese sold averaged 10 and 3 16th cents per lb.

Port Hope.

Mr. J. W. Curry, of Smith & Curry, has been appointed a Notary Public.

At the confirmation services held on Thursday, 8th March, about fifty were confirmed, Bishop Jamot officiating.

Mr. Samuel Leach, of Englishtown, Port Hope, lost an eye by being struck with a splinter of an iron wedge he was using for splitting wood.

Bishop Sweatman confirmed the boys of Trinity College School, Port Hope, on Sunday last.

Miss Agnes Wilson, of Port Hope, was highly congratulated in the Montreal press on account of her clever recitations in that city.

Port Hope newspapers want "wet" groceries kept by themselves. This seems a little dubious, but the reader can draw his own conclusions.

The Midland Banking Company claims a balance of $40,000 of assets over liabilities.

An unknown man was found frozen to death in the woods in Hope township.

Port Hope is making an heroic struggle to get some kind of factory started there. The last effort is to transplant Gibbs' knitting factory from Oshawa to a site fertilized with a $20,000 bonus. A college of grandmothers with a five o'clock tea would perhaps be as good a knitting factory and could be much more easily established. A manufacturing business which depends on a big bonus, not of a demand for its products for support will not be a very valuable acquisition to any town. Factories come to Peterborough because the locality is good, and that too without the bait of a bonus.

Trenton.

The Trenton Courier says that Rev. Mr. Brettargh, formerly and for a quarter of a century the beloved and esteemed pastor of the Catholic Church, Trenton, was at last accounts to sail on Thursday last from Liverpool, England, for Trenton, where, it understands, he proposes living in retirement. His sister, Miss Brettargh, will come with him.

SMITH.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met on Feb. 26th, pursuant to adjournment All the members present, the Reeve in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A By-Law to divide the Township of Smith into Road and Pound divisions and to appoint overseers of Highways, Pound Keepers and Fence Viewers for 1883 received it several readings and was signed and sealed. Petitions were presented by Messrs. McKenty and McFarlane praying the Council to make such provisions as would enable them to obtain Tavern Licenses. The By-Law limiting the number of Taverons in the Township of Smith was sustained. The sum of $12.55 was allowed the Collector as abatement on Roll of 1882, $3.83 of which is to be returned to County Treasurer, as charge against land. The Treasurer was instructed to pay to the Collector for postage 1882, the sum of $2.00. The Clerk was intructed to notify James Northy and James Freeborn to remove their fences off road allowance, also to notifiy Mr. Chas, Wynn to pay for sand taken from gravel pit known as Morrison's Hill at the rate of 20 cents per load. The Treasurer was ordered to offer Col. A. G. H. Williams M. P. the sum of $15 for timber cut on his land, for crossway on 14th Con. line and say that in case this offer be refused, the matter will be referred to arbitration. The following payments was ordered, Mrs. Moffat support of Geo. Parsons and wife $30; Mrs. Moffat goods furnished for Geo. Parsons and wife, $5.19. The Council then adjourned till Monday March 12th.

THE MARCH MEETING.—Council Room, March 19th. Council met pursuant to adjournment, all the the members present, the Reeve in the chair. Minutes of the meeting read confirmed. On motion of Mr. Fitzgerald seconded by Mr. Middleton, the auditors were allowed to report. On motion of Mr. Middleton seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, the report was adopted and the Clerk was instructed to have 150 copies printed for distribution. A By-Law to provide for the appropriation and expenditure of the sum of one thousand dollars in the general repairs of roads and bridges in the Township of Smith and to appoint Commissioners to superintend the expenditure of the same passed its several readings. Moved by Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald,—That the clerk be and is hereby instructed to notify all parties interested that application has been made to have the east half of Lot 14 and the north half of Lot 15 in 7th Con. detatched from S. S. No. 5 and attached to S. S. No. 11, and that said application will be considered at the next meeting of Council to be held on Monday the 28th day of May next. (Carried.) The following payments were ordered, namely, Mrs. Moffat for support of Mrs. Parsons in full $4.50; Mrs. Moffat for support of Geo. Parson's 2 weeks $4.00; Mrs. Moffat expenses incurred in burial of Mrs. Parson's $4.50. The Council then adjourned till Monday the 28th day of May then to meet as a Court of Revision.

GORTSCHAKOFF GONE.

BADEN-BADEN, March 11.—Prince Gortschakoff, ex-chancellor of Russia, is dead.

Gortschakoff is a Russian princely family, descended from the royal house of Rurik, several members of which have distinguished themselves. Alexander, the ex-chancellor, was born in 1798, and as early as 1824 he was secretary of the legation in London. From that time on he filled various posts of trust. He displayed consummate tact and ability during the Crimean war, and it was mainly through his influence that the treaty of Paris was signed by Russia. He became chancellor in 1863. His most brilliant achievement was begun in October, 1870, when after an understanding with Bismarck on the subject, he availed himself of the Franco-German war to undo the injury done to Russian influence in the east by the treaty of Paris, by securing at the London conference, in 1871, a revision of that treaty and the formation of another, putting an end to the neutralization of the Black sea.

STATISTICS WHICH ARE ENCOURAGING TO MEMBERS OF THE ORDER.

The annual report of the Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, I. O. O. F., has just been published. It is incomplete, owning to the fact that several lodges have neglected to send in returns; but the alterations which will have to be made are very slight. From the report it appears that during the year 1882 there were added to the membership of the subordinate lodges 2,337 names, of which 1,962 were by initiation, 194 by card and 181 by reinstatement. During the same year their was a total loss of 1,562 members—98 by death, 379 by withdrawal. 26 by expulsion, 1,068 by suspension. The next gain and the total membership for the year were 775 and 13,857 respectively. The number of lodges was 202. The total expenditure on current account was $42,038, of which $34,340 was paid out in the form of relief. the total receipts of lodges amounted to $140,516. and the total expenditure to $67,482.

*Ten years ago the name of Lydia E. Pinkham was scarcely known outside of her native State. To-day it is a household word all over the Continent and many who read the secular and religious journals have become familiar with the face that shines on them with a modest confidence, in which we read the truth that "Nothing ill can dwell in such a temple."

WILL WONDERS EVER CEASE?

No matter how great one's experience, there is always something yet to be met with which calls forth our astonishment. Newspapers now and then as well as the public in general, find this to be so. A case in point are the investigations instituted by the "Chicago Tribune," "Times," "Cincinnati Star" and other papers in regard to the rather remarkable claims advanced in favor of an article which has been placed before the people by means of the press and otherwise. In every instance these editorial investigations have resulted in a complete triumph for the article referred to.

The claims made regarding it were not only fully sustained, but scores of prominent and influential citizens were everywhere found, who from their personal experience and observations accorded their enthusiastic indorsement. The following extracts from letters of citizens of Fort Wayne, are specimens of testimonials received from all sections of the country.

Under date of January 17th, Mr. John G. Fledderman, the well known Merchant Tailor, in Union Block, writes: "I was a sufferer for many years with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, and found no relief until I tried St Jacobs Oil. After using two bottles I was entirely cured. I shall always keep it in the house, and will not fail to recommend it to my friends."

Messrs. D. B. Strope & Co., proprietors of the Depot Drug Store, 286 Calhoun Street, made this statement: "Among our customers St Jacobs Oil is considered the best liniment known. It always gives satisfaction, and never disappoints. It cured Mr. H. C. Ward, of severe Rheumatism in three days. We recommend it constantly." The Globe Chop House comes to the front with these remarks by its proprietor, A. Geisman, Esq.: "When about eight years old, I met with a serious accident with a horse, by which my skull was fractured; ever since I have been subject to the most excruciating rheumatic pains. The St Jacobs Oil which I applied of late has given me almost total relief, and by its use I hope to be entirely cured in a short time." The well known druggist, Mr. Otto Leffler, has this report to make: "I have had a large trade in St Jacobs Oil, and know of a great many cases where it effected a speedy cure of Rheumatism and Neuralgia. It sells on its merits." Messrs. Boyer & Campbell, of Waterloo, Indiana, write: "Mr. J. W. Walker, of this town, suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years. After trying a great many remedies without experiencing even relief, he was induced to use St. Jacobs Oil, which completely cured him. He state that he feels like a new man." Among others who have experienced the effects of the Great German Remedy, might be mentioned Mr. Christian Krah, No. 59 Griffith Street, who was suffering so severely from Rheumatism, that he was unable to sleep or work. None of the many remedies he used benefitted him, until "The Conqueror of Pain, St Jacobs Oil" applied, one bottle of which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Rodolph Jasper, No. 72 W. Washington Street, was likewise made happy by its use. Mr. Rodemann the druggist, stated, "I must say that it is the best liniment I ever sold." To those wishing to get rid of pains, we would say, here is your chance 'to strike oil.'"—Fort Wayne (Ind.) Sentinel.

THE FRECKLED-FACED GIRL.

HOW SHE ENTERTAINED A VISITOR WHILE HER MA WAS DRESSING.

'Ma's up stairs changing her dress,' said the freckled-faced little girl, tying her doll's bonnet string and casting her eye about for a tidy large enough to serve as a shawl for that double-jointed young person.

'Oh, your mother needn't dress up for me,' replied the female agent of the missionary society, taking a self-satisfied view of herself in the mirror. 'Run up and tell her to come down just as she is in her every day clothes, and not stand on ceremony.'

'Oh, but she hasn't got on her every-day clothes. Ma was all dressed up in her new brown silk dress, 'cause she expected Miss Dimmond to-day here to show off her nice things, and ma doesn't mean to get left. When ma saw you coming she said, 'the Dickens!' and I guess she was mad about something. Ma said if you saw her new dress she'd have to hear all about the poor heathen, who don't have silk, and you'd ask her for more money to buy hymn-books to send 'em. Say, do the nigger ladies use hymn-books leaves to do their hair up on and make it frizzy? Ma says she guesses that's all the good the books do 'em, if they ever get any books. I wish my doll was a heathen.

'Why, you wicked little girl, what do you want of a heathen doll?' inquired the missionary lady, making a mental inventory of the new things in the parlor to get meterial for a homily on worldly extravagance.

'So folks would send her lots of nice things to wear, and feel sorry to have her going about naked. Then she'd have hair to frizz, and I want a doll with truly hair and eyes that roll up like Deacon Sliderback's when he says amen on Sunday. I ain't a wicked girl, either, 'cause Uncle Dick—you know Uncle Dick, he's been out West and swears awful, and smokes in the house—he says I'm a holy terror, and he hopes I'll be an angel pretty soon. Ma'll be down in a minute, so you needn't take your cloak off. She said she'd box my ears if I asked you to. Ma's putting on that old dress she had last year, 'cause she said she didn't want you to think she was able to give much this time, and she needed a new muff worse than the queen of the Cannon ball islands needed religion. Uncle Dick says you oughter go to the islands, 'cause you'd be safe there, and the natifs'd be sorry they were such sinners anybody would send you to 'em. He says he never seen a heathen hungry enough to eat you, 'less 'twas a blind one, an' you'd set a blind pagan's teeth on edge so he'd never hanker after any more missionary. Uncle Dick's awful funny, and makes pa and ma die laughing sometimes.

'Your Uncle Richard is a bad, depraved wretch, and ought to have remained out West, where his style is appreciated. He sets a horrid example for little girls like you.'

'Oh, I think he's nice. He showed me how to slide down the bannisters, and he's teaching me to whistle when ma ain't round. That's a pretty cloak you've got, ain't it? Do you buy all your good clothes with missionary money? Ma says you do.'

Just then the freckle-faced little girl's ma came into the parlor and kissed the missionary lady on the cheek and she was delighted to see her, and they proceeded to have a real sociable chat. The little girl's ma can't understand why a person who professes to be so charitable as the missionary agent does, should go right over to Miss Dimmond's and say such ill-natured things as she did, and she thinks the missionary is a double-faced gossip.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

Catarrh cannot be cured by a local remedy. It is a deep-seated and constitutional wrong-being, the tendency of which is to lay the whole respiratory economy in ruins. The Fountain of Health will reach the seat of this malady. 12-2t

The White Star line steamship Doric, a sister ship to the Ionic, of the same line was launched at Belfast on Saturday.

Rheumatism cannot be cured by external and local applications. Thus, to treat it is as unwise as to doctor the leaves of a plant at whose root a worm is gnawing. It requires such a constitutional remedy as the Fountain of Health is proving itself to be. 12-2t

"Sweet Curing Seeds" was the translation of the name given to Ayer's Pills by a high mandarin of China, in his letter of acknowledgment and thanks to Dr. Ayer for having introduced them into the Celestial Empire—a very appropriate name! They are sweet, they cure, and are, therefore, the most profitable "seeds" a sick man can invest in.

Calisaya, Peruvian or Jesuits' Bark, medicinally a tonic, febrifuge and ague cure, is combined in Wheeler's Phosphates and Calisaya, to counteract malaria, a frequent unsuspected cause of extreme lassitude and indisposition to exertion. It excites in the stomach a sense of warmth which is quickly diffused over the body creating an agreeable exhilaration of mind and buoyancy of feeling by lifting the Brainfog, so peculiar to zymotic poisoning. This is the only combination of Tissue Phosphates, WildCherry and Peruvian Bark in existence, and the substitutes and imitations offered by druggists will not do its work.

MADE A MAN OF.

Mr. O. Beck of Clarkeboye was taken alarmingly ill with a severe cold. Through which he was confined to his bed for eight days. The alarming symptoms were a hard dry cough and the raising of a considerable quantity of sticky phlegm. There seemed to be no doubt that he was started on the road to consumption. Just about this time he began using Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam, and in a short time in his own words, "it made a man of me." It is always so.

TESTIMONY OF AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN.

The proofs which authenticated the claims of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites to be regarded as the finest pulmonicinace emanate in many instances from physicians eminence. Dr. J. Corlis, St Thomas, writes as follows:—

"During ten years of active practice, I have had occasion to prescribe Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Since your preparation came under my notice I have tried it, and take great pleasure sir saying it has given satisfaction and it is to be preferred to any I have ever used or recommended. I have used it in my own family during heavy colds, and in every instance a happy result has followed. I cheerfully recommend its use in all cases of debility arising from weakness of the muscular or nervous system."

What can be more convincing than this. Here is a professional man of long practice and high reputation bearing direct and positive testimony to the value of a remedy which he has thoroughly tested. Who can read and doubt? Assuredly no one of common sense.

This matchless specific for throught and lung diseases is also most serviceable in scrofulous cases. Purchasers should be careful to observe that each wrapper has a fac-simile of the firm's signature upon it. Prepared only by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto Can.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine Dr. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Electric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, the proprietors for Canada on the back. 2-tf

VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE taken on the first sensation of pain in the region of the kidneys, will effectually ward off Bright's Disease and Stone in the Kidneys and Bladder. All Druggists keep it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

DON'T SUFFER with kidney disease when you can buy at your Druggist's a positive cure. DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE is the only scientific remedial agent for these distressing complaints ever introduced. All Druggits keep it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

THOUSANDS have used DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE and willingly have testified to the immediate relief it gives after a few doses in Kidney troubles, and how a few bottles always effect a permanent cure. No one can afford to be without it. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 11-8t.

Nothing can supply the place of a beautiful silky head of natural hair. It is infinitely more comfortable than switches, and other preparations on the hair of unknown foreigners Hair may be retained beautified, and actually restored by the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all Druggists. 11-8t.

THE USE OF FALSE HAIR by ladies is a most disagreeable practice, for not only is it impossible to trace its origin, but also the natural hair is constantly changing while the dead hair retains its color. By the use of Cingalese Hair Renewer on the contrary, the color of the hair is rendered natural and always beautifully glossy and venerable crown of glory, every lady should use it, and to gentlemen whose hair is growing thin, it is a necessity. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by all druggists. 11-8t

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Uriuary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor and McDonald. 44-tf.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,

The Culverwell Medical Co.,

Another Plate Glass Gone.

On Friday a gentleman while passing McKee & Davidson's hardware store stumbled over some goods exposed in front of the shop, and the result was a fall against the plate glass, which received an extensive crack. The plate was not insured, the policy having expired a few days before the accident.

An Insane Immigrant.

On Tuesday Michael Rork of Enniskmore was arrested as a lunatic and remanded to jail till Saturday. He has only been six months in this country. It is stated that on Sunday the 11th inst he attempted to commit suicide by hanging but was discovered in time. His insanity was brought on by illness and will likely yield to the treatment he will receive at an asylum.

Muskoka.

"The returns from the Muskoka election are just coming in". On Tuesday a fine yoke of oxen were seen standing in front of the law office of Mr. H.H. Smith, who operated in that unorganized district is organizer. We do not pretend to surmise what they were doing there, unless some Muskoka gentlemen was making a legal tender of his cattle, in consonance with his crude ideas of law, or in pursuance of the old custom. The steers were merely coming home to roa(o)st.

To Late.

We have received from Mr. G. J. Galvin of Lakefield a communication re the Lakefield School Supplies, in which he flatly denies ever giving Mr. Bird any permission to use his name in connection with this matter, or having ever made the statement which Mr. Bird in his communication makes use of. He further states that Dr. Caldwell's statements of what took place at the December and January meetings of the Board are correct. Received too late for this issue, will appear in our next

Presentation.

Mr. John Wells an old resident of Peterborough being about to leave for Manitoba was presented by his fellow workmen, in the Boot and Shoe establishment of Messrs. Robert Stenson and Son, with a serviceable pair of gold spectacles and an elegant gold pen and pencil case. Mr. Stenson in making the presentation in a few neat remarks alluded to the valued services of Mr. Wells and the good feeling that always existed between employee and employers. Mr. Wells briefly replied expressing his appreciation of the handsome presents and highly valued sentiments with which they were accompanied.

Manitoba Lands.

A splendid chance for investment in Manitoba property, is presented by the auction sale of valuable farm property at the Caisse House, Peterborough, on Saturday March 30st. The property consists of some dozen farms belongs to Mr. W. J. Hall, and is a part of the celebrated Morrow Estate, in the township of Nelson, one of the largest and most flourishing in Manitoba. The country is settling up rapidly and investments such as this sale, gives the chance of, will be paying ones. Terms which are very liberal, may be seen by reference to advertisement elsewhere in this issue. Remember sale at Caisse House on Saturday, March 31st at 2 and 7 o'clock p.m.

Northwest Free Lands.

On Saturday we had a call from Mr. J. W. Henderson, Inspector of the North of Scotland Mortgage Company and Manager of the Ontario and Qu'Appele Land Company. He was in town in the interests of this company, which own a choice district of first-class land on the line of the Canada Pacific Railway. Settlers on the company's lands have no settlement duties, and their railway fare from any part of the province is returned to them on the arrival of the settler, and on his purchasing land form the company, so that in reality the settler gets a free ticket to the Northwest. Those interested will be pleased to learn that Mr. O. G. Langford, agent for the Credit Valley and other railways has been appointed local issuer of rebate tickets, or in other words, of free tickets to the Northwest. Any farther information can be obtained by calling on Mr. Langford, or Mr. J. N. Kirchoffer, Millbrook.

St. Peter's Cathedral.

The services preceding Easter will, it is understood, be as follows:—On Tuesday at 9 A.M., the consecration of the oil" will take place. On Friday the mass of the Presanctified will be sung at 9 o'clock. On Saturday the blessing of the Paschal Candle and the Baptismal font will begin at 9 o'clock. On the above evenings there will be service at 7 o'clock. The usual Easter Services will be conducted on Sunday.

An Equine Escapade.

On Saturday last a livery team belonging to Mr. T. Fitzgerald, while returning from Millbrook, through the upsetting of the sleigh, ran away, leaving the driver. They were not heard from till Tuesday, when they were found in the woods near Fraserville. On their way home they had taken to the woods and thus escaped the rigorous hunt made for them. They were there during the whole of the great storm. They were uninjured—the only thing peculiar about them was an abnormal appetite for oats.

Easter Eating.

In merciful, if mercenary, remembrance of the tremendous appetite for flesh meat that has been developed by the forty days fast of Lent, the town butchers have provided a supply of meats of all kinds, whose luscious tenderness would make even an alderman's pampered palate sigh for a perpetual hunger, with such meat before him. Particularly excellent preparations have been made by Messrs. H. C. Winch, W. Denoon, E. Wainwright, whose advertisements appear in this issue, and by Mr. J. Howden whose bills announcing his display, are called to the reader's attention. Be sure and see the grand display on Saturday.

In Demand.

The services of Mr. J. E. Belcher, Architect, must be reliable, if the demand upon them is a criterion. We are informed that for some time back, the Rector and congregation of St. Thomas Church, Millbrook, have had in contemplation many expensive improvements, both of the interior and exterior of the church, the outlay to reach about $2,500. After liberal subscription being promised, it has been deemed best to build a new church, and Mr. J. E. Belcher, our Peterborough architect, has arranged a meeting with the congregation at which it is expected immediate steps will be taken for the erection of the new building on the site of the old one at a probable cost of about $6,500.

Lake Street School.

The following is a list of the names of the pupils in Separate School Lake St., who obtained the highest number of merit marks during the term closing with Easter Holidays. The names are arranged in the order of merit:—Third Class Edward Deseautel, John J. Murphy, Mary Murphy, Jos. Putvin, Mary Gosolin, Louis Guerin. Second Class.—Patrick McNamara, S. Murphy, Ozias LaPlante, Pacific Gordon, Noel Guerin, Thos. McNamara. Part II, First Class. Maggie Kelley, Hattie Fadie, Archie Putvin, Edith Guerin, Victorine Laroque. Part I.—Nellie Deseautel, Thos. Curren, Mary Hems.

The Late Thomas Dumble, C. E.

On Monday last the body of Thomas Dumble, C. E., father of D. W. Dumble, Esq., Police Magistrate, who died at Cobourg in the 83rd year of his age was laid at rest. Deceased was born in Cornwall, England, in 1800. Early in life he went to Ireland in charge of the government surveys. Forty years ago he came to Canada and was engaged on the survey of the International boundary line, and later he directed the surveys of Major Robertson's Intercolonial Railway route. He settled in Cobourg over 35 years ago. Deceased enjoyed excellent health and strength till within the last six months of his life and had full possession of his faculties till within ten minutes of his death. He was a staunch Reformer, and died universally respected and regretted.

Remembered at Home.

In the Selkirk (Scotland) Southern Reporter we find a complimentary reference to Mr. David D. Galletly, a gentleman well known, especially in musical circles in Peterborough, and one to whose obliging kindness the success and pleasure of many a social entertainment is largley due. The Reporter, though Mr. Galletley left Galashiels about 19 years ago, says in its report of a lecture delivered by the president of the Tonic sol-fa college, London, in Mr. Galletly's native place,

"Of late years the sol-fa system has been greatly popularised in Galashiels; and in this connection there may be mentioned the name of a gentleman who may be said to have initiated and given an impetus to the sol-fa system in the town—Mr. David Galletly, who a number of years ago emigrated to Canada. In Mr. Galletly's hands the new system found a patron who, by natural talent, culture, and force of character, was able to bring it before the public in a fitting manner. Quite a host of ardent followers have built on the foundation he so well laid, and for a good number of years this system may be said to have been the sole method followed in the teaching of music in Galashiels. This accounts for the enthusiastic greeting which awaited Mr. Curwen on Thursday evening.

A Slander Refuted.

A poetical contributior to Grip thus introduces a slanderous allusion to Peterborough girls:

"The Ambitious City
Has girls that are pretty,
But oh! the size of their feet:
And London the Less
Has one or two.
But their mouths are so immense:
And Peterborough, too,
Has one or two.
But as they prance the street
You can hear, by their clatter
And feminine chatter,
That they're rather short of sense."

We may remark, that Peterborough girls may "chatter," but if they do, it's their birthright, and they shan't be deprived of it. As to the "prancing" charge, we know by sad experience that the Toronto girls can't "prance the streets" of Peterborough safely. A Toronto girl, visiting here recently, tried to turn around on George street, corner of Hunter. In her frantic efforts to wear 'round she got her foot fast—the heel in George Rubidge's tobacco store window, and the toe in T. Dolan's window on the opposite side of the street, and before she got clear both plates were fractured, and may be seen to this day, as badly "cracked" as the susceptible young man who villainously vilified Peterborough girls in villainous verse. The idea of a Toronto girl's feet trying to "prance" in an eighty-foot street!

Mr. E. B. Graham has been appointed township clerk of South Monaghan in stead of Mr. Robert Fair, resigned.

Rev. Mr. McCrea of Cobourg has been appointed moderator of the Presbytery of Peterborough for the next six months.

Mr. J. B. Nicholls, of Lakefield, intended leaving for Nebraska on Wednesday night.

Mr. Hargreaves of London, was in town this week in the interest of the Masonic Mutual Benefit Association.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, returned home at noon on Tuesday, from Cobourg, where he was called on the melancholy business of attending his fathers funeral, which took place last Monday.

A Splendid Pair.

On Tuesday we noticed in frout of our Office on George Street a monster yoke of fat steers, "coming three years," owned by Mr, James Howden, and intended for the Easter market. These beauty and the beast rolled in one, were snow white, as like as two pins, and were bred by Mr. Chas. Moore of Smith. The two together weighed two tons. Finer animals could not be found in the district, and it would take a butcher boy with the nerve of Nero to attempt their slaughter.
